Some days ago we received from Mrs. O. Leland Hunt a check in the amount of $25.00, covering a contribution from the Woman's Auxiliary of the Synod of Virginia to the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, which merged with this Council last year.

Inasmuch as you are Chairman of Interracial Work for the Auxiliary, we have written Mrs. Hunt that we are adding your name to our mailing list, in order that you may receive the various publications which we distribute. An assortment of our current materials is being mailed to you today. The contribution of $25.00 for Interracial Work from the Woman's Auxiliary of the Synod of Virginia is appreciated very much indeed. We sincerely hope that the Auxiliary will continue its interest in this important work and that the Southern Regional Council, which has absorbed the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation, may receive their support in the future.

If we can serve the Auxiliary in any way, we trust that you will let us know.

Dear Mrs. Hunt:

Last year the Woman's Auxiliary Synod of Virginia, through you as treasurer, were good enough to contribut $25.00 for interracial work to the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, with check made to Mr. Kendall Weisiger, Treasurer. In expressing our thanks for your donation, we explained that the Southern Regional Council had absorbed the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation.

The Council is today carrying on the same important work which was formerly performed by the Commission. And in doing this as part of a greatly expanded program. The needs of this program are great, and we would so gladly appreciate a renewal of this conti contribution from the Woman's Auxiliary Synod. For your information I am including a few of our pamphlets, so that you may know m more clearly what the Council is, and the type of work it seeks to do in Southern social and economic problem areas.

Dear Miss Windham:

Thank you very much for your letter of October 23 together with check in amount of two dollars to cover membership in the Council. We need and are most glad to have your interest and support.

Our magazine, New South, will be sent to you each month. Today we are forwarding under separate cover some of our current pamphlets. These will tell you more about what the Council is and does, and will help if you should want to tell your friends about it.

I am sorry that I am unable to identify the source of the statement that "there are 320 counties in the South that do not have any high schools which a Negro youth may attend". I believe, however, that Mr. Ambrose Caliver of the U. S. Office of Education who is in charge of Negro education, might possibly know the source of this statement and might also be able to give recent figures as well.

Please write us whenever we can be of help. With every good wish, I am

We are enclosing herewith a check for $2.00 to cover the membership fee and understand that this entitles us to receiving the pamphlet "New South" and all other publications of the Council.

We are wondering if you might be able to provide us with the source of a statement which we saw in some publication that went over our desks within the last few years. It was to the effect that "there are three hundred and twenty counties in the South that do not have any high school which a Negro youth may attend". Not only would we be interested in knowing the source of this figure but if you have a more recent figure on this matter we would very much appreciate receiving it.

Dear Mrs. Patrick:

Your note in response to my letter addressed to Mrs. O. Leland Hunt, former Treasurer of the Womans Auxiliary Synod of Virginia has been unanswered for sometime as I did not have your address.

We were delighted to have a delegate from your Synodical at the Atlanta meeting, even though that delegate was sent instead of the usual donation to the general budget.

Since our budget is so small, and the tasks ahead are so heavy, we should like to keep the name of the Council before you for consideration when appropriations for your next fiscal year are being made. As you doubtless know, the Council is today carrying on the same important work which was formerly performed by the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, since the latter organization was merged with the Council in 1944. The needs of the program are great and we would so much appreciate a renewal of your contribution.

Mr. Marion E. Mansell
Rockwood, Tenn.

My dear Dr. Mansell:

I was glad to see you on Friday and especially to talk with you about the Southern Regional Council.

Briefly I am giving you a little more detail information about our work. The Council grew out of the off Interracial Commission and the Atlanta Conference. A board of directors was elected from both races in about equal number. We are incorporated under the laws of the State of Georgia and gifts to our organization are exempt from taxes.

The Council has been operating chiefly in the field of race relations for a number of years and has to its credit such achievements as advocating and securing equal educational facilities for Negroes and equal pay for Negro teachers, services to Negro veterans after the last, war, fostering home town surbeys, better housing facilities, securing employment for 350 Negro policemen in southern cities and towns, publishing "The New South" and distributing through a wide area and promoting the, "Race in the News". Following the issuing of the pamphlet on that subject which has completely changed the attitude of southern dailies, so far as Negro news is concerned and are now in the process of organizing the, "Fellowship of the Concerned", in which we expect to build up a membership of about 50,000 church women of all creeds who will concentrate on equal justice before the law for Negroes and will see that anyone entitled to vote is properly registered and that they are not intimidated at the polls and a great many other things in their program.

The board of directors wants to make the work of this organization not only known down to the grass roots of the people but effective through their efforts, they are therefore, going to work with all the churches as much as possible to create proper race relations throughout the South.

Our support in the main has come from the Rosenwald Foundation but now this support no longer exists and we are therefore compelled to turn to other fields. We are therefore, asking all the religious denominations to give us a donation from their national Bunds. We do not expect to get any great amount but in the total it ought to amount to a nice little sum. The Methodists have set the pattern in that they have been giving us around $3,500 a year. I understand this money has come from different organizations in the church such as, home missions, Christian Social Relations and other organizations of the church.

I have talked with all the major denominations and many of them are now in the process of making a donation for the Council. The Southern Presbyterians have agreed to give us about $1,000, I hope to get $1,500 or more from the Congregationalist and a similar amount from the Quakers and others. It is my hope that we may have a liberal contribution from the U.S.A. Presbyterian Church. I have talked with Dr. McCoy and he thinks it would be a fine thing. Have also talked with Dr. McConaghy, Miss Maloney of Dr. Randolph's office and

Dr. Mansell: -2-

Mr. A. E Sharp and they are very much interested in our program and think the church should help us out.

I believe that getting decent housing and education and such other things as carried on in our program is just as religious as preaching to them on Sunday. I am writing Dr. Morse and sending a copy to Dr. Randolph and Dr. McConaghy. As soon as you write will you please send me a copy of your letter.

I attended a meeting of the executive committee of the College in Kingsport on Saturday and it looks very much like we are going to have another deficit this year. I sincerely hope you will be albe to attend the board meeting in March as a great many things will come up for discussion which is vital to the future of the college.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain

My dear Dr. Randolph:

Recently Mr. Thomas F. Byrd, Associate Director of the Southern Regional Council, Inc. called on me in the interest of their program and work. He spent some time telling me the story of the work the Council is doing for and with our negro brethren, and I was thrilled with the remarkable work this organization is doing. As you will note from copy of his recent letter to me, which I am enclosing, the Council is now seeking some financial aid from the various denominational National Church Organizations. It seems to me this is quite necessary if they are to continue to advance the excellent work in many fields that they have started so successfully. You will note that various other National Church Bodies are making grants to this worth-while organization. I told Mr. Byrd that I would be happy to write you to see if our Board might be able to make some grant to this Cause. I know that you will see that this request is properly channeled, and I feel sure that you will be glad to get behind it with your support. I would like to see our Church make a grant of at least $2000 to this excellent work, if such is at all possible. I am confident that it can be justly termed "National Missions work".

Won't you see what you can do for us in this matter?

With best wishes, I am

My dear Dr. Morse:

While in New York a few days ago I called at your office to talk to you about the Southern Regional Council but found you were not in. I did have a few minutes with Dr. Sharp and Miss Maloney of Dr. Randolph's office.

The Southern Regional Council is an organization which is specializing in race relations and came into being by the union of the old Interracial Commission and the Atlanta Conference. A board of directors was elected of both Negro and white members and we are incorporated under the laws of the State of Georgia and gifts to our organization are exempt from income tax purposes.

Over the years we have been instrumental in securing equal educational facilities for Negroes and equal pay for Negro teachers, services to Negro veterans after the last war, fostering home-town surveys, better housing facilities, securing employment for 350 Negro policemen in Southern cities and towns, publishing The New South and distributing through a wide area and promoting the Race in the News. Following the issuing of the pamphlet on that subject which has completely changed the attitude of Southern dailies, so far as Negro news is concerned and are now in the process of organizing the, "Fellowship of the Concerned", in which we expect to build up a membership of about 50,000 church women of all creeds who will concentrate on equal justice before the law for Negroes and will see that anyone entitled to vote is properly registered and that they are not intimidated at the polls and a great many other things in their program.

It is the purposed of our board of directors to intensify our program and make the work known right down to the grass roots of the people. We wish to establish a much more aggressive program and work closer with all religious denominations.

A part of our support has been from individuals, orggnizations and membership, however, a large part of our support has come from the Rosenwald Foundation and that is no longer in existance and we are therefore, seeking other sources for support. We believe the National Church bodies are sufficiently interest in our work to make us a contribution at this time. I have contacted practically all the major denominations and a number of them have agreed to support our work. The Southern Presbyterians have assured me that they will contribute around $1,000. I think we will get $1,500 from the Congregationalists and a similar amount from the Quakers, Episcopalians, Christian Science and others. Some of the Negro organizations are putting us in their budgets for small amounts anywhere from one to five hundred dollars. We would be very happy to have a contribution from the U.S.A. Presbyterians. I hope it might be around $2,000. I might mention that the Methodists have been giving us for some years around $3,5000 a year. From what source your funds would come I do not know, but venture to suggest that there might be something left in the restoration fund from which it might be contributed or it might be done as the Methodist and others have done by taking off small amounts from home missions and other departments of the church. Perhaps, there might be smmething left over in your race relations program which might be allocated to this. The Southern Presbyterians are taking it from their race relations, home missions and the Women's Society.

Mr. McConaghy of Philadelphia is very anxious that some contribution be made from our denomination and I have also written Dr. Randolph and had a talk with Dr.

Mansell and Dr. McCoy.

Hoping that your committee may consider this matter and take favorable action, at an early date, I remain

Yours sincerely

Rev. William H. McConaghy

Philadelphia, Pa.

My dear Reverend McConaghy:

On Monday after I saw you in New York I endeavored to see Dr. Morse and Dr. Randolph but did not connect with Dr. Morse. I did talk with Mr. A. E. Sharp and Miss Alice Maloney of Dr. Randolph's office and told both of them the story of the Southern Regional Council. They said they were very sure both Dr. Morse and Dr. Randolph would be greatly interested in our organization. I was sorry I did not get to see either one of these personally but had to leave. I am therefore, sending Dr. Morse a letter and also one to Dr. Randolph, copies of which, I herewith enclose, asking Dr. Morse for an allocation from the National Council for the Southern Regional Council.

When I returned South I saw Dr. Marion E. Mansell who knew something of our work but was very much interested in all of its features, in fact, he had just come from a race relations meeting, which was largely attended by Negroes. He felt that our church organization should do something in behalf of the Council and is wirting either Dr. Morse or Dr. Randolph a letter of recommendation and suggesting that it would be a good thing to make a contribution at this time.

I conferred with Dr. A. B. McCoy of Atlanta, the Negro representative of four Negro synods of the South. He knew something of our work but had not actively participated but said he felt that a contribution from our denominations to the Southern Regional Council would be good at this time. He is going to write a letter to Dr. Morse also and is sending me a copy of the letter he writes. I want you to write or better still, to see Dr. Morse and really go to bat in getting some money from our Presbyterian denomination for the Southern Regional Council.

I have the promise of the Southern Presbyterians that they will give us $1,000 but it has to be formally acted upon by their committee at their meeting in March. I have a number of such other promises which I feel sure will come through. I do not wish to be in a position of saying how much any denomination ought to contribute but on the basis of the Southern Presbyterians our church certainly ought to give $2,000. Dr. Mansell's letter and that of Dr. McCoy ought to go forward in a few days.

Thanking you for your courtesies and cooperation while I was in Philadelphia and hoping to see you again soon, I remain

Dear Mr. Byrd:

We are gladdened by the news that the Presbyterian Board has appropriated $250 and is to consider an increase in the amount.

I have not heard from Mr. Tribus, the lawyer for the Church Board, about the Greenwood, Mississippi, case. It doesn't seem wise to me to be digging around in it without word from him. We will be happy to get our people busy to find the facts and make whatever use of them that in Tribus's judgment is suitable. Greenwood is close to Greenville, and I don't doubt that Hodding Carter could get all that was needed and see that it was used. Do you want to call Tribus and tell him we stand ready to help?

Here is the check for $41.25, which we are happy to pay.

We continue to do pretty well on small change, though nothing big as yet. Betty Vinson is in today poring over your materials.

Atlanta, Ga.

Dear George:

I was just over to the Presbyterian Headquarters and find that they have appropriated $250.00 for our work and will take it up later. However, the thing I am writing about is this:

It appears in March a colored negro missionary was driving from Idabel, Okla. to Charlotte, N. C. to attend a Missionary Conference. In passing through the city of Greenwood, Miss. he was, apparently without any cause, attacked by a policeman and badly beaten. He was compelled to go to jail for a few days, after which he was released and allowed to proceed to Charlotte. This appears to be a very bad case of mistreatment and Mr. Lucien H. Tribus, Legal Counsel for the Northern Presbyterian Church Board is making investigations and endeavoring to see that some justice is done. He will write you the status of the case in a few days.

It struck me that Dr. Shaeffer, Hodding Carter and Mrs. Lyles might be able to help in bringing some local pressure to bear to find out any information desired and also to see that he gets justice. I hope we will be able to be of service at this time. The matter was brought up at a meeting by Mrs. Spahr of Knoxville, who made a very fine speech about what we could do to help, etc. Please give this your attention right away as soon as you have heard from the attorney.

Sincerely,

Thomas F. Byrd

Dear Mrs. Spahr:

The Council has lately received from the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. a grant for 1951 of $250.

If I am not mistaken, it was in good part the kind words you spoke about the Council early last year at a Board meeting which put us into the budget.

We are deeply grateful for the Church's gift to the Council and grateful to you for remembering your long link with us.

We have pending an application for aid from the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and I am sure they will be impressed by this grant to us by the other part of the Presbyterian Church.

I have carried about in my notebook for over a year a reminder that next time I am in Knoxville I should go see you and thank you. In default of that thus far, I write to thank you.

Dear Dr. Sharp:

We had word from Mr. Thomas F. Byrd of the most kind and welcome grant of the Board to the Council for 1951, and your generous check arrived yesterday. We are deeply grateful for this support from the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. A great deal of our strength with people in the South is involved in the steady and generous willingness of Church bodies to stand behind us, and to give us this convincing evidence of their support.

The Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. is to be added to the Friends, who just lately found it possible to give us a thousand dollars, through the AFSC, notwithstanding the rarity of precedents for a gift from them to an organization not composed of Friends. We have warm hopes, too, that the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. will appropriate a sum to us this year (in addition to the small grant which the Women's Division has made us straight along), and thus with you, the Friends, the Methodists, the Province of Sewanee of the Episcopal Church (along with several Dioceses), two or three Catholic dignitaries, various local Jewish groups, and occasionally a Baptist organization, make up a lengthening roll of Church givers to the Council. All in all, from various religious sources, we received a total of about eight thousand dollars last year, out of a total income of around thirty-five thousand.

We have worked in the last year on many causes. Our biggest dents, perhaps, were in getting greatly improved treatment of news about Negroes in Southern papers, in making known to professional associations in each Southern state just which associations were open and which were closed to Negroes, in pushing for Negro representation on state and local school Boards, and in working for equal justice in the courts. We will put a lot of time this year into this last cause, trying to get it accepted practice in the Southern courts to hand out sentences equal to all, and to treat Negro cases with the seriousness accorded white ones. Our organization has grown, adding new State Divisions in Arkansas and Louisiana. We have by now a remarkably effective link with people of conscience all over the South.

The next step is paid personnel in each of the states. With all the restlessness that accompanies the present period of strain, it is going to be necessary to have in each state some office that sees trouble coming up and gives a lead to the thoughtful people as to how to cause kindness, tolerance, and respect for dignity to triumph over jealousy and fear. It is going to take a lot of money to do that, and we are begging hard to get some quite sizable gifts to that end. Meanwhile, as you make up the budget for 1952, I do hope you will consider our needs and try to fit us in for that year's grant at least.

I send recent issues of our publication, and various bits of praise.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

Dear Dr. Sharp:

Our Council is much in hopes that the Board of National Missions will help us again for 1952. You recall that for 1951 the Board made us a much appreciated appropriation of $250.

We have continued to work at the various programs discussed in my letter to you of February 20, 1951. We have an ambitious project for convening a Southwide Commission on Equal Penalties in the Courts of Law, and hope that by following it through we can within four or five years' time quite substantially influence the practice of Southern courts in this regard. We have in print and are about to bring out a guide to modern police practices called Race and Law Enforcement. It is already being ordered by our State Divisions, who, with the help of church and other groups, will distribute it to local police systems and interested citizens in towns and cities all over the South. Our local people use the effective device of visiting officials, booklet in hand, and urging attention to the proposals made.

It looks as though we will end this calendar year with out finances more nearly current than in any recent year, but we are still a tiny organization, hard pressed at that, when one considers the job that needs doing. We will be extremely grateful for renewed support from the Board, and will be hopeful that our record this year will merit an increased grant for 1952.

For members of your Board, here are copies of a statement adopted at our annual meeting December 13 of this year setting forth the policy and aims of the Council.

Dear Dr. Sharp:

We are warmly hopeful that the Board of National Missions will find it possible to assist our Council again in 1953.

Perhaps our most significant job last year was in the matter of race and law enforcement, set out in the report to our Board members, as of October 1, which goes along to you with this letter.

For 1953, the thing we want to do is get going in each Southern State a special Committee on Schools. The committees would faithfully represent the interests of all the people of the Southern States in the unfolding school problems in the South and would work at upholding to the full whatever may be the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the segregation cases. We think that in addition to the problem of getting clear statements of principle, there is also the problem of working out in detail, State by State and community by community, a program which recognizes the educational and public injury of continued segregation.

We greatly value the support of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. in our work.

Dear Mr. Wright:

Annually I am importunate that the item for the Southern Regional Council will surely find its way into the budget.

We are coming near to the end of two and one-half years of direct help from the Southern Regional Council to a dozen state organizations in human relations. Some word of many of them will have reached back to you. I know myself that the Episcopal Church has played a strong part in the ones in Virginia, Kentucky, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina, Georgia, and Florida and Texas. And I will take it on faith that the Church has stood behind the others.

That wise man, Spencer Bassett, I once heard say, "The only thing immortal on this earth is a community idea." We are satisfied that we have got such an idea going strongly into many communities which did not have it before. And we have nearly a year more to go of providing salary money for staffs for state organizations. After that they will mostly have to live on their own, though we hope we can find lesser sums to give them from time to time.

And the Council itself will spend more and not less of its time in central fact-gathering and thinking and planning for the spread of democratic institutions in the Southern states.

Incidentally, I, who have been running the Council these last nine or ten years, take myself into a course of book-reading on distant shores, and turn the Council over to Harold Fleming, who becomes the new Executive Director on January 16th. Atlanta boy, trained at Harvard, veteran of World War II, knowledgeable about newspapers and magazines, and a man with great purpose, wisdom, and a dry wit. Mrs. Ruth Alexander stays on as Secretary-Treasurer.

I send as in duty bound an audit for our queer fiscal year which ended September 30, 1956.

The thousand dollars that the Church sends us each year is a cherished and a flashing gem; and much sustains our courage.

Dear Mr. Sharp:

I lodge annually upon your doorstep a hope that the Board's kind grant to the Southern Regional Council will find its way into the budget again for 1957.

We have mostly been about the business of getting a dozen copies of ourselves organized in each of twelve Southern states. They are called the Alabama Council on Human Relations and the Tennessee one, etc. And to my knowledge in the Tennessee one and the South Carolina one and the Texas one people in the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. have played a leading part.

The office in Atlanta has worked closely during the year with Ben Sissel and Gayraud Wilmore, and we have all taken warmth to our own courage from theirs.

Cheerful small item for your eyes and not for others: we have for many years been after the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. neatly to match the sum that you so kindly give. In 1956 for the first time they came all the way up to it! So that though the sum is divided, it is still a round $500!

Do help us again; we stay grateful.

MEMORANDUM

TO: HCF

FROM: JPA

Attached is a copy of the proposed budget for the next eight months.

A study of contributions from agencies, organizations and foundations during the past year reveals:

(1) Contributions of $100 or more - 19

(2) Contributions under $2,000 - 12

(3) Contributions $2,000 - $4,000 - 4

(4) Contributions over $5,000 - 3 (New World [7th], FFR [25th], Duke [7th])

The average contribution during the year 1955-56 was approximately $3,100.

A current contribution of $4,150 will pay the full salary of the research assistant, the only full-time employee of this section. This job, responsible for all clipping, filing, and compiling of basic information, is the actual center of all SRC operations. It is, in addition, the source of much of our help to foreign visitors, visiting newsmen, and the servicing of inquiries from ministers, teachers, and others in need of information in this field.

A contribution of $5,000 would pay for compilation and mailings of 35 to 50 news releases pertinent to the current situation. Releases, similar to the well-received bus desegregation release showing 21 Southern cities having quietly and effectively ended bus degregation, does much to counter the unfavorable impressions created by thorough coverage of instances of violence and difficulty. At present, this program is severely limited due to lack of funds.

A number of fact-finding and research projects are undertaken by SRC. During the past year these projects included reports on Southern Industrial Development, Negro Registration, Labor & Race Relations, Pro-Segregation Forces in the South, The South's Reaction to the Supreme Court Decision (a chronology), etc. Due to limited funds these reports do not receive the desired distribution to all agencies and individuals to whom they would be of value. A contribution of $4,000 would remedy this situation; allowing for approximately double the current distribution.

Mr. Milton C. Rose
Secretary
William C. Whitney Foundation
120 Broadway
New York 5, New York

Dear Mr. Rose:

Mr. Straight has suggested that we follow up our request of August 24, 1956, with some additional interpretation of our financial needs. This I am happy to do, because I feel that the material sent earlier may not have made clear the importance to the Council's work of assistance on the scale possible to the William C. Whitney Foundation.

Enclosed is a budget for the Council's central operations for the next eight months, approved only yesterday by our Executive Committee. Our current fiscal year ends on September 30th, and in view of an impending change in the Executive Directorship of the Council, our annual meeting approved only the first four months of the fiscal year, now elapsed. I am sorry that I cannot send a budget for the subsequent year, since that has not yet been formulated. I might say, however, that our aim will undoubtedly be to maintain approximately the same level of general operation provided for in the budget enclosed.

Our earlier financial material may have caused some confusion because of the inclusion of figures on several special projects financed by grants specifically earmarked for those purposes and not available for the general operating expenses of the Council. In the coming period, only one such project of consequence is anticipated -- namely our consultant service program which has been assisted by the New World Foundation. It should be emphasized that if the New World Foundation renews its aid to this program such a grant would assist the general budget only to the extent of the overhead allocation itemized under "Staff Forecast of Income."

The enclosed budget demonstrates, I believe, how important relatively small grants are in enabling the Council to carry out its substantive program. So far in this fiscal year, for example, we have received only one contribution in excess of $5,000. The Fund for the Republic, as a final grant in a three-year series, made a contribution of $110,000. Of this amount, however, $100,000 was specifically earmarked for subsidy to interracial state organizations affiliated with the Council. Thus only $10,000 from the Fund for the Republic is available to the Council's own operation during the present fiscal year. Even including the $10,000 from the Fund for the Republic, the average size of grants to the Council is only $2,390. The same kind of analysis over a longer period -- the calendar year 1956 -- shows that we received only three grants in excess of $5,000, four in the range of $2,000 to $4,000, twelve of less than $2,000, and 19 of less than $200. These facts, added to the relatively large sum of $43,740 which the Council must raise from new sources within the next eight months, should indicate how valuable the William C. Whitney's aid will be in continuing the efforts of the Council during this critical period in the South.

As to what might be achieved by a grant of $2,000 to $4,000 -- and we would earnestly hope that it might be the higher figure -- I could offer a great many examples. I shall confine myself, however, to pointing out that $4,000 would pay virtually the entire year's salary of one of the Council's most vital staff members, the Research Assistant. This staff person is wholly responsible for the collection, maintenance, and continuing analysis of the information and reference files on which this whole movement in the South depends. In an earlier communication I have discussed at some length the importance of our reference and information service. Without it, our efforts to interpret the South clearly and constructively to the press and other media, to church, labor, and civic organizations planning important programs of their own, to governmental agencies, and to opinion-moulders of many kinds would be quite impossible.

I only wish it were possible for a representative of the William C. Whitney Foundation to pay a visit to our offices and to see at first hand what the needs are and what the Council is doing in an effort to meet them. I am sure that the Foundation would conclude that its assistance to the Council would not only be deeply appreciated in the South, but would be a direct contribution to the achievement of the aims of the Foundation itself.

Sincerely yours,

Harold C. Fleming

Mr. Vernon A. Eagle
Executive Director
The New World Foundation
120 South LaSalle Street
Chicago 3, Illinois

Dear Mr. Eagle:

In the light of our conversations with Miss Taylor and the emerging possibility of a grant for an apprenticeship, we have worked up the enclosed revised budget to accompany our request to the New World Foundation for 1957. This will supersede the budget proposed at the end of our original request dated November 20, 1956.

As you will see, should the Foundation approve the apprenticeship grant, we would use it to fill the position of Field Service Assistant, which would be closely concerned with implementation of the consultant program. So that you may see how the position would fit into our scheme of things, I enclose an organization chart just approved by power of Executive Committee.

I might add a word about the kind of person we would try to find to fill the apprenticeship. Our preference would be a young, promising Negro person fitted by temperament and background to work effectively with people of varying racial attitudes. We see a special applicability for the apprenticeship program in the South. In the first place, circumstances in the South, even more than elsewhere, militate against the choice of a career in intergroup relations work. The Southern Regional Council, both in staffing its own operations and assisting its state affiliates in developing professional staff, has had a thorough education in the difficulties of finding young Southerners who are properly motivated and equipped for this work.

What is true of white Southerners is even more true of Negro Southerners. The limited educational and cultural opportunities that the South has afforded for its Negro citizens automatically limits the field. This in turn results in a very high demand for talented Negro professionals in academic institutions and Negro business centers. Thus at this point the most promising and able persons are too securely berthed to be pulled away into human relations jobs that offer little in the way of long-range tenure and security. This is one of the shortfalls in our integrated staffing that the consultant program has been designed to meet.

As you can readily see, this situation enhances our eagerness to participate in the apprentice training program, and strongly conditions the choice of candidate which we would hope to make. Of course, the requirements of the work must take ultimate precedence, and should it prove impossible to find a Negro candidate with the necessary skills and promise, we would have to proceed, of course, with the best applicant regardless of race.

Direct supervision of this apprentice would be the responsibility of Fred Routh, our Assistant Director. This is desirable from every point of view, since Mr. Routh has had a substantial amount of experience in training graduate students when he was on the faculty of the Human Relations Department at the University of Miami.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Wright:

We are writing to our past contributors asking them for renewed and, if possible, increased assistance in 1957. The letter is being accompanied by a quickly prepared program report on our work, copies of which will reach you in a separate mailing.

One of the names that pops up is that of Mr. Dudley of New York. Normally I would write him along with the rest, but since I know of your friendship with him, I would like to have your approval before I do so. Enclosed is a copy of a letter which suggests the vein in which I would write.

I might also take this occasion to remind you of your undertaking to explore the possibility of aid from the Reynolds family foundation through Mr. Babcock in Winston Salem. In view of our parlous circumstances, anything you can do on this in the immediate period will be most helpful.

I have your letter of February 1st, and will answer it separately within a day or two.

Best regards.

February 5, 1957

Mr. Walter Reuther
President
United Automobile, Aircraft & Agricultural Implement Workers of America
8000 East Jefferson Avenue
Detroit 14, Michigan

Dear Mr. Reuther:

Since George Mitchell wrote you recently asking for renewed assistance from the Automobile Workers in 1957, I have taken on the responsibilities of Director of the Southern Regional Council. Having worked with Dr. Mitchell for 10 years, I have shared with him the feeling of encouragement which the support of organized labor has given us in the Council. Therefore, I wanted to add my own word of appreciation for the past help of the UAW, and the hope that we may expect renewed support -- if possible, in an increased amount -- for 1957.

The Council faces a special and immediate need. In this, the third and last year of Fund for the Republic support to our state-organization program, the allocation for our central activities is drastically reduced. Accordingly, we have a greatly enlarged fund-raising task at just the time when we are undertaking to expand our efforts to meet the mounting demands on an organization of this kind in the South.

As you know, pressures and tensions have multiplied in the South in the last two years. And as the challenge has grown, the Council has sought to increase its staff and activities to meet it. The enclosed report gives a brief account of where we stand today. I hope it conveys, too, some notion of our conviction that this regional movement, almost uniquely, can unite Southerners of good will for effective actions at a time when reactionary forces are trying to divide and intimidate them.

In this effort, we count the unions among our most valuable allies. We have just acquired the full-time services, as labor consultant, of Emory Via -- a native Southerner, a staunch friend of organized labor, and an experienced staffer in workers education. He is able, discreet, and devoted to the principles of unionism.

Through his special efforts, we plan to increase our services to unions throughout the South -- as a resource for conferences, education programs, and through fact-finding and information. Thus 1957 should bring us into even closer working relationship with labor in the South. The enclosed report gives a summary statement of our present and planned activities in this field.

I hope we may count on the financial assistance of the UAW -- and, even more important, on your friendship and cooperation as we work toward our common goals.

Dear Mr. Silberman:

You have been an understanding and generous friend of the Southern Regional Council. As 1957 gets underway and we plan increased activity -- diminished as we are by George Mitchell's retirement! -- we face a special and immediate need. If the Sigmund Silberman Foundation can assist the Council again at this time, we shall be deeply grateful and the work of the Council will be benefitted out of all proportion.

In this, the third and last year of assistance to our state-organization effort from the Fund for the Republic, the allocation for our central activities is drastically reduced. Accordingly, we are faced with a greatly enlarged fund-raising task at precisely the time when we are undertaking expansion of our efforts to meet the mounting demands for an organization of this kind in the South.

I hope it conveys, too, some sense of the eagerness and resolve with which our Board and staff approach opportunities that the Council, almost uniquely, is equipped to meet.

On a personal note, I might add that I have been vastly encouraged, on assuming a position of formidable responsibility, by the spirit of dedication which both the staff members and lay leadership of the Council have shown.

Dear John:

This letter has three purposes:

(1) I am pleased to accept the position as Chairman of NAIRO's Commission on Education. I have some ideas on the annual report which I would like to discuss with you in the not too distant future after things have calmed down here. I note in your letter you say I will be invited to participate in the Board meeting in May. Does this mean NAIRO is going to pay my expenses? You see, I am already a regular member of the Board, having been elected in 1955 for a three year period. I was somehow or other, though, left off the stationery list of the Board. Dick Marks is in the process of correcting this error.

(2) I cannot accept the position as Executive Secretary of NAIRO and coordinator of its Apprentice Training Program. George Shermer of Philadelphia called me and said I headed the list of the "ten most wanted men." As I explained to you regarding the possibility of the Detroit job, I cannot consider in good conscience leaving the South at this time.

(3) SRC is having difficulties raising funds in the South because of the worsening situation down here. The money we received from the Fund and other foundations must be supplemented if we are to carry on. Could you possibly provide us with an entree to some liberal labor leaders, manufacturers, and financiers with whom you have come in contact through your job? People of the caliber of Mr. Kelly who have a concern for the growth of democracy and who might contribute $100.00 or more to SRC. We are tax exempt, you know.

Dear Mrs. Roosevelt:

You may recall from past experience, when I, as President of the South Florida United Nations Association, introduced you at the Dade County Auditorium, that I share with you a concern for international peace and understanding. I believed then, as I believe now, that the United States must practice the democracy it preaches if we are to be worthy of recognition as the leader of the free world. Asians and Africans properly question our sincerity of purpose when they hear of segregation and white supremacy.

I am now on the staff of the Southern Regional Council as Assistant Director in charge of field services. These are difficult times in the South, particularly for those who will not submit to the segregation orthodoxy. It is more difficult than ever to raise funds for an agency involved in implementing the law of the land as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Would it be possible for you to recommend the Southern Regional Council to any of your friends who are concerned with this grievous problem? In this way you can be of real help to an organization of dedicated Southerners who are furthering democracy in the South. I am enclosing two brief reports on the Council. You will see that one of them discusses the work of Mrs. M. E. Tilly of our staff who was on the President's Committee on Civil Rights and whom you know.

We both send you our warm regards.

March 19, 1957

Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum
Executive Director
Synagogue Council of America
110 West 42nd Street
New York 36, New York

Dear Rabbi Tanenbaum:

I am writing you at the suggestion of Rabbi Philip Shnairson about the possibilities of a grant from the Synagogue Council of America to the Southern Regional Council.

Recently I had the pleasure of addressing the Clergymen's Subcommittee of the Orange County Council on Human Relations on the subject, "Integration and the South of Promise." The meeting was held at Temple Israel, Orlando, Florida; I came at the invitation of Phil Shnairson. There were fifty-five clergymen present, both white and Negro, and representing most Protestant denominations and the three branches of Judaism.

We had a lively discussion period following my presentation. The discussions and questions revolved around "What can we do?" rather than "What should we do?" The group seemed convinced that desegregation and integration were consistent with our Judaic-Christian heritage. White and Negro clergymen alike felt that religiously motivated leadership must take a more active role in speeding implementation of the Supreme Court's decision.

Several clergymen paid tribute to the various organizations, including SRC, working in this delicate field in the South. The question of how we finance our work was raised, and I explained that we received contributions from individuals, church groups, labor organizations, and foundations.

In conversation after the meeting, Phil asked me what religious groups contributed and I explained that the Methodist Church, the National Council of the Episcopal Church, and the Presbyterian Church gave a total of $4,200.00 annually. Phil then suggested that I write you to inquire whether it would be possible for the Synagogue Council of America to make a contribution to our work.

For your consideration I am enclosing two brief descriptive pieces on the Council and its work; and a copy of our proposed budget for the remainder of the fiscal year. I am sending you under separate cover several of our publications. We are a tax-exempt organization and will be glad to furnish you with a copy of our letter of tax exemption.

These are desperate times in the South and it is most difficult to raise funds locally for work which challenges the segregation orthodoxy. But we are convinced that we shall prove in the South that a democratic society is capable of granting first class citizenship to all its people.

We, therefore, ask your consideration of this request for financial assistance. If you should like more information, we will be happy to send it.

Sincerely yours,

Frederick B. Routh
Assistant Director

Mr. Nathan Levin

Dear Mr. Levin:

When I was in New York a few weeks ago Ed Lukas was kind enough to call your office to see if it would be possible for you to talk with me about the Southern Regional Council. I am sorry it wasn't possible to arrange an appointment on that short notice, and I am taking this second best means to ask your advice.

As you may know the Southern Regional Council is an interracial organization of some years standing, devoted to improving race relations in the region. It was founded in 1944 as the successor to the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation. At its founding and for several years thereafter, the Council's principal support came from the Julius Rosenwald Fund. Indeed it is not too much to say that the Council might never have been formed had it not been for the interest and support of the Julius Rosenwald Fund.

Since the Supreme Court's school segregation decision in 1954, the serious problems of adjustment in the South have led to increasingly heavy demands on the Southern Regional Council. In order to expand our activities in proportion to the need for them, we are having to seek new sources of financial support. It has occured to us that Mr. Lessing Rosenwald and Mr. William Rosenwald might be interested in the work of the Council. Both Mrs. Ascoli and Mrs. Levy are familiar with the Council and contribute to it, and Mr. Edgar Stern has been a friend and supporter of the Council since it was organized.

Would it be convenient for me to explore this possibility further with you, or would it be more appropriate for me to write directly to Mr. Lessing and Mr. William Rosenwald? I shall greatly appreciate your consideration and advice.

Sincerely,

Dear Bob:

It was wonderful to receive a fat check from the Fund as a result of your efforts and your interest in our work.

The money is certainly needed and all here were greatly pleased at the expression of confidence that your singling us out indicated. Things keep moving here, with more than enough to do. Margaret continues to show improvement and is taking her first steps with aid of crutches and braces.

I hope all is going well with you; I would like to hear what you are doing and hope that we will soon have occasion to be together.

Dear Ruth,

I have just found out that the appropriation for $1,200 to the Southern Regional Council from the Town & Country Section of the Women's Division was not made for this year. This certainly brings consternation and real hurt, especially to me.

Of course, the Council needs the money but that is not the serious thing. Since the Women's Division was organized in 1940, this appropriation has been made every year and paid in July. This has been a moral support to all of us. I do not know how this happened. Do you? Is there any way that you can get it restored for this year?

I do not need to tell you anything about the work of the Southern Regional Council and its task here in the South. You know it all yourself. Please see what you can do about this.

Dear Miss Russell:

I understand that the appropriation of $1,200 for the Southern Regional Council was not made this year. I suppose it was because you did not know about the good work of the Council. It has worked closely with the Women's Division and the Women's Division with it and this appropriation has been made every year since 1940.

Of course we need the money, but the serious thing is the break with the Women's Division. It has given us moral support and understanding for 17 years.

The Southern Regional Council as you know works in the South during these difficult days trying to bring about better understanding between the races and we most certainly need the moral support of the Church. Funds come to us from the various other denominations and the Catholics and Jews and my Methodist Church has always stood by and has been a strength. So you can see how grieved I am.

I called Mrs. Trimble to check and she told me that there was no appropriation on the sheet. Could this just be a mistake.

We would appreciate hearing from you.

Dear Marn, (Is this spelled right?)

I have just discovered that the regular appropriation of [illegible] made by the Woman's Division, Town & Country Section was not made this year. This certainly made us sick at heart. Not so much because of the money but we are wondering why it was done.

You know something about the Southern Regional Council and its work with the difficult problems of the South. It does get some support from the Catholics and most of the Protestant churches. This special gift from the Woman's Division which has been appropriated every year since 1940, has been a real joy and now the break-off causes us consternation. Can anything be done about this?

I wish that there was some way you could be here this fall for our South-wide meeting of the women leaders from the various denominations--both races and three faiths. We would love to hear from you.

PERSONAL

Dear Mr. Davis:

My impression is that there is a foundation in Winston-Salem headed or largely controlled by a Mr. Babcock, who married one of the Reynolds. I do not have my file before me as I write but can locate his name and the name of the foundation.

The Southern Regional Council would like to submit to that foundation a proposal for a grant-in-aid. Our impression is that Mr. Babcock, and perhaps his associates, might be favorably disposed toward helping an organization having our general objectives. Since I have no acquaintance with any of the parties involved I would greatly appreciate your writing me in confidence suggestions you would care to make as to the best method of approach to that foundation.

We are operating under a terminal grant from the Fund For The Republic which fact makes it imperative that we secure substantial contributions from others. Southern foundations of liberal tendencies seem to offer the best prospect of success.

Any advice which you would care to give will be greatly appreciated.

Yours sincerely,

Mr. William Rosenwald

New York, New York

Dear Mr. Rosenwald:

Some time ago, Mrs. Max Ascoli was kind enough to offer to speak to you about the work of the Southern Regional Council and to ask you to grant me an interview. Unfortunately, my brief visits to New York since then have found you unavilable; therefore, I am taking the liberty of writing you instead.

As you may know, the Southern Regional Council is an interracial organization working in twelve Southern states for improved race relations and the elimination of discrimination and segregation. It was founded in 1944 by such distinguished Southerners as Dr. Howard Odum, Dr. Will Alexander, Dr. Charles Johnson, and others of like stature, as the successor to the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation. During its early years, the Council's main support came from the Julius Rosenwald Fund; indeed, it may be said that the establishment of the Council was due to the generosity of the Fund.

We believe that the role of the Southern Regional Council since -- particularly at the crucial period in the South today -- testifies to the wisdom of that initial investment. The aftermath of the Supreme Court's school segregation decision has posed enormous problems of interracial adjustment and public policy, vital to the nation as well as the South. The Southern Regional Council and its state affiliates represent, uniquely, a body of responsible white and Negro Southerners working for orderly compliance with the decision. As an established organization, with reputation and experience, the Council has an unmatched opportunity to make a decisive contribution at this critical time in Southern development. Rather than extend this letter unduly, I am enclosing materials which describe the history, make-up, and current activities of the Council.

Needless to say, the situation demands greatly expanded efforts of us. And these demands come at a time when fear and tensions make it harder than ever to raise funds in the South for work of this kind. We must look for support to those persons, irrespective of region, who recognize the importance of organized effort by Southerners to achieve interracial progress.

The greater part of our budget for 1957 has been raised, but the Council must have approximately $16,000 from new sources in order to complete the year. This is written in the hope that you will consider a contribution of $2,500 toward this need.

Mrs. Ascoli, Mrs. David Levy, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stern are acquainted with the Council's work and have contributed generously to it. Thus they would be in position to give an informed opinion as to the worthiness of this request.

In addition to the materials mentioned above, I am enclosing our official U. S. Treasury letter of tax-exemption. If further information would assist your consideration, please let me know.

Sincerely yours,

For several years the Community Service Foundation has given to the Southern Regional Council an annual contribution of $100. The funds have been a substantial help to us. No less important, however, is the vote of confidence for our work and aims from fellow Southerners of good will.

At this crucial point, when emotions are fed by intemperate and irresponsible leadership, we feel there is more need than ever for our program. We continue to bring together constructive leaders of the two races and three faiths to seek ways of practicing and demonstrating broader democracy.

Dr. Mitchell, as you know, now resides in Scotland where he is enjoying a well deserved retirement. We continue the work which he so ably directed. Accordingly, we earnestly hope you will feel that we merit your support again this year.

Mr. John Thompson
Executive Secretary
The Farfield Foundation
37 West 57th Street
New York, New York

Dear Mr. Thompson:

It was very kind of you to see me on short notice when I was in New York week before last. I'm taking advantage of your willingness to have a letter from me describing our work with foreign visitors, present and prospective, and listing some of the recent visitors we have had.

The Southern Regional Council has received an increasing flow of foreign visitors during the past several years, particularly since the Supreme Court's decision on school segregation in May of 1954. This was only natural in view of the attention, at home and abroad, focused on Southern race relations in the wake of the decision. Visitors from Asia and Africa have had a particularly acute interest in the way in which the United States is measuring up to its democratic principles at home. They as well as Europeans have wanted to visit the South, where the redefinition of the Negro's status has had the greatest impact.

In planning the itineraries of these visitors, the State Department, the Governmental Affairs Institute, and similar public and private agencies have looked to the Southern Regional Council as an information center and clearing house for these visitors travelling through the region. The Council has unique advantages in this respect. As a body of white and Negro Southerners working together for progress in race relations, it affords a unique example of positive interracial effort in the South.

The Council's professional staff is equipped to give emissaries from other lands a detailed and balanced picture of developments within the South, the historical background against which they must be seen, and future prospects. The Council's reference files, maps, publications, and other materials provide as much documentation as a visitor may wish -- and often that is a great deal. The fact that the Council has affiliated interracial organizations in the various Southern states makes it possible to refer visitors to informed and sympathetic persons in whatever part of the region they may wish to visit.

On their return home, not only the newspapermen but often those of other professions write up their observations and reactions for publication in newspapers and magazines. Thus their findings and opinions may influence the views of many thousands of their fellow countrymen. We have been gratified by the fact that many of them communicate with the Council after they leave this country. We have had from many of them requests for more information on specific aspects of Southern race relations.

In order that the diversity and range of foreign visitors may be clearly seen, we are attaching a list of those received since January 1, 1957. It may be noted how many of these individuals are influential leaders and opinion makers in their native countries. They include government officials, newspaper editors, labor leaders, and businessmen.

Also attached is a recent report of the various program activities which the Council carries on. These particularly the information functions, are the underpinning of the foreign visitor program. Through them, we are able to provide the information that is so eargerly sought, and also to demonstrate the constructive efforts and developments which get such regrettably small play in the international press.

In carrying on this activity, we face a serious dilemma. We feel very keenly the importance of giving foreign visitors a mature and balanced experience in the South. At the same time, other demands within the Council have greatly increased as the strains of racial tension and controversy have grown. The problem is how to give the proper amount of time and professional attention to the servicing of foreign visitors without unduly diverting from the program activities of the organization. To this end, we should like to request of the Farfield Foundation a grant of $5,000 for the year 1958. A grant in this amount would enable us to do the following:

(1) Through being at least partially compensated for the professional staff time involved, we can in good conscience give more of our time and effort to the scheduling and briefing of foreign visitors.

(2) We would be able to draw on knowledgeable persons in the community who could assist with hospitality, transportation, and introduction to community institutions. These persons would give their time without charge, but need compensation for legitimate expenses incurred.

(3) In addition to supplying visitors with materials while they are here, we should be able to institute follow-up mailings periodically to the list of influential foreigners who have visited the South. For example, material giving proper interpretation to the Little Rock developments could do much to off-set the negative publicity this episode has received throughout the world. Further such episodes, unfortunately, are bound to take place. Here is a chance, through private rather than governmental channels, to build understanding among opinion makers in other countries. The fact that the Southern Regional Council is made up of Southerners of both races would give such information and interpretation a unique value.

I greatly appreciate your interest and earnestly hope that the Farfield Foundation will feel that this effort to increase international good will is worthy of its support. I shall look forward eagerly to hearing from you.

Dear Mr. Bradley:

I was very glad to have had the opportunity to discuss with you and Dr. Meserve the work of the Southern Regional Council and to talk briefly with Mr. Kreel and Mr. Allen.

Enclosed is the background material on the Council which I promised to send. The items enclosed, with a word of explanation about each, are as follows:

1. List of Board Members. As I believe I explained, our board will be replenished in a major way at the annual meeting next week, since representatives of the state groups automatically terminated on October 1st. Therefore, the enclosed list is temporarily incomplete, showing only those members whose continuance on the board for the next year or more is certain. Some thirty odd additional members will be elected next week, and once their acceptances are received I shall send you a revised and complete list.

2. Budgets. Enclosed are copies of the actual budget for 1957 and the proposed budget for 1958. You will note that the proposed budget for next year shows, by source, the income considered expectable and the remaining amount that must be raised from other sources if the budget is to be effectively carried out.

3. Contributors for 1954 Through 1957. This shows, by category, the sources of the Council's income for these years.

Although some of the amounts contributed are trifling, particularly in the case of the churches, I thought it well to include them. Many of these groups have very small budgets themselves, and the fact that they contribute at all is a tangible indication of their support of the Council's aims and activities.

4. Program. Of course, it is possible to supply an endless amount of detail on program activities. With a view to keeping this brief, I am enclosing only two documents - the general description entitled: "The South of Promise" and our most recently prepared report, covering the first half of 1957. We will shortly have an annual report ready, at which time I shall send you a copy.

Also enclosed as of general relevance are an organizational chart and a copy of the Council's letter of tax exemption.

I recall that you inquired particularly about the amount of financial support secured within the South. As you will see from the schedule of contributions, little of the Council's financial support comes from purely Southern sources. One reason for this is the fact that our related state councils on human relations must depend heavily on the money they can raise within their respective states, and we have been at pains not to compete with them for those funds. Therefore, any accounting of money raised for this movement within the South should take notice of the amounts raised by the state groups. During fiscal 1954-55, they raised approximately $24,000; during 1955-56, $37,000; during 1956-57, approximately $55,000. All of these funds, with possibly a few negligible exceptions, were raised within the Southern states. During the coming fiscal year, the state organizations have undertaken to raise somewhat more than $70,000.

We expect to submit a request to the Rockefeller Brothers Fund by no later than mid-December. Meanwhile, if I can usefully furnish further background material of any kind, please let me know.

With best regards to you and your associates,

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming

Mrs. Abraham L. Freedman
1014 West Hortter Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Dear Mrs. Freedman:

Frank Loescher has told me of his conversation with you about the work of the Southern Regional Council and the possibility of aid from the Sunstein Foundation. file

As I am sure you understand, resistance to desegregation in the South has greatly increased the demands on the Council. At the same time, it has become more difficult than ever before to get financial support in the South.

I very much hope that the Sunstein Foundation may find the work of the Council sufficiently important to warrant its interest and support. If you feel that the trustees would be willing to consider a request from us, we should like to submit one before the next board meeting.

Enclosed are materials describing the origin, aims, and activities of the Council, and I am taking the liberty of adding your name to the mailing list of our monthly publication, New South. If further information on any point would be helpful, please let me know.

I am grateful for your interest and will appreciate any advice you may give me.

Cordially,

Harold C. Fleming

Dear friends.

I am a colored widow. Through Mrs. Ethel Collins of Doylestown, Pa., I learned of your splendid work and wish to help.

The enclosed five dollars I earned by making a hat for a lady, who was pleased when I told her what I was going to do with the money. I am going to lend her the copy of "New South" given me by Mrs. Collins and trust that she may be moved to contribute.

Dear Mr. Blackford,

Enclosed find check in partial compensation for the trouble you have taken in my behalf -- the photostats of editorials on the Mississippi situation and the copies of the editorials in student newspapers.

Because of Congressman Emanuel Celler's illness, the hearings of the Anti-Trust Sub-Committee, of which he is Chairman, on newspaper monopolies, has been postponed until May.

I am now doubtful whether I can use this material in my testimony before the Committee for two reasons:

1. I was misinformed when I wrote that Southern newspapers had ignored the Mississippi situation in their editorial columns;

2. The student editorials introduce an emotional controversy which is extraneous to the Committee's agenda.

But the material you have sent me will not go to waste because I shall use it to acquaint and interest others in the great work you are doing.

With kind regards ~~you~~ to you and Mr. Dabbs,

Gentlemen:

Can I obtain 100 copies of your reprint of editorials in Southern college newspapers, commenting on the Meredith case?

I am testifying before the Antitrust Subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee, presently investigating communications monopoly. In my statement to the committee I am pointing out that a monopoly newspaper (one in a city) avoids controversial issues which might alienate any segment of its readership. With the notable exception of the Atlanta Constitution-Journal, most Southern newspapers avoided editorial comment on the situation.

But the student editors had the courage and character to express a point of view. Your reprint offers striking evidence that the monopoly newspapers of the deep South are ignoring a considerable body of public opinion.

If you are out of copies I will be glad to pay the cost of another printing. I must receive them here, in Palm Beach, before April 3rd, when I leave for Washington, or at the Mayflower Hotel Washington before April 4th when I appear before the committee.

Please call me collect as to whether this can be accomplished.

My kind regards to Mr. Dabbs

Dear Mr. Dunbar,

Please find enclosed a check for our annual contribution to the work of the Southern Regional Council. I apologise for the lateness of its arrival this year; no excuse, merely the procrastination of a harried 20th century parent.

We found that we had a little extra to give away this year, and we felt that the Southern Regional Council was the place to dispose of it. With all the current tumult and shouting over Civil Rights (much of which is absolutely necessary) we feel more than ever impressed with the steady, unobtrusive and effective work of the Council. I wish I could promise you that this year's contribution will be equalled by next year's, but I cannot, so we shall both simply have to hope.

We appreciate the reports and other information which you send to us, and we read them all with great interest. We wish you even more progress and success in the coming year.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Lee:

I wish there was a way I could express to you and your wife my very special gratitude for your grant of $200 to the Council. Perhaps the best I can do along this line is to say that we appreciate, even more than your generous gift, the remark in your letter regarding the personal rewards which council membership brings to you.

Our receipt is enclosed.

Incidentally, you will be pleased to know that we have engaged a new auditor; more acurately, an accounting firm here in Atlanta.

We are enclosing a small grant of $200. We are a very small fund supported by my wife and me.

Dear Mr. Anthony:

Paul Ylvisaker of the Ford Foundation has told me of the important work being carried on, under exceedingly difficult conditions, by Kenneth Dean and his colleagues of the Mississippi Council on Human Relations.

After considerable thought and discussion with Mr. Ylvisaker I have been persuaded that a single significant donation to this organization, now, would be the most helpful contribution I could make to civil rights. I am therefore enclosing a check for $1,000, made out to the Southern Regional Council, to be made available to the Mississippi Council.

I am a Southerner myself, born in Memphis. My mother's family came from Vicksburg, Mississippi. The circumstances of my life have prevented my playing an active part in the civil rights movement but I welcome this opportunity to identify myself with your work.

I would prefer, however, that this gift not be publicized in any way and ask that you do not place my name on any lists for further solicitation.

My very best wishes to you, Kenneth Dean, and your associates in both organizations.

Sincerely

It was such a delight to have the opportunity of working with you in Tennessee. Thank you for the packet of material. I am looking forward to settling down next weekend and enjoying its contents. Find enclosed a check for $10.00 as a token of appreciation of the very worthwhile work in which you are engaged.

As a consultant to the Berkeley Public Schools, I am planning a "Community Assembly on CREATING INTELLIGENCE," to be held January 21 and 22. Mr. Keppel has agreed to be the opening speaker. What would be of most interest is that half of the meeting will be a confrontation in small discussion groups of people from the University, public schools, community and youth groups. Are you planning a trip to the Bay Area the first of the year? If so, I certainly wish that you could arrange to be here at that time. If you have any creative ideas as to how to get you here, let me know. (Seemingly, I am always operating with everything except money. Smile!)

Re: Estate of Hilton P. Goss, Deceased

Gentlemen:

I am enclosing herewith a Notice of Hearing of the Petition for Probate of Will in the case of Dr. Hilton P. Goss, who died here in Santa Barbara on May 26th, 1966, which notice reflects that the hearing of this matter has been set for June 20th, 1966.

Your institution was named in Dr. Goss's Will as a contingent beneficiary in the event that Mrs. Goss did not survive her husband, but, since she did survive him, your institution will not receive anything under this Will. This notice is being mailed to you only because California law requires that formal notices be mailed to contingent beneficiaries.

If you should have any questions about this matter, do not hesitate to call upon me.

Dear Mr. Gilbert:

I am quite puzzled about your difficulty in obtaining exemption on your contribution of $5,000. As you know, earlier we sent you a copy of the letter of tax exemption for the Southern Regional Council and the Voter Education Project was operated as a subsidiary of the Council. Moreover, on March 22, 1962 the Internal Revenue Service informed us specifically that the Voter Education Project was within our regular tax exemption. Enclosed is a copy of that letter. I trust this will clear up any further doubt about your contribution.

Again, I am very sorry you have experienced this difficulty. If we can be of any possible further assistance to you, please let us know.

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

November 1, 1966

Mr. Paul Anthony
Executive Director
Southern Regional Council, Inc.
5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia 30303

Dear Mr. Anthony:

I have submitted the exemption sent to me as a result of my request of July 15, 1966, in connection with the contribution of $5,000. that I gave on August 14, 1964 to the "Voter Education Project of The Southern Regional, Inc.".

I have now been advised that the exemption submitted is not acceptable for the contribution made inasmuch as such exemption applies to the Southern Regional Council, Inc. Apparently the latter organization is different from the organization which received my contribution.

I would therefore, ask that you send me a specific exemption applying to the organization to which I had made my contribution.

Very truly yours,

Milton A. Gilbert

Mr. Milton A. Gilbert

Dear Mr. Gilbert:

Mr. John Wheeler's secretary has passed on your letter of July 17th to Mr. Anthony for reply, since Mr. Wheeler is currently hospitalized. Unfortunately, Mr. Anthony is away from the office for several days, so in the interest of time I am replying for him.

The activities of the Southern Regional Council do, indeed, fall within the purview of the Internal Revenue Service Code, and any contributions, bequests, legacies, devises or transfers, made to the Council, are tax deductible.

I am enclosing for your information a copy of our letter of tax exemption dated April 1946. Our tax exempt status has neither been withdrawn nor even questioned since it was established in 1946.

I am also enclosing a flyer which describes briefly what the Southern Regional Council is and how it operates.

I hope the enclosed materials will qualify any questions which you may continue to have, and if further information may be needed, please let us know.

Sincerely,

(Mrs.) Mildred M. Johnson

Thank you for attending to this matter.

Mr. Anthony:

Could you please write a reply to this letter.

Mr. Wheeler just came out of the hospital yesterday (Friday, Aug 12) and this would help us greatly in trying to get his correspondence up.

Dear Mr. Wheeler:

On August 14, 1964, I contributed the sum of $5,000. to your organization on the assumption that you were an organization recognized by the Internal Revenue Service to receive such contributions, thereby allowing the contributor a tax deduction.

Inasmuch as your organization does not appear on the official list of recognized charitable, religious, and educational organizations, as published by the Internal Revenue Service, will you kindly advise me of the official name of your organization; and whether the activity in which the Southern Regional Council, Inc. falls is within the purview of this organization and its tax exempt activities.

Your prompt attention in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

Dear Paul:

Thank you for inviting me to the conference to be held February 23-25. I so much want to be there that I've delayed answering, trying to arrange to be with you. But today it is quite clear to me that I must send regrets, and I have mailed the card with that information.

I do hope a detailed report of the conference will be made available and that the attendance will be gratifying. There are no strings tied to the enclosed gift, but it occurred to me that I might help pay the expenses of someone who wants to go but can not finance the trip.

The projects in this Scott area continue to be rewarding - and it is wonderful to see one good thing lead to another.

All best wishes and warm regards from Joe and

Case

Dear Member:

Do we who have accepted membership in the Council really believe in the Council's objectives? If so, we should be willing to make the sacrifices necessary to sustain these objectives. Because of the decline in Foundation support, the Council must in the future find most of its means from people in the South who believe in its work.

It has not in the past asked much of its membership. Dues have been low, and for them the Council has sent out a good stream of printed things. We know that you are interested, and count on you to work in your own community for the positive gains that the Council stands for.

At the recent annual membership meeting, those in attendance by vote urged that each member send in at least $10.00 besides dues. It can be raised from your friends or it can be paid straight from you. It is only right, after all, that we in the South who will get the good of a richer and fairer South should strain ourselves to pay for the organized effort to get such a South.

There are 3,000 of us. Ten dollars extra from each member will give us our minimum budget.

Yours and ours is a deeply felt intent. Please mail the Council (by February 15, 1949 if you can) the evidence of your faith and encouragement.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Member:

Do we who have accepted membership in the Council really believe in the Council's objectives? If so, we should be willing to make the sacrifices necessary to sustain these objectives. Because of the decline in Foundation support, the Council must in the future find most of its means from people in the South who believe in its work.

It has not in the past asked much of its membership. Dues have been low, and for them the Council has sent out a good stream of printed things. We know that you are interested, and count on you to work in your own community for the positive gains that the Council stands for.

At the recent annual membership meeting, those in attendance by vote urged that each member send in at least $10.00 besides dues. It can be raised from your friends or it can be paid straight from you. It is only right, after all, that we in the South who will get the good of a richer and fairer South should strain ourselves to pay for the organized effort to get such a South.

There are 3,000 of us. Ten dollars extra from each member will give us our minimum budget.

Yours and ours is a deeply felt intent. Please mail the Council (by February 15, 1949 if you can) the evidence of your faith and encouragement.

Dear Sirs:-

An unexpected source of income this month gives me extra tithe money, and I am delighted to be able to answer your appeal of the 2nd instant. My dues are paid up for 1948. Please find enclosed $3.00 dues for 1949, plus the $10.00 you need on your budget.

I am genuinely interested in everything you stand for, and read your literature with profit and follow your activities with interest. I am working in this city and state as you perhaps have learned through Dr. Schafer of this city. We recently sent out a request for our Governor to appoint two commissions to study the situations relating to more equable educational facitlities and salaries, and civil rights for the Negroes. My name was signed to the petition.

With best wishes of the Season and assuring you that my prayers go up daily for the work you and I are interested in. I am

Dear Mr. Miller,

I do thank you most warmly for your generous, and prompt, response to the Council's appeal. It helps us greatly.

It occurs to me that your work might find use for some of the Council's pamphlets. They are being used in many places for Church reading circles, or a textlet material. We sent you a few months ago a list of them, and for fear of seeming overpromoting I wont send another with this. But I do wish to put in the suggestion.

Dear Member:

Do we who have accepted membership in the Council really believe in the Council's objectives? If so, we should be willing to make the sacrifices necessary to sustain these objectives. Because of the decline in Foundation support, the Council must in the future find most of its means from people in the South who believe in its work.

It has not in the past asked much of its membership. Dues have been low, and for them the Council has sent out a good stream of printed things. We know that you are interested, and count on you to work in your own community for the positive gains that the Council stands for.

At the recent annual membership meeting, those in attendance by vote urged that each member send in at least $10.00 besides dues. It can be raised from your friends or it can be paid straight from you. It is only right, after all, that we in the South who will get the good of a richer and fairer South should strain ourselves to pay for the organized effort to get such a South.

There are 3,000 of us. Ten dollars extra from each member will give us our minimum budget.

Yours and ours is a deeply felt intent. Please mail the Council (by February 15, 1949 if you can) the evidence of your faith and encouragement.

Sincerely yours,

That was most kind of you to send in your check for ten dollars. We have had a welcome shower of such checks, and begin already to look a little better.

It is particularly good of you because, by some slip, we sent you the December 6 letter, notwithstanding the fact that you had already made a generous contribution to the Council on June first of this year.

Our sincere appreciation.

Dear Miss Richey:

If the widow lady's mite had been twelve and a half shekels, the story would have been carried over worldwide hookup!

We think twelve dollars and a half is a whole lot of money, and we do very greatly appreciate it.

We have used three dollars of it to pay up your dues through May, 1949, and put the rest down as a special contribution--and one of our most cherished gifts.

Hurry up and get your doctor's degree and come on back.

Dear Mr. Johnson,

I have not lost interest in the organization and the work it is doing. It is my chief interest. But I am off at Northwestern University working on a doctor's degree. I'm on fellowship, and my resources have just about reached bottom, eating and living at minimum. It's a bad way to be -- to have practically nothing to share. This will be by way of dividing a last crust. But I hope the organization prospers.

Dear Monsignor Brunini:

You have indeed made us an additional contribution of $10.00 during this year, and a request for additional funds should not therefore have gone out to you. We intended them only for members who had not made such a contribution, and it was through inadvertence that you received one.

It was most generous of you therefore, to send us an an additional $10.00 through Mrs. Ruby Lyells, Secretary of the Mississippi Division. This is of great help to us, and cheers us more than you can know. Thank you most warmly.

Dear Dr. Trigg:

Thank you so much for your check for $15.00, ten for our budget and five for dues. We feel greatly encouraged by the shower of ten dollar checks which we have received, and already our situation looks better than when you were here.

Just now I am trying to line up a date for the next meeting of the Executive Committee, which you will recall, was set for sometime around the middle of February. I have conferred with the Atlanta members and find that either the 9th or the 23rd would be an acceptable date. Could you put aside either one of these for us, and if so, would you tell me what your preference would be, or perhaps mention alternate dates that you could be with us? As soon as we can find a date which is agreed upon by all, or most, I will write you.

Southern Regional Council

Dear Member:

Do we who have accepted membership in the Council really believe in the Council's objectives? If so, we should be willing to make the sacrifices necessary to sustain these objectives. Because of the decline in Foundation support, the Council must in the future find most of its means from people in the South who believe in its work.

It has not in the past asked much of its membership. Dues have been low, and for them the Council has sent out a good stream of printed things. We know that you are interested, and count on you to work in your own community for the positive gains that the Council stands for.

At the recent annual membership meeting, those in attendance by vote urged that each member send in at least $10.00 besides dues. It can be raised from your friends or it can be paid straight from you. It is only right, after all, that we in the South who will get the good of a richer and fairer South should strain ourselves to pay for the organized effort to get such a South.

There are 3,000 of us. Ten dollars extra from each member will give us our minimum budget.

Yours and ours is a deeply felt intent. Please mail the Council (by February 15, 1949 if you can) the evidence of your faith and encouragement.

Sincerely yours,

Paul D. Williams

I wish the check could be more, but I was in graduate school six months this year from Jan to June and will be "in" again from Feb 1 through August '49. If I ever get thru school (and I hope to by Aug '49) perhaps I can help more. Thanks for all the help the Pathways has —

I have written Mr. Solomon, as enclosed.

We have been having a welcome shower of checks ever since the letter to our members asking each person to get up as much as ten dollars. There is still a big money-raising job to do, but we are greatly encouraged by the many evidences of the loyalty and willingness of our friends to help.

Dear Dr Mitchell,

Your appeal of the 6th inst had been mislaid among the excitement - imagine its physical deportment - that had begun to grow with the advent of the Season, when men have time to remember that men & women are human beings and not just part of the Power Age which increasingly strives to develop more & better machines that eliminate to a much greater extent the human being of the Machine Age.

I enclose a check for $20.oo, of which $10.oo is in response to your appeal, and the balance to go toward what I will be owing for other responsibilities - my subscription and that for others to whom your magazine is being sent.

Wishing you continued success in your endeavors to bring about a more intelligent attitude toward problems that hinder true human progress, at the same time reminding those who clamor for greater speed that if we all accept responsibility instead of passing the buck on to our neighbors, more enlightenment will arrive with less likelihood for disappointment in the long run.

The tragic course now being pursued in South Africa by the Republican Party, many of whose prominent supporters have been trained in the States or have visited this country under the beneficence of the Carnegie Corporation, makes one wonder whether education on race problems should not be raised to the highest level, including that of generous patrons.

Mr Roosevelt's 4 Freedoms are based on the moral foundations erected by the Protestant Democracy that, with reliance upon God's help, brought America to its finest flowering heights, and enabled the USA to take its place in a soreestricken world as a leader for other nations to enjoy the benefits of the 4 Freedoms. Unfortunately, we have overlooked that unless the same moral foundations are present on which to erect the edifice of 4 Freedoms, the result can only be internecine disputes and further development of tyranny. Furthermore, How can oil & water mix in the UN? That is worth thinking over. Our God and His Beloved Son have no place in the hearts of those who believe in the gods of the Hindoos, Parsees, etc.

Wishing you continued success, sincerely, yours truly,

George S. Oettle

How very kind of you to send us your check for $12.00, representing $2.00 dues for the coming year, and $10.00 as a contribution. This timely response greatly cheers and encourages us here.

December 6, 1948

Dear Member:

Do we who have accepted membership in the Council really believe in the Council's objectives? If so, we should be willing to make the sacrifices necessary to sustain these objectives. Because of the decline in Foundation support, the Council must in the future find most of its means from people in the South who believe in its work.

It has not in the past asked much of its membership. Dues have been low, and for them the Council has sent out a good stream of printed things. We know that you are interested, and count on you to work in your own community for the positive gains that the Council stands for.

At the recent annual membership meeting, those in attendance by vote urged that each member send in at least $10.00 besides dues. It can be raised from your friends or it can be paid straight from you. It is only right, after all, that we in the South who will get the good of a richer and fairer South should strain ourselves to pay for the organized effort to get such a South.

There are 3,000 of us. Ten dollars extra from each member will give us our minimum budget.

Yours and ours is a deeply felt intent. Please mail the Council (by February 15, 1949 if you can) the evidence of your faith and encouragement.

Dear Mrs. Guyton:

Please let us thank you most warmly for the check in the amount of $15.00 which was sent us through Mr. Guyton and received on January 5.

This is being credited to you as follows: $2.00 dues for 1947-1948, $3.00 dues 1948-1949, and $10.00 contribution to the general budget.

Since April 1946 is the anniversary date of your joining, the Council, your dues are now paid up through April 1949.

The extra contribution is going to be of the greatest help to our slender budget, and we are most appreciative. Such generous response of our membership to our recent appeal for funds is most cheering to us here.

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

RECEIVED JAN 24 1949 Southern Regional Council

December 6, 1948

Dear Member:

Do we who have accepted membership in the Council really believe in the Council's objectives? If so, we should be willing to make the sacrifices necessary to sustain these objectives. Because of the decline in Foundation support, the Council must in the future find most of its means from people in the South who believe in its work.

It has not in the past asked much of its membership. Dues have been low, and for them the Council has sent out a good stream of printed things. We know that you are interested, and count on you to work in your own community for the positive gains that the Council stands for.

At the recent annual membership meeting, those in attendance by vote urged that each member send in at least $10.00 besides dues. It can be raised from your friends or it can be paid straight from you. It is only right, after all, that we in the South who will get the good of a richer and fairer South should strain ourselves to pay for the organized effort to get such a South.

There are 3,000 of us. Ten dollars extra from each member will give us our minimum budget.

Yours and ours is a deeply felt intent. Please mail the Council (by February 15, 1949 if you can) the evidence of your faith and encouragement.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mrs. Smith:

Kind of you to write about the contributions. That was a nice idea, and one that we greatly appreciate.

As to Mr. Binford's being a member, we have an old habit hereabouts of rewarding the instigator of a contribution with a membership and its attendant subscription to New South. In the unlikely event that Mr. Binford objects to being a member, I would take him off, of course, but if it is all right with him, we would like to continue him as a paid-up member through 1949. After that he would be on his own, and could keep on joining or not.

Remember me, please, to Mr. Price, whom I like.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

I have your letter of December 23, which I should have answered before this.

The contributions you received through Mr. Frederick H. Binford from Le Moyne College were not due to any work of mine. It was Mr. Binford's idea that we of the faculty who felt like doing so might contribute to several organizations the amount we might ordinarily spend for Christmas cards to others on the faculty. A number of us heartily approved of this thought, and so contributed what we felt we could. Although Mr. Binford knew that I am a SRC member, I had nothing to do with obtaining the gifts.

In talking with Mr. Binford this evening, I learned that he hardly feels that the check he sent (which represented gifts from various faculty members) should be used to make him a member of SRC. So he asked me to explain this to you - that the contributions came from a group and he was only acting as agent for them.

His only address is Le Moyne College, since he lives here on the campus, as my husband and I do.

Mr. Neil Bruce, whom you mentioned, was on the campus one night last month to address the faculty after dinner. His topic had to do with socialism in England. We both enjoyed his analysis of the effects of the new government in his country and the opportunity to meet him. Later this spring we hope to hear more from him on other subjects also. He has made a fine place for himself in Memphis since he came.

I am sorry that I cannot do a great deal about the Council's need for funds. Just now I'm rather busy with prospects of the birth of our first child, expected momentarily. But I am greatly interested in this work, along with my husband, and we both remember very pleasantly your talk at the Race Relations Institute at Fisk in 1947, which we attended in full.

Very sincerely,

Margaret J. Smith

Dict. January 24

To: Jane Simpson

I saw Dr. Brazeal yesterday.

He will have his manuscript on FEPC's history about done in April.

I promised him that we would prepare an outline of what we thought ought to go into a pamphlet for us (quite a simple outline) and that we would then confer with Brazeal on what parts of the outline Brazeal would be willing to make into text for us.

Could you set your mind on an outline, and bring it to me at thy convenience?

I am a student at the School of Social Work of the University of Pittsburgh, and I should like to ask for a sampling of your publications to go in their file. I have several copies of the pamphlet "Southern Regional Council". I find rather wide ignorance in Pittsburgh of just what race relations are in the South, and even more about what is being done to improve conditions.

Thank you so much. Sincerely yours,

Dear Friends:

We have aletter dated December 6 which is a general letter sent in regard to finances needed for the Council's work. We want to recall to your mind that the Committee on Woman's Work makes a gift of $25 annually to the work of the Council. As a representative of the Committee on Woman's Work, it has been my privilege to attend annual meetings except in one or two instances when I had been out of the city.

We do not think just now that an additional gift can be made to the work although we are much interested in what the Council does and has been doing through the years.

Just as a personal gift I am enclosing a small amount to be used in the general work of the Council. I hope I will not be away at the time of the next meeting since it is stimulating to attend and see the interest of people in this work as well as to have the opportunity of meeting new members.

Enclosedis my ten dollars also, though with sickness in my family it is hard for me to send it.

Your excellent article in New South for September has some information in it which ~~is~~ needs dreadfully ~~need~~ to be better understood in the south. You so truly say the Negro should have protection of person, property and the right to vote, and then you say these "have nothing to do with swimming pools and eating places. The Southern people need to know this." They certainly do. There is a widespread dread that the Negro is being given a wedge and encouraged to push in everywhere; and such an idea is alarming to conservative people. And that is what makes the South's attitude of mind very similar to that of a hundred years ago. It is deplorable.

Then, disregarding divergencies in all other parts of the Union, (perhaps for simplication), you say the position of the rest of the nation" that of is like the 19th century Abolitionists ---irreproachable in spirit."

Oh! Dr. Mitchell, I cannot agree with you! Those holier than thou hypocrits precipitated the civil war as surely as did southern fire eaters. It was the moderation of Eng. that made possible the purchase of slaves in her dominion and so the quiet, sane ending of slavery. Is it not due to this moderation that Eng. has developed her democracy by evolution rather than the sort of revolutions France and Russia have indulged in?

Sincerely
Susan L. Allston

Dear Father Twomey:

How very kind of you to send us in ten dollars. We are doing well with the ten-dollar checks. I think they will help us greatly to get large sums from people who have a lot.

My blushes for your kind remarks about the Teachers' Institute talk. You are most welcome to use any of it.

I do wish New Orleans and Atlanta were closer. It is always such a pleasure for me to be in your city. I hope next time I can get more of your time.

I particularly like to talk to students. Next time I come maybe you would let me do a class for you.

Dear George:

I finally got around to sending you the $10.00 which the S.R.C. requested in its circular letter of December 2nd. I meant to attend to this matter before, but only now did I really get down to it.

It is really a privilege to be able to participate in the important work being done by the S.R.C. As far as I can see it is giving the type of forward-looking leadership that the South desperately needs and without which we will continue to flounder in the morass of racial exploitation, political demogaguery and economic backwardness. At every opportunity I try to promote the stock of the S.R.C.

I was fortunate enough to get a copy of the speech you delivered before the Teachers' Institute. It is the best presentation of the present problems of the South that I have ever heard, and I ask your permission to cite passages from it as the occasion offers.

When you see Paul Williams, kindly give him my best regards.

God bless you and continue to direct you in your zealous efforts to bring justice and charity into the social and economic life of the South.

Dear Mrs. Starr:

We are very appreciative of your letter received on the 4th, in which you tell us that you are not receiving your copies of New South.

We do have your address as Winter Park, and are sending New South there. Our most recent issue, the December- January one, was quite late in going out this time, and we are wondering whether it was this lateness in receiving the December-January issue which has caused you to feel that your New Souths are not coming to you, or whether you have actually missed any of the numbers. Won't you please let us know and we shall be glad to send you any that you have not received.

Thank you most warmly for your check for $10.00. It is of great help to us and great encouragement as well.

We do not have a report of the Florida meeting, but it may be that Mrs. Henry Havens , Field Secretary, at 2845 Corinthians Avenue, Jacksonville, could provide you with a copy or a report on the meeting, or that Mrs. William C. SRC - Fair Employment Study

February 17, 1949

TO: Jane Simpson
FROM: GSM

It seems to me the Southern Regional Council, particularly through its Divisions and affiliated committees, could serve quite usefully in assisting the implementing of Executive Order 9980.

Here is a copy of the order, and a copy of the first item of procedure under that order issued by the Civil Service Commission. also V Order.

I understand that the Civil Service Commission also has in ditto form a list of the 60-odd persons thus far designated by agencies as fair employment officers, with the titles, agencies, and addresses of those several persons.

I further understand that additional procedure from the Civil Service Commission will be issued soon.

Hereabout also is the first piece of procedure of implementation of the Order issued by and within the Veterans' Administration.

If the Council could make a simple, useful condensation of the practical ideas behind these items of procedure, and clearly set out rights of people trying to get into the federal government and trying to get promoted within the federal government and duties of employment officers, that might help to lift the cloud of ignorance in the South about the whole matter.

Obviously a most fruitful way to break down the walls that bar Negroes from advancement in private opportunity in the South is to break them down completely within the federal government. It is now ordered that they shall break there.

I should think the federal government would welcome at the top (though I fear me not toward the bottom) the service of a southern organization which would make known the content of the order and would make itself available to people in localities who had reason to suppose that they were being given less than fair treatment by officials of federal government in matters of employment.

I know that the Urban League, in its offices over the country, plays a hand in this and did so long before the Executive Order was issued.

I wonder whether the Divisions and Committees of the Council could not set up themselves fair employment officers, who would be supplied by us with the relevant procedures and who would make themselves known in the various states as people prepared to work for, represent, and go with aggrieved candidates for employment or promotion within the federal government.

Anyhow, we could do something systematic toward getting the information out. What? Will you ponder and advise me?

One important thing to do is to activate in each city where federal agencies are heavily represented the frequently moribund federal personnel council. That is the personnel officers of all of the federal agencies. If they want to, they can make the FEPC business work in their cities. If they don't want to, it won't work.

Maybe we could get out a directory of fair employment officials in the principal southern cities.

Sec.
36.1 Coverage.
36.2 Fair Employment Officer.
36.3 General procedures for handling complaints and appeals.
36.4 Discrimination alleged in connection with other types of appeals.

AUTHORITY: Sections 36.1 to 36.4, inclusive, issued under section 8 of Executive Order 9980, 13 F. R. 4311.

SEC. 36.1 Coverage. The regulations in this part shall apply to all departments and agencies in the executive branch of the Government and to all personnel actions with respect to positions therein.

SEC. 36.2 Fair Employment Officer. (a) The head of each department or agency shall designate an official thereof as Fair Employment Officer, and shall assign to him the duties and responsibilities which will further the effective administrative operation of the department or agency and encourage the carrying out of Executive Order 9980.

(b) The Fair Employment Officer may represent the head of the department or agency in matters pertaining to Executive Order 9980, subject to his instructions.

(c) The head of each department or agency shall provide, on a temporary or permanent basis, either a Fair Employment Officer, or a Fair Employment Board, for each regional or other appropriate field office or local establishment in accordance with the needs and problems of the agency in each field area. Such Fair Employment Officer or Fair Employment Board shall be appointed from among the officers and employees of the department or agency.

(d) The head of each department or agency shall instruct the officers of his department or agency with regard to the meaning, spirit, and application of Executive Order 9980. He shall give notice to all officers and employees of the designation of the Fair Employment Officer, and to the employees of the regional or other appropriate field office of the designation of the Fair Employment Officer or Board for that office.

SEC. 36.3 General procedures for handling complaints and appeals. (a) Complaints concerning personnel actions taken in any department or agency on grounds of alleged discrimination because of race, color, religion, or national origin shall be made not later than 30 calendar days after the complainant learns of the alleged acts of discrimination.

office involved shall be in writing, and shall include a description of the specific action which is alleged to constitute the discrimination, together with evidence to support the allegation.

(e) Complaints shall be investigated as well as heard in such manner as appears fair and appropriate to the head of the department or agency, in consultation with the Fair Employment Officer. The complainant and the officers or employees against whom complaint is made shall present their side of the case to the investigator, who may require the complainant to further substantiate his complaint by bringing in witnesses or indicating further sources of information. He may also require the officers or employees concerned to submit additional information.

(f) Whenever the Fair Employment Officer or Fair Employment Board finds that discrimination because of race, color, religion, or national origin is established in connection with any personnel action he shall advise the head of the regional office or other appropriate office of the department or agency.

(g) The head of the department or agency shall provide a suitable method for taking corrective administrative action in cases where complaints appear, after investigation, to be justified.

(h) Where appeal is made to the head of the department or agency, the complainant and other officers of employees of the department or agency involved in the complaint shall be afforded an opportunity to appear personally before the head of such agency, or a person designated by such head. The complainant, if he so desires, may have a representative of his own choosing.

(i) An appeal from an unfavorable decision by the head of the department or agency may be filed with the Fair Employment Board in the Civil Service Commission.

SEC. 36.4 Discrimination alleged in connection with other types of appeals. (a) Where an appeal involving section 14 of the Veterans, Preference Act of 1944, or reduction in force, or efficiency rating, includes also complaint of alleged discrimination on grounds of race, color, religion, or national origin, such appeal shall first be adjudicated in accordance with the Commission's regulations that are regularly applicable in these types of appeals. The question of discrimination shall then be referred to the department or agency concerned for such further action as may be necessary under Executive Order 9980.

EXECUTIVE ORDERS ON DISCRIMINATION

AMERICAN COUNCIL Report ON RACE RELATIONS

AUGUST, 1948 VOL. 3, NO. 3

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When information of widespread import to the entire field of intergroup relations warrants, a special edition of REPORT is released. The May issue was concerned with the Supreme Court decisions outlawing restrictive covenants; this issue is concerned with the recent executive orders on fair employment practices in federal government establishments.)

A Political Maneuver?

Executive Orders 9980 and 9981 are significant and far-reaching steps toward the clarification of the policy of the nation as to equality of opportunity and treatment within the agencies of the federal government. The action of the President comes in an election year and has evoked the charge that it is a "political maneuver." However, the considerations which motivated the action of the President are of minor importance except as they may throw light upon the social and political climate of the day; upon the impatience of the general public with our undemocratic shortcomings, and the pressure of our expanding political democracy upon the seats of power and authority. In such a context, it is correct to regard the action of the President as a "political maneuver," but in the proper sense of those words, namely, as a bona fide response to the urgings and insistence of the body politic.

In many respects the present directives have emerged out of a situation not unlike that which produced the wartime Fair Employment Practices Committee and the wartime relaxation of rules and regulations with reference to the utilization of minority group personnel in the armed forces. However, those measures undertaken in connection with the war effort passed from the scene with the termination of the military emergency and there remain only lingering evidences of their influence upon the firmly entrenched practices of the government bureaus and the military establishment. The recent action of the President is of more profound and continuing significance. For it should be recognized that these administrative orders have not been issued in connection with a "national emergency" and are, furthermore, directly within the scope of the normal peacetime authority of the Chief Executive. They are in no wise an invasion of the area of legislative prerogative, as might be the case were the President to seek to establish a general fair employment practices committee without benefit of congressional action. On the other hand, the jurisdiction of the President with reference to the armed forces and the administration of the executive departments of the government is clear.

The action of the President is a direct and forthright implementation of the spirit and meaning of our basic constitutional law. Correspondingly, these executive orders take on an unprecedented significance. In practical political terms, they are irrevocable. They cannot be repudiated or lightly taken by a successor. They are hard, solid facts which are here to stay and represent a condition which every personnel officer of a government bureau or responsible officer in the military establishment must conjure with in the foreseeable future. By the same token, they erect a protective barrier behind which the equitable administration of the civil service code can go forward. Forthright and responsible personnel officers may now effectively resist the incursions of congressmen from "the Hill" who would seek to shape the personnel practices in the several agencies in accord with their own private or sectional views concerning matters racial or religious.

The Orders and Public Policy

The presidential directives do not initiate a new public policy. That policy has long been an implicit feature of the American democratic creed. Furthermore, it has received explicit and frequent affirmation in the acts of legislative bodies, both national and state, and in the host of decisions which have come down from the courts. However, the application of the democratic creed has not always received that direction and specificity which encourages a bridging of the gap between our professed ideals and our practices. Hence public policy as it affects discrimination in federal employment or in the armed services has remained a moot question. Notwithstanding the nondiscriminatory content of the American Creed and our verbal allegiance to that ideal, the agencies which operate directly under its color have exhibited personnel practices and discriminatory arrangements which have given the lie to our presumably democratic public policies. In this respect, the recent executive orders are more than a mere reaffirmation of public policy. They represent a crucial demonstration of its meaning in a specific and practical context and dismiss whatever ambiguity has resided in the contrast between our abstractly stated policies and the agencies which operate under their immediate influence and direction.

The Situation in the Government

The existence of discrimination in government employment and in the armed forces needs little documentation. Varied as are the personnel practices of the several departments of the government, at no point and of no agency can it be said that the civil service regulations forbidding discrimination on grounds of race, religion, or ethnic origin have been fully implemented. It would be enough to say that the executive orders are themselves an acknowledgement of our shortcomings and an effort in the direction of remedying the situation. However, discrimination is so widespread and yet of so variable a pattern that some comment is in order. In the District of Columbia, the government employs fully one-third of the gainfully employed workers. It follows that it lays down the pattern as to personnel practices for the whole community. The picture within the several agencies varies from bureau to bureau. Practices as to race and religious discrimination can be expressed as a continuum. At one end we have the agencies which practice a systematic policy of exclusion. Members of racial and religious minorities are conspicuously absent at nearly all levels of employment in these agencies. Then there are those which employ minorities, for example, Negroes, but confine them to segregated-units. At the other end of the continuum there are those agencies (particularly the new wartime agencies, most of which are now defunct) which made some genuine attempts at integration. Throughout the whole service the Negro is confined to the lower menial categories, irrespective of education and skill. The general tone of the situation is indicated in the case study of one government agency, conducted by the National Committee on Segregation in the Nation's Capital, which is reported in the Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights:

"Samples of Negro and white workers in this agency were matched for the variables of age, sex, marital status, educational level, length of service, division in which inducted, and job title and grade at which inducted. Out of 503 whites and 292 Negroes inducted into the agency in the fiscal year 1946, 40 pairs were perfectly matched for these variables. A few more Negroes than whites had veteran status, but the average agency ratings for the two groups were exactly the same.

"A check on promotion and resignation for the sample was made in April, 1947. It was found that the whites had received 12 grade promotions in a total of 22 years. This was an average of one promotion for each two man-years of service. The Negroes had received two grade promotions in a total service of 28 man-years. This was one promotion for each 14 man-years. In other words, it took the average Negro seven times as long as the average white to get a promotion, in spite of the fact that almost all of the variables which could affect promotion were exactly the same."

The National Committee on Segregation in the Nation's Capital has made exhaustive studies of the discriminatory pattern and is presently preparing its findings for publication. [Report of the National Committee on Segregation in the Nation's Capital, "Segregation in the Nation's Capital," to be released in November 1948]. This report should be useful in clarifying the conditions and terms of discrimination as well as the factors which account for the variations in the pattern. Such information can be useful in bringing to the surface the considerations which subvert top-policy directives and subordinate such policies through the informal pressures of bureaucratic organization. The task of achieving more democratic and nondiscriminatory personnel practices throughout the government is essentially one of insuring that the various echelons of organization are so committed and are under such surveillance as to permit the integrity of top policy directives to be faithfully maintained at all levels within the agency.

Systematic discrimination in government service came to the fore during Taft's administration and received terrific impetus under Woodrow Wilson. As recently as 1938, 90 per cent of all the government's colored employees were confined to the lowest custodial-labor jobs. The situation was somewhat improved during the war years when Negroes helped solve the critical manpower shortage and emerged in clerical and filing capacities and also in a few professional categories (mainly as race relations advisers). The postwar years have revealed these gains as temporary and they are rapidly being lost. The same is true of the armed services where unit-segregation is openly practiced and assiduously defended, on the ground of military expediency.

The discriminatory pattern of government service has prevailed notwithstanding the fact that the stated and official policy of the government is unequivocal. Under the Ramspeck Act of 1940 which modernized our Civil Service procedures, Congress declared itself in the following language:

"In carrying out the provision [of the Civil Service classification system], there shall be no discrimination against any person or with respect to the position held by any person on account of race, creed, or color." [Public Law 1881, 76th Congress, 3rd Session, Title 2, Section 3 (E).]

Executive Orders 9980 and 9981 are designed to provide the machinery for effectively implementing that policy and redressing the widespread discrimination which is so abundantly and embarrassingly evident.

The Federal Fair Employment Practices Order

The provisions of Executive Order 9980 are designed primarily to assign responsibility and provide a machinery to " insure that this long-established policy [of fair employment] shall be more effectively carried out . . ." In the absence of such provisions it has been a matter of personal preference and/or administrative expedience as to whether personnel officers were disposed to undertake seriously the establishment of fair employment practices. Under the order, personnel officers are specifically "authorized and directed to take appropriate steps to insure" that discriminatory practices are eliminated from the personnel function. Indeed, the responsible agency heads have been made strictly accountable, for the President has directed that "the head of each department in the Executive branch of the government" is to be held personally responsible for a program to insure that fair employment practices are observed within their respective departments. The effect of such an order is to definitely subordinate the personal preference of the personnel officer in employment matters, and to fix responsibility in the event that such officers permit their private views or outside pressures to interfere with their administrative functions.

In the vast and intricate apparatus of the federal bureaus, purposes of the highest order may be thwarted or put aside in the absence of a specific personnel to pursue those purposes. Executive Order 9980 has provided a machinery for bringing the personnel practices of the various agencies under continuous examination and review. Heads of departments are instructed to designate an official as Fair Employment Officer with full operating responsibility in carrying out the government's nondiscriminatory policy. This officer is called upon to periodically appraise the personnel action of the department; receive complaints and appeals concerning discrimination; deputize other officers or regional deputies to facilitate the investigation and receipt of complaints; and to take necessary corrective or disciplinary action in consultation with or under the authority of the department head.

Important as is the creation of responsible personnel, the full force of the directive order could only be realized if the accountability of the whole procedure and administrative apparatus to the President and the wider public were assured. This has been accomplished by the establishment in the Civil Service Commission of a Fair Employment Board. This Board is of no less than seven members drawn from the personnel of the Civil Service Commission. It has the quasi-judicial function of reviewing decisions of department heads and the authority to commend to the attention of the President those cases in which it finds its recommendations not promptly and fully carried out. The Board also enjoys a rule-making function in carrying out the purposes of the order; advises the several departments on problems and policies; disseminates information; coordinates the fair employment policies and procedures of the departments; and makes reports and recommendations for transmittal to the President. In the event an appeal concerning the findings or action of the Fair Employment Officer to the head of a department proves unsatisfactory, aggrieved employees may bring their complaints before the Fair Employment Board of the Civil Service Commission.

Effect on Government Agencies

The possible short-run effects of the order are difficult to assess. But it can be said that the "freedom to discriminate" has been drastically curbed. What was formerly in the area of personal disposition, permitting even a flat negation of public policy, has become an unmistakable condition of responsible supervision. Personal prejudice and pressures to subvert Civil Service Regulations can be identified and exposed for what they are. Excesses, which for the most part have been permitted to remain covert and informal, are now susceptible to public and formal review. The salutary effects of bringing personnel practices into the open cannot be underestimated. The picture of extreme variation in the workings of the various bureaus gives the lie to protestations that democratic personnel practices are impractical. The plain fact is that nondiscriminatory personnel practices do exist and are found to prevail when department heads and personnel officers elect to act in a responsible and forthright manner. Furthermore, to make known the contrast between the employment practices and experiences of such wartime agencies as the Office of Price Administration and the National War Labor Board on one hand, and the State Department and the Treasury Department on the other, is in itself a guide to action. The coordinating function of the Fair Employment Board can provide the direction and guidance which those agencies and individuals whose discriminatory practices have denied them experiences and adequate basis for generalizing about intergroup contacts, require. Much of discrimination is erected upon a false, pragmatic notion of what will or will not work, irrespective of the facts as to the experience of others. To effectively subordinate these private and questionable notions and elevate personnel practices to the level of the verified knowledge about human relations is not the least important contribution that emerges from the executive order.

Implications for State and Local Governments

The implications for state and local governments are unlimited. Indeed, a pattern is laid down, which becomes a challenge to every state and municipal executive. For as the President has exercised his power and jurisdiction over the federal agencies, governors and mayors might well develop similar machinery in their respective jurisdictions. Thus they may bring their local governmental employment and personnel practices in line with state laws and municipal ordinances. There are a host of such nonfederal jurisdictions whose policy formulations are equal in their democratic content to those of the Federal Constitution and the acts of Congress. The exercise of executive power and authority in the implementation of the democratic creed is equal in importance to its affirmation. Indeed, legislation without such effective implementation can be empty and meaningless. The President's executive order makes possible the realization of the public purpose so clearly set forth in the provisions of the Ramspeck Act.

Committee on Equality of Treatment and Opportunity in Armed Services

Executive Order 9981 is essentially a declaration of policy and the establishment of an advisory committee to explore ways and means of effecting that policy, namely, "equality of treatment and opportunity for all those who serve in our country's defense." Insofar as the order provides the machinery for treating the problem, it is limited to an examination "into the rules, procedures and practices of the armed services in order to determine in what respect such rules, procedures and practices may be altered or improved with a view to carrying out the policy of this order." Hence Executive Order 9981 differs from 9980 in that it provides only a machinery for study and investigation into the pattern of the military organization as it may be deficient in affording equality of treatment and opportunity. This is a more limited scope than the quasi-judicial machinery for redressing specific discriminatory acts which is provided under Executive Order 9980.

The crucial problem which confronts the military is that of racial segregation. This it continues to justify on the ground of military expediency and necessity. The practice is not covert but is openly espoused. The military has clung to these views, notwithstanding the findings of wartime studies within the armed services, the strong statement of the President's Advisory Commission on Universal Training, and the equally strong recommendations of the President's Committee on Civil Rights. All of these have asserted that segregation in the armed forces is a liability and in no wise an asset in the organization of our defense.

Under the circumstances, the order may be described as the President's strategem as Commander-in-Chief of the armed services in coping with the resistance of the military establishment and in working out a program for facilitating changes in the direction of the publicly declared policies of equality of treatment and opportunity. The order gives due consideration to the difficulties inherent in bringing about a democratization of the military establishment. Indeed, there is a concession which may be regarded in some quarters as an escape provision designed to give credence to the military's questionable notions concerning the necessity for segregation. The order provides that "This policy shall be put into effect as rapidly as possible, having due regard to the time required to effectuate any necessary changes without impairing efficiency or morale."

The Advisory Committee which is the kernel of the Act is called the President's Committee on Equality of Treatment and Opportunity in the Armed Services. It consists of seven members appointed by the President. This Committee is to confer and advise with the Secretaries of Defense, Army, Navy and Air Force. It is to make those recommendations to the President and to the Secretaries which are designed to achieve higher standards of democracy in the armed services. The Committee is a continuing one, authorized to exist until terminated by another executive order. For working personnel, the Committee is dependent upon the several departments of the federal government. These departments are authorized and directed to cooperate with the Committee and to supply the services of individuals as they may be required.

Importance of the Order

Executive Order 9981 is primarily important for the stand which the President takes in indicating the direction in which the armed forces must from now on face, and in providing an agency to explore ways and means of encouraging the armed forces to act in that direction. It follows that the effectiveness of the Committee's work will depend largely upon its membership. The personal composition of that body will give to the executive order whatever real force and meaning it may be able to exhibit. There are those who will argue that more specific steps should have been taken and that the Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces possessed the authority to eliminate segregation by express order. In any event, the speed with which we may move in that direction will now depend upon the stature and vigor of the Committee membership. By exercising direct influence on the respective Secretaries, as well as by means of timely reports and recommendations to the President, the Committee is in a position to bring under public scrutiny the military's reasons for retaining segregation and other undemocratic practices.

The two orders are milestones which stand with the recent Supreme Court decisions affecting restrictive covenants and higher education. They demonstrate that in government the area of administration and executive authority is equal in importance to legislation and judicial decision in bringing about a fuller realization of the democratic creed.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 9980

JULY 26, 1948

REGULATIONS GOVERNING FAIR EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES WITHIN THE FEDERAL ESTABLISHMENT

WHEREAS the principles on which our Government is based require a policy of fair employment throughout the Federal establishment, without discrimination because of race, color, religion, or national origin; and

WHEREAS it is desirable and in the public interest that all steps be taken necessary to insure that this long-established policy shall be more effectively carried out:

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in me as President of the United States, by the Constitution and the laws of the United States, it is hereby ordered as follows:

1. All personnel actions taken by Federal appointing officers shall be based solely on merit and fitness; and such officers are authorized and directed to take appropriate steps to insure that in all such actions there shall be no discrimination because of race, color, religion, or national origin.

2. The head of each department in the executive branch of the Government shall be personally responsible for an effective program to insure that fair employment policies are fully observed in all personnel actions within his department.

3. The head of each department shall designate an official thereof as Fair Employment Officer. Such Officer shall be given full operating responsibility, under the immediate supervision of the department head, for carrying out the fair-employment policy herein stated. Notice of the appointment of such Officer shall be given to all officers and employees of the department. The Fair Employment Officer shall, among other things—

(a) Appraise the personnel actions of the department at regular intervals to determine their conformity to the fair-employment policy expressed in this order.

(b) Receive complaints or appeals concerning personnel actions taken in the department on grounds of alleged discrimination because of race, color, religion, or national origin.

(c) Appoint such control or regional deputies, committees, or hearing boards, from among the officers or employees of the department, as he may find necessary or desirable on a temporary or permanent basis to investigate, or to receive, complaints of discrimination.

(d) Take necessary corrective or disciplinary action, in consultation with, or on the basis of delegated authority from, the head of the department.

4. The findings or action of the Fair Employment Officer shall be subject to direct appeal to the head of the department. The decision of the head of the department on such appeal shall be subject to appeal to the Fair Employment Board of the Civil Service Commission, hereinafter provided for.

5. There shall be established in the Civil Service Commission a Fair Employment Board (hereinafter referred to as the Board) of not less than seven persons, the members of which shall be officers or employees of the Commission. The Board shall—

(a) Have authority to review decisions made by the head of any department which are appealed pursuant to the provisions of this order, or referred to the Board by the head of the department for advice, and to make recommendations to such head. In any instance in which the recommendation of the Board is not promptly and fully carried out the case shall be reported by the Board to the President, for such action as he finds necessary.

(b) Make rules and regulations, in consultation with the Civil Service Commission, deemed necessary to carry out the Board's duties and responsibilities under this order.

(c) Advise all departments on problems and policies relating to fair employment.

(d) Disseminate information pertinent to fair-employment programs.

(e) Coordinate the fair-employment policies and procedures of the several departments.

(f) Make reports and submit recommendations to the Civil Service Commission for transmittal to the President from time to time, as may be necessary to the maintenance of the fair-employment program.

6. All departments are directed to furnish to the Board all information needed for the review of personnel actions or for the compilation of reports.

7. The term "department" as used herein shall refer to all departments and agencies of the executive branch of the Government, including the Civil Service Commission. The term "personnel action," as used herein, shall inclue failure to act. Persons failing of appointment who allege a grievance relating to discrimination shall be entitled to the remedies herein provided.

8. The means of relief provided by this order shall be supplemental to those provided by existing statutes, Executive orders, and regulations. The Civil Service Commission shall have authority, in consultation with the Board, to make such additional regulations, and to amend existing regulations, in such manner as may be found necessary or desirable to carry out the purposes of this order.

CIRCULAR No. 33
NOVEMBER 1 1948

PROCEDURE FOR CARRYING OUT EXECUTIVE ORDER NO. 9980

(FAIR EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES)

On July 26, 1948 the President issued Executive Order No. 9980 decreeing that all Federal personnel actions shall be based solely on merit and fitness, and that there shall be no discrimination because of race, color, religion, or national origin; and directing the head of each department in the Executive Branch of the Government to designate a Fair Employment Officer who shall be responsible, under the immediate supervision of the department head, for carrying out such policy.

In compliance with said Executive Order, and as announced in Bulletin 4-E, August 6, 1948, the Administrator has designated J. A. Crowley as Fair Employment Officer for the Veterans Administration. Notice of this designation shall be given to all officers and employees.

By the aforementioned Executive Order the Fair Employment Officer is authorized and directed to:

(a) Appraise the personnel actions of the Veterans Administration at regular intervals to determine their conformity to the fair-employment policy expressed in the order.

(b) Receive complaints or appeals concerning personnel actions taken in the Veterans Administration on grounds of alleged discrimination because of race, color, religion, or national origin.

(c) Appoint such control or regional deputies, committees, or hearing boards, from among the officers or employees of the Veterans Administration, as he may find necessary or desirable on a temporary or permanent basis to investigate, or to receive, complaints of discrimination.

(d) Take necessary corrective or disciplinary action in consultation with, or on the basis of delegated authority from, the Administrator.

In furtherance of said Executive Order, the Fair Employment Officer at the earliest practicable date will:

1. Designate for Central Office, and for each branch office, regional office, hospital, center, and supply depot, three officers or employees of said stations to constitute a Fair Employment Hearing Board;

2. Designate an additional three officers or employees of Central Office to constitute a Fair Employment Appeals Board;

3. Designate one member of each Hearing Board and the Appeals Board to act as chairman thereof.

In order to accomplish these designations, the Fair Employment Officer may call upon the Deputy Administrators and station Managers to recommend the names of persons in their respective stations who in their opinion are suitable for designation to such hearing boards; and he may call upon the Assistant Administrators to recommend the names of persons in their respective Services who in their opinion are suitable for designation to the appeals board.

Weak

When hearing boards have been designated, notice of such designation shall be given to all officers and employees of the station concerned. When the appeals board has been designated, notice of such designation shall be given to all officers and employees of the Veterans Administration.

Any person who has a grievance resulting from a personnel action in which discrimination on account of race, color, religion, or national origin is alleged shall be entitled, not later than 30 calendar days after he learns of the alleged acts of discrimination, to make a formal or informal complaint either to the head of the organizational Unit in the local office where the alleged acts of discrimination occurred, or to the head of such local office, in order to obtain proper understanding and adjustment if possible. For Central Office, the term "local office" shall be interpreted to mean the Service in which the alleged acts of discrimination occurred, and the term "head of such local office" shall be interpreted to mean the Assistant Administrator for said Service.

In the event the complainant learns of the alleged acts of discrimination following the date of the President's Executive Order (July 26, 1948), and prior to the date of the publication of this circular, the 30-day period above-mentioned shall begin as of the date of this circular.

Whenever a complaint is so made and the head of the organizational Unit or the head of the local office is unable to obtain proper understanding and adjustment, it shall be referred to the Fair Employment Hearing Board for that station. Complaints originating in forms depots, or the Records Center, shall be referred to the Fair Employment Hearing Board for the branch office in whose area the station is located. Complaints originating in the Publications Depot in Washington, D. C., shall be referred to the Fair Employment Hearing Board in Central Office.

The chairman of the Hearing Board shall make every effort to arrive at an amicable and speedy adjustment of the complaint by consultation with the complainant, the Chief of the Service or Division involved, and any other interested parties, or by holding an informal hearing if he deems the same necessary or advisable. It shall be the policy of the Veterans Administration to promote the voluntary settlement of complaints to the greatest possible extent consistent with sound personnel administration.

In case the Chairman:

1. Believes that the allegation of discrimination is not well founded and that the facts in the case have been sufficiently developed, he shall so notify the complainant, and shall also notify him that he is entitled to a formal hearing.

2. Believes that the facts in the case have not been sufficiently developed and that formal investigation should be made, he shall refer the complaint for investigation into the facts alleged:

(a) If in Central Office, to the Inspection and Investigation Service.

(b) If in branch office, to the Inspection and Investigation Division.

(c) If in a regional office, to the Chief Attorney.

(d) If in a hospital or other field station having no Chief Attorney, to the Chief Attorney at the nearest or most convenient regional office or to the Inspection and Investigation Division at branch office, if nearer or more convenient.

effort

The investigator at the earliest date possible following completion of the investigation, shall furnish the chairman the investigation report, and the chairman shall then make further informal effect to adjust the complaint.

The chairman shall endorse on the investigation report a statement of any action taken or proposed to be taken by way of settlement or adjustment.

In the event the chairman is unable to effect a satisfactory settlement of the complaint by the informal means above set forth, the complainant shall be entitled to a formal hearing and the chairman shall notify him of such right.

If within 15 days after notification in either of the above mentioned instances, the complainant requests a hearing, the procedure for such hearing shall be as follows:

1. The hearing shall be scheduled at a time and place as convenient to the parties as circumstances permit, and shall be conducted before the Fair Employment Hearing Board.

2. The Chairman shall give reasonable notice of the time and place of the hearing, and of the matters to be heard, to all interested parties.

3. Attendance at the hearing shall be limited to the parties, their representatives and witnesses, and the officers and/or employees of the Veterans Administration performing functions in connection with the hearing.

4. The parties shall be entitled to be represented by counsel, present evidence and testimony, and cross-examine witnesses.

5. Strict legal rules of evidence shall not be applied, but reasonable bounds shall be maintained as to competency, relevancy, and materiality.

6. Testimony shall be given under oath or affirmation administered by the chairman, who is hereby authorized to administer said oath or affirmation, and shall be recorded and transcribed and made a permanent part of the record of the case. The record shall also include a statement of the charges and the investigation report, and shall be accompanied by such findings and recommended action, certified by the chairman in behalf of the Hearing Board, as the circumstances require to carry out the policy stated in the Executive Order.

After the board has concluded the hearing, its findings and recommendations shall be submitted to the Manager if the complaint originates at a field station, to the Deputy Administrator if the complaint originates at a branch office and to the Assistant Administrator concerned if the complaint originates at Central Office, for his consideration. That official will direct any administrative action he considers necessary and will notify the complainant of the action taken.

The complainant, if dissatisfied with the action taken, may, within 15 days of receipt of such notice, submit an appeal in writing with specific reasons therefor to the Appeals Board in Central Office through the official who directed the action. That official will obtain the complete record in the case from the chairman of the Hearing Board and forward it with the appeal.

The Appeals Board shall review the complete record in the case and the chairman shall notify the Manager, Deputy Administrator, or Assistant Administrator concerned, in writing, of its decision. That official will direct any administrative action he considers necessary and will notify the complainant of the action taken.

The complainant, if dissatisfied with the decision made and the action taken, may, within 15 days of receipt of such notice, submit a further appeal in writing with specific reasons therefor to the Fair Employment Officer through the official who directed the action.

If the complainant makes appeal from the decision of the Appeals Board, the Fair Employment Officer shall review the complete record in the case, and he shall notify the Manager, Deputy Administrator, or Assistant Administrator of his decision. That official will direct any administrative action he considers necessary and will notify the complainant of the action taken.

Upon receipt of notification of the action taken following appeal to the Fair Employment Officer, the complainant, if dissatisfied, may make direct appeal in writing to Administrator within 15 days of receipt of such notification. The complainant and other officers or employees involved in the complaint shall be afforded an opportunity to appear personally before the Administrator, or a person designated by him. The complainant, if he so desires, may have a representative of his own choosing. All such appearances shall be without expense to the Veterans Administration.

The complainant shall be notified in writing of the decision of the Administrator on such appeal, and the decision, when unfavorable to the complainant, shall be subject to further appeal to the Fair Employment Board of the Civil Service Commission, pursuant to the regulations of such Board.

The Administrator, or the Fair Employment Officer with the approval of the Administrator, may refer any appropriate matters to the Fair Employment Board of the Civil Service Commission.

In conducting any hearing pursuant to the President's Executive Order, the Chairman of a Fair Employment Hearing Board may utilize the services of the Chief Attorney for his station, or in the event there is no Chief Attorney assigned to his station, the Chief Attorney at the nearest or most convenient branch office or regional office.

Where an appeal involving section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, or reduction in force, or efficiency rating, includes also complaint of alleged discrimination on grounds of race, color, religion, or national origin, such appeal shall first be adjudicated in accordance with the regulations of the Civil Service Commission that are regularly applicable in these types of appeals. Thereafter, when referred by the Civil Service Commission to the Veterans Administration for further action on the question of discrimination, the procedure shall be as above set out.

The provisions of this circular shall:

1. Take effect immediately.

2. Apply only to complaints of personnel actions alleged to have been taken on or after the date of the Executive Order (July 26, 1948).

Dear Mr. Mitchel.

Here is my check. Wish it could be many times as big. Very glad to know that the goods is really coming in.

Certainly the long steps are needed as never before. I mean needed to prevent backward steps. When, Oh, when can the real meaning of the service of the Twelve good men and true , be known in this boasting Empire state?

As program chairman of a group of women studying UNESCO their second year, I recently got Dr. R.D.Bowden in the Social Science Department of Georgia Tech. to speak to the group on his service in rehabilitation in Europe. He is a rare person and excellent speaker. But when I asked the corresponding secretary to send him a thank you note, she said,"Yes, I will, but I did not like what he said about Georgia." He had referred in a about three words to Tombs County. The Unesco studies did not go far, did they?

Dear Anna:

How nice of you and Ray to send us that check for ten dollars. We were doubly delighted not only for the ten dollars but to know that you have not forgotten us.

How are you liking California? And do you think you will be there permanently? Naturally we would so like to see you turn your faces southward and toward Atlanta again.

You would be interested Anna I know to discover that High Museum now has evening classes in ceramics and that I am one of their very devoted students. I think of you so much in this class knowing how much you yourself would have enjoyed it and wish that you were there. There is no comparison between this class with a good artist as teacher and the one we attended so haplessly at Carey Hansard's. Here you really learn things and begin to make all kind of creative articles and each one gets individual attention. Some very beautiful things have been made in our class and there will be an exhibit of them a little later on in the season.

Now doesn't this make you wish you were back in Atlanta again? I often think of the lovely chipmunks which you made before you went away, and wonder how they came out in the glazing and the firing. Knowing how many of the Hansard firings proved to be disastrous I have feared the worst for these but do hope that I'm wrong.

Mrs. Ray Warick February 18, 1949

Please sit down very soon and write us all a long letter telling us all about yourself and what you are doing and all about Ray and his work. Everyone here would so like to hear from you and we think of you often.

Dear Miss Hawes:

How very good of you to send us an additional check of $10.00, following the one for $15.00 which you sent us on January 19! Such generous response means much to us and to the future of the Council.

In response to your question as to who supports the Council, I would say that the Council belongs to its members, and is in considerable measure, at least, supported by them. Charitable foundations, such as the Julius Rosenwald Fund, and the General Education Board, have given generously towards the work of the Council, as have various church denominations. Generous and public-spirited individuals have also cast in their bit towards the work which we are doing. We are not "under the Government" but the Government does exempt us from taxation as a non-profit, educational and research organisation.

I am referring your card, asking for information as to the price of a single copy of "Mary Smith Meets the People" to Mr. Alexander Miller, of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, as that organisation is the publisher of this leaflet. It is my impression that they are free, and I know that he will be glad to send you one.

Please do not hesitate to write us whenever we can be of help or whenever you have any suggestion for the improvement of our program. Meanwhile, with every good wish I am

Dear Sirs:

A mimeographed letter from Mr. George S. Mitchell, dated January 31st, reached me a few days ago. I believe it is a similar letter to the one I received from Mrs. Agnes McKoy. In reply to her letter, I enclosed a check for $15.00, January 19th, and received a gracious letter of thanks from her January 27th.

Since I believe the Council is doing an imperative work for the South under able leadership, I am glad to contribute another $10.00, though I cannot promise to do this each year.

My sister is under the impression that the Council is "under the Government". Is this true? Who supports the Council?

Dear Member:

Do we who have accepted membership in the Council really believe in the Council's objectives? If so, we should be willing to make the sacrifices necessary to sustain these objectives. Because of the decline in Foundation support, the Council must in the future find most of its means from people in the South who believe in its work.

It has not in the past asked much of its membership. Dues have been low, and for them the Council has sent out a good stream of printed things. We know that you are interested, and count on you to work in your own community for the positive gains that the Council stands for.

At the recent annual membership meeting, those in attendance by vote urged that each member send in at least $10.00 besides dues. It can be raised from your friends or it can be paid straight from you. It is only right, after all, that we in the South who will get the good of a richer and fairer South should strain ourselves to pay for the organized effort to get such a South.

There are 3,000 of us. Ten dollars extra from each member will give us our minimum budget.

Yours and ours is a deeply felt intent. Please mail the Council (by February 15, 1949 if you can) the evidence of your faith and encouragement.

Dear Marion:

How very kind of Dr. Peter C. Kelly to respond so energetically and generously to your request for help from Conway toward meeting the appreciated pledge of $200 on behalf of the South Carolina Division to the Council. The total of checks sent was $130.00. As the $200 pledged was unrelated to the $250 match-Odum operation, I take it that the whole of the $200 was expected to stay here.

We have written each of the contributors listed in your letters of February 14 and 15, with our most cordial thanks.

Our fund-raising meetings in Virginia and Kentucky went very well. Virginius Dabney and P. B. Young Sr. in Virginia are to write letters. In Kentucky two good people also. I met on Tuesday with the group in Alabama. The meeting was more hurried and less resultful but still, I think, should give us six or eight $250 contributors from that state. Florida meeting February 28.

We greatly like your article, and will carry it in an early New South, probably March.

GEORGE S. MITCHELL

2/24/49

Mrs. McKoy:

I have thanked: (a) Marion Wright, (b) Dr. Peter C. Kelly and (c) all the others listed in this letter.

Various things to be done:

1. As to each contributor listed in the letter being a member of the Council, see to it that those names are removed from the next follow-up mailing of the ten-dollar letter.

2. Add to our typed list of contributors in 1949 each name listed in Marion Wright's letter of February 14.

As a safeguard, I suggest you carry in your own records some notice that these are not regular "ten-dollar" contributions but are in partial completion of the pledge made by Mr. Dabbs for the South Carolina Division. Such a notice may come in handy some day in getting the arithmetic of pledges and contributions and payments to balance.

Dear Paul:

I met yesterday with our people in Florida. Not too large a gathering, because the notices had "from circumstances beyond our control" got out late, and late February is in any case a busy time in Florida. Still there were eight or ten there, and very good people.

They drew up a list quickly of forty-odd people who might conceivably give. Additional lists will come in from others who were not present, so we will have fifty-odd names from Florida. People were generous about undertaking to visit listed persons.

The two signers of the letter will be Dick Daniel and Mr. G. D. Rogers. Daniel wanted a strong revision of my draft of a suitable letter, and will put out one which I am sure will be effective in Florida.

P.D.W.

A check for twenty dollars came in yesterday from Archbishop Rummel. It was dated February 24, 1949, payable to the Southern Regional Council, was signed by the Archbishop, drawn on the account of "The Roman Catholic Church of the Diocese of New Orleans, Charities and Social Welfare Account." In the lower lefthand corner of the check appeared the handwritten word "donation." Herewith the envelope. I fear me this is the reduced version of Archbishop Rummel's contribution. The letter was addressed to you, and you had the negotiations with the Chancery and the Archbishop. Will you, therefore, take on the task of thanking Archbishop Rummel?

We had also a letter from Mrs. Max Ascoli, saying graciously that she was interested in the self-survey idea, but had not had in mind so large a sum as $3,000, but thought that the Marion B. Ascoli Fund would contribute $500. She wants now only a copy of our tax exemption letter, which I am sending her today. That, in any case, reduces the matching sum yet to be raised to $2,500. If you have occasion to be in conference with persons close to Cardinal Spellman, it may be that some verbal understanding there in advance of dispatch of the Cardinal's check would make it fair for us to consider that prospective $1,500 as partial matching contribution on the self-survey fund.

I again remind you that no letter of thanks has gone from this office to Cardinal Stritch (by your direction), notwithstanding the fact that his welcome thousand dollars has long been spent. What, if anything, do you wish us to do?

I am trying to set up a South Carolina meeting for late March.

We all look forward to having you here on the 16th.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

Dear Mr. Williams:

I am indeed interested in the wonderful work of the Southern Regional Council and am happy to lend a hand in continuing the good being accomplished. Enclosed herein is our check for ten dollars.

We have here in the heart of Mississippi two Agricultural Schools for Negro students. The project is unique in that we follow our students from school to the land by helping them acquire farms of their own. First a small tract of ten acres whereon we build a five room house when they are ready to marry. Then- when this is paid for - offer them the chance of acquiring larger holdings.

The project started here in Madison County just four years ago and at present we have fourteen yo ng couples (veterans) on large farms of hundred acres of more. Thirteen ten acre homesites are presently being filled as we receive funds to build houses. As each young couple repays the money - the funds go into the purchase of more lands to help more worthy couples.

No interest is charge if couples carry out the provisions in our contract agreement. Thus we hope to stabilize the Negro people of the area - changing them from sharecroppers to landowners.

With cordial wishes for the success of the Council, I am Sincerely

SHARECROPPER MISSION

Families That Never Had Any Money Obviously Needed More than Spiritual Care

BY THE REV. ANDREW LAWRENCE, M.S.SS.T.

ONE sultry summer day a little more than four years ago, a young missionary priest stepped off the train at a sleepy town in central Mississippi. It was the nearest stop to his new mission, which was some twenty-two miles away in the rolling hills of Mississippi's backwoods. For the priest, it was a moment of rare excitement, but for the natives only one of curiosity.

This was the introduction of the young priest to his new assignment as pastor of Immaculate Conception Church and its missions, Sulphur Springs, Camden, Mississippi, but not his introduction to the South. As a member of a young American religious congregation, the Missionary Servants of the Most Holy Trinity, his years of preparation for the priesthood had been spent largely in Alabama, on a plantation along the banks of the Chatahoochie River, in Russell County. Here, at a little town called Holy Trinity, young men are trained to work for the salvation of souls in America's home mission fields.

Sulphur Springs was no longer a town, but just a memory. It had been one of the early settlements in Mississippi and became important because it was an overnight stop for the stage coach that traveled the Natchez Trace, the old Indian trailway from Nashville to Natchez. At one time, some five hundred people lived at Sulphur Springs and one of the first three Catholic churches in Mississippi was built there. With the coming of the railroad and the abandonment of Sulphur Springs as a stopping-off place for travelers, many of its people lost their livelihood and moved away. Only a few Irish-born Catholics who had established themselves in farming remained.

These people had built and maintained a church and, since 1844, they had had a long succession of pastors of many nationalities. The parish covered all of upper Mississippi and the resident priest always had vast areas to cover. He rode horseback to visit his people, saying Mass in their homes, teaching catechism to their children, exhorting, instructing, beseeching them to remain steadfast in their Faith. But the long lapse of time between the priestly visits caused some to waver. Slowly, over the years, many became enmeshed in false doctrines and were lost to the Church.

For many years, there had been a band of Negro Catholics in the Sulphur Springs district also. Nearly all of the Negroes in the area had Irish names and were descendants of the slaves of the Irish landowners. Some of these colored people had not only accepted the name of their master but the Faith as well. Gradually, however, they followed the crowd into the other churches and were lost to the Faith.

It was to revitalize the dying parish, to reclaim the fallen-away Catholics, and to plan some way to help the impoverished people that the Missionary Servants of the Most Holy Trinity assumed direction of Sulphur Springs and its missions in the summer of 1913 at the request of the Most Rev. Richard O. Gerow, Bishop of Natchez. The present parish comprises sixteen hundred square miles, with a population of approximately eighty-two thousand people. Of this number, about sixty-five thousand are Negroes.

Little by little, the young priest became acquainted with his parishioners and their problems. He learned names and faces, houses, paths, and roads. They were mostly dirt roads, with a few gravel stretches, all unmarked. Here and there, scattered over the landscape, were unpainted cabins set in little patches of farmland amid vast stretches of pine timber—land whose richness had long before washed away with the rains. He found humble, friendly white and colored folk whose staunch love of their Faith had weathered many a storm of prejudice that sprang from a misunderstanding of Catholic doctrine. Always they welcomed their priest with a warm cordiality.

Sometimes, too, on his travels, the pastor sought hospitality in the homes of the white landowners, and thus he came to know their problems also. They had lost large numbers of men to the armed service. Many of the boys who were still too young for military service and many of the women, especially among the colored, left their homes to go to the cities for jobs in the war plants, where the high salaries were a strong attraction.

The missionary understood the frustration of the landowners with land to be worked and no one to work it. He saw the imminent threat to the nation's food production, with this exodus from farm to city. But above all he foresaw the tragedy of a transient people—transplanted from country to city slums and, at the end of the war, back to the country again. He knew the poverty of their lives as sharecroppers, but he also knew that their last state would be worse than their first because, never having had any money, the sudden acquisition of it in the cities would mean wholesale spending. They would be able to save nothing and would finally come home with only bitter memories.

It was obvious to the priest that it would be necessary to help his people economically as well as spiritually. In order to assist the white families and to stabilize the Negroes, to give them the promise of a new life and a new hope for themselves and their children on the land, it was decided to open a school which would educate the children, give agricultural training, and serve as a social center.

Since the problem was primarily with the colored — they outnumber the whites eight to one—the missionary began to work with them. A meeting was called and the plan explained. For several weeks, the priest and the people begged trees all over the countryside. The trees were cut and hauled to the place chosen for the building—the most important and the most prominent site in the entire area, a strategic location at the junction of the Farmhaven-Camden and the Sharron-Thomastown roads, which service six districts where there are permanent groups of Negro people.

Negro farmhands came every night and worked from eight until midnight on the construction of the school. On July 16, 1943, a large wooden cross was erected on the mission grounds and the land was officially dedicated to the service of God.

Today seven buildings stand in what was once a barren field. They are the school — Sacred Heart Agricultural High School and Elementary School, a church, convent, rectory, clinic, Veterans' building, and a model home. All are the product of volunteer labor on the part of the priests and colored people. They typify the Church's answer to a missionary problem. They are but the beginning of a program to train an underprivileged people for a new and secure way of life—life on the land.

Most Blessed Trinity, but in 1945 Ursuline Sisters from Louisville (Ky.) joined the staff to teach the academic subjects. Classes in agriculture, agronomy, animal husbandry, and poultry raising are taught by the priests of the Missionary Servants of the Most Holy Trinity. A lay teacher instructs the girls in home economics. The school is accredited by the State Department of Education.

From the fifth grade on, the boys and girls are given specialized training for life on the farm. While the boys learn how to handle tools and build sheds, houses, and farrow pens, the girls learn how to make dresses, mend clothing, preserve food, and prepare meals. They work on the school farm in order to get practical experience. By this work they also earn enough money to buy twenty-five chickens, so that they will be able to earn for themselves that supplementary fund that chicken raising can give.

When the students enter high school, they begin specific plans for the future. During the first year, the boys specialize in the study of poultry, learn to cull their flock, make it produce, market eggs and chickens. They sell their produce at current prices, either to the school or at the town market. With the profits they buy a gilt (female hog) and during their second year of high school, they study hog raising.

The girls have a similar program in homemaking. In the first year they learn sewing; in the second, canning.

In the third year, the boys learn cattle raising and dairying, and the girls learn further ways of preserving foods, especially the drying of food, since they have no refrigeration in their homes. In the fourth year the boys are taught farm management and the girls home management. They are also taught how to plant the family garden and certain berry bushes and fruit trees. Graduates with an average of "B" or better are offered, without cost, an acre of land out of a tract of ten, the balance of which they may buy during the three years following.

When the students finish high school, they have chickens, pigs, and a cow with which to begin their life on the farm. The ten-acre homesites made available to them can, if they are managed well, be offered as collateral for loans on the purchase of larger tracts of land.

Students who show special ability are encouraged to go on for college work and are offered scholarships, if they will sign a written agreement that they will come back to their home and work among their own people for a period of at least five years. In this way, the missionaries hope to develop good teachers and a militant Catholic lay leadership in the area.

Sacred Heart School is also conducting the farm training program for Veterans under the G. I. Bill, with Father Bernadine Bouland, trained at the Louisiana State Agricultural School, in charge. Twenty-four Negro Veterans will finish the course in February, and twenty-four more are enrolled for the next semester. The missionaries are anxious to establish these boys on their own farms. They feel that the training will be useless if it is applied to tenant farming. With the help of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, loans have been negotiated for nine of the young men and they are already on their farms. The rest will get their own farms during the next few months. The farms are tracts of one hundred acres.

Non-veteran families are given the opportunity of acquiring property by working on the school farm for a set rate of pay, part of which applies toward the purchase of home sites.

Another important part of this Mississippi mission is the clinic, where medical care and nursing aid are dispensed without cost to all who need it. Three Sisters of the Missionary Servants of the Most Blessed Trinity, one of them a nurse, are in charge of the work. In the short time that the Sisters have been working among the people, time lost in work because of illness has been cut down two-thirds.

When Sacred Heart School was first opened, the children were physically examined by a competent physician, with the permission of their parents. It was found that the vast majority suffered from the diseases of malnutrition —pellagra and rickets. With the help of the Government food program, a hot, well-balanced meal is now served to all the pupils every day.

Furthermore, it was found that the mortality rate among infants in this district was very high. Over sixty percent of the babies died at birth because of the lack of proper prenatal care. The Sister-nurses, therefore, began to go into the homes to give prenatal and postnatal care to the mothers. The missionary Sisters also teach the parents practical ways to keep themselves and their children healthy, in addition to the preventive hygiene classes conducted in the school.

The school is also a social center for the people. Recreational activities for one group or another are programmed every day of the week. There are meetings of the Boy Scouts, the Men's Club, the Ladies' Sewing Circle, the baseball team, the Veterans' Club, the Parent-Teacher Association. There are movies or a dance or song fest every Saturday night in the school auditorium.

How much does it cost to set up a student, including four years of high school work, on ten acres of land with a house? Approximately $1,200. As the program develops, it is hoped that the cost will be less because each year more and more land is being put into production at the school farm.

Land in the area costs $25 an acre. The school now owns 68 acres, where its demonstration crops are raised and its permanent pastures and stocks are kept. Another 267 acres, used for the home sites and a reforestation project, is being paid for as the money comes in. Several CSMC units raise funds for this purpose by "selling" land at $25 per acre. Each acre thus paid for is dedicated to the patron selected by the contributor.

The mission has already branched out. Four mission chapels have been established in Ofahoma, Hobuck, Cameron, and on a barren hillside in Leake County. It is hoped that chapels can be opened in Camden, Sharron and Farmhaven, within the next two years.

Another kind of help has been given to the mission by students from Ursuline College in Louisville and Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart in New York City. These students have come during the past four summers to teach catechism in remote areas of this vast mission parish. The girls come at their own expense, do their own washing, cook their own meals, and spend six weeks teaching the children to know and to love God. They prepare the way for the priest and the Sisters who follow after. This is the way the four mission chapels have already been established.

Hopes for the future include more mission chapels and elementary schools and, some day, an agricultural college. The Catholic Church has always championed the rights of the underprivileged. This new missionary enterprise in the heart of Mississippi has begun to meet the needs of such people, economically and spiritually.

Your Eminence:

His Excellency, Bishop Ireton passed on to me your gracious letter of February 8 yesterday on my return from an extended business trip. On behalf of the officers and the Board of Directors of our Council we thank you from the bottom of our hearts. Abiding by your wishes we will state in our annual report that your gift was made on behalf of the Catholic Missionary Union.

Your Eminence:

It was most gracious of you to send the Southern Regional Council a contribution for $1000. This will help in large measure to prosper our work in the South.

In this letter I am enclosing our Statement on Civil Rights which has elicited widespread approval both inside and outside the South. If Your Eminence could find time to read this Statement and give me your impressions I would be most grateful for I have always been inspired by your grasp and viewpoints on the South. Indeed, it was your own expressions of the opportunities for creating a new South made at the Cleveland meeting of the Social Action Congress in 1939 which became our Magna Charter, as a group of us in the South set up the Catholic Committee of the South. Three years ago I was elected to succeed Dr. Howard W. Odum as president of the Southern Regional Council. This was a direct compliment to the work of the Catholic Committee of the South. I feel therefore, that your own wise leadership was greatly instrumental for my interest in Southern affairs and for this reason I shall always be deeply indebted to you.

Just before the Christmas holidays I was in Chicago unexpectedly for several days and called your secretary with the hope of paying my respects but learned that you were out of the city.

When I plan another visit to Chicago may I write you ahead of time to arrange, if possible, a few minutes with you. There are several matters on which I need your valuable counsel.

With genuine esteem and appreciation, I have the honor to remain

Respectfully yours,

I am enclosing a check for $10 - the second that Margaret & I promised for this year. With it go our love & gratitude to all of you for your good work.

We will excuse you from writing a thank you, if you wish; at any rate, you need not write back one, as I am with Margaret for a visit. You write such nice thank yous, that I suppose they are really no effort!

Southern Regional Council, Inc.,

Dear Sirs:

I am already a member of the Regional Council. However , I am inclosing a check for $11.00, ten dollars of which is a contribution and $1.00 in payment of 4 copies of The Home-Town Self-Survey Manual. If the manual does not include a sample survey questionnaire please inclose several copies suitable for a small town of about 5,000. It is our hope to have the entire county surveyed when we have worked up enough interest to begin. There are less than 40,000 people in our county, 7/8 of whom live in the rural districts.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mrs. Brown:

Thanks so much for your letter of April 23 with check for $3.00 enclosed covering dues for the coming year for Miss Willey, in whose name the Children's Interracial Organization membership is held.

The Children's Interracial Organization did indeed send us a gift of $10.00 to our campaign, and this was most generous of them. Letters were sent out routinely, on the follow-up, and Miss Willey received one due to the fact that the ten dollar contribution was credited to the Children's Interracial Organization. Disregard this and accept our thanks again for your most gracious gift.

Sincerely yours,

Your generous offer to be one of a hundred Southerners giving $250 to the Council or one of 50 giving $500 to the Council has been most helpful to us in raising funds, and the campaign for the $250 is, we think, rolling along quite well. Dear Mr. Coe:

You did, indeed, send us $3.00 dues for 1949, your check reaching us on April 11, so that no part of your ten dollar check which reached us on May 2 should have been credited to dues. We are changing our entry to show that all of this ten dollars is a contribution to our campaign. Thank you again for sending it.

Truth to tell, we have been so concentrating on the campaign that our dues entries on membership cards had just not yet caught up.

We should so like to include Mrs. Coe as a joint member again this year, but since joint memberships are now $4.00, we are wondering whether you would be willing for us to transfer a dollar on the ten for this purpose, or whether you would prefer to send an additional dollar to cover her? We will not take any action unless we hear from you.

Dear Mr. Ballard:

An exhaustive cross check of our records has disclosed the fact that not only did you become a subscriber to our New South in March 1948, but that in February 1948 you also became a member of the Council.

We find, therefore, that you not only paid dues for 1948 as a member, but that you also paid a dollar towards your subscription to New South. As a member you should receive New South without additional cost, and we are therefore refunding to you one dollar paid for New South in 1948, and asking that you disregard our notice covering subscription to New South for 1949.

May we say again how appreciative we are of your contribution of March 8 to our fund campaign.

"THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE CONCERNED"

September 8 - 9, 1949

Wesley Memorial Church

Atlanta, Georgia

CONCERN -

Has judgement turned away backwards; and justice standeth afar off, for truth is fallen in the streets, and equity cannot enter. Isa.60:14

But they are not heart-sick for the ruin of Joseph. Therefore they shall soon go into exile, at the head of the exiles. Amos 6:6,7a

CONVICTION -

The spirit of the Lord is upon me; because the Lord hath annointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captive, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound. Isa. 61: 1

Southern women with strong religious convictions are able to face the problems of the South and courageously attack them.

COURAGE -

Be strong and of good courage; fear not, nor be affrightened; for Jehovah thy God, he it is that doth go with thee. Deut. 31:6

OUR CONCERNS ARE -

1. To make known that "THE RECOGNITION OF THE INHERENT DIGNITY, AND OF THE EQUAL AND INALIENABLE RIGHTS OF ALL MEMBERS OF THE HUMAN FAMILY, IS THE FOUNDATION OF FREEDOM, JUSTICE, AND PEACE IN THE WORLD."

2. For a closer association of spiritual values and legal aspects. (Do our troubles flow from the fact that we have short-circuited the spiritual and political ideal in our law-enforcement?)

3. To do something about the failure of law enforcement by studying the causes and suggesting remedies. (Is it unconcern or unawareness, or acceptance as inevitable that court decisions conform to community patterns rather than to legal bases?)

4. To promote an attitude of impartiality on the part of the law enforcement officers toward all citizens, at the polls, in the courts, in whatever circumstance.

5. That criminal law be enforced against ALL - high as well as low.

6. To stem the tide of economic loss due to prejudice, and to recognize prejudice as a destroyer of our social and political morality.

7. To recognize the social ills of our Southland, and the attendant tensions as a part of the world-wide sickness. (Order is not enough; there must be justice.)

8. To recognize that the tensions of our section bear a relationship to world peace and to the world-wide missionary program.

9. For the Universal Bill of Rights to be recognized everywhere, beginning in our own community.

BECAUSE -

WE BELIEVE in the sanctity of human life and the dignity of every human soul.

WE BELIEVE in liberty and justice for all.

WE BELIEVE in a world order with peace among peoples and nations; that peace has been lost in the past because the policies of nations were empty of charity toward each other.

WE NEED faith in world peace, and we cannot build up faith without justice.

WE BELIEVE God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of courage and love and a sound mind.

THOUGHTS OF OUR CONCERNS -

Democracy as we visualize it and desire it in our institutions, came out of the Church with its emphasis on the high worth of each individual person in the sight of God. Were our democracy temporarily destroyed or thwarted, we should still have in the Church the principles of democracy available for rebuilding.

It seems but natural that a close kinship exists between the spiritual in man and the administration of law based on justice.

WORKSHOP - SOUTHERN CHURCH WOMEN

"THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE CONCERNED"

September 8 - 9, 1949
Wesley Memorial Church
Atlanta, Georgia

CONCERN -

Has judgement turned away backwards; and justice standeth afar off, for truth is fallen in the streets, and equity cannot enter.
Isa. 60: 14

But they are not heart-sick for the ruin of Joseph. Therefore they shall soon go into exile, at the head of the exiles.
Amos 6: 6,7

CONVICTION -

The spirit of the Lord is upon me; because the Lord hath annointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captive, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound.
Isa. 61; 1

Southern women with strong religious convictions are able to face the problems of the South and courageously attack them.

COURAGE -

Be strong and of good courage; fear not, nor be affrightened; for Jehovah thy God, he it is that doth go with thee.
Deut. 31: 6

OUR CONCERNS ARE -

1. To make known that "THE RECOGNITION OF THE INHERENT DIGNITY, AND OF THE EQUAL AND INALIENABLE RIGHTS OF ALL MEMBERS OF THE HUMAN FAMILY, IS THE FOUNDATION OF FREEDOM, JUSTICE, AND PEACE IN THE WORLD."

2. For a closer association of spiritual values and legal aspects. (Do our troubles flow from the fact that we have short-circuited the spiritual and political ideal in our law-enforcement?)

3. To do something about the failure of law enforcement by studying the causes and suggesting remedies. (Is it unconcern or unawareness, or acceptance as inevitable that court decisions conform to community patterns rather than to legal bases?)

4. To promote an attitude of impartiality on the part of the law enforcement officers toward all citizens, at the polls, in the courts, in whatever circumstance.

5. That criminal law be enforced against ALL - high as well as low.

6. To stem the tide of economic loss due to prejudice, and to recognize prejudice as a destroyer of our social and political morality.

7. To recognize the social ills of our Southland, and the attendant tensions as a part of the world-wide sickness. (Order is not enough; there must be justice.)

8. To recognize that the tensions of our section bear a relationship to world peace and to the world-wide missionary program.

9. For the Universal Bill of Rights to be recognized everywhere, beginning in our own community.

BECAUSE -

WE BELIEVE in the sanctity of human life and the dignity of every human soul.

WE BELIEVE in liberty and justice for all.

WE BELIEVE in a world order with peace among peoples and nations; that peace has been lost in the past because the policies of nations were empty of charity toward each other.

WE NEED faith in world peace, and we cannot build up faith without justice.

WE BELIEVE God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of courage and love and a sound mind.

"We Are a Part of the World: If One Member Suffer, All Members Suffer with It" ---------- Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

Prayer Hymn ---------- "God Save America"

THOUGHTS ON OUR CONCERNS -

Democracy as we visualize it and desire it in our institutions, came out of the Church with its emphasis on the high worth of each individual person in the sight of God. Were our democracy temporarily destroyed or thwarted, we should still have in the Church the principles of democracy available for rebuilding.

It seems but natural that a close kinship exists between the spiritual in man and the administration of law based on justice.

Dear Mr. Lee:

How very kind indeed that was of you to send us that check for twenty dollars. Begging money has its miserable side, but I think that is more then wiped out by the sincere appreciation we all feel for acts of friendly kindness such as yours.

If I continue to go about with my speech, I do want to get it into print. Perhaps on the basis of the 1950 census (which for the first time will give some real figures on the size of land holdings) it could be done.

I had a couple of days at Fisk just lately. Have talked for Mr. Barrett, at chapel for Dean Faulkner.

People have been rallying around might well, and I should think the Board would probably want to find ways to meet the Council's needs. They meet on Saturday.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

I read in today's New York Times of the financial difficulties which your organization is facing and of the possibility that it may have to shut down. I therefore enclose my small contribution in the hope that it may enable you to keep on with your wonderful work.

As one who spent two years at Fisk as Publicity Director and who knows the conditions you seek to improve upon, may I wish you the very best of luck? I profited a great deal from your talk last June before the Race Relations Institute, and as I told you at that time, I do wish you could get your map into circulation.

Dear Hugh:

Am I wrong in thinking you are that same good egg named Hugh Calkins who used to help the Farm Security Administration?

In any case, we do greatly appreciate your most kind contribution of $7.50 to the Council's work.

You will be glad to know that the Board meeting on April 22 scratched together pledges totalling $15,500. While we are still several thousand dollars short of enough to make up the budget for the year, we feel that with that lump sum coming in, we can get through this most difficult time.

For the long pull, what we are going to need is about 5,000 added members who will join us at 5,000 added $10 memberships. Perhaps if we wrote you again later on this year, we could get you to be one of the 5,000. Meanwhile, we add you as an associate member, using $3.00 of your contribution for that and entering the $4.50 as an extra gift.

Most appreciatively,

Dear Sir,

I am moved by a short article appearing in a recent edition of the New York Times to send you a modest contribution to assist in your work. The activities in which you were reported to engage seem to me to be those that are most effective in improving racial relations; it would I think be most unfortunate if the practical work which you carry on had to be given up for lack of public support. It is especially important in this period of increasing friction and suspicion between racial and political groups that those few persons and organizations which are engaged in the slow, difficult work of improving cooperation and understanding by taking the small, important steps be encouraged.

Segregation Declining

WHILE THE attention of the nation has been focused on the slowly shifting pattern of racial segregation in Southern schools, changes in another area of discrimination have gone largely unnoticed. Recently the interracial Southern Regional Council took note of what has been happening in the transportation field since a 1956 Federal court ruling against racial discrimination by an airline and since a 1955 ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission that segregation of interstate passengers on trains and buses and in waiting rooms is unlawful.

In a special report, the Council reveals the findings of a survey of waiting room practices in 21 Southern cities. The study points out that "facilities in air line terminals are desegregated or rapidly being desegregated; that facilities in train stations are still largely segregated but are slowly becoming desegregated; that facilities in bus terminals are almost completely segregated." While the bus companies and then the railroads have been most resistant to change, it is worth noting that even with these carriers there has been a desegregation of some facilities in most of the 21 cities since the 1955 ruling. Prior to 1955 little desegregation had occurred in any of the South's bus and train terminals.

Discriminatory practices are sometimes difficult to get at because of local ordinances or ambiguous carrier policies or varying conduct by carrier employes, or because facilities such as restaurants may be leased to operators who are not carriers and therefore not subject to ICC regulation. Nevertheless, the report shows that change is occurring. And, as the Council says in its conclusion, an "awareness of conditions" facilitates the solution of problems in the removal of legal and social barriers in interstate travel.

NEWS RELEASE
Southern Regional Council
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia

JAckson 2-8764

FOR RELEASE:

Sunday, December 6, 1959

The Southern Regional Council today called for an urgent effort to "get the issue of school desegregation out of the courts and into the hands of responsible educators."

The 80-member council of white and Negro Southerners, dedicated to the improvement of race relations, issued a policy statement on the school question from its Atlanta headquarters.

It proposed that Southern communities redefine the problem as "How best to educate all our youth?" rather than how to bar Negroes from white schools.

The Council also expressed opposition to the use of pupil placement as "a political device to evade or thwart desegregation."

It said: "When placement is not guided by professional concern and criteria, but is designed to perpetuate racial separation, its use will only prolong the South's unrest."

The council declared that much of the South's political leadership, while eager for economic progress, has "seceded from reality" on the school issue. "Not for long," it warned "can this contradiction be kept from blighting the South's economic chance, its moral vigor, and its once great capacity to supply statesmen for the country."

In contrast, the council cited more than 200 Southern school districts where desegregation was started voluntarily. It added: "They give witness to the fact that where responsible leaders take the initiative, desegregation can be handled by Southerners without turmoil or court decrees."

THE FULL TEXT OF THE STATEMENT FOLLOWS:

STATEMENT OF THE SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL

What is right for the South to do has become what is practically urgent for the South to do. During the five years since the Supreme Court's decision in the School Segregation Cases, vast transformations have occurred throughout the world. One has only to recall the advent of space explorations; the fearsome developments in military weapons; the incredible industrialization of China; the growing economic and technological power of the Soviet Union; the emergence of African and Asian nationalism; or the formidable increase of the earth's population.

During these same years, the South has straddled the realities of the twentieth century. Its zeal for economic progress has kept pace with the times. But much of its political leadership, in vain adherence to the unconstitutional practice of segregation, has seceded from reality.

Not for long can this contradiction be kept from blighting the South's economic chance, its moral vigor, and the remnants of its once great capacity to supply statesmen for the country. Nor can the damage be kept from invading the self-interest of every Southerner -- the business man whose operations are endangered by the decay of law and order, the worker and consumer whose fortunes depend on the health of the economy, the youth whose education is threatened by interruption. Unless thoughtless resistance to both law and reality can be outgrown, the region will be a liability to the nation and the cause of human freedom which the South has believed itself to love.

Fortunately, there is a growing understanding that school closings, violence, demagoguery, and the products of defiance come with a price tag. The South has moved far in recent years toward reclaiming its economic equality with the rest of the nation; only the ignorant or the self-serving would willingly risk destroying that progress. To avoid that danger, however, realism alone compels us to discard our outworn myths and prejudices and face up to the imperatives of change.

AN URGENT OBJECTIVE is to get the issue of school desegregation out of the courts and into the hands of responsible educators.

Southern communities need to redefine their school problem. Instead of "How can we keep Negroes out?" or "How few can we admit?", they need to consider, "How best can we educate all our youth?" By revising the question, one moves from an emotional to a professional problem, to be solved primarily by educators; and that is as it should be.

For example, we strongly oppose the use of so-called pupil placement as a political device to evade or thwart desegregation. When placement is not guided by professional concern and criteria, but is designed to perpetuate racial separation, its use will only prolong the South's unrest.

In the present climate there can be value in plans, such as that of Louisville, which permit both Negro and white students relatively easy transfer out of assigned schools. But plans which put on the Negro child and parent the total social and psychological burden of achieving desegregation are unjust and patently intended to escape the law. It is indefensible that children should have to run the gauntlet of hostile officials in order to enjoy their rights under law.

THE AMERICAN LEGAL SYSTEM assumes that when the law has been declared in a case, all persons in similar situations will comply, even though not parties to the case. Neither American constitutionalism nor the common law contemplates an endless web of litigation for the spreading of every legal concept. Nor is this the path to rewarding human relations.

Irresponsible political leadership has decreed this ordeal of litigation, and in some states this leadership is so far unwilling or unable to undo the obstruction it has caused. But positive local leadership has been available in certain areas of the South. In six Southern states, more than 200 school districts have initiated desegregation without conflict and without the compulsion of a specific court order. Hesitant and limited though many of these changes have been, they are at least beginnings toward voluntary compliance with the law. They give witness to the fact that where responsible leaders take the initiative, desegregation can be handled by Southerners without turmoil or court decrees.

Those communities which have desegregated, whether voluntarily or through court order, are now free, as they never before have been, to solve the problems of race relations. They can do so by adopting the only approach that has ever had realistic promise -- that is, by treating their Negro citizens as individuals, not as impersonal "problems." Instead of submitting themselves grudgingly to court direction, they can control their destinies by moving on their own initiative to end segregation in good faith.

THE SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL was conceived sixteen years ago out of the conviction that Southerners themselves must ultimately work out democratic solutions to the South's problems. We cannot -- any more than the rest of the world's people -- control the global pressures which bear in upon us and dictate the inevitability of change. But we can and must be accountable for the way in wiich we respond to these historic forces of our time.

We remain convinced that the South, out of its long experience and abundant kindliness, will someday set an example for every part of the world where persons of different color live together. The way to begin is with white and Negro citizens planning together school systems that will respect the personality and rights of each student, and to do this as one phase of a general movement to end segregation in all public life.

Thus will we hasten the time when Southerners are distinguished from each other by individuality, not by race, and are bound to each other by a consciousness, not of color, but of common humanity.

My dear Rabbi Kronish:

The failure to include a Jewish statement was a plain, unvarnishable oversight -- all the more lamentable in that our many earlier compilations have always included statements of all three major faiths. We blush for this lapse, which of course will be remedied in any further printings of the pamphlet.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Fleming:

I just glanced through the "New South" May, 1960, entitled "School Desegregation: The First Six Years".

Question 27 reads: "What have the church groups said?". I turned to page 19 ff. and I found no Jewish statement! Why?

The parties hereto further agree to the following conditions:

~~If the scope of the Project or the manner of its execution is materially changed subsequent to the signing of the Agreement, the fee shall be adjusted to fit the new conditions.~~

Re: Southern Regional Council

Dear Harold:

Enclosed are three copies of a proposal from Keel and Company for the work in the Journal Building. As you know, we normally give a much more detailed description and specifications for the work we supervise, but for such a small job I did not want to run up an architectural fee. I believe that with the items listed and our verbal understanding, you will get what you need. Bill Keel is reliable, accustomed to this type of work, and does a reasonably good job for the price he charges. I am planning a meeting with him and his man in charge of this project to discuss a few more details today or tomorrow.

Please sign and return to me two copies of this proposal.

Dear Mr. Tanner:

As we enter on another summer I would deeply appreciate your help in regard to the temperature in our suite of offices at 5 Forsyth Street, N. W. Ever since occupying these offices in 1960 we have had the topsy-turvy experience of being too hot in the winter, and too cold in the summer. I am convinced that James Banks has done all that he is able to do to adjust the heat and air conditioning, and that it must be some more basic problem. At any rate, I would be grateful if you could have this matter thoroughly looked into. Our women employees especially are uncomfortable throughout the summer months, and have to wear heavy sweaters when the temperature outside is boiling.

Any help you can give us in this matter will be most appreciated.

With best regards,

Sincerely yours,

2. Name of company involved:
   Southern Regional Council
   5 Forsyth Street, N.W., Room 201
   Atlanta 3, Georgia.
3. Name of the Government agency for which the company is doing work:
   Executive branch U.S. Government, Commission on Civil Rights, President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, and many other federal agencies using our services.
4. Date of alleged act of discrimination:
   May 27, 1963.
5. Reason for discrimination:
   Sex.
6. Facts in the case:
   On May 27, 1963, female employees of the Southern Regional Council were asked to divide among themselves the duty of washing the corporate coffee pot each evening, and emptying its grounds. Male employees, who share with females the corporate coffee issuing from said pot, were excluded from said duty by omission of their names from said memo. M.G. employees (M.G., e.g., minority group, employees being females in this case) share equally with male employees in the cost of corporate coffee, cream, and sugar.
   Other persons who know about the incident: all SRC employees.
   Name and position of the company person responsible for the act of discrimination: unknown, exactly. "Tradition" was cited by the management representative, when questioned.

We would appreciate an investigation of this discriminatory action, which, we submit, is of an ongoing, continuing, and flagrant nature. (However, please do not send Mr. Ward McCreedy to investigate.)

Mrs. Alexander has told me of your calls, and I have looked over the brochures which you sent regarding rental space at the new First Federal Building. We appreciate very much your interest.

We are rather well situated now, and I do not foresee that we shall, any time soon, contemplate a move. As a non-profit agency of quite limited funds we are, also, not in a position to incur a larger rent. We are, however, most grateful to you for your attention, and if you are ever nearby I hope you will drop in to exchange greetings.

MR. LESLIE W. DUNBAR

5 FORSYTH STREET, S. W.

DEAR MR. DUNBAR:

IN REVIEWING THE 501 (c) (3) PROGRAM OF INTERNAL REVENUE SECTION 403 (B), WE HAVE FOUND THAT IT WOULD BE ADVANTAGEOUS TO REWRITE THE RETIREMENT CONTRACTS FOR THE EMPLOYEES OF SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL. THE REASONS ARE AS FOLLOWS:

1. PRESENT CONTRIBUTION OF 4% BY THE COUNCIL WOULD BE RECEIVED COMPLETELY TAX FREE.

2. THE EMPLOYEE CAN PUT, IN ADDITION, UP TO ONE SIXTH OF HIS TOTAL INCOME ON A TAX-SHELTERED BASIS. THIS IS IN THE FORM OF A REDUCTION IN SALARY FOR HIS CONTRIBUTION.

3. THE 501 (c) (3) DIVIDENDS WILL BE LARGER THAN UNDER THE PRESENT CONTRACTS.

4. THE EMPLOYEE MAY CONTINUE HIS TAX SHELTERED CONTRIBUTION IF HE LATER DECIDES TO GO TO ANOTHER 501 (c) (3) CORPORATION OR AN EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION.

5. WE BELIEVE THAT EACH EMPLOYEE WOULD LIKE TO CONTRIBUTE SOME AMOUNT AND AS HE RECEIVES SALARY INCREASES THE COUNCIL WOULD BE PAYING MORE ACCORDING TO ITS PRESENT 4% RULE.

I WOULD LIKE TO SHOW YOU THE 501 (c) (3) VISUAL MATERIAL AND I REQUEST PERMISSION TO GO AHEAD WITH THIS EFFECTIVE OCTOBER 1, 1964.

STATESMEN

GREAT STATESMEN OF THE NEW WORLD

What makes a man a great statesmen? He must be a great leader. According to many prominent men there are five qualities that go into the making of a great leader: (1) knowledge, (2) imagination, (3) sound thinking, (4) initiative, and (5) hard work. To this we would like to add one that applies particularly to the statesmen. This is an undying sense of duty to his country and his people. Often called patriotism, this quality of leadership has an immense, though subtle, effect on all who come in contact with him. Many nations and periods of history have produced great men and women who would rate high in all categories, and history has singled them out as leaders. Six of these men who left their mark on the history of North America are discussed in this issue of POINTS—six men without whom the history of North America would have been drastically changed. Four are from the United States, one is from Canada and one from the Republic of Mexico.

". . . that this nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from this earth."—ABRAHAM LINCOLN, Nov. 19, 1863

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Born on February 22, 1732 in Westmoreland County, Virginia, George Washington spent his youth in relative luxury. His early training was as a surveyor, but in 1752 he began his rise to fame by accepting an appointment as adjutant in the Virginia militia. After taking an active part in the French and Indian War, he retired in 1759 to the life of a gentleman farmer in Mount Vernon. * * * Anti-British sentiment had been established early in his adult life and in the early 1770's he became increasingly prominent in organizing resistance. He became a delegate to the Continental Congress, and was selected as Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army on July 3, 1775. * * * Washington returned to politics in the hope of promoting a strong central government. He presided over the Constitutional Convention and yielded to the demand that he become the nation's first President. In 1792, he was unanimously re-elected to a 2nd term. * * * Above all, Washington had a strict sense of duty to his people. Amidst the mourning of his fellow-countrymen, he died at Mount Vernon on December 14, 1799.

THOMAS JEFFERSON

A native of Goockland (now Albemarle) County, Virginia, Thomas Jefferson was graduated from William and Mary College and studied law before entering politics. It was as a delegate to the Continental Congress that he drafted the Declaration of Independence. * * * In 1779, he became Governor of Virginia. In 1785, he was appointed Minister to France, and in 1789 President Washington appointed him Secretary of State. * * * In 1801, he was elected President by the House of Representatives, after tying with Aaron Burr in electoral votes. In 1804, he was re-elected by a wide margin over Charles C. Pinckney, a Federalist. The most notable act of his two administrations was the Louisiana Purchase in 1803. * * * After his retirement in 1809, he founded the University of Virginia, and watched it develop with unending interest. He died at his beautiful home in Monticello on July 4, 1826 – the same day as John Adams, under whom he served as Vice President from 1796 to 1800. Jefferson's wisdom, foresight and leadership of a new nation seeking independence made him one of the most important men of all time.

JAMES MONROE

James Monroe was born on April 28, 1758 in Westmoreland County, Virginia – Washington's birthplace. He served in the army and was wounded at Trenton. He then entered politics under the guidance of Thomas Jefferson. He served for a while as Minister to France and as Governor of Virginia. In 1803 he returned to France at the request of President Jefferson to help negotiate the Louisiana Purchase. He served under President Madison as head of the State Department, and during the War of 1812 served a brief period as Secretary of War. * * * Monroe was elected President in 1816 and re-elected in 1820. His terms in office became known as the "era of good feeling". He signed the Missouri Compromise, acquired Florida, and with the able assistance of his Secretary of State, John Quincy Adams, promulgated the Monroe Doctrine in 1823. This famous document declared that the United States would not permit foreign colonization or intervention in the Americas. * * * Monroe joins our list of great men because of his rare qualities of judgment. He died in New York City on July 4, 1831.

SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD

Born in Glasgow, January 11, 1815, Canada's first Premier moved to Kingston, Ontario, at the age of 5. He entered law practice in Kingston in 1836 and became an immediate success. * * * His political career began in 1844 when, at the age of 29, he was elected to the provincial assembly as the Conservative member for Kingston. A strong supporter of close British-Canadian ties, he helped found the British-American League. From the 1850's until his death in 1891 he was the most prominent figure of the Liberal-Conservative party. * * * Macdonald took the leading part in the framing of the British North American Act in December, 1866, and January 1867, and became Canada's first Premier. Under his guidance the North-West Territories were secured and Manitoba and British Columbia were established as Provinces. He was chiefly responsible for the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. * * * For the last five years of his life (and his career as Premier) he devoted much of his time and energy to the development of the "Great North-West". He died on June 6, 1891, after 46 years of public life–the most prominent man in the early years of the new Dominion.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Abraham Lincoln was born in Hardin (now Larue) County, Kentucky, on February 12, 1809. His family moved to Indiana and then to Illinois, and he gained what little education he could along the way. * * * His early adult life was spent in law practice in Springfield, except for a single term (1847-1849) in Congress. He gained national attention in 1858 when, as a candidate for Senator from Illinois, he engaged in a series of debates with Stephen A. Douglas. He lost the election but was launched on the way to the Presidential nomination at the 1860 Republican convention. * * * From the start Lincoln held the slavery issue subordinate to that of preserving the Union. * * * Lincoln's Gettysburg address is probably the most famous speech ever given by an American, and certainly ranks among the most quoted in the world. He was re-elected in 1864, and in his inaugural address urged leniency toward the South, "...With malice toward none, with charity for all . . . let us strive on . . . to bind up the nation's wounds..." He was shot by John Wilkes Booth on April 14, 1865, and died the following day–less than one week after the Civil War had ended.

BENITO JUAREZ

This stocky little Zapotec Indian from Oaxaca in Southern Mexico is often called Mexico's Abraham Lincoln. * * * Juarez was born in 1806 in San Pablo Guelatao, Oaxaca, of primitive Indian parents who died when he was three years old. At the age of 12 he ran away from the home of a bachelor uncle to begin his illustrious career. * * * He became Governor of Oaxaca in 1847. In 1853, when General Santa Anna seized the Government, he was imprisoned. He escaped to New Orleans, but returned to Mexico two years later to assist in the overthrow of Santa Anna. In January, 1861, Juarez became the constitutionally elected President of Mexico. * * * By this time the government was a state of economic chaos, and Napoleon III invaded Veracruz in December, 1861. Though defeated and penniless, Juarez refused to relinquish his post as the constitutional President. By the winter of 1865 his luck changed . . . Napoleon lost interest in Mexico and the U.S. demanded that French troops be withdrawn. In July, 1867, Juarez returned to Mexico City as President. Again his administration was beset with revolt. On July 18, 1872, he died of apoplexy.

". . . that this nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from this earth."—ABRAHAM LINCOLN, Nov. 19, 1863

MONY is proud to list among its policyholders many political leaders, among them, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft and Woodrow Wilson. All of these men were strong believers in the value of life insurance. For instance, Woodrow Wilson, the 27th president of the United States, had this to say about life insurance:

"If a man does not provide for his children, if he does not provide for all those dependent upon him, and if he has not that vision of conditions to come, and that care for the days that have not yet dawned . . . then he has not opened his eyes to any adequate conception of human life. We are in this world to provide not only for ourselves, but for others, and that is the basis of economy."

Life Insurance is a wonderful business and I am proud to be associated with it. My responsibility to my policyholders centers around providing them with the best life insurance protection possible . . . protection that we all need, whether rich or poor, our country's leader or an average citizen. I am available to help you provide for yourself and others through the marvelous means of life and health insurance.

Dear Sir:

Here at the University of Alabama in a sociology course entitled "Race Relations", the opportunity is mine to make a study of the Southern Regional Council. This study concerns the structure, purpose, goals, facilities, finacial sources, history, and future of your organization. Information concerning the above aspects of the Southern Regional Council would be of the greatest help to me.

My understanding is that the Southern Human Relations Council is also connected to the Southern Regional Council. If so, would you please forward any related information concerning this group and its work past and present.

I was very impressed with your publication, "Social Desegregation - Old Problems under a New Law", and its accomplishments. I would appreciate receiving a copy of this and other representative articles of your organization.

I am looking forward to this study. Your help will be appreciated.

THE COUNCILS ON HUMAN RELATIONS

In 1944 the Southern Regional Council was organized as a general membership organization. Many of the original members, in fact, had previously been members of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation.

In the early 1950's, partly in anticipation of the Supreme Court's ruling on school segregation, the Council board reviewed this structure. Largely at the urging of George Mitchell, who had great faith in the need and possibility of interracial cooperation on the community level, a plan was devised whereby the Council would cease to have general memberships and would turn its membership over to newly created Councils on Human Relations in each of the Southeastern states. Incredibly, the idea included autonomy of each of the several newly created agencies. The thinking behind this was that as efforts developed it was likely, for instance, that situations and solutions would be considerably different in Virginia and Alabama, and that those closest to the situation would be in a position to analyze them and make policy concerning them.

The plan was that SRC would find funds to provide all of the operating expenses for staff of each state Council for a period of three years. During that time each Council would emphasize the development of local councils and the involvement of members in each community throughout the state. At the end of three years, it was planned and anticipated that SRC would turn over full authority to the respective state council when that council would be sufficiently strong in membership and financial support to continue on its own resources.

This dream of a truly interracial movement in which Southerners would work together community by community to resolve their problems was largely unrealized at the cut-off date (November, 1957) because of the region's reaction to the 1954 court decision. No one had accurately guaged how violent that reaction was to be. Indeed, interracial activities that had been possible before 1954 became more difficult and sometimes impossible. Any interracial activity, or even support of the Supreme Court Decision, was looked upon as suspect, and frequently as subversive. Therefore, when the target date for "self support" arrived, no council could support its minimum operations and three councils (Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas) were already in the process of disbanding because of the pressures against them.

The problem was further complicated because the Fund for the Republic, which had supported this effort, was going out of business. In one of its final grants the Fund gave SRC $200,000 to use as it saw fit. With these funds SRC devised a grant-in-aid program of $50,000 a year for the state Councils. When the initial grant ended the Field and Taconic Foundations assumed support at the same level. This amount was sufficient to keep the remaining eight councils in operation on a subsistence level. They grew in membership and local support, but slowly and painfully.

When in 1965 the Ford Foundation provided $100,000 a year for three years for the grant-in-aid program, and SRC raised from other sources an amount approximately equal to this, the situation changed substantially. We were able to encourage the revival of staffed Councils in Louisiana and Mississippi, and to provide approximately $200,000 to the ten staffed councils, plus modest support, to a local effort in Houston, Texas.

The typical state council now has two professional persons, a budget of about $35,000 per year, and local councils functioning to some degree in the larger cities of the state. Total membership is approximately 15,000 and total funds raised, exclusive of SRC and foundation support, is slightly in excess of $200,000.

Generally, the programs of the councils remain the same -- to encourage people to join in an interracial activity in a given community and to develop specific programs involving lay people in the problems of the community. The state council staff is expected to encourage this, to provide technical assistance, and to develop statewide programs and information. This continues to be the only effort in a truly interracial organization in the region.

Quite obviously the goals are far more ambitious than available resources. Further, the state councils now suffer from and mirror much of the new tensions, suspicions, and several philosophies rapidly emerging in the region as well as in the nation. The Southern Regional Council considers its financial support and staff assistance to this interracial movement to be one of its significant programs. We continue to feel this and continue to seek means of providing more effective staff and larger financial support.

Remarks by Paul Anthony at the League of Women Voters'
50th Anniversary Gala
April 28, 1969

Madam Chairman, Mr. Mayor, Members of the League of Women Voters, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Mrs. Janus is one of those rare and valued individuals who runs an efficient dinner. When I suggested four minutes for acceptance of this award she responded, "Well no more than four minutes." So I must hurry.

First, may I commend you in selecting Ivan Allen for your individual award. He is concluding eight years of service in this city's most frustration, demanding, and unrewarding job. He has brought excellence to it and established a national standard for it. Mr. Mayor, I am grateful for this opportunity, as a citizen of Atlanta, to thank you.

Secondly, may I acknowledge the presence in the audience of my predecessor, Dr. Leslie W. Dunbar, now director of The Field Foundation. I am very happy that Dr. Dunbar could be here to share in what is, in fact, partly the results of his leadership. Also, I should like to recognize Mr. Eli Evans of the Carnegie Corporation.

(Even in four minuts, Mrs. Janus, one wishes there were here present more foundation officials to recognize.)

I wish too that my words could be adequate to reflect my feelings on this occasion.

The Southern Regional Council represents an honorable and honest effort. It is greater than those individuals who have been and are involved in it, but as substantial as the total of all of them. It is as frustrating an effort as has been --and are -- our times. It is as noble an effort as is the human desire for decency.

I make this observation not to use this platform for Council endorsement, but rather as some attempt to be an objective observer of the agency you honor; an agency that has not, and is not, always understood.

We would be grateful for recognition such as you give tonight from many sources. Our appreciation and respect for the League of Women Voters is so great that we are grateful ten-fold to have this award from you. On behalf of those who have been and those who are the Southern Regional Council, I thank you sincerely.

In order to write the overview, I would like to receive as much descriptive material as is available. Such might include annual reports, study reports, brochures, etc. If you care to, you are welcome to have the overview prepared in your office. We have found that these items are often considerably more informative when prepared by a member of the organization concerned. In any case, whether or not you should decide to write the overview, I would be very grateful for any material you would send me.

Of particular interest to our readers would be a note on the source of your funds (foundations, corporations, government, individuals, etc.), as well as a brief outline of the way those funds are employed.

I hope that you will agree that the Council should be described in REPORT. I am looking forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Richard Fitzgerald

NEW ORGANIZATION FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

As support for foreign aid dwindles in the halls of government, a new "national citizens organization" is being formed to undertake programs for education and reappraisal of the needs of developing countries.

Known as "The Overseas Development Council," the organization is currently enlisting foundation and corporate support to sustain its founding and first five years of operation. According to Dr. Robert Bowie (Director of the Center for International Affairs at Harvard) who has undertaken its pre-organization activities, the Council plans to begin operations in the beginning of 1969, with an estimated yearly budget of $500,000.

Underlying the Council's formation is what it sees as two conflicting trends:

1. The needs of underdeveloped nations for skills, resources, and access to markets in advanced areas are rapidly increasing, while
2. The readiness of the United States and other advanced nations to extend and increase current levels of assistance is rapidly diminishing.

In its prospectus, the Council points out that the United States is experiencing the "dreadful social costs of letting one-ninth of the community fester in deteriorating ghettos," adding that the coming decades promise to teach the wealthy nations the same grim lesson on a world scale. It asks: "Can our societies flourish indefinitely as wealthy suburbs in a shrinking world, seething with poverty? Experience should convince us that it cannot be done."

As to why support for development is flagging: "Clearly, the public, business, the press and the congress are confused and uncertain as to what is at stake, and baffled or skeptical as to what we can and should do about it. Many are misinformed: overestimating the actual volume of US aid; ignoring the exports it generates, which reduce the balance of payments burden; and underestimating the foreign aid by other advanced countries, which equals or exceeds our own as a percent of GNP."

Inner City Youth Project Undertaken by Urban America

A pilot project aimed at converting the militant young men of inner city ghettos into members of "the establishment" has been advanced by Urban America, Inc.

The six-month project, budgeted at $25,000 will place the leaders of ghetto youth groups in face to face contact with prominent businessmen and executives of their community, to work out answers to such problems as:

How do you form a corporation?
Where do you go to get legal assistance?
How do you go about raising funds?
How do you go about getting available health benefits, education benefits and the like?

Lelan F. Sillen, President, Northeast Utilities, Inc., and head of the committee on youth groups indicates that his committee would seek to supply the answers to questions such as these whenever and wherever they arise in the cities of America.

Mr. Sillen's interest in the project stems from the June annual meeting of Urban America in Detroit, to which representatives of a dozen youth groups were invited. The young men and women who showed up were from San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, and New Orleans. They belonged to such organizations as Thugs United, Sons of Watts, the Real Great Society, and Mission Rebels in Action, some of which were simply gangs of street fighters in the not-too-distant past.

The three day meeting was taken over by the youth leaders, who strongly and often angrily talked far into the nights explaining their needs to the Urban America delegates.

"This was something of a lighted candle in the darkness," according to Mr. Sillen. He adds that he was impressed by their "energy, talent, and genuine spirit of self-improvement, and that two things about them stood out:

–They are firm believers in the free enterprise system.
–They don't want more welfare but seek opportunities and assistance so that they can help themselves."

In a report issued by the Sillen Committee, the youth groups attending the Detroit meeting were credited with making several points clear: "They were indeed capable of creative and constructive work. They have designed and made operational

Urban League Develops A "New Thrust"

In the space of three months the National Urban League has moved from an announcement of a new direction in its policies, to a program budgeted at two million dollars concerned solely with solving problems in urban ghettos.

The move into "the ghetto" means that the League will operate programs which involve the Negro community alone; it also means that the League will embark on projects which aim at creating social change. Traditionally, the Urban League has concentrated on inter-racial cooperation, and the provision of social services.

Called the "New Thrust", the program will be headed by Sterling Tucker, with headquarters in Washington. It will operate through the national organization's Field Services, and coordinate local projects in some 90 cities.

Late in April, League Director Whitney M. Young, Jr. announced that among other things, the league would seek to:

1) Establish coalitions of groups working on community problems to

THE CONCEPT OF A "New Philanthropy," is one which deserves to be added to the new math, the new economics, and the new science which have radically changed traditional ways of thinking and decision-making. The billion dollar magnitude of giving in the United States, the entry of the middle classes into the field, the participation of the poor, and the growing appreciation of private vs. public effectiveness in bringing about social change are only surface indications. The impact of philanthropy on our society today is deeper and more significant than ever before.

Perhaps the dominent cause of today's new philanthropy is the increasing interdependence of all members of society. The cynical attribution of giving to tax dodging does not explain away the fact. It may be more useful to examine the implications – a need for greater professionalism in giving, a need for standards, a need for different patterns of fund-raising, a need to understand what private giving can best accomplish and what it cannot accomplish – and so on ad infinitum. Unless we find answers, the ramifications of the present, magnified by the galloping affluence of time and money in coming decades, pall the mind.

Basic to finding the right answers is the need to know – to know more about philanthropic needs and results, and to know more deeply. How is it that so prosaic a field as the garment trade supports a highly regarded daily newspaper, that even the sheet metal or pet food fraternities require at least a weekly vehicle of communication, while the highly cerebral, highly articulate, billion dollar world of philanthropy is practically speechless, to the outside world and among its own kind? The world of philanthropy until now could only boast of two, excellent but by necessity limited, publications. Non-Profit Report comes into being out of the growing need for information about what is being done, and what needs to be done.

Non-Profit Report will seek to inform in a way that is factual, balanced, non-saccharine; national or international but rarely local; indifferent to any arbitrary rating scale, not overly impressed by the establishment or the militants or ourselves; committed, but not without humor. This is what we aim to be. To make our contribution to philanthropy we can ill afford to be less.

Eisenhower Fellows Meet in Aspen

Were Cecil John Rhodes to appear at Aspen last month, he would perhaps have been a bit piqued at how the Americans had once again taken an English idea and improved upon it to suit their own tastes.

The idea is that of importing people of leadership caliber into one's country to study one's institutions and people, in the hope that their understanding will serve the interests of world peace. The occasion was a mid-term seminar of this year's 41 Eisenhower Fellows, (see overview; page 11) gathered from 41 countries, who assembled at the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies to compare notes on their research and exercise their observations on American people and institutions.

While the criteria for selecting Rhodes Scholars and Eisenhower Fellows are on about the same level, and while the purpose of both stipends is to "secure peace in the world," there are differences. Rhodes Scholars study at Oxford, Eisenhower Fellows study on their own, in homes, executive suites, government offices, plants and factories. They study American life in practice.

THE GOOD LIFE

At Aspen, they heard Mortimer Adler speak on "Is the Good Life Possible in America Today?" They heard Robert O. Anderson talk about the social responsibility of corporate business. For nitty-gritty, William Gorham of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions exercised their thoughts with a discussion of "The United States and the Third World: Development, the New Name for Peace."

Cecil John Rhodes would also have noted that the men and women selected as Eisenhower Fellows; the men and women whose lives would be influential in maintaining world peace, were predominately doers, rather than scholars. They were businessmen, attorneys, engineers, communications executives, government officials, cials, economists, as well as members of the academic world.

CONSENSUS

They organized discussions on economic development, administrative management, education and science, planning, law and communications.

Their consensus was that American technological achievement and competence are to be admired, that U.S. Trade policies were a critical factor in newly developing economies, that there is a lack of international news in American communications media, and that most Americans were concerned and determined to solve the social problems that now beset this country.

The remedies the Council foresees are: first, a more coherent framework of goals, attitudes, and policies governing relations with developing countries; second, the informed advocacy of citizen groups – churches, businesses, labor, farm, and other organizations, as well as Congress. To the latter point the Council notes: "Sustained national action normally depends on strong backing by articulate interest groups, which has been lacking for our policies toward the less developed countries."

Thus, the Council states its aim – as a private, independent agency – to contribute to a continuous process of re-appraisal, adaptation, innovation, education, and public understanding and support in the field of development and development aid.

The proposed staffing for the Council would include from eight to nine senior members (including the President) and an equal number of junior professionals. With secretarial, administrative and clerical personnel the total is expected to be about thirty.

The Council's present organizing committee is chaired by Judge Frank M. Coffin, former A.I.D. administrator. Other members of the committee are:

Robert Bowie, Center for International Affairs, Harvard University.

John G. Burnett, Executive Vice President, Development and Research Corp.

Josephine Case

Emilio Collado, Executive Vice President, Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Richard H. DeMuth, Director, Development Services Department, International Reconstruction and Development Bank.

Thomas L. Farmer, Esq., Former General Counsel for A.I.D.

Edward Mason, Professor, Harvard University.

National Alliance of Businessmen:

A Progress Report

The National Alliance of Businessmen, in a progress report to the President, has disclosed that 310,000 jobs have been pledged for the disadvantaged, and 140,000 people placed on the job. Of these, 40,000 hard-core jobless are on full-time jobs and 100,000 youths are on summer jobs. With 40,000 hard-core people now on the job and eleven months remaining to fill the first year hard-core goal of 100,000, the Alliance is well ahead of schedule in its basic assignment.

Within six months after the Alliance was formed, it had mobilized a team of 8,000 business and government people, and had solicited 50,000 employers. Forty percent of the firms contacted responded with job offers. Campaign contributions from private sources (personnel, services, materials, and so on) amounted to more than $15 million, while Government out-of-pocket cost was less than $500,000.

In the same time, the Alliance induced employers to submit 706 training contract proposals, resulting in 433 written contracts involving 800 companies and 33,000 trainees, at a contract dollar amount of $91 million.

Reflecting on the assignment in retrospect, NAB Executive Vice President, Leo C. Beebe noted that it was not the experimental nature of the project which had caught the public eye, so much as the idea that American business had "promised to provide 500,000 jobs. The "promise" he wrote, had read through most particularly to "that incredulous segment in the ghetto whom we are trying to help". It came to haunt businessmen in many cities this summer, and was spelled out precisely in the bill of complaints a riotous gang of youngsters presented to the Alliance office in New York.

Moreover, according to Mr. Beebe, the alliance was anathema in some cities. Mayors and civic groups had programs of their own. Some openly opposed the Alliance, others resisted more discreetly. Some of the opposition was political in nature, and the fact of an election year complicated the task even more. Special arrangements were required to unravel arrangements that had been made from Washington in connection with the program for youths and to dovetail Alliance activities with those of the Mayor's Youth Committees.

The question of whether to find the jobs first, or look for the people to fill them was decided by the risks of "recruiting the people and ending up without the jobs" being too great. To get the jobs, the Alliance recruited 700 volunteer executives for its staff in less than two months, and took on an additional 7,000 business and professional people to solicit job pledges. A massive public relations and promotional effort was launched across the nation, a direct mail campaign was conducted and meetings were held with 12,000 employers, inviting them to submit contract proposals for repayment of extra costs incurred in hiring and training the hard core.

The campaign was run on a competitive basis; city teams were ranked on performance against assigned objectives. (See table). Rankings were posted and teams vied for position. Jobs were solicited by mail, telephone, radio, TV, newspapers, magazines, and personal contact. Special job-hunt days, telethons, and telephone blitzes produced thousands of jobs overnight. In one city, 32 executives locked themselves in a room with a battery of phones and secured 4,700 jobs in two days.

The results of the hard-core pledge campaign were a resounding success, Mr. Beebe noted; all teams topped their quotas and the 50 cities as a whole garnered 65,000 extra job offers. The Alliance also achieved considerable success with contracting operations: some 33,000 jobs offered by 800 companies, under contract with the Department of Labor, provide a "promising variety of skills and hourly wage rates."

Examples cited by the Alliance were:

- Airline Ticket Agents, Miami, $2.71
- Auto Assembly Line Workers, Detroit, $3.30
- Burgler Alarm Installers, Pittsburgh, $2.50
- Butchers, Fort Worth, $4.40
- Construction Workers, Pittsburgh, $5.54
- Glass Bottle Blowers, Seattle, $2.50
- Poultry Processors, Birmingham, $2.50
- Shipbuilders, New Orleans $3.09
- Welders, Los Angeles, $4.50

In recruiting hard-core unemployed to fill job pledges, the main effort was carried out by government Employment Services. The Alliance, noting that in today's economy, the job is easier to find than the man to fill it, found that "the government employment specialist is no less handicapped in the pursuit of this objective than we are by the traditions we have built into the private enterprise system. Proposing that there be a single hard-core goal with a year-round youth program, Mr. Beebe, said that while job pledges as a whole exceeded the 300,000 target, the ratio of summer jobs to full-time jobs fell below expectations. Summer job pledges reached 145,000 against the 200,000 objective. The shortfall is more than made up in the hard-core plegdes which reached 165,000 or 65 percent over objective. Some 35 percent of these hard-core jobs will be filled by out of school youths who need full-time employment.

"Having completed the first phase of its assignment," said Mr. Beebe, "the Alliance is turning its attention to the more difficult task of recruiting, placing and retaining the man on the job. We are under no illusions about the difficulty of closing the gap between the job and the jobless." he added. "Success hinges on our ability to change human habits, those of the hard core and our own... .The tradition is to find the best man available at the cheapest price. Those by-passed by the procedure will not be readily persuaded that things overnight are different." In addition, Mr. Beebe said, "Jobs at minimum pay rates are tough to sell, and only when the promise of equal opportunity becomes more of a demonstrable reality will these jobs be readily saleable."

Meanwhile, according to Mr. Beebe, the Alliance will stick to its objective announced by the President in his January 23 Manpower Message to Congress. "We have seen the virtue of setting our sights on the single target of jobs and staying with it," he said. "A sustained effort by the Alliance and its business associates to make the JOBS program a lasting success will generate momentum for similar salutory action on urban other fronts. Jobs are not the panacea but they are a good beginning."

"Until people are found, motivated, placed in jobs and kept there until they move on to something better," Mr. Beebe concluded, "there will be no real measure of the program's success."

bring about immediate change.

The purpose here is to find out what people in the ghetto want and help to organize to get it.

2) Expansion of dramatic new League programs already begun in some cities to all cities.

An example would be the Street Academy Program conducted by the New York City Urban League, which recruits dropouts from the city school system, teaches them in storefront schools, and eventually, places them in colleges across the country.

3) Establish a network of block associations in each of the 90 cities served by the League.

The theory here is that while individuals may not be able to do a great deal about solving major city, state or federal problems they can at least unite to do something about the problems on their own block.

The League has built such community power through block associations in St. Louis and through Neighborhood Centers in Washington, D.C.

4) Build economic power in the ghetto by encouraging Negroes to own and operate their own businesses.

The Rochester Urban League, as an example, is assisting Negroes in acquiring and operating camera repair shops.

Another area of League interest would be to help black men obtain franchises from national chains to operate stores and other businesses.

5) Help community groups establish cooperative ownership of businesses and credit and consumer unions.

In June, the League published a 38 page document entitled "A New Thrust in the Urban League Movement" for local affiliates, outlining the new emphasis with the precision of a RAND corporation report.

While maintaining the League's traditional concern for racial cooperation and integration, the document established that in a choice between "Ghetto Power" and "Full Scale Integration" the League must give priority to the first, as a necessary means of accomplishing the second, in that:

1) The crisis is in the ghetto, and this is where most Negroes will have to live in the foreseeable future.
2) The middle class Negro is now better equipped to fend for himself without organized help.
3) Full scale integration is possible only among equals; until the quality of life in the ghetto is improved, little integration will be possible.

The document went on to say that the focus of the New Thrust would be on problem solving, rather than program execution. "Taking the problem of credit as an example, we see that the ghetto resident suffers because of his ignorance of credit practices, his inability to calculate ahead because of the uncertainty of his income, or to take advantage of economies because of his hand-to-mouth existence. . . .A partial remedy may be found in special credit institutions. . .as occurred more than three decades ago when special forms of agricultural credit. . .were created to meet the needs of farmers for whom regular credit was only available at exorbitant rates and for unrealistically short periods."

W.N. Carey, Jr., Executive Director

Building Research Advisory Board
2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20418
Robert M. Dillon, Executive Director

The National Academy of Sciences and the National Academy of Engineering are independent, but coordinated, private honorary organizations of scientists and engineers elected on the basis of outstanding contributions to knowledge. Both Academies join in the furtherance of science and engineering and share the responsibility of advising the Federal government, upon request, on any subject of science and technology. The National Research Council serves both Academies in the discharge of their responsibilities as the operating agency. Members of the Research Council are appointed by the President of the National Academy of Sciences and are drawn from academic, industrial and government organizations throughout the country. Both the Highway Research Board and the Building Research Advisory Board function under the National Research Council's Division of Engineering – one of eight Divisions of the NRC. The Highway Research Board was created in 1920 to stimulate and correlate highway research in the United States and to make known the findings. Essentially the Board is a talent pool that fosters research in all areas of highway transportation through a highly-developed technical committee structure staffed voluntarily by outstanding individuals in state highway departments, Federal agencies, state and local governments, universities, industry, trade associations, and other highway-oriented groups. At its annual meetings some 3,500 transportation specialists hear technical papers and hold committee meetings. The Board publishes about 10,000 pages of highway research reports annually for wide distribution among the highway community here and abroad. It also administers the multi-million dollar National Cooperative Highway Research Program for the American Association of State Highway Officials and operates a computerized highway information storage and retrieval system, the Highway Research Information Service. The Building Research Advisory Board, created in 1949, undertakes activities serving research in building science and technology, and provides for dissemination of information resulting from those activities whenever doing so is deemed to be in the public interest. In its work for and with private organizations or units of government, the Board provides advice on research or technical problems, monitors research studies undertaken by others, organizes conferences and symposia, acts to stimulate research and correlate information, and, in general, explores subjects in the building field where objective treatment is needed. The thirty-six members of the Board are recognized authorities in building-interested segments of industry, government, and academic and research institutions, appointed on rotating and overlapping basis by the Chairman of the NRC Division of Engineernig with approval of the President of the National Academy of Sciences. Each Board members serves as an individual, never as a representative of any other organization or interest group. The Board, acting as a body, establishes special and standing committees, panels, task groups, and advisory or working teams as needed to carry out its various undertakings.

some very successful programs which have attracted many youth who never before had been interested in constructive programs, such as those of the federal and city sponsored 'from the top down' variety."

The point made clearest, though, was that the youth groups needed two types of assistance: technical and financial. And they needed it to be offered without the traditional institutional barriers which separate them from "the establishment". Or in other words, face-to-face.

Throughout the project, the role of Urban America is to be that of a promoter and broker. Its committment to the youth groups is cast in terms of organizational assistance, and opening lines of communication between the youth groups and the establishment, "in order for them to gain recognition and assistance, both financial and technical."

Its program of action will consist of city by city meetings between indigenous groups and the city "establishment," with considerable preliminary groundwork, and provision for "follow through" by the local coalition. Guidelines for both the youth groups and members of the establishment have been developed. Among those items designed to "sensitize" the youth (or "indigenous") group members are:

a. appreciate the fact that establishment types are not used to dealing with indigenous types and thus will need a period in which they can become informed;

b. appreciate the fact that establishment types are, out of economic prudence and social conscience, predisposed toward the alleviation of social ills which might have an ill-effect on their businesses and society in general. However, they are not accustomed to dealing with indigenous groups directly and may be naive about communication habits and life styles;

c. demands on businesses are great;

d. corporate machinery moves slowly – good programs take time;

e. come to the bargaining table with your goals clear, your alternatives determined and your program optimized:

f. can't assume that the youth group has all the answers. The establishment will also have an input;

g. will not be able to obtain all that is sought;

h. don't expect instant results;

i. do expect high expectations;

j. do expect mistakes;

k. don't let the joint venture fail because of learning mistakes.

Potomac Institute Publishes Inter-Racial Housing Study

"Stable patterns of racial integration in housing developments and neighborhoods do not just happen." They are the result of commitment, clearly established policy imaginative and thorough planning, and competent management – all elements which go far beyond the requirements of the law." So reads the principal finding of a study on racially inclusive housing, published by the Potomac Institute in June.

The booklet, "Housing Guide to Equal Opportunity" is based on a "pragmatic study of actual experience" in 154 racially integrated neighborhoods and develop ments conducted by George Schermer.

The study found that developers who were committed to a policy of racial inclusiveness are by and large persuaded that success lies in selective marketing in order to achieve racial balance. Or in other words, some sort of "quota".

No one was willing to say that he had a specific quota in mind. The objection was not against quotas in principle, but against drawing a sharp line. The concern is almost always for limiting the number of nonwhites, although there are some who feel that if nonwhite representation is under 10 or 15 percent something should be done to increase it. Twenty-five to thirty percent is commonly considered to be the upper limit for nonwhites, accordint to those interviewed."

PHYSICAL SETTING

The study found that the physical setting location, design, quality of housnig and security were more important considerations to prospective white and nonwhite tenants (or homeowners) than concern over integration. "People in either group will choose a racial environment contrary to their beliefs if the physical setting and price are attractive to them." In urban renewal areas, the study found, racial inclusiveness is almost invariably a product of advantageous location, or of development size large enough to create and maintain its own environment. In suburban areas however, affirmative marketing and community relations were stronger factors.

SCHOOLS

And for families with children, the quality of local schools was a factor which weighed above all others.

The study quotes Roger Wilcox of the Foundation for Cooperative Housing as saying "You make or break projects on the school situation. You must have some grounds for assuring high educational standards or you are in trouble. People in co-ops generally are more literate and are willing to go to extremes to assure that their kids get a good education. Integration falls or stands on the reputation of the schools."

Marketing problems and techniques preconstruction difficulties relating to HUD, FHA and local governmental agencies, types of integrated developments and the impact of neighborhood organizations are also dealt with. Two appendices include a summary of legal requirements and a bibliography.

Single copies can be obtained from The Potomac Institute, Inc., 1501 Eighteenth Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036 for one dollar.

URBAN AMERICA TO CONDUCT DESIGN STUDY OF STREET HARDWARE

The jungle of traffic signs and signals, police and fire call boxes, lining America's city streets will soon be the subject of the first comprehensive analysis of how the public gets the message while going from here to there. The study will be conducted by Urban America Inc., of Washington, D.C., with the cooperation of five cities – Baltimore, Cincinnati, Dallas, Philadelphia, and Washington – and a grant from the United States Department of Transportation (DOT).

Not limited to those objects seen by motorists and pedestrians, the study will deal with all modes of urban transportation with special emphasis on points of exchange – port facilities, air terminals, and bus depots.

A $60,000 contract from DOT and $10,000 contributed by the five participating city governments will fund the project team which is expected to make its final report in early 1969.

The project will be directed by Urban America's Urban Design Center which is headed by James N. Kise. Building Systems Development, Inc., of San Francisco and Washington, will be subcontractor to the project. Its president is Ezra Ehrenkrantz.

The study's objective, said Kise, "is to seek change rather than merely assess what can be changed." Although a number of recent studies have considered urban transportation information systems, they have been sporadic and fragmentary. The Urban America project seeks to extend these studies in a number of respects.

It will:

1) Be citywide, both in analysis and implementation.
2) Involve federal and state agency policies and regulations.
3) Determine industry's capacity to produce hardware at economic costs.
4) Consider the problems of communication arising at inter-modal transfer points.

Cooperative Housing in Asia: A CARE Project in Hong Kong

CARE, or, the "Cooperative for American Relief Everywhere," is well known for its distribution of food and clothing to the needy around the world. In recent years, however, the scope of CARE's operations has expanded beyond the prosaic "CARE package" to include far-ranging economic development projects. One such project—a 47 unit housing cooperative – was completed this summer on an island in Hong Kong harbour.

The development now provides housing, for 273 men, women and children who had formerly been living in squatters shacks or sampans that were no longer sea-worthy, However, the most intriguing sapect of the projects is the social, rather than the physical change which has occurred in the lives of 47 Heads-of-household. Squatters in 1967, they are now landowners and stockholders, and can boast of a substantial credit rating.

ORGANIZATION

By organizing into the Cheung Chau Rural Committee, (Cheung Chau is the name of the island) a group of squatters were able to establish $2,300 worth of credit with the original land owner, after they had raised $2,500 among themselves for a down payment.

As the monthly earnings of an average Cheung Chau resident rarely exceed $45, (which provides for hardly more than a minimal subsistance) this was a significant achievement.

CONSTRUCTION

Next, the rural committee applied to the Hong Kong Government and the CARE mission for assistance in building the settlement, The Hong Kong Colonial Engineering Department surveyed the land and established specifications. Several contractors tendered bids in the presence of the CARE Mission Chief; the award going to a local contractor. During construction residents of Sai Wan Cove worked as unskilled laborers:

SAMPANS AND SQUATTER-SHACKS which were replaced by a CARE housing development on Cheung Chau island.

OVERLOOKING SAI WAN COVE, on an island in Hong Kong harbour, a 47 unit CARE housing development nears completion. A "self-help" project, the development was built on land purchased by island residents.

COST

CARE's total cost for the project was $31,678 or $674 per unit. The Hong Kong Government provided storm sewer and drainage systems, public sanitary facilities and a communal bathhouse. The costs of road and footpath construction were shared by the villagers, CARE, and the Hong Kong Government.

The dwellings are of stone construction with a poured cement floor and a cement roof. Each has a small vegetable garden, and the ground plans are arranged to follow the contours of the landscape. In addition, the houses are staggered to allow a maximum amount of air and sunshine for each.

Of the 47 families in Sai Wan Cove's CARE Village, most are offspring of fishermen who have worked the waters of the China Sea for generations; others are recent refugees from Communist mainland China.

Formal dedication of the CARE Village took place on June 21. Mrs. Edwin W. Martin, wife of the U.S. Consul General for Hong Kong, and Charles R. Gallows, the Senior Canadian Trade Commissioner, jointly unveiled a stone plaque memorializing United States and Canadian donors who made the village possible.

Eisenhower Exchange Fellowships

Origin: Established by American Businessmen in 1953, in honor of President Eisenhower "for his contributions to humanity as a soldier, statesman and world leader."

Purpose: To increase understanding of the United States abroad, by enabling young men and women at mid-point in their careers, of demonstrated leadership potential in fields critical to their countries' well-being, to study at first hand how their field is practiced and taught in the United States.

Selection Procedure: In selected countries. the US Ambassador forms a committee of resident American businessmen, officials, and prominent nationals to nominate candidates. Candidates must be between 35 and 40 years old, have a working knowledge of English, and have established their potential for leadership by fact of the position they have already attained. Additional criteria are "their personal qualifications for practical leadership, their potential value in the field of their country's greatest need, and their desire to work in their country using the knowledge gained from their Fellowship for the benefit of the common man of their country.

Final selection is made in the United States by a committee headed by Juan Trippe, former Chairman and Chief Executive of Pan American World Airways; other members are: William I. Myers, Professor Emeritus, Cornell University; John W. Nason, President of Carleton College; Courtney C. Smith, President of Swarthmore College.

Fellowship Program: The EEF headquarters staff prepares a five to six month itinerary for each fellow's research program, which brings him together with prominent specialists executives, officials and educators in his career field. Fellows are given a wide latitude in probing the motives and methods of American enterprise; the program relies on the maturity and good judgement for which the Fellow was selected to bring him to accurate conclusions. The EEF staff's resources for gaining high level entree for Fellows, both socially and professionally, enables EEF Fellows to reach the sources of news about the United States without the filter of professional journalism, so that they can accurately evaluate what they read about the United States in the future. An orientation seminar is held in Philadelphia for ten days, with prominent speakers from government, business, labor, and education. A terminal seminar, organized by the Fellows, exercises their reactions to American society in relation to a broad range of domestic and international issues.

Sponsored Fellowships: Since 1967, twelve corporations and foundations have sponsored individual fellowships with an annual commitment of $10,000 – the average cost of one fellowship. Such sponsors may specify an area of interest, such as medicine, legal training, or agriculture, and a geographic area, such as the Middle East, which coincides with their area of operations. The selection of individual Fellows, however, remains a function of the EEF organization.

Results of the Program: Compared with their contemporaries, the careers of Eisenhower Fellows have advanced rapidly. Among the program's alumni are the Prime Minister of Turkey, an Executive Director of the World Bank, the Vice President of Bolivia, and over a score of ministers of cabinet rank.

Finances: The EEF Finance Committee Chairman for 1967, Robert B. Anderson, reported the following statement:

INCOME COLLECTED

Contributions	$400,997
Interest and Dividends:	38,252
Total:	$439,249

Chairman of the Finance Committee for 1968 and 1969 is C. Douglas Dillon.

Board of Trustees: Control of Eisenhower Exchange Fellowships Inc., is vested in a board of 59 trustees, drawn from leaders in business, government, communications and education. Thomas B. McCabe, Chairman, Scott Paper Company, has been Chairman of the Board of Trustees since 1953.

Staff: President and Executive Director: J. Hampton Barnes. Assistant Director: Samuel C. Townsend.

SUPERINTENDENT vs. BOARD

Ishee's job to be on line in Eutaw court Thursday

BY CLINT CLAYBROOK
News staff writer

EUTAW

Hilton J. Ishee's job will be on the line when he appears in Circuit Court in Eutaw Thursday.

But it won't be the first time the Greene County superintendent of education has been in a strange situation. He's been "fired" once, heard his school board refuse to consider his "reapplication" and several months ago saw his replacement hired.

But Ishee refused to vacate his post, and has held his job since last Sept. 16 under a Circuit Court injunction which prohibits the Greene County Board of Education from firing him, or employing anybody else for his job.

HE TURNED to the court after the predominantly Negro school board fired him last Aug. 27 and refused to consider his "reapplication" on Sept. 16.

At that session, the board split along racial lines, 3-to-2, and hired Negro educator Edwin S. Hill of Huntsville as superintendent.

But moments later, school board members were hit with an injunction issued by Circuit Judge Emmett Hildreth. It forbade firing Ishee or interfering in the running of his office.

Ishee was appointed superintendent in Feb. 1968, by a previous school board made up of four whites and Rev. Peter Kirksey, a Negro. But in a July 1968 election ordered by the U. S. Supreme Court two other Negro members, Robert Hines and J. A. Posey, were elected.

Kirksey had voted with the 1968 board for Ishee's appointment, but joined the new Negro members in voting for his ouster last August. The black members carried the motion over the votes of white members Andrew Wright and Curtis Eatman.

BIRMINGHAM ATTORNEY Orzell Billingsley will represent the board in arguments before Judge Hildreth in Greene County Circuit Court Thursday.

Ishee is represented by attorney Tommy Thaggard of Montgomery. The Professional Rights and Responsibilities Commission of the Alabama Education Association previously promised its financial assistance for Ishee's court fight.

A spokesman for that organization, made up of five whites and five Negroes, said the group felt there had been denial of due process and other individual rights in the superintendent's dismissal.

Billingsley said Monday night he will "sit on the pleadings" contained in a demurrer which he filed against the injunction. So far that demurrer has kept the injunction from becoming permanent and kept the case open.

ISHEE SAID he expected main action Thursday to be Billingsley's arguments against the injunction.

The demurrer claimed that no copy of Ishee's contract — which expires June 1 — was contained in the request for the injunction. It also claims that two members of the board which hired him were only "de facto" members since their positions were under attack in federal court when he was appointed to the job.

Sees new advantage—

Brewer hopes for relief from mix edicts

2/17/70

BY JAMES FREE, News Washington correspondent

B'ham News

WASHINGTON

Gov. Albert Brewer of Alabama joined with other Southern governors here today in meetings with senators and representatives from other states in an effort to obtain relief from harsh federal school desegregation orders directed only to the South.

Before Brewer left Montgomery early today he expressed optimism over the new impetus he feels has been given to Congressional moves to enact a nationwide law on school attendance.

He referred to recent statements at the national level — the latest coming Sunday from Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana — who said the federal government should spend more money building classrooms rather than buying buses to transport students to distant schools to achieve a racial balance.

"All of the statements indicate an awareness that this business of busing, pairing and breaking up neighborhood school patterns just to achieve racial balance won't work," Brewer declared.

"In Washington, we hope to press this advantage in hopes of getting relief by statute."

He added: "The only way the power of the Supreme Court can be limited in school cases is by an act of Congress."

He also noted that his lawsuit, which the Supreme Court refused to hear but which was refiled in U. S. District Court in Birmingham, "pointed out in effect that in school cases we have two constitutions — one for the Southern states and another for the rest of the contry."

Governors John Bell Williams of Mississippi, Lester Maddox of Georgia and John J. McKeithen of Louisiana, who met with Brewer in Mobile Feb. 8, were due here, along with two additional governors, Robert E. McNair of South Carolina and Robert W. Scott of North Carolina.

THE GOVERNORS, with senators from their states, gathered in the office of Senator Richard B. Russell D Ga. at 9:30 a.m. and the governors were to meet in the afternoon, starting at 1:30, with representatives from their states in the hearing room of the House District of Columbia Committee.

Some sort of statement of unified objectives was anticipated from each of the sessions.

Turn to Page 6, Column 3

Brewer expects relief from governors' plea

The Nixon Administration moved to try to demonstrate to the Southern governors and legislators that the executive branch has some of the same objectives.

President Nixon said his newly-formed Cabinet level commission to aid with school desegregation problems would work with three key principles: Minimum disruption of schools, preserving neighborhood school s to the extent possible, and (within the law) giving uniform treatment to the North and South.

Both the Senate and House are in process of legislative action in line with what the governors are trying to accomplish.

THE PENDING business in the Senate, due for a vote possibly late today, was an amendment sponsored by Senator John Stennis, D-Miss., and about 18 other Southerners including John J. Sparkman and James B. Allen of Alabama. This rider to the money bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) would call for uniform application of desegregation laws in the 50 states.

On the other side of capitol hill, the House Appropriations Committee by a vote of 30 to 13 reinserted in the HEW money bill the Whitten (Jamie B. Whitten, D.-Miss.) amendment of 1969 that was watered down by the Senate in the HEW bill vetoed by President Nixon. The amendment would bar use of federal funds for busing of students to achieve racial balance.

Another committee-approved amendment would bar use of federal funds to carry out any plan that would deny freedom of choice by parents in selection of the public school their child will attend. This amendment was sponsored by Rep. Charles Jonas R-N.C.

With the courts ordering desegregation that would require massive and long-distance busing in many instances — the judicial branch eventually may run head-on into a massive enforcement problem — if the legislative and executive branches can agree to disagree with what the courts are doing.

Even if legal or constitutional tangles can be resolved, there still will remain the question of who will pay the added and often heavy burden of costs for more buses, changes in facilities, shifting of teachers and the like.

SRC Director Paul Anthony Resigns

The Southern Regional Council, the nation's oldest Southern-based civil rights organization, announced Sunday the resignation of Executive Director Paul Anthony.

Anthony, who has held that position since 1965, will remain with SRC until his successor is named.

In his letter of resignation, Anthony, 43, said SRC should not be "personality oriented" and that no director should serve more than five years.

Anthony joined the SRC staff in 1956 and served as executive assistant and director of field activities before becoming executive director.

Under his directorship, the council's budget and staff doubled.

"Paul Anthony has served the council and the people of the Southern region with loyalty and devotion and deep personal commitment," said Dr. Raymond Wheeler, SRC president. "I regret that after six years of providing us with that kind of leadership he finds it necessary to resign.

"He leaves the council at a time when the prospects for the future of the organization are indeed bright. We have an unusually well-informed and active board and executive committee, a talented staff and new and exciting plans for applying our special skills and concerns to the problems of the Southern region during the 1970s."

Filling the Job That Very Few Want

WANTED—Saint and martyr. Must be willing to catch hell from all directions. Must have hide thick as rhino and be sensitive and litmus paper. Answer to 100 liberal Southerners, be responsible to nation, live up to strong legacy. Other duties include raising funds, acting like Ralph Nader, leading civil rights groups, appeasing staff of 30, and running annual meeting. Applicant will understand job is impossible and has no future.

That want ad could run this morning for a new executive director of the Southern Regional Council, the nation's oldest Southern-based civil rights organization.

Paul Anthony, the executive director for the last six years, is leaving. Like the four directors who preceded him, Anthony leaves an exhausted and care-worn man. And like the others, he leaves an impossible job behind.

Housed in a warren of offices frequently piled high with cardboard boxes and decorated by quilts carried on such things as the Selma march, the SRC has come to another turning point.

Not only must it vacate its quarters at 5 Forsyth Street (because the building will be demolished this fall). It also must embark on a new set of goals.

Anthony believes the SRC should continue to stay one step away from the angry direct involvement of other civil rights groups. Some of the foundations which sponsor the SRC reportedly hope to push it to more activism.

Anothony always has pushed research and publishing. Some of the money-givers apparently want Nader-type bulldozing.

These conflicts appear to have something to do with his decision to leave the SRC when a successor is chosen. Some sources say the decision on a successor will not come very quickly.

Brave words are being spoken about the council as the change in command occurs. Dr. Raymond Wheeler, president of the SRC, said "prospects for the future of the organization are indeed bright. We have an unusually well-informed and active board and executive committee, a talented staff, and new and exciting plans for applying our special skills and concerns to the problems of the Southern region during the 1970s."

The words may be braver than the outlook warrants. It is no secret that the Ford Foundation has applied real pressure for changes in the program. And the lesson of that is clear: Anytime a foundation begins to apply tough pressure, the organization is in serious trouble of cracking wide open.

Stories circulate that Ford is pushing to have SRC move into fields entirely unrelated to civil rights. They appear to be intent on getting more reports on pollution and planning, as well as other fields where a variety of organizations already are at work.

Only time will tell whether these new goals are the ones to be pursued.

But one thing is clear. Anthony will make a valuable addition to somebody's staff. He said, "I do not consider that I am leaving the Southern Regional Council. No one committed to its purposes ever does."

At 43, Anthony will move on to some related field. His predecessors have joined foundations and faculties. He probably will make a similar connection.

As for a successor, the want ad is accurate. The job is one that seeks the man—for no man in his right mind would apply for it.

By HENRY TANNER

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, July 19—The State Department announced today that Assistant Secretary of State Joseph W. Sisco would fly to Israel next week.

He is scheduled to confer with Premier Golda Meir and members of her Cabinet in an effort to break the two-month deadlock in efforts to reopen the Suez Canal.

Officials said that Mr. Sisco's talks with Israeli leaders would also deal with Israeli requests for the resumption of deliveries of American Phanton fighter-bombers. The deliveries were stopped about a month ago when the existing contracts were filled.

Mr. Sisco's trip had been tentatively planned for several weeks, it was said, but was held up by uncertainties.

Egyptians Approve Effort

Officials said that the decision for Mr. Sisco to go ahead was made after Egyptian officials, in long discussions with two American diplomats, agreed to let the United States proceed with efforts for an interim agreement on the canal.

One of the two diplomats, Michael Sterner, who is in charge of the Egyptian desk at the State Department of Egypt returned yesterday from Cairo, where he had spent two weeks. The other American was Donald C. Bergus, the ranking American diplomat in Cairo.

Mr. Sterner is understood to have reported that Egyptian leaders specifically agreed that the United States should continue to act as an intermediary between Egypt and Israel in canal discussions.

Egyptian approval was important, officials said, because the Soviet Union has been highly critical of the American effort.

Yakov A. Malik, the Soviet representative at the periodic meetings of the Big Four's spokesmen in New York, has been attacking the United States for "unilateral meddling in the Middle East. Similar charges have been made in the Soviet party newspaper Pravda and other Soviet publications.

Egyptian officials, in their talks with Mr. Sterner and Mr. Bergus, are understood to have asserted that they were still interested in an interim agreement on the canal. There had been some doubt here because Mohammed Hassanein Heykal, the editor of Al Ahram, an influential newspaper, had been writing that Egypt might have to renounce her search for a peaceful settlement and resort to a new war strategy.

Mr. Sisco's visit to Israel is regarded as the most important American initiative in the Middle East since Secretary of State William P. Rogers visited the region early in May. Mr. Sisco is Assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern and South Asian Affairs. He attended a policy review last week with President Nixon, Mr. Rogers and Henry A. Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser.

Officials stressed that Israel had set no conditions before accepting the suggestion that Mr. Sisco come to Jerusalem. Nevertheless, it had been reliably reported that Israeli diplomats had been trying to get an American commitment on the Phantom jets in advance.

Eban Addresses Knesset

Special to The New York Times

JERUSALEM, July 19 — Foreign Minister Abba Eban today forecast a friendly but frank discussion with Assistant Secretary of State Sisco.

Israeli officials made it clear that the resumption of aircraft sales to Israel, particularly of Phantoms, would be a central preoccupation.

Speaking to the Knesset, Mr. Eban said, "We will also be happy to clarify with him the possibilities for a separate agreement to reopen the Suez Canal."

CIVIL RIGHTS LEADER IN SOUTH TO RESIGN

The executive director of the Southern Regional Council, John Paul Anthony, will resign within the next two weeks, after six years on the job.

This development came on top of reports in Atlanta that the integrated civil rights organization, a citadel of liberalism in the South, was on the verge of collapse.

"My resignation is in no way related to some very serious problems of realignment we've faced and solved," Mr. Anthony said yesterday. "I know it will be widely misinterpreted, but my resignation is merely an expression of my belief that you ought to give an organization such as this all you have and then get out."

The 43-year-old Mr. Anthony said that he planned to rest and write. He would not speculate on who would succeed him.

Charles Rooks has suggested that I ought to get together with you when I get to Atlanta to take over direction of the Southern Regional Council. He has told me something of your ideas, and I certainly look forward to exploring them with you.

It looks as if I will not be in Atlanta full time until May 15, but I would appreciate it if you would give me a phone call sometime after the 15th. Perhaps we could have lunch together.

With best wishes.

Dear George:

It was good to see you last week. I appreciate your taking time to talk with me.

As you might have gathered from our conversation, I am not in a very creative mood at the moment, but there are a few suggestions I would like to pass on--some in this letter, some to follow later.

The main thing I want to suggest in this letter is that, as soon as you can, you arrange to have lunch with a friend of mine, Bron Cleveland, who operates a consulting firm in Atlanta. Over the past few months Bron and I have had several conversations about needs in the South and some of the possible responses which an organization such as SRC might make to these needs.

For example, Bron thinks SRC should investigate the possibilities for action under Title 4-A of the Social Security Act of 1965. Under this act, the federal government provides 75% of the funds for a virtually unlimited number of services to low-income families. Conceivably, SRC might assist communities in obtaining these services, perhaps through in-kind contributions to the matching requirement (e.g. through the provisions of manpower).

Another idea of Bron's relates to some newly developed products which might be introduced into some economically-depressed areas and thereby expand the area's economy and particularly the incomes of poor residents.

These are only a few of the ideas which he has. I think he is genuinely interested in the problems of the South and in seeing that SRC become an effective organization in dealing with some of these problems.

Dear Helen:

Mac Bundy was pleased, and I was pleased, that the Atlanta visit went so well. You have a great touch for breaking down barriers.

My tasks in Atlanta begin around the middle of May, and I hope that I can consult with you from time to time, over lunch or a drink or even on a business basis. The Southern Regional Council has real potential, but I recognize as much as anyone how much redirection it needs at this time. You can be of help to me.

With best wishes.

Dear Martha:

I started to send you a telegram that simply said "Good for you!" but then I decided that you would not know which "good" I ought to put it in. I am so glad to hear about the Women's Political Caucus and I have read the clippings with real interest.

Don McKee would be a real asset to the Southern Regional Council. I read about the appointment of Mr. Esser (or is it Dr. Esser?) and I am really looking forward to meeting him. Martha, that Southern Regional Council, it seems to me needs to reassess their role as an agency in terms of what is relevant. For such a long time they really were voices crying in the wilderness. They would not be human if they did not feel that they had done so much . I have watched this pattern emerge more and more from organizations (and in individuals). I fervently hope that Dr. Esser will be the badly needed shot in the arm for the SRC. (If he is a friend of yours, I'm sure that he will be.)

I am very touched over the poster idea using the quotation. I keep the painting in my office so that I can constantly be reminded of the little words. Warm warm regards to you and yours and I hope you will be coming in this direction very soon.

Dear Helen:

As always, it was good to hear from you, and congratulations on the resolution and ensuing action which you initiated in the Community Relations Commission. Even if you had not told me, I would have known it came from you. Forgive my tardy response, but since we last communicated I have spearheaded a successful effort to form a N.C. Women's Political Caucus. It has been a very interesting endeavor, but also time consuming. I have enclosed one clipping.

In regard to Don McKee, the company with which I was dealing has put an in-house man in the public affairs slot. They seldom, if ever, bring in outsiders at high levels. I would, however, like permission to pass along Mr. McKee's resume to my very close friend George Esser, who is taking over the chairmanship of the Southern Regional Council on May 1.

I am very anxious for you to meet George and we will either arrange it or ask him to contact you after he gets to Atlanta.

You will be interested to know that some of the women who worked on the Caucus created at poster, at my suggestion, made up of the sketch of you which appeared in the Atlanta magazine, along with the cover and appropriate text. So you see, I have passed along the inspiration you provide for us all.

I want to follow up on the brief conversation we had following the Monday afternoon program at the symposium. If you would be interested in coming with the Southern Regional Council for part or all of the next year, I would like very much to talk with you. Although it is difficult to project precisely how much staff we can take on during the next few months, I am optimistic that there will be openings.

Everything I hear about the symposium is a real credit to your leadership and planning, and I deeply regret that other commitments took me out of town for most of that period. I couple of weeks later I ran into Joe Cummings of Newsweek in Atlanta, and he was glowing in his remarks.

If you are interested in talking about a possible position, leave a call for me at my Chapel Hill office (929-7124). My duties in Atlanta begin on May 8, but I will be back in Chapel Hill on weekends.

With best wishes.

FROM: George H. Esser

SUBJECT:

1. Terry or Lucy can locate me this week in case of an emergency.

2. I will be coming to Atlanta Monday, May 8, and I will come to the office briefly before going on to the meeting that Bryant George is holding at Pascal's. You might ask Jay to check on the room reservation at Pascal's (9 a.m. to 9 p.m.) for the meeting. I assume Bryant is coming in the night before. Harry Bowie will also attend that meeting.

3. Please make reservations for me at the University Inn for May 8 and 9. I plan to move into the house on Wednesday, but I doubt that I can get the bed moved in before that time.

4. I do plan to rent a car on my arrival next week.

5. A number of people have expressed an interest in having lunch with me soon after my arrival in Atlanta. May 9, 10 and 11, and May 15 will be free, so you might see if luncheons can be arranged with the following people: Jim Draper, K. Z. Chavis, John Lewis, and Reg Murphy.

6. I would appreciate it if in addition to appointments at SRC on May 11 and 12 you would make arrangements for Terry Cobb to meet with John Lewis. This is at the suggestion of Bryant George and myself. Terry will inform you of her arrival time.

Dear Harry:

My outlook on life is much brighter since we reached agreement last week for you to come on the staff of SRC as associate director. However difficult the task we have, I have confidence that we can build the team to do the job.

I asked Mrs. Brothers to send you a copy of the memo to the SRC staff which I put together in something of a hurry last Friday afternoon. You will find it fuzzy with respect to the section on job titles outright without changing job assignments. None of the senior staff, however, objected to the fact that reorganization would result, and in fact they all expect it.

The meeting with the community development corporation directors is scheduled for Pascal's on May 8, beginning at 9 a.m. in the morning. The room has been reserved in the name of the Southern Regional Council, and Bryant has three or four major items on his agenda, all of which should be of interest to you. I have told Bryant that I may not get to Pascal's until sometime between 11 a.m. and 12 noon, and the discussion of the business technical assistance program is due to start about lunchtime. Let Mrs. Brothers know if she can make reservations, hotel or travel, for you.

My trip to New York was cancelled, simply because I had too much to do to clean up here. As a matter of fact, I'll have to work some weekends to clean out some of this paper. But I was able to get hold of Jack Woodward and introduce you to him. I hope he found you to change the date of the appointment.

The dates for the staff retreat are now firm, to begin at Kanuga Conference Center before supper on Sunday, June 4, and to conclude after lunch on Tuesday, June 6. We will probably have car pools going up from Atlanta, but you may want to rent a car. The Executive Committee meeting will begin at the Council office on Friday, June 9, at 1:00 p.m. and conclude after lunch the next day.

See you on May 8th.

Particularly since the Executive Committee meeting in December, 1967, I have given considerable thought to means of not only resolving the differences which came out in that meeting, but of finding ways in which the merits of both schools of thought could be maintained. The following is one way in which these objectives might be achieved. At this point, I don't advance the ideas in this paper as the solution, but rather as one deserving the consideration of several people particularly familiar with the Council and interested in its welfare.

For some years there has been a dichotomy within the Southern Regional Council that has caused us a certain amount of difficulty and confusion, and shows promise of causing more in the future. Essentially, we have been confused as to what role the Council ought to play and, indeed, does play. On the one hand, much of the staff and policy leadership have considered the Council a non-action, non-programmatic institute. We have felt that the development of ideas and their dissemination through our publications and our analyses of southern affairs to be the major thrust of the organization. Important SRC program, for many of us, has been our traditional, behind-the-scenes activities in which we attempt to cause things to happen or to bring into being other entities, rather than attempting to execute program directly.

Yet, beginning three years ago, there was a substantial acceleration of the trend toward projects and programs; ones well-funded, by Council standards. The most conspicuous of these is the Voter Education Project. But, there are a number of others and each of them, from within and without, have been subjected to growing pressures for financial and staff expansion.

Last year, to my horror, (which exposes my prejudices in the matter), the Executive Committee seriously considered revising the agency into a far more direct program agency -- expanding to a budget, if it could be raised, of as much as twenty-million dollars a year. Part of the rationale for this proposal was that someone had to fill the gap between obvious and immediate needs in the region and the response of public programs to those needs. While I personally did not like the idea, I can understand and appreciate the thinking behind this approach and the need for such services to be provided by some private agency. Yet, I felt then, and feel now, that to so drastically alter the nature of the Council would inevitably mean that the "institute" functions of the Council would be seriously diminished, and likely lost altogether. Such a situation would, of course, be tragic.

These problems (this dichotomy) were further and more seriously illustrated at our last annual meeting. And, we cannot overlook the reality of current events.

The Voter Education Project in the coming year will likely raise and expend a minimum of $500,000. The Urban Planning Project, in addition to the one-half time services of the director, now has been offered an additional $20,000-a-year if an expanded program and additional staff can be secured. The Community Organization Project has a contingency fund of $20,000-per-year and has as its aims both to increase this amount and to add at least one additional professional staff person. The Labor Education Project seeks additional staff. And so it goes.

We now struggle to keep several "tails from wagging the dog," and it becomes increasingly difficult to prevent this.

I think the most serious consideration should be given to cutting the Council loose and allowing it to become an agency of advocacy and programs to the extent that funds could be secured. Should this happen, I believe a budget well in excess of the 1969 budget of approximately $1,200,000 would be necessary and possible. If programs were developed I would hope that three projects, in addition to the VEP, could be expanded considerably. Among these would be the Community Organization Project, which should have a far broader approach to stimulating economic development than the project now can. The same is true of the Urban Planning Project, which should develop far more elaborate services for the urban areas of the South. The same is true of the Labor Education Project, which should substantially broaden its concerns for manpower and employment in the region.

To preserve what I would like to think of as the other Council, I believe we should give the most serious consideration to creating an institute, perhaps called, "The Institute for Southern Regional Development." In budget and staffing as well as in function this institute might very well be patterned after The Potomac Institute. It would have a relatively small staff concerned with ideas and solutions. It would lean heavily on consultations and support from outstanding authorities in our areas of concern in the rest of the nation as well as in the region. Initially, such an institute could be sponsored by the Council and could enjoy the tax exemption of the Council. During this stage a relatively small group of people could serve on an advisory board. This advisory board should include current members of the Southern Regional Council, but not be limited to them.

In time -- as soon as possible -- the institute would obtain its own tax exemption and operate as an entirely separate, autonomous entity (though, of course, one would hope for a very close cooperative relationship between the institute and the Council.)

It had been my idea earlier to "retract" the Council toward this institute format -- and the Council's earlier format. However, on reflection, it occurs to me that the program agency referred to above could raise funds of the nature proposed far easier by using the name and the contacts of the Southern Regional Council. On the other hand, with the support of the Council, I believe the institute might find it possible to raise the $200,000 or so which would be needed per year by the institute.

There is very strong need for both of the agencies outlined here, and, I believe, we must recognize that it will be increasingly difficult to meet either of these needs under one umbrella. We can, possibly, on the other hand, meet both of the needs by creating two agencies.

Needless to say, these ideas will need a great deal more thinking and should we decide to take this approach, I believe it would require at least a year to do so.

- o -

THE SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL

The Southern Regional Council was organized in 1944 as an outgrowth of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, founded in 1919. The Incorporators were the late Dr. Howard W. Odum, then Professor of Sociology at the University of North Carolina, the late Dr. Charles S. Johnson, then President of Fisk University, Bishop Arthur J. Moore of the Methodist Church, Mr. Ralph McGill, Publisher of the Atlanta Constitution, and the late Dr. Rufus E. Clement, President of Atlanta University.

There was a feeling during World War II that the region would be considerably different after the war, that a new organization was needed both to escape the relatively paternalistic concepts of the Commission and to provide a number of specific skills for non-discriminatory regional development.

Dr. Guy Johnson took a one year's leave of absence from the University of North Carolina to serve as the first executive director of the Council. In 1947 George S. Mitchell was appointed second executive director, in 1957, Harold C. Fleming, in 1961, Leslie W. Dunbar and in 1965, Paul Anthony.

From its beginning the Council's primary interest has been in race relations in the Southeastern region. During all of this time a basic function has been research and interpretation of conditions and needs. As a portion of this function, the organization has developed to a rather substantial degree a technique of working closely with the press and other media. The Council has sought to develop a reputation of accuracy and reliability, and to a reasonable degree, this effort has been successful. Because of it the agency is able to provide story and program ideas, background information, and interpretative materials for the leading newspapers, magazines, and television networks of the country.

Periodically, the Council launches special projects toward a certain end. The most ambitious of these has been a Voter Education Project beginning in 1961 which, over a three-year period, expended some one million dollars in support of programs to achieve Negro registration. As a result of this approximately 688,000 new voters were added to the rolls. A second voter project, begun in 1966, is operating for three years with similar purposes. In 1965 a grant from the Ford Foundation also made it possible for projects to be sponsored in the areas of Community Organization, Urban Planning, Crime and Penal Rehabilitation, and Labor Education. This funding from the Ford Foundation also allowed the Council to expand to its highest level of operation, which is currently at approximately $1,250,000 a year. This rate of operation represents, relatively, a time of affluence for the agency. Financially the beginnings of the operation were very modest (approximately $40,000 a year) and continued that way through 1953. At one point it became necessary for George Mitchell to borrow on his life insurance to keep the organization going. Almost the same situation was reached again in 1957. In 1954, the Fund for the Republic made its first grant to SRC. Over the next three years the Council was to receive approximately $1,500,000 from this source. Most of these funds went toward the establishment of the state Councils on Human Relations, discussed in a separate memorandum. When the Fund for the Republic ceased operations, SRC almost followed suit. In time, however, other significant support was found from the Rockefeller Foundation, a long time supporter; the Stephen Curriers (later the Taconic Foundation), the Field Foundation, the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, and the New World Foundation.

The Council is not a "program" agency. That is to say for instance, its approach to the problems of urban planning would not be to try to devise plans for every southern city or even, indeed, to approach many southern cities. Rather, through its dealings with planners, governmental agencies, professional associations, and others, through the work of the project director and through the research and information prepared for this project, it attempts to educate to the need, offer solutions, and interpret reasons, including ones of self-interest, as to why such things are necessary as well as right. In a sense, the Council attempts to be a behind-the-scenes influencer; sometimes a "finagler."

The Southern Regional Council has no illusions of its power or ability to change the region. At best we can look for opportunities that are promising, needs that are pressing, new developments that require interpretation, or situations which hang in the delicate balance. We can only hope that such resources as we can bring to bear will make a difference.

These skills and this realistic appraisal of limitations may be the reason the Council is unique, as we think it is. The Council is a strange agency, neither completely academic nor research-oriented in nature, nor action-oriented in the usual sense of that term. It is an agency, born out of the particular southern mind, which is designed in the best judgment of those who direct it to meet the particular southern need. This, in the sense of building a society as well as in the sense of correcting old evils, leads to the merging of special skills, interests, and resources. We find ourselves, therefore, attempting to analyze responsible questions raised about the exuberant student movement of the deep South, or to confer quietly with a southern governor, to advise on request about appointments to federal governmental posts, to engage scholars for highly academic research, or to rush out a special report to clarify issues.

The Council is a body of 100 members representing 100 Southerners from racial, religious, and professional groupings in the region. Responsibility for governing the organization rests with an Executive Committee of fifteen persons. A list of the members and the Executive Committee is attached.

Dear Mr. Arthur:

I like your Observer story on Darlington Mills and think it is something we would like for New South. It would need to be expanded, though, going into more of the background on the case, including other efforts at unionizing prior to 1956 and the reasons why the workers then finally voted for union representation. I think Milliken's claims as to the mills losing money ought to be looked at closer. Some comments from present management officials other than the quote by Milliken himslef would also fill it out. Interviews with present TWUA officials are also needed. It strikes me, too, that you ought to have a copy of the study by the two professors. Why would the NLRB not give copies either to management or the union? It seems a curious procedure.

None of this is to express any reservation at all about your Observer story, which is a good piece of work, but just to ask that it be expanded.

Dear Mrs. Watts:

This is to confirm our telephone conversation about your doing an article for our publication, South Today. We would like to have the copy by Sept. 1--but if necessary, Oct. 1 would be all right. Our rates are $150 for 2,000 words, $300 for 4,000 words. Write it at whatever length is best for you. And the style should be, again, whatever is most comfortable for you--formal, informal or in-between. Don't hesitate to use first-person; it should be a personal statement.

It is hard, always, to make specific suggestions for an article. Generally, though, what I had in mind is an extension and elaboration of your letter in Atlantic, covering the same points and illustrating them with anecdotes, specific examples, and personal experience. Most of all, your feeling for the children can be expressed in telling about them--without using their names of course if that would be embarrasing to them.

Your point about testing is somimportant. (My wife used to teach retarded children, and she tells of one who was unscorable on the tests who said to her on the playground one day: "The sky is so pretty. I feel like I could dive into it.")

I am enclosing a few of our previous issues, and the prospectus for our new magazine, Southern Voices,which, I think, will tell more about the kind of material werare looking for than this letter. Indeed, it may turn out when we get your article it will be so appropriate for the new magazine that we will want to save it for when we begin publishing it next February.

Dear Mr. Plotkin:

I have received your manuscript and given it a reading. I have some questions which I hope you can answer. You say, on page 14, that the patients say they receive 1200 milligrams a day of thorazine. But this conflicts with the doctors' statement. How do the patients know the quantity? Did some one tell them? If so, who?

On page 6 why is it "unclear" how often the patient is allowed to come to the recreation room? Can't we find that out? The same question would apply to page 7, last sentence, first paragraph.

Page 8, Why can't we find out the criteria for determining eligibility for visits? If there is conflict, let's quote both sources.

Page 13. Last sentence. Who are the critics who charge this? Is it true?

P Page 15. Second paragraph, third sentence. Do the complaints here refer just to the Louisiana Psychiatric Association or are there others?

Page 17. Who is the Attorney General of Louisiana?

Finally, how does the Louisiana hospital's psychiatrist to patient ratio compare with those in other states, both inside and outside the South?

Robert E. Anderson Jr.

Dear Redding:

I am, with some indecision still, inclined to agree with you that the Pratt details isn't for Southern Voices. The indecision is because with the expanded scope we will have, articles on architecture and purely historical pieces will be wanted. I guess what I feel is that current architecture is more in line with what we'll be doing, and the history ought to be a litt.e more out-of-the-way.

Since you've got another possible market, I'm returning the Pratt details. But do keep in mind the kind of thing mentioned above.

I'm really sorry about the Briscoe disappointment, and hope it can be reversed. We've used a reference to it (as well as the Anderson piece) in our direct-mail promotion for the magazine, but are assured by our consultant that failing to carry through on one or two won't do us any harm. And I hope it won't do you any harm in getting in there eventually. In fact, it might help.

4501 Packard Road
Nashville, Tennessee

Dear Mrs. Rose:

I am very pleased that you have agreed by telephone with Gwen Davis of our staff to write for our new magazine, Southern Voices, about your experiences trying to do something about child-abuse.

I think Ms. Davis outlined to you the kind of article we are interested in: A personal account of how you became interested in the subject, what you were able to find out about it, what you were able to accomplish, what you feel needs, still, to be accomplished, and ideas you migh have both about how further improvements could be made and about how citizens in other communities might go about working on the problem. Include appropriate specific cases and anecdotes.

The writing should be whatever way is most comfortable for you. Don't hesitate to use first-person, and don't try to make it sound like a formal Article For A Magazine. What we are interested in is writing by people who have something important to say, rather than, as I'm afraid often happens, writing by people who are good at writing but really have nothing much to say. I am sending a copy of the prospectus of the magazine as a more detailed explanation of what we feel is an important new departure in magazine journalism. (Note page 10 especially.)

Our fees are $150 for 2,000 words, $300 for 4,000. Again,whatever length you need is all right--it can be over or under 2,000 to 4,000.

If you have any questions, please call Dial 1-800-241-4288 and the call will be billed to us.

Again, thank you for agreeing to undertake this. I hope our interest says better than I can how important we think the kind of citizenship you have exercised is.

Dear Mr. Cox:

I have read with interest your analysis of the Jackson election. It reads like the very best of political commentary in the current media--though I felt it got a little ragged toward the end.

I am reluctantly returning it because it is too localized for our use in its present form. But I hope you might be interested in giving the material a different treatment that would fit our Southwide-audience needs. I was really intrigued with your expectation before the general election of a upper and middle-class white, middle and lower-class black coalition against the poor whites. The same thing seems to be developing in Atlanta--especially in the sell-out by that same coalition here of school desegregation.

Even considering the final outcome in Jackson, do you think you might be able still to analyze it in those terms, noting the reason for the exception to what you had expected? If you should want to pursue it, I think you could get some corroboration from Dr. Aaron Shirley. As I understand it, he refused to back Davis because Davis accused him of blackmail when he said he would have to have assurance of some low-level jobs for blacks in city government.

Anyhow, if the idea appeals to you, let me know. Something around 2,000 to 3,000 words would be good. I do like the way you handle complex political stuff smoothly.

July 23, 1973

Dear Alice:

You're chagrined! I'm supposed to be the editor. And when I think back to the ton of copy on that story I edited at the Atlanta Journal, chagrin ain't the word for it. I may run a correction in the next issue, taking full blame.

I don't envy you the ten-years-later piece -- but do look forward to seeing it. My main memory of the march is that the paper wouldn't let me go cover it (it was just before resigning time) and I went down to see the buses off here and wrote a column that would have to stand up all day of the march saying all that liberal fear it would be violent was nonsense -- you just had to look at the people getting on those buses. They just kept on anticipating violence until they finally got it, I guess.

If you have the same kind of experience with the Times magazine I usually do, let me say urgently any rejects would be very welcome here. Beyond that, I do hope we can work out your doing some things for the new magazine -- maybe work in progress, or something you have on your mind, or, if it is at all possible, something on your impressions of China. Lordy. What a thing to be looking forward to doing in October. How come and how long?

Thank you for your good words about the piece and about our visit. We enjoyed so much being with you; that kind of three-way rapport is so rare and so good. We've just finished moving -- to a bigger, better house deeper in our slum, and the front porch is twice as big as the old one. If you or both or you do ever get over here -- let's sit and talk.

Meantime, yes, yes, we did keep Uncle Daniel. Brought him home in a wine box covered over with a pair of panty-hose. He lives up to his name. Yesterday he stepped on a still-hot burner on our fine new electrical stove. This morning the burnt child did not avoid it, again.

Mr. Martin Kirby
Arkansas Advocate
P. O. Box 3834
Little Rock, Arkansas 72203

Dear Mr. Kirby:

What a hell of a fine publication you are putting out. I meant to just glance over the front pages before answering your letter, and have just spent an hour reading into story after story, and didn't get beyond Vol. 1, No. 4. Thank you for sending them; I'm taking them home tonight for thorough reading. And please enter me a subscription at this address; I'll send a check on August 10 which is when our new bureaucratic budget lets the eagle scream.

I read your reprint of the column about you; we got into magazine-type stuff the same way; I never could write a short story; I inserted an insert one time and never heard the end of it from the composing room; I began a daily column stint with a column (long one) one sentence long. I haven't missed daily journalism a minute since I walked out one fine day ten years ago.

On the points in your letter, briefly now, with the intention this begins a long and mutually beneficial correspondence and relationship:

We can run a notice about the Advocate in our Southern Billboard (we don't do advertising -- yet); it will probably have to be in the September issue because August is at the printers.

We do pay for articles and are hungry and don't have any contributers in Arkansas since Ed Stanfield went back to work. The three profiles sound good -- especially for a new magazine we are planning (prospectus enclosed) which will emphasize experience in worthwhile endeavors by individual Southerners. I had heard about ACORN from Lee Balliet and we discussed his doing a piece about it. But he was pretty vague about when he might take it on. If you're interested, I'd like for you to do it first among the three, and then we can talk about the others. It would be for the new magazine and the approach would be to show what ACORN has accomplished and how, setting it up as a model for similar operations across the South -- with a lot of quotes from Rathke.

Our pay for something like that (and we haven't worked out scales definitely yet) would probably be $200 -- though I hope by the time of publication we can do better. (On South Today, I'm locked into an inherited piece of absurdity -- $150 for 2,000 words; $300 for 4,000. It ought to be the other way around -- or based on merit anyhow.)

Again -- for the new magazine, we would welcome contributions, queries, communications and recommendations of writers you might tell about it.

We spend far more on printing South Today and New South than their circulation warrants. That was one of the original spurs to thinking about the new magazine. For it, we are into a formidable direct-mail circulation promotion which will culminate in December with a million letters going out and the fervent prayer of a respectable Southwide circulation ensuing. Publication on a bimonthly basis (80 pages of editorail an issue) begins in February. If you're interested in figures on South Today printing costs, I can get them up for you. But I swear, I like the way the Advocate looks better. We have a graphics consultant working on the design of the new magazine; his speciality is making black and white and cheap stock look better than the four-color explosions that characterize most magazines. I'm going to ask him to look at your format and see what he thinkgs, and what suggestions he might have for it -- it I can take that liberty.

You scared me about the union bug. (I had just gotten a letter from Alice Walker apologizing for getting Hamilton Homes' name all mixed up in our last issue, and it was a editing thing I should have caught.) The damn bug is in the staff listing on the last page. I personally consider the typographer's and printer's unions among the worst of a bad situation generally -- but since we have strong ties with the unions, we don't print anything without the bug.

Literary magazines: Us. Voices will carry fiction and poetry and we are lining up consultant editors who, I hope, will make this aspect a real contribution to literature. Beyond that, the only thing I know off-hand (beyond the Playboyrrealm) is Hudson Review, which is edited by a couple who are good friends of ours, Fred and Paula Morgan. The address is 65 East 55th Street, New York, New York 10022. Use my name if you want to.

I will go through the Advocate with a view to reprint, or maybe, better, revamping to a Southwide perspective.

We don't have stringers, but you can count on my calling on you for stories, story ideas and the occasional one-shot reporting round-ups we do. Beyond that, I hope, eventually, to work out some kind of contractural thing with a few writers for the magazine, with a minimum of stories involved but no limit, and will keep you high on the list for that.

I don't know much about fund-raising, but it's my impression that it is damn hard to find anybody to subsidize a magazine. I'll ask George Esser's advice and pass on any suggestions he might have. And, as I say, I haven't been getting much Arkansas material lately, but if I do get manuscripts or queries that don't fit us and might fit you, I'll pass them on. I hope you'll do the same.

Good luck with the new baby and the new life-style. Do keep the Advocate floating somehow. It's the kind of journalism people deserve.

Yours truly,

Pat Watters

Dear Willie:

Enclosed is a copy of the revised billing from the University of Georgia Center for Continuing Education for expenses connected with the Human Rights Workers Training Conference. Attached to the bill is a list of those persons whose hotel bills we agreed to pay or who otherwise were charged to us. Also attached are copies of the specific bills incurred at the Center.

The bills for the following people are attached and are correct and should be paid: Balliet, Caruth, Cloud, Cohen, Eklund, Kaye, Sapp, and Via. The bill for Tommie Brown for $27.81 is attached and I think it should be paid although you should ask Brown for reimbursement.

Although Robert Covington's name appears on the list, we were not charged for him since he paid his bill personally. The following persons were on the list but did not have charges at the hotel and we have not been billed for them: Bowie, Esser, Hall, and Kremen.

The total for housing at the Georgia Center was listed on the revised billing as $362.75. Our calculation of those bills is $360.75. Personally I think it is easier to forget the $2 discrepancy although it could be called to the Center's attention in connection with my comment in the following paragraph.

SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL, INC.
5 FORSYTH STREET, N.W., ATLANTA, GEORGIA 30303

You will note that the first bill in the stack from the Center is for $86.11 for the various coke and coffee services. There seems to be a mistake on the dates since we were charged for the 17th for coffees that probably were served on the 15th or 16. You will also note that this bill is not included on the revised bill. My suggestion is that we simply deduct from the total the $2 error for housing, add the $86.11 for coffees. Tell the Center what we are doing and pay the total of $1240.00.

Of course, if the bill, supporting documents, and my explanation do not satisfy what Fred needs to have for his records, then we should request a revised statement from the University.

It is possible (Kitty was uncertain) that the University attempted to make some adjustment in the bill by not including the coffee billings. However, this would have been a substantially greater adjustment than we had anticipated from the bill for the Wednesday night social. In fact, that bill apparently has been adjusted already.

Kitty is apologetic for the confusion although it does not seem to be her fault in anyway. Please let me know what you decide to do and what portion of this bill, if any, you want the Council to pay.

One is Hunger U.S.A. which was published in 1968 by the Citizens Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition, which investigated the extent of hunger and malnutrition in poverty areas throughout the United States. We do not have copies of it, but it is available from the New Community Press in Washington, D. C. I am, however, enclosing the other publication, Hunger U.S.A. Revisited, published in 1972 as a follow-up study to Hunger U.S.A., and it is the most up-to-date evaluation available.

Unfortunately, we do not have any short leaflets suitable for distribution. I have checked with several agencies here in Atlanta, none of whom have such materials. You might try contacting the Community Nutrition Institute at 2029 K Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20006 for if anyone would know where such information exists, they would.

Your check for $100 was most appreciated. As you suggested, the money will be used in our continuing efforts to educate and sensitize the public to the plight of the poor, efforts which are being accelerated in the Council's new program efforts.

Frederick Morgan wrote you, longer ago than I feel comfortable about, concerning our need for a part-time, consulting editor of fiction and non-fiction for our projected new magazine, Southern Voices. I apologize for taking this long to write you, but I wanted to wait until I had something definite to propose.

Actually, about the only thing I can be definite about is that we would very much like to retain your services. The rest--what the fee should be, how we can handle the logistics of first-reading and shipping manuscripts back and forth, whether you would edit or merely recommend acceptance or rejection--is so hazy in my mind that I wonder if the easiest thing wouldn't be to discuss it on the telephone. If you feel that would be productive, please call me collect at your convenience. I am here most days from 9 to 5; my home number is 404-872-7906. If you had rather set out your ideas on these matters in a letter, that of course would be fine.

Other questions of a deeper nature that bother me include what (given the Council's previous sort of staid image and audience) shall our policy be on cuss-words and explicit sex, and in what ways should we go about soliciting the kind of manuscripts we want.

You should understand that my interest and work has all been in non-fiction, reportage actually. Our staff is good on this; we know pretty well what we are doing. But on fiction and poetry, the only thing I really know is that I don't want the magazine to be a respository for conventional material with a Southern setting, that, instead, I want it to publish stories and poems of the highest quality and creativeness--to be a real force and influence on American writing. I guess what I'm saying is that all I want you to do is make it that. The only intangibles I can offer in return are assurance of full cooperation and concern for the place of fiction and poetry in the magazine, and assurance that the magazine will be free of the real and imagained pressures that inhibit good publishing in most commercial ventures. (This is true because, despite the fact we will carry advertising, we have the organizational base and, for the immediate future anyhow, subsidization, and a staff with considerable ornery independence of mind.

I am enclosing a prospectus of the magazine. The first issue will be in February, and we hope to begin planning the first three or four issues next month. I have a few fiction and poetry manuscripts on hand and promises of a few more. So if you can take this on, the sooner the better--and again I apologize for not having been able to move on this earlier.

It occurs to me that the material we do have will not be up to the high standards we want to hold from the start, and that we may have to solicit manuscripts between now and January, saving space in the issue-planning for them. I would appreciate your advice on how to go about this, and people we might approach. (We do have the "Memories of Camp Hood" segment from Frederick Morgan's book which, I feel sure, does measure up.)

I hope you will want to do this; I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours truly,

Pat Watters

Dear Bill:

It is unconscienable--but this is the first opportunity I have had to write letters since your letter came back in June. Birthing a new magazine (and putting out the old one) is fun, but time-consuming.

Anyhow if it's not too late, George Esser suggests that you write to Peter Wood at the Rockefeller Foundation on the film funding. He also raised the question of the National Endowment--if you haven't checked that out.

George also wondered if it would be possible to have a showing of the films at our annual meeting which is to be Nov. 1-3. If it would be, please let me know what the logistics would be, fees, etc. We would pay your expenses for the trip--and among other things it would be a chance to meet you and for your to get to know more about the Council.

I hope your work this summer is going well. And I hope very much you can develop some articles for us out of it. Write about story ideas any time you can.

Yours truly,

Dear Alice:

I like "All You'll Ever Need--" Like isn't right; haunts me.

We have finally got what seems to me a workable scheme for handling fiction and poetry. None of us here is qualified to do it, and we don't have the money to hire somebody full-time. On the recommendation of Fred Morgan at Hudson Review, I have written a man named J. Mitchell Morse, an expatriate Southerner, about doing it on a part-time (or piece-meal) basis. Do you by any chance know of Morse? All I know, really, is that I trust Fred's judgment and admire his magazine, and I like the way Morse writes about books. (He panned Walker Percy's Love In the Ruins and Mary McCarthy's bird book (whatever its title), among others, in one review.) Anyhow, my hope is that he will read and give us a judgment on the manuscripts we feel are worth his time--with final judgment to be made here. So, with your forebearance, I want to include "All You'll Ever Need--" in the first bunch of manuscripts we send. And I do thank you for letting us have it.

If this reaches you before departure, good luck in China, Godspeed; I look forward to hearing your impressions.

Mr. J. Mitchell Morse
115 Morris Road
Ambler, Pennsylvania 19002

Dear Mr. Morse:

The so-called name writers that we received permission from to use those names are Vann Woodward, Alice Walker, Larry King, Bill Emerson, Walker Percy, Erskine Caldwell, Reynolds Price, Jesse Hill Ford and Willie Morris. There is a host of lesser lights whose names we also used--but most are non-fiction writers. At the risk of offending your sensibilities, I am enclosing the three promotional pieces we are testing on samples of mailing lists so that you can see who else we did talk about and the kind of thing we are promoting. (They offended various sensibilities around here, but we finally decided that since our way over the years was singularly ineffective in attracting the large audience we want, we would try their way.) Nothing is falsified or distorted--just somehow changed.

It turns out that we have run out of prospectuses and that it will take at least a week to have some more printed. If you want to go ahead and write to the people you mentioned and send us a list of them, we will mail them copies as soon as we get them.

I will, as discussed, present the question of fee to our director and our business manager, and report back to you whatever suggestion they come up with. Here is how I recollect the rest of what we talked about:

I will mail manuscripts after screening hase directly to you (keeping a copy in distrust of the mails), and send you separately a list of what I have mailed. You will in effect say which are usuable and which are not, your word final on the latter but our needs and instincts to prevail on the former. (I hope you will give some guidance in this process--especially where you feel the writer is breaking new gound or has done something particularly difficult.)

I am, accordingly, sending separately the following manuscripts:

1. Poems by Julia Fields. (She has not been published; this collection was passed on by Charleen Whisnant of Red Clay Publishers--which is about defunct.)

2. "All You'll Ever Need" by Alice Walker.

3. "The Dream" by Smith Oliver.

4. "Memories of Camp Hood" by Frederick Morgan (Segment 5, not previously published, rears already the head of sex and cussing. I have told him we want to reprint the series, but were withholding judgment on Segment 5.)

5. Six poems by Pearl Cleage Lomax.

6. Seven poems by Jim Wayne Miller.

7. "The Goody Bag," "Old Upshaw" and "Madame Glory" by Beth Crawford Parrish.

I fear some of these emphasize the need for us to get a screener. But I wanted you to see the kind of stuff coming in, and as I say, I don't want to be the one to reject next year's Noble prize winner.

Again, let me say how glad I am you are willing to take this on--and how much I look forward to the association and accomplishment of it.

Yours truly,

Pat Watters

Thank you for letting me read the encosed. It has much to recommend it, but it seems to me to lack timeliness now. If you could bring the reader up to date on events since 1970, include the views of students and administrators in 1973, I would like to see it again.

Also there are a couple of places where your meaning needs to be clarified. On page 6 for instance Stokely Carmichael is described as a powerful integrationist. I think you need to note specifically that this was before he became a black power spokesman. On page 3 and 7 there are quotes without a source.

As I say, if you would like to update it, we would like to see it again.

Dear Mrs. Watts:

We are very pleased with "Do Bell-Shaped Curves Make a Difference?" In fact, so much pleased that we have decided to hold it to use in one of the first issues of the new magazine, Southern Voices. It is precisely the kind of intelligent, not to mention same, constructive material from someone actually involved in something important that we are seeking for the magazine. Our check for $300 will be forthcoming.

I like the other ideas, too. I want to think about running the thing from Teaching the Disadvantaged (assuming we can get permission) by itself--as a curosity for Southerners and example of real tom-foolery. Off-hand, I don't know anybody prepared to search through such literature to see it there is a pattern of this kind of thing; if you know of anyone please let me know.

I would like very much to see your manuscript on "Education for Liberation." Poking fun at educational fads sounds like a natural; you could proceed on that with assurance we will want to publish it. The more examples you can use from your own teaching experience, the better; that is the strongest and most appealing part of the manuscript we have in hand. I'm not so sure about the analysis of the Equal Rights Amendment--but if you want to write it, you can be assured it would be given every consideration here.

Again thank you. I hope writing the article was as exciting for you as getting it was for us.

Thank you for your letter and your kind words about South Today!

The article you mention sounds like the very kind of thing we are interested in for a new publication we will launch in February, 1974--Southern Voices. It would make a good companion piece to one we have in the works by a Northern white who has moved South and knows a number of similar emigrees and tells why he and they decided to do it.

If you can find the time, I would be very much interested in seeing what you come up with between now and December 1. Length should be in the 2,000 to 4,000 range. Our pay would be between $200 and $300 on acceptance.

Dear Bob:

It was good to hear from you after so long a time, and I hope you will feel the same about this response after so long a time to your letter.

Both ideas sound good to me. We have been carrying in South Today a sporadic series on the "New South" governors. I don't know whether Holshouser is considered in that select group--but if you do the piece, I would hope it would be a profile that evaluates him in terms of that elusive categorization. (If you haven't seen the profiles we've done so far, let me know and I'll send you copies.)

The land use thing sounds good also--but maybe the kind of thing we ought to try to do a southwide round-up on. I'd like to hold off on that one for awhile.

Meantime, we are in the process of merging into a new magazine--first issue scheduled in February. I'm enclosing a prospectus. I'd say go ahead with the Holshouser piece for it. I reckon what we'll do is offer the previous profiles in reprint to the much wider (pray God!) audience the magazine will have.

I wish you would consider doing a longer article on the subject--maybe including misadventures with other products of American industry. Dear Mr. Powell:

Penny Jenkins was by here the other day and mentioned what good work you do and said we ought to get in touch with you for writing for our new magazine, Southern Voices, which begin publication in February. And I remembered that I had your manuscript in the never-bottomed pile of correspondence that this transition period has built up for me.

I'm troubled with the manuscript. It may be that I have read so many overwritten and padded storeis of late that I can't appreciate real leaness. But for once, I'm to the point of at least raising the question with you of whether there isn't more to be told. (If nothing else, the part about the Republican Justice Department playing politics for Eastland against a Republican needs to be tied into the Watergate revelations of much such party disloyalty in the South.)

Otherwise, where I feel there is need for more detail is on (1) the terms of the court order and the things done so far in compliance; (2) the brunt of what the prisoners lay on Haber; (3) some more about Haber himslef to make the impact of the effect of his victory even more Kafkaesque than in the manuscript's present form--which is already pretty powerful.

As I say--I'm just raising this with you. Let me keep the manuscript while you look over your carbon and see what you think. One way or the other, I do want to use the story.

And I hope we can work out your doing others for the magazine. We have run out of copies of our prospectus, but as soon as new ones get printed I'll send you one--and after you get an idea of what we're about, I hope we can talk or correspond about other story ideas. Dear Bruce:

I am interested in looking at what you come up with on the motivations of Northerners coming South. Seems to me interviews with as amny folks (with thoughtful quotes) along with your own perspective would do it. Might be interesting to go back a month or so after the first interviews and see how much disillusionment or changed insights might have set in. Any time between now and, say, November 1 would be good--and in the 2,000 to 4,000 word range. (5000 if you need it.) We will probably want to get photographs of the people interviewed--but that can wait until after the piece is written.

I have talked with various of your friends and am grateful for your putting them on to the magazine. Keep 'em coming. And story ideas from yourself as well. Mr. George Walker III
3424 Spring Brook Drive
Nashville, Tennessee 37204

Dear George:

Your letter which arrived this morning reflects a very serious misunderstanding about our fees and resources, and I am anxious to get the misunderstanding cleared up as quickly as possible and hopefully without jeapordizing our relationship.

At the outset, the main point is that we are not able to pay $300 a picture spread, $50 a stock shot, or $250 a day--which seems to be the rates you set out in your letter. I don't recall ever giving you to understand that we could pay such rates; if I did, it wasn't my intention.

After consultation with various photographers, including Al Clayton, we have set up as a fair and fairly competitive rate scale for Southern Voices, the following: $200 top for a picture spread, $50 apiece for assigned single photos that we use, and $20 apiece for stock photos that we use.

On South Today photos, my understanding of our arrangement has been that we pay $20 apiece for shots used.

As I recall our conversation about the $500, it was to the effect that we would pay you that to make amends for not having come to terms on the various things you have shot for us and to accomodate your trip, and that we would come to terms upon your return on these various things and apply the $500 to the total bill.

Taking each of the things you itemize and applying the rate schedule we have set up, here is what I come up with:

Stafford spread for Southern Voices-- $200

Sixteen photographs left in November, 1972 (which again by my recollection we talked about looking at for a possible Southern Voices photo essay)-- $200

April issue South Today shot of Dr. Kamin-- $20

Three shots in May-June South Today issue-- $60

Four shots for South Today story on revenue sharing-- $80

C. P. Ellis photographs have not arrived. Assuming they will make a spread for Southern Voices-- $200

Muslim spread for Southern Voices-- $200

I also have in hand some photos of Opryland which will have to be assessed in terms of the story (if it ever gets here) on whether to use as a spread or one or two shots.

We have sent $20 for use of the Kamin photo in the July South Today and $20 for a shot of Tennessee State demonstration in the September South Today, bothhto have been deposited in your bank account.

Anyhow, my adding on all the above comes to $960. Minus the $500, that leaves us owing you $460 plus whatever the Opryland material amounts to.

I hope this is satisfactory to you. I value your work and have been counting on it as a strong asset for Southern Voices. One of the things we have discussed in planning the magazine is to offer you and Al Clayton a contract guaranteeing a minimum amount of purchases a year (which can of course be exceeded) with the understanding we would have a first-call on your time for assignments and some assurance of being offered good stuff that you run into.

Anyhow, please let me know if the above is satisfactory with you so that I can get a check requisition in by the Sept. 5 deadline in order to mail the check by Sept. 10.

Dear Mr. Powell:

Out of suspicion that what you saw at Patt's was one of our mailing pieces for Southern Voices, I am sending along this copy of the genuine prospectus (which doesn't reflect a lot of money going into it).

If you have the same reaction to it (or if it was what actually did prompt your remarks in the letter), then I reckon that is just a matter of basic disagreement between you and us about what makes a good magazine.

Your judgment of the writing in South Today covers a lot of writers and reporters--some of whom in my judgment are among the best in the country.

Finally, I hope you are not among those who feel a publication has to look ugly to have real sure-enough integrity and/or to appeal to the common folk. If there is one thing we won't look like, it is Atlanta Magazine; the speciality of the guy who is designing Voices is to make inexpensive printing look better than such extravaganzas. In this and what we will try to do with creative writing and reportage, the aim is to move a little beyond, and influence, national standards.

I'm returning the prisons manuscript. If you do get around to doing the profile on Haber, and if the prospectus does change your mind, I'd like very much to see the profile.

Yours truly,

Pat Watters

Dear Fred:

I think the water piece is a damn good, compelling story, beautifully, as usual, done. I've passed it on to Bob Anderson to look at as a possible publication for the health task force he is in charge of. But my main thought is that it ought to go in the magazine. I'll be back in touch as soon as I know something. Meantime, can you send the photos?

And I am looking forward to them delenieated Southernets and Northerns.

I don't know why you speak so evil of circulation consultants; ours got to jiggling around with the figures and came up Saturday with a projection of 40,000 circulation for the first issue--which is about double what we were hoping for and they will be straight subscriptions--all the encumbrance of the membership hustle out the window. I really was pleased--and relieved.

It was good for my soul getting back together again. Hope the Atlanta piece is going well. Glenda (exorcised) sends her best.

George Esser passed on to me your inquiry about The Optimist's Daughter. I haven't read it but from reviews I've seen and comments of people who have read it, I would guess that it is not as good (or better, not the same kind of material) as her earlier works. My own favorite among these is The Ponder Heart. Collections of her short stories would also be good as an introduction to her writing.

I'm enclosing an article I did recently about how much her fellow Mississippians think of her.

Ms. Violet Sweetland

Dear Ms. Sweetland:

I was delighted to receive your letter of August 21, with its welcome news about the revitalization of the Tampa Council on Human Relations.

I had hoped to be in touch with you more often than I was during the last year, with information about programs of interest to state and local human relations councils (other than the Emergency School Aid Act, about which I wrote you last winter). Providing such information is one of the ways in which SRC hopes to be of help to human relations groups and other community organizations.

I held your recent letter several weeks without replying because the Rev. Harry Bowie, who is Associate Director of the Southern Regional Council with special responsibility for community organizations, is more authoritative than I in matters pertaining to the relationship between SRC and human relations councils. I feel sure he will be writing you within a week or so, specifically in response to your questions about ways in which we can work together, and help or suggestions of helpful persons.

In the meantime, in response to your need for names and addresses of other Florida Councils, I am enclosing a list of localities in which there probably are local councils. The list originated in our earlier telephone conversation. Since that time I have spoken with Ted Nichols and Augie Vandenbosche in an attempt to learn more about the extent of their (the councils') activity, their membership, etc. Observations of these two gentlemen are reflected on the list. I have not yet personally tried to contact any of these councils (beyond sending them the information I sent you about ESAA, to which there was no response). I will try to call each of them within the next two weeks and write you what I learn about them; I would, of course, appreciate your sharing with me anything you might learn about the present viability of these councils, or any better names than those contact persons I have listed.

Again, it was very good to hear from you, and to learn that organized human relations activity is alive and well in Tampa, through your good efforts.

Sincerely,

Marge Manderson

I've had a free-lance editor at work on your TVA material and the enclosed is the result. I think he has done a workmanlike job, although quite frankly I have not yet gone over in detail the source material to make certain that he has drawn correct conclusions from the data.

I have raised a few questions in the margin, not many because I did not want to make the reading difficult. I have not had it re-typed, pending your comments. Let me know what you think and if you feel it adequately expresses your views. 2. Article 2, Section 7. Raise the quorum from 20 to 25.

3. Article 3, Section 2. Limit the number of life fellows to 20, give them a vote and indicate that they will not be part of a quorum call.

4. We need a new by-law authorizing the Council to establish a category of Associate Members.

Dear Ms. Mason:

Thank you again for taking on the task of writing an article for South Today on the organization to save black colleges.

As discussed, length can vary greatly--our normal range being from 1,500 words to 3,500 words. It can, though, be longer or shorter--depending on your needs.

Very generally, the story should include the scope of the organization, number of participant colleges, geographical range, something about the leaders, maybe quotes from some of them, how it was started, what its goals and program are... And whatever else you feel is important to include.

I'm glad Leon added word about writing is so as to let it flow. I always encourage writers to use the kind of expression that best tells whay they want to say, rather than trying to make it sound like An Article For A Magazine.

I'll look forward to seeing it by Oct. 1--or between then and the tenth.

Not enough people were as excited as you were about the Council's approach offering charter membership and a subscription to Southern Voices. We tested several approaches including a straight subscription to the new magazine. This approach was clearly the most popular; we are therefore withdrawing the membership approach at this time.

At a later date, (sooner than later), we hope to offer associate membership in the Council which may or may not include such services as book discounts. Your book certainly represents the kind of books we had in mind, and we're sorry that we're unable to help you market it. We can only offer the thought that Southern Voices will have a book review section, a service not generally offered by the Council's present publications.

You should be getting shortly a copy of our prospectus, but in the meantime, I'm wondering if you knew we plan to use fiction, and whether or not it is too soon to pull something out of your novel for the magazine.

Otherwise, we're open to just about any kind of non-fiction. You mentioned on the phone doing the Brunswick News as the world's worst newspaper. I can see that either way--lightly or as a serious assessment of what's wrong with Southern and/or American journalism generally (how far is there between the Brunswick News and the Atlanta Constitution or the New York Times for that matter?) I also remember your story about the pilot telling the lady to set her watch back a hundred years and wonder if the News and that kind of thing might be put together into a wry kind of appreciation of your present environment, with, I assume, trees still looming up suddenly in the headlights growing in the middle of the damn street.

We haven't got deadlines set up yet--but if I could get a commitment from you on anything between now and Oct. 15, we could work out the copy deadline pretty flexibly for some time after that. Our top pay at this point is $300--but it's quick pay, and ain't nobody going to mess over your copy.

Did you say you had pictures of Percy? If not, we will have to get some.

On the Lillian Hellman interview, I talked to Les Dunbar and he said the only involvement was personal friendship, and that he thought you would do better to approach her on a professional basis, giving your credentials which he said should include Baton Rouge and the Percy interview, but not to mention Dr. Spock. Dear Mr. Ford:

We wrote you earlier in the year about our new magazine, Southern Voices, and were grateful for your encouraging reply.

We are now in the planning stages for the first several issues, and would like very much to count on having something from you ine one of them. We won't be into hard deadlines before December, but it would be very helpful if you could let us know by November 1 whether or not we might expect something--from work in progress, something on your mind or even a recommendation for a reprint of something recently published.

Your suggestion about getting first-hand accounts from non-writers about some important thing they have just beemtthrough is on-target of one of the main purposes of the magazine--to give people who have something to say a place where they can say it, unfettered and un-Madison Avenued. (Or even Peachtreed.)

Anyhow it occurs to me you wnt through a hell of an ordeal yourself last year--and as far as I know haven't written about it. You don't qualify as a non-writer, God knows, but if you should by now feel like confronting the experience, I think our audience would be a damned good one to address.

Dear Mr. Caldwell:

We wrote you earlier in the year about plans for our new magazine, Southern Voices, and were grateful for your encouraging reply. You said you might be able to contribute something later on--and because we would like very much to have something by you in one of the first issues, I am writing this to let you know that our first issue is scheduled for January-February (it will be bimonthly, 80 pages of editorial an issue, instead of at 40 pages as we had originally planned). Anyhow, this means a deadline for the first one in December--should you be able to find time to do something for us between now and then, or find something already done or from work in progress.

You may have already done this and I missed it--but it seems to me a natural for a Southern audience which would recall your own difficulties down here with censors (who talked about obscenity but were really talking about your destruction of certain cherished myths and romances), for you to appraise the current freedom of expression in American writing and whatever threats to it are represented in the Supreme Court and other sources. Maybe a taped interview with you on the subject would be handier. Anyhow I'd be grateful for your response to the idea.

I think "Nigger In the Well" is one of the most profound, succinct statements on the old order of Southern race relations ever made. Maybe we could talk some time about reprinting it.

Though December is when we get down to it, it would be most helpful if you could give me a definite yes or no (or saying later) to the above by November 1.

Beyond that, your suggestion of an article on how the decision-making process might be improved appeals to me very much. I'm not quite clear on when your book is coming out--but I hope we might think about such an article for one of our first issues. I know of no subject more important and am encouraged to see indications of real interest in it over the South.

People are always spelling my name with one t and, here lately, sending me letters addressed "Ms." so I am properly apologetic about our misspelling your name in the last communication we sent you.

We are down to planning the first several issues of our new magazine, Southern Voices, and would like very much to have something from you in one of them.

I don't have anything specific to suggest--not knowing you except through mutual friends (including Carlie Pou and Bill Emerson, to mention a disreputable two) and not knowing what kind of stuff you have been doing lately. I do know that I thought the things I read of yours in Newsweek when they would give you a byline were some of the best reporting and writing on the South I have seen. I would like to get that flavor and style into our magazine.

If you have any story ideas or stuff already on hand, I'd be grateful to hear from you by Nov. 1. Our top fee, at this point, is a princely $300--but we will be a steady market and won't mess over good writing.

Thanks for your consideration.

Dear Paula:

I feel bad being this long in responding to your thoughtful response to our earlier letter about the new magazine, Southern Voices. The truth is that we a all have been so caught up in the medhanical details of putting the thing together that I have neglected the first duty of quest for the very best of material to go in it. Hopefully, I can devote just about full-time to that from now on, and hopefully I have not waited too late to be assured of your piece on Lillian Smith in time for one of the first issues.

We will not be on a hard deadline until December 1, but for planning purposes I would be grateful if you could let me know by November 1 whether we might expect it by December or whether it would be January or February.

Length on the piece is no problem; make it as long or short as you need. Our pay is $300.

At whatever time, I look forward to what you will say, and think your qualms about how you will say it are, to understate it, unfounded. I look forward in it to the same feeling of being high up above the mundane and mean, and high beyond my own capacities into a world of ideas and feeling and meaning in life, that Ellen and I enjoyed that winter afternoon you mentioned in your response.

I am trying to get John Howard Griffin's address; I share your admiration of him, and am concerned that I haven't seen anything by him anywhere lately. If you know how to reach him, please let me know. And I would be grateful for the suggestions of other writers you mentioned.

Ms. Patti Black

Dear Patti:

I have read so many condescending and sometimes incomprehensible pieces about old blues singers that I was, in the way of prejudice and conditioned reflex, turned off about Big Joe Williams. Then I realized that this was as much disservice to his art and his life as the kind of articles that have prejudiced me, and realized, too, that you would do it the way it ought to be done, and let him speak--for himself and maybe in the process for all the tradition, for Blind Lemon and Leadbelly and whatever all their other names are.

So by all means go ahead with it.

Do you plan to tape it? I find that harder work in the long-run than making notes. You end up having to translate anyhow; speech ain't the same thing as writing. But in this case maybe it would be good--to put in the archives after you're done with it.

Photos. I have encountered now the reality of a graphics expert consultant who is very persnickety about the quality of pictures we will use. (He is worried about the way the folk architecture ones are printed; I need to write to Bill Ferris about getting the negatives.) Anyhow, we are seeking a middle-ground between my interest in the content of photos and his in the technical quality of them.

So, forewarned, I will leave it to your good judgment who (you?) and how they are taken.

Among the many excitements of this project, incidentally, is the bringing together of all these different talents and specializations (and temperaments!) to focus on the same goal. It's like a symphony.

Dear Ms. Armstrong:

I hope you will forgive me for keeping your manuscript so long. It has been a difficult one to decide about. I have circulated it among various members of our staff and we generally, with reluctance and regret, agree that while it is a warm and sympathetic and sensitive treatment of the subject, the subject itself is one that is just about impossible to treat without engendering musunderstandings and resentment. I think what it boils down to is that the situation--economic, educational, familial deprivation of Negroes--out of which the good of a relationship like the one you describe (and we have all known such relationships in the South) is so distasteful to black people (and many whites)that to tell of the good in the relationship only re-enforces resentment of the situation out of which it rose. Maybe years from now, when we have gone further in correcting the situation, such an article can be appreciated for its real historical and human meanings.

The ease and familiarity with which you move in the article over a long and important period of time makes me wish that you would undertake another article--the tracing of the fortunes of one family (perhaps this same one) over the same period of time in Baton Rouge. If you should want to undertake it, I would be very interested in seeing the results.

Enclosed is a prospectus of our new magazine--which is considerably broader in scope than our previous publications. Thank you for letting us consider your manuscript, and I hope we hear from you again.

Dear John:

Forgive me for being so laggard about the Wilnoty piece. Part of the reason is the schizophrenia of phasing out one magazine and birthing a new one; part is my problems with the piece. I think I understand what you are doing in it--but damn, it seems mighty heavy on what produced Wilnoty and short on Wilnoty, the next to the last section notwithstanding.

I wonder if, within the framework you've got, you could go back to him, get him to tell more about what it is he is doing. Or maybe go back a step and get some anthropologist to say what it is he is doing (and it looks to me like he's into every kind of Indian art, North, South and Central America) and then see what he says about that.

Anyhow, I'd like to hold on the piece, and see what you think about tinkering with it. And I'd sure like to get some better pictures of his work.

Meantime, have you been able to track down Hawk Littlejohn?

Yours truly,

Pat Watters

Dear Ms. Marks:

Thank you for your letter and the two proposals by Jason Berry. I would like to have your indulgence of a little more procrastination on my part, pending two things--(1) reading his book which I have scheduled for a round-trip flight to Washington (and a dull meeting while there) this week, and (2) a look at the proposal on Garrison, if you would send it on.

On one or all of these, I'm sure we can get together, and I am glad you all have heard about the magazine, and certainly think Jason Berry ought to be in it. The first issue won't be until January. I am enclosing a prospectus.

Yours truly,

Dear Dr. Williams:

Would it be possible for you to send us a copy of your speech on "Huey, Lyndon and Southern Radicalism" between now and November 1? We are planning, now, the first several issues of the new magazine, Southern Voices, and I would like very much to consider the speech for one of those first issues. (If it would be more convenient, please tell me who to write to at the Journal of American History to obtain a copy and permission.)

Thank you for your response to our first letter, and for your encouragement. I would of course be very much interested in any other material from you, or suggestions of other writers and ideas.

Yours truly,

Dear Vann:

We are putting together the first several issues of our new magazine, Southern Voices. I would like very much to have something by you in one of them--work in progress, perhaps, or even, at your recommendation, a reprint of something recently published.

Or could I prevail on you to do a short piece reflecting on the larger and smaller historical ironies of the prominent role of Southerners in the Watergate Committee proceedings? (What has Nixon's crowd done on the level that wasn't done more thoroughly at the state level by Herman Talmadge when he was governor of our great state, and his pappy before him?)

We won't be into hard deadlines until December. But for planning purposes I would appreciate a definite yes or no by November 1.

Yours truly,

Dear Mr. Percy:

We are in the process now of planning the first several issues of our new magazine, Southern Voices about which we wrote you some time ago. I would like very much to have something by you in one of these first issues.

I mentioned in my first letter, I think, the possibility of a profile of Will Campbell. I have thought that the core of Bill's philosophy and theology is contained in his life-loving eulogies, and at one point thought I had him pinned down to write about how he writes them--but he slipped out of it. Anyhow, if you are at all interested in doing something on Will, from whatever vantage, we would welcome it.

Beyond that, of course, work in progress or even your recommendation of some recently published article would be welcome.

Another thought I had--an appraisal of current fiction (or this year's output) in the terms of the classification system you employ. Where does Breakfast of Champions fit in?

I have read parts of the transcript of Barbara King's interview with you which she is readying for us. It is interesting material, more spontaneous than most such interviews.

We won't be into hard deadlines until December, but I would be grateful if you could give me a definite yes or no on the above by November 1.

Yours truly,

Mr. Bill Emerson

Dear Bill:

We're done with all the promoting and bragging and lying about the new magazine, Southern Voices, and are down to the hard reality of planning the first several issues. I would sure as hell love to have something by you in one of them.

I don't know what the handle would be, nor much care, but if you could write something in the vein of your every-day casual conversations, with wild and surrealistic humor in all kinds of improbable and unexplainable explosions--the world would be better off for it, not to mention our magazine.

We won't be into hard deadlines until December, but if you could let me know something definite by Nov. 1, on the above or whatever else you might want to do, I would be very grateful. Our top pay is $300, but I know you will be more interested in the public service you are performing than raking in such a lavish fee.

Do let me hear from you.

Dear Larry:

We have flung your name around a good bit in promoting the new magazine, Southern Voices, and now that the reality of planning actual issues is upon us, it occurs to me that you might have something you could send us for one of the first issues.

Or beyond that, I wonder if you'd be interested in doing a short piece reflecting on why it is that books about race and the South do not sell. (I would do it myself but the subject is too damn painful to me. But you, sir, I am sure, are made of sterner stuff.)

We won't be into hard deadlines until December, but I would be grateful for a definite yes or no by Nov. 1. Our top pay is $300, but I am sure you are more interested in the public service you would be performing than in raking in such a lavish fee.

If you get down this way again, we'd be pleased to have you come by for refreshments.

Mr. Fraizer W. Stallings
609 Cannon Blvd.
Shelbyville, Tennessee 37160

Dear Mr. Stallings:

What does one say when they have been extremely insensitive and inconsiderate? I remember very well receiving your first letter and the book with great pleasure. We had mailed about 150,000 pieces of mail to test what kind of support we could find in the region and at the time your letter came, we had received more negative than positive response. So kind words were greatly appreciated.

After examining the results of our test mailings, we have determined that there is no overwhelming demand for people to become Associate Members of the Southern Regional Council. We are, though, going to publish Southern Voices, and the first issue will be mailed in April. It has taken us an incredibly long time to reach that decision and we plan to notify all subscribers of this decision later this month. The price of the magazine will be $7.00 per year with a charter subscription of $5.00. Although the decision is not yet final, we will probably include in the options that we provide to people such as yourself who sent us $10.00 an option to receive Southern Voices for two years.

Under separate cover we are sending you the current issues of our two present publications, both of which will cease to publish this fall. And because of your obvious interest in our work and in the organization (which we greatly appreciate), we are enclosing a description of the Council's work entitled Program for the '70's.

Dear Ms. Hallgren:

As you have learned indirectly, we plan to introduce a new bi-monthly publication, Southern Voices, in 1974. Our plans are not absolutely complete. We have determined, however, to do a promotional mailing in January which will offer a charter subscription at $5.00 per year. The regular rate will be $7.00.

Multi-year rates have not yet been determined. We will be unable to discount the charter subscription rate, but we are open to proposals from agencies such as yours. As to what our future policy should be, we intend to use a fulfillment house so that we can offer you services that we were unable to offer in the past. We can bill you or bill your client, or whatever, to best meet your needs.

We will cease publication of South Today with the December issue and New South with the fall issue. Paid subscribers to these two publications will be given the opportunity to have their subscriptions transferred to Southern Voices at an equitable exchange rate. The first issue of Southern Voices is now scheduled to go in the mail the last week of March. Our current subscribers will receive that information with the request that they subscribe to Southern Voices.

We appreciate your past patronage and look forward to doing business with you in the future.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Roy Green, Circulation Manager
Atlantic Magazine
8 Arlington Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02116

Dear Mr. Green:

Pat Watters has talked to me about your conversation of Friday morning and has asked me to give you some of the details related to his request. As Pat told you, we will mail the first issue of a new publication, Southern Voices, in April. A prospectus is enclosed.

The Council has been publishing two regular publications, South Today and New South, with a combined circulation of about 13,000, primarily controlled. We are a non-profit corporation dedicated to making the South a better place to live with justice for all people. Southern Voices will be our first effort to directly reach a much broader audience with a publication which we hope will be nearly self-supporting.

We plan to do a promotional mailing the week of January 14. and have been able to obtain from the Ford Foundation a program-related loan to provide the cash for this promotion and for production of the magazine. We hope to mail a million pieces and would very much like to reach Atlantic's Southern audienne of 75,000. The Council can pay for the names or work a swap. Since we're hoping for an initial circulation of about 40,000, the swap would have to be on a two for one basis.

We are also enclosing the promotional piece which performed best in our test mailings. It is the piece, with slight modification, which will be used in the January mailing. We understand that Atlantic does not normally rent its actives, but we sincerely hope that you will make an exception for Southern Voices.

Sincerely,

James N. Wood, Jr.

Dear Mr. Price:

We were sorry you could not be present at the recent Annual Meeting of the Council, which we believe was a good one and which included an extensive discussion of the issues facing the region.

At your request, the Nominating Committee did not re-nominate you for an additional term on the Council itself, but it expressed the desire that the staff and Council can continue to call on you for advice and assistance. Our work is becoming increasingly dependent upon the efforts of individuals throughout the region, and we know that your interest in the Council and its objectives will continue and that your work will further our common goals of justice and equality for all the South's people.

Since you mentioned your wish to see the Council incorporate some "new, young blood," you will be pleased to know that two of our new members are college or graduate students, several are in their 30's, and all have particular strengths to offer the Council. I am enclosing a list of our new members with short biographical sketches of of each for your information.

With appreciation for your service on the Council and with all best wishes for the future,

Your letter of November 5 to the staff was posted in a conspicuous spot so that everyone in the office could enjoy your enthusiasm. We did, as you say, spend a great deal of time in planning and preparing for the Annual Meeting, but the work is more than worth it when it elicits responses such as yours.

As it stands now, Will Campbell's "sermon" will be published in our first issue of Southern Voices which, as you know, will come out the first of April.

Mr. Leonard Eames Ryan

New York, New York 10011

Dear Mr. Ryan:

I apologize for the confusion surrounding our recent communication with you regarding SRC's publications. Since we will publish only one more issue of New Southfand you sent a $3.00 check to cover a year's subscription, your excess payment to New South will entitle you to two issues of Southern Voices. Your $5.00 check entitles you to a year's subscription to Southern Voices; thus, for your combined payments of $8.00, you' will receive the last issue of New South and eight issues of Southern Voices.

I hope that this clears up the confusion and that you will find Southern Voices informative and enjoyable.

NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS

AMERICAN:-
LOYAL-PATRIOTS;

April, 6, 1944,

—I—

Upon much publicities and propaganda account credit accorded to the American Party's Organization Group; that the sagacious and wisdom leaders (SPONSORS) of the American Party, wish - that the friends and sympitizers belonging to every conceivable group, to have a patience and understanding, that as we have asked and wish suggestions and criticizm therefrom all groups point of view. But this has made it very difficult for us to distinguish between honest - honorable suggestions and dishonorable - Philippic-Oration-Propaganda and Intrigues, from existing national and international sycophant political gangsters (FACTIONS) - That whom they are preaching to us Loyal-Americans; - THE GOSPEL OF AMERICANIZM. ------

Heretofore, that the American Party's Ideology; has been founded and constituted upon the basis of the U.S.Constitution, and of its propriety Bill of Rights, in a American, way of life and principles to American-Loyal-Patriotic People; upon the future urgent demands and necessities, the at the security and dignity of the American People's independence and freedom is at a stake - vanishing; thereof the sagacious and wisdom leaders of the American Party, calling and asking the American People, to rally and support the AMERICAN PARTY, thus reciprocating one of the most paramount organ, to all other national political parties and factions thereof; despite of these national - international sycophant political gangsters ideology oppositions: The American Party, is exalted for a brothehood love, peace, liberty, justice, prosperity, happiness and prestige, upon the American, mankind of moral and economical societies. And those national-international political sycophants and masters, of the past and present, who have had been advocating the liberation of mankind, from man-made-HELL; that the day shall come; when they would be alone forced to drink of its most bitter cup: ----------

The American Party's Ideology; is for a practical humane control upon mankind of moral and economical societies& by optional co-operation and construction: But not for a destruction and the lesson of hate. As the old saying is; that two wrongs; do not make a right; but one wrong forces a second wrong on: Does now we the people of the U.S.A., gives us an opportunity and will to end the power of both wrongs; by a direct to write in,,of a political action; thus to bolt and vote + for AMERICAN PARTY, straight ticket; to subdue and annulling these national - international secret political hypocrisy of its autocrats and bureaucrats (BUROCRATS) of either national political parties and radical factions. Thus enforcing the Constitution Bill of Rights, upon these national - international political sycophants and masters; - restoring the decency, honesty, peace, liberty and justice e.t. To a American People. ----------

There also it is very disheartening and sad to so call ourselves a free people and wishing to keep what freedom we have - and those who wish to gain their freedom on both sides of the boundery-line; to see the general trend or habit of small minorities setting up a government, outside on foreign soil to govern the majority at home. - We the American, people should have understand this national - international sycophant political mockery of freedom: As it was the very thing - that our forefathers fought Britain, of 1776. Also same international political sycophant-gangsters technique, that caused the civil war between the Southern and Northern States, of 1861, Same technique also what caused the world war I, of 1914 - 17, and the same technique now what caused this terrible slaughter between -- We the people of to day; in the Worls Realms: ----------

Inspite of, all their talks of a brotherhood love, peace, justice, post-war and tolerance; but the last thing they practice.--- If at all; These are the principle assets that we American People, can marvel today, that we still have with Roosevelt's Demecratic-New-Dealers, Republican-Wig-Wammers and Radical-Wind-Jammers, the international sycophant political gangsters trying to put over the same international secret plans, that we the people of the U.S.A., were deceived with and under Woodrow Wilson's administration of 1918 - 19,. If the people of the U.S., had an all powerful common understanding and unity; to watch, protect and adjust their needs to fit peacefully in the whole, then the national - international sycophant political traitors, gangsters (opportunity-men) could never create a war; thus the best is for the American People, of ---(OVER)

Industrial, commercial, profesional, ecclesiastical and eleemosynary, moral and economical societies and organizations, must rally and unite with the leadership and ideology of the American Party & Flag; to safe and preserve the great Democracy Life of the American Republic. Instead of been fooled and deceived of our moral and economical life and liberty, by these national - international political mockery aspirants (candidates) who seeking nominations in the state primaries and national conventions, under the banner; either of Democratic-New-Dealers, Republican-Wig-Wammes and Radical-Wind-Jammes, for next general national coming election, with their great Utopian, promises of Philippic-Oration-Propaganda's campaign, many of them; have served of the past and many of them are serving at present the people's moral and economical interests; thus they have showen nothing or accomplished for the moral and economical societies, but only with their antagonistic multiple persecutions and taxations, does burdening the life and economical interests of the Ametican People, it is better now to have nothing to do with sycophants, traitors (OPPORTUNITY-MEN), except to punish their own. ----------

Thereto the people of the U.S., must begin at once to develop, organizing and rallying in the American Party, (PEOPLE'S PARTY) does to pick up and nominating their own candidates for next general national election for a U.S.President, Vice-President, State-Governor, State-Representatives and national Congressmen, under the banner of the American Party, and all - local and state group organization activities reported to national headquarters, thus arranging the national convention, electing perminant national party officers; nominating President - Vice-President, for coming general national election. Such a candidate should be ecceptable to all moral and economical societies and factions in the U.S.A. And by his sagacious virtues background travails (PARTURITION) of past utters can be trusted by the people; nationally and internationally. ----------

The American Party,- Leaders (SPONSORS), hereafter challenging and asking in the name of supreme judge of the world; that each and every political party aspirant nominated in the primary state elections and seeking nominations in national conventions of Democratic-New-Deals, Republican-Wig-Wammes and Radical-Wind-Jammes, for a public peremptory upon national - international relations (CHAOT) upon moral and economical post-war policies, plans and solutions - specificly stating their political diplomatic talent to American People Hereof. And to fighting boys in the armed forces thereof: Whom they are enthused and told that after returning home - privileging of enjoying security, blessing and posterity of their vested Constitution - Bill of Rights, of freedom, moral and economical ventures, peace, justice, happiness and prestige; instead of only finding themselves falling victims to a national - international sycophant political mockery gangsters - totalitarian tyranny; Thus now this national coming election - is too important and serious for us American People of the moral and economical societies and organization, and we American People, must not be deceived and miss our STREAMLINE-JOURNEY and PIE-A-LA-MODE; as the American Independence and Freedom, is at a stake; likewise the Romans and Greeks, lost their Republics: ----------

Therefore, the leaders of the American Party, inviting the American people of moral and economical society groups, to investigate our most preferred out standing fellowmen James M.Mallaquone, Col. Chas.A.Lindbergh or Douglas MacArthur, for a President - Vice-President, as it were stated in the former circulation of Jan. 4, 1944, what are they offering; are they sincerely trustworthy; what have they ever do for themselves: -- And by a simple and kind - reasoning; there's no one can expect anything original, practical and workable from a person born with a silver-spoon in mouth; - of a rich man's son; or a mother's darling; This is the way; that the American-Loyal-Patriots, of the Democratic-New-Dealers, Republican-Wig-Wammers and Radical-Wind-Jammers Groups; can rally and unite the support of the AMERICAN PARTY, victoriously winning the war; peace, liberty, justice, post-war, prosperity and prestige: Likewise the Wigs and Democrats, did of 1860, --- with a People's Party, (THIRD): ---------

LOYAL-PATRIOTIC-AMERICANS:- It is your duty. Finance your own campaign: Help your country! By adding your encouragement and support; by a direct moral and financial contributions to - the AMERICAN PARTY, by a united effort can safe this great democracy Republic: Thus a Taxation without Representation, and Legislation without Representation; --- Is a Totalitarian Tyranny: You can then call the tune Americanizm: By a pledging your allegiancy to the Constitution & Flag; of the U.S.Republic: Please, register your Likes -- Dislikes; alter nationally or internationally: --

IMPORTANT; AMERICAN PATRIOT,

May, 26, 1944,

Mr. Chairman:-

ATTENTION TO MEMBERS:

THAT; the Declaration of Sons and Daughters, of the American Party, it is proclaimed. The seeds and the roots of patriots and heroes, were then and there sown and sprout out now for a liberty; to our dying day we shall oppose with all the power and faculty God; has given us, such a national and international political and sycophant instrumentals of mockery gangsterizm tyranny. - Slavery on one hand and villany on the other, until the independence and the freedom of the United States, it is proclaimed save, secured and sound to a mankind of moral and economical society and organization institutes. ----------

Therefore, principles like the ultimate particles of matter and laws of God; are eternal, industructible and unchangeable. They have exibited in the moral realm of our world since the advent of man, and devious as may be their manifestation, according to circumstances, they remain the same inherently and always exibit the same tendencies. ----------

When God; gave to man an intelligent soul and invested him with the prerogatives of moral free agency, then was born that instictive love of liberty, which through all past stages, has manifested itself, in individual and in society and in every stage of life, the consciences of men and women have boldly and indignantly asked in the presence of oppression, thus nations; like men now have spoken. ----------

That the principles of civil and religious liberty, and the inalienable rights of man and woman, which they involve, were recognized and asserted long before Columbus, left Palos; for the New World; their maintenance had shaken thrones and overturned dynasties before Charles the First; was brought to the block, and they had lighted the torch of revolution long before the trumpet-tunes of James Otis and Patrick Henby, aroused the French-Americans, Anglo-Americans, Latino-Americans, Teutono-nordic-Americans and Slavono-Americans e.t. To resist the British, debauchery and aggrassion. ----------

NOW; - Friends, - Brothers and Sisters, we are members of many nations and tribes here in the land best we love and live; - and our Fathers and Mothers, have come here; and many of them a great distance from their homes, to the land best they loved, as well as we love and repose on it now; they have met for one common purpose - to promote one common interest - and that is; to provide for their mutual safety and liberty, and must as well as ourselves today, and how it shall best be accomplished, to oppose these national and international political sycophant mockery gangsters foe tyranny. From east to west and from south to norht, - by nations and tribes, singly and alone, would prove our certain destruction. We can make no progress in that way, we must unite ourselves into one great common band of Americans, with the banner into the American Party, - thus united; we may drive and subdue these national and international political and sycophant mockery gangsters invasion and tyranny; this must be done, and then we shall save and preserve the independence, constitution - Bill of Rights and the Freedom, of the United States Republic: - Or else it is lost in consecutive of a short period from now, by following/electing either the Democratic or Republican New-Dealers and Wig-Wammers. ----------

NOW: --- YOU - Anglo-Americans, of the Great Tree, - on land and seas warlike and mighty: -- YOU - Franco-Latino-Americans, of the Everlasting Stone, - giving wisecounsel in history and culture, can not be removed: YOU - Teuton-nordic-Americans, of the Dark Forest, - of your superior cunning and hunting: -- YOU - Slavono-Americans, of the Great Mountains, - greatly gifted in speech, melody and mighty in war: -- YOU - Helleno-Yidish-Americans, of the Open Country, - know how to make best cooking out of corn and beans. ----------

NOW - WE; -- from five great and powerful nations and tribes, must unite and rally in the American Party, and have but one common interest; and no national and international political and sycophant mockery gangster foes, shall be able to disturb or subdue us. If we united, the Great Spirit; will smile upon us. The Patriotic American Brothers And Sisters,

(OVER)

These are the words of James M. Mallaquone, let them sink deep into your hearts. I have said it; American Brothers and Sisters, for the past 25, years. - DOES RALLY NOW; from mountains and planes in the American Party, than we shall be save and sound - free nation from debauchery political tyranny. and then we will play the American Tune. ----------

Moreover; - that since the preludence of the United States, independence, there has been no national chief executive of Franco-American, descendency, nor from any other nationalistic descendency, whom they struggled, bloodsheded and played the most important factor for the liberation of this great nation. But only consecutives of Anglo-American, descendency, in the exception of three Teutonic-American, descendency, and the name of one has been in a doubt to his descendency. Does the world now; and henceforth struggling and speaking aloud to the masses of the American People, for a Franco-American President, - or else some one; - becides of the Anglo-American Descendency. - Or otherwise, as apparently the independence and the freedom of the United States Republic, - it is doomed and lost in the near future: - Due through this tragic chaotic world war upon the moral and economical - political and diplomatic life of process and relations of the Democratic New-Deal Atlantic Charter, and the Republican Wig-Wams Mackinac Charter. Thus within the alligations of the British, shrewd and schemematic international political and diplomatic relations upon the moral and economical post-war - plans thereof. ------

Thus Consequently; - NOW, - it is up to you Ladies and Gentlemen, -- the masses of the American People, to arouse and come out, to act and speak aloud, does to save and preserve your moral, - economical and social society and organization institutions. By/a participating and instructing your state convention deligates at the Republican and Democratic National Conventions, "Who shall you or they" nominate and elect for a President, the New-York Hewey; the Ohio Brick; the Verginia Bird; the California Citrus-Warren; - "or who not else". Or you and your state deligates? Are alternativelly sagacious and wise by a proclamation to make a party fusion, does nominating and electing the Franco-American James M.Mallaquone, Nordic-American Col. C.A.Lindbergh or the Scotch-American Gen. Douglas MacArthur, on either one party line, thus to save and preserve your American, peace-loving interests, - of independence, freedom, constitution, Bill of Rights, moral and economical ventures, post-war plans, happiness and national prestige. ----------

P. IN ReSALE TO —

Commission on Interracial Cooperation,

SECRETARY:-

This organization has recently been receiving many inquiries, from various Industrial, Economical, Professional, Educational, Religious, Farmers, Laborers and Social, Societies and organizations to its pledged principles and platform.

The American Party, is a non-profitarial and non-sectarial. Principally it is inspired and founded functionary upon the American; Political and Economical — Moral, honesty and decency, thus to safeguard the American, forefathers traditions and principles, which are constituted of 1776 and sanctioned of 1787.

Primarily, in 1910, this organization was sponsored and organized by eminent — leading American. political and economical Science - Inventors, to safeguard the development of the American Industry and Patentees, from political and economical corruptions, and were titled as The Science-Inventors Institute of America, thus the American People, can in common enjoy the industrial and economical prosperity and peace.

Since, the World War, I, the rapid political and economical - moral evolutionary periods, have invited and encouraged the corruption amongst the political major Parties. Thus necessitated the Society, in 1922, to call a convention at New York City. And at that convention the delegates introduced a motion to resolve the former title of the Society, and adopted it to American Party, since then the Society has been known as AMERICAN PARTY, through its mailing instructions and informations, and has had very little press publicities, however the organization declared itself on an independent political ticket, but harmoniously toiled within the political major Parties, for the best interest and security for American People.

And since the political coalitions of the Democratic and Republican, New-Deal Party Leadership Administration, become to power of a Socialistic-Communistic Political Empirialism, in the United States Government, in 1933. Then the political and economical difficulty arised and complicated the American traditions of freedom and security. And unfortunately the American Party, from 1922, to 1933, was of a sorrow; as many prominent and leading officers and members had expired, then the American political and economical urgent complications required the surviving members of the organization in 1934, - to call a national convention at Detroit, Mich. And at that convention the delegates adopted a motion and declared, that AMERICAN PARTY, shall toil and advocate its political and economical independent party ticket.

Thus can educate and train honest and decent law obeying and forcing political and economical candidates for public officials on the party ticket to serve the best interest and security to people of America, and since 1934, this organization has had politically and economically worked and opposed against all these radical New-Deal, political-empirialistic legislative proposals and platforms, both from Democratic and Republican, political and economical empirialistic party's leadership.

The American Party, has a national directory special staff, making study, researches and plans, on post-war political and economical — moral hazardous American, situation, how to safeguard the American Sovereignty, industry, education, religion, financial and social organizations, from a national and international socialist-communistic political-empirialism. Has on a national co-operation mailing list with over 350 of loyal economic, educational, professional, religious and social organizations, in the United States. And from time to time mailing educational instructions to American People, how to safeguard their American interest and security J. M. Montcalm, had been elected permanent chairman by the party national committee, attending to all mails and answering numerous inquiries thereof.

Whereas, the American, people of young and old today, are confronted with a most serious — "THE WORLD'S QUESTION", how are they going to save and solve the American, independence and settle the national and international most complicated corrupt problems, of liberty, justice, peace, prosperity MAGNA-CHARTA: To Veterans of the World War II. Despite all these national and international post-war plans optimistic propaganda.

Therefore, it is apparent to every intelligent American; and as it maybe are the facts, that these national and international party's political empirialists, — in spite of their all gigantic proposals, conducts and tactics, to economical—moral and peace conferences, have accomplished nothing, and will not; for economic - moral and peace post-war plans, ONLY; but feeding on the American People, and as well as the people of the other nations, with a such optimistic and vicious state, of perpetual socialist-communistic political- Empirialistic propaganda. And it is a fact that many veteran politicians and Industrial financiers can not deny, that it required in 1921-22-23, the eminent American Science-Inventors, to solve and pull out the economic - moral and peace, post-war situation of World War I.

THUS NOW; the facts are apparent, like the day-light; to every American, rich or poor. Eventually whereof, are losing the American, independent freedom and sovereignty, of economical - moral liberty, press, justice, peace, religion, social-society; and liquidated to a economic slavery state, of Socialist-Communistic Political-Empirialism. And will have the merry of the streets; and the sorrow of the homes. Likewise the Russian People, since 1917, and all Europeans Now.

Dear Sirs:

The accompanying facsimiles of letters are only a few of many that I have sent out in an effort to save the world. Many of the letters were very long. I am writing you only because I hate to curse the whole world because of a few.

For 6,000 years the groundwork for my rejection has been carefully laid by the remnant of seven groups of Gods who revolted against me over 74,000 years ago.

All Gods are black, all Gods are women. Which of you shall dictate to me concerning the color I must use, or the form I must wear when I am born among men?

You black people must exert all your wisdom toward trying to understand me. If you are fearful about making a mistake and thereby losing your Soul, don't forget that without knowing that Jehovah and Jesus were one and the same God, you nevertheless went following after Jesus. You have many Churches that worship "Jesus Only". I am the Most High; the God whose Throne is the Planet Saturn. If you doubt that I was Jesus, you had better know that I am the God referred to by the Israelites as Adonai or Elohim and whom you have called "Jehovah". You had my commandments. You knew that I was a jealous God who said, "Thou shalt have no other Gods before me". Now, since you went whoring after Jesus, you had better play the whoremonger with me! I have come as the Bride that John wrote about. Out of the whole world I choose the black and ill-treated as my Bridegroom. If, however, you leave me waiting at the Alter, you shall know the fury of a woman "scorned".

It is not a man's belief, but his deeds that makes him righteous or unrighteous. It has been proven from the beginning of time, that the Souls of the Righteous do not perish in the fires of Hell. It has also been proven that the very vilest person can slowly create within himself an unperishable Soul by righteous deeds.

You have been corrupted and turned topsy-turvy by vile Gods. I know that only a few of you are ready to have your righteousness proven by Fire. But if your conceit makes you think you are mighty enough, or wise enough to ignore me after I have suffered all manner of abuse for 6,000 years in order to save you, you shall dance with me in the Fires of Hell to prove your greatness.

These letters speak for me. Do you band together and cover your land, or do you ignore? Do you suppress my words, or do you give them to as many black people as you can? I know the extent of your wealth. Would I tell you to build if you were unable to do so? If you have any problems I can't solve I have not heard of them. Shall you worry about being a minority group when I can make you a majority over night?

Very sincerely yours

(Mrs). Margaret J. Campbell

(Facsimile of letter sent to President.. The letter of July 15, 1942 was the second letter concerning the same subject. The first letter had been written in 1941).

His excellency the President of the U.S.

Dear Mr. President:

I am pretty sure that you know by this time that I have been begging this nation and other nations to cover their land against an approaching Ice Age. Surely you also know that I claim to be the Most High God. If you do not know, perhaps you will be able to find and read a letter I wrote to the Nation and addressed to the late Mr. Roosevelt July 15, 1942.

I am no longer interested in that letter being given to the nation. In fact, I hope no one heeds me and cover their land. (After all, I am a woman; and perhaps you know how quickly women can change their minds. It no longer matters to me whether I save the world or not).

But because I have claimed to be the Most High God, (I do not like the word Goddess) I am offering to show delegates from all over the nation the location of the Garden of Eden. I will not only tell them where Paradise is, I intend to give them explicit directions for reaching it. (This is not proof that I am the Supreme Ruler of the Universe—any Angel or Devil could have given me the information).

(Except for my words I offer no proof that I am different from any of you. According to your own Law: Ignorance of the Law is no excuse. Therefore, Ignorance of the fact that I am the Most High is no excuse).

If you want the information concerning Paradise you will have to make arrangements to let delegates meet me here at the University of Arizona—since I am not running around over the country to show anybody anything. (If you think this only a publicity stunt, kindly forget the whole matter. I leave publicity seeking to white men—who should have been created with their arms toward the rear so they could pat their own backs more conveniently; while disparging other people).

Men have eternal life unless I destroy their souls in Hell-fire. What they want is long life in one body. You can heed or ignore this letter, for I am being neither kind nor loving. Since you do not really believe in God, the existence of Paradise must also be a fable to you. I want you to see it and know how very real it is. I want many of you to have everything your hearts desire. (Can I be less noble than you—Shall not the condemned man have the chance to eat a hearty meal)?

Very sincerely yours

The President and People of the United States of Brazil

Mr. President:

Is the United States of Brazil mighty enough to ignore me when I say, I am the Great God of the Universe? Other fools have done so; but it remains to be seen how "mighty" they are.

If you think I am a fool, you had better consider even a fool's advise and cover your land with thick walls and roofs, as quickly as you can.

Keep your work going on 24 hours a day. Frighten the people out of their indolence by this slogan: "Protect your land from the elements; or die!"

Your fields and forests are of utmost importance. Protect them with walls and roofs twenty feet thick. Cover as many of your rivers, lakes and other bodies of water as you can; and be sure they are well filled with fishes. (I did not create living creatures for food, but will allow man to subsist on them during calamities such as you are about to face). If you do not cover your land in time you will even eat each other).

Many of you have studied Archaeology, Geology and other subjects that revealed how creatures had flourished for a time, then even men had taken to caves, and finally disappeared. You also know there were four Ice or Glacial Ages. You are mostly Christians and know that many of the prophets predicted a "coming Darkness". I will explain these things briefly.

Four times since this earth was created, a "sun" has gone out. In places the temperature dropped as low as 1,600 degrees below zero. In many places forests and other vegetation petrified. Many of the mountains became volcanic. People took to caves, first; because it was warmer than their homes in caves. (Many people were naked and living in huts; even as now in Africa, India, South America and the Islands). Secondly, people left their homes and took to caves because other people invaded homes and slew the inhabitants for food. These were periods of total Darkness and extreme Coldness; because the "Sun" was "out". They are what you have called Ice or Glacial Ages. This is your fifth sun and it is apt to go out at any minute now. Moreover, it will throw out intense heat to the very last minute; as any gas fire will do.

The President and other officials are responsible for the welfare of the populace. It is your duty to compel every person, old enough, to give two or three days a week of their time to this work; or the equivalent in money. If you lack bricks or stones you can dig down the mountains. I fear there is need of haste.

When in flesh I am like unto other men. During the last 6,000 years I have been born many times in an effort to warn you about the sun. This warning is 6,000 years late, so if you love life: hurry.

Very sincerely yours

(Mrs). Margaret J. Campbell

People of the United States:

I am the Great God of the Universe. I am a black woman with thick lips and short kinky hair. You either want me as I am, or you don't want me. If you want me, you will obey me and cover your land with thick walls and roofs.

You have no control over the sun; I have. I want the sun out. Many other Gods want it out also. To keep it burning by replenishing the fire from time to time would be cruel and unjust to others; since it is a constant source of trouble to other heavenly bodies where men desire to maintain their own heat and light.

Most all of you are worthless people. But if everyone of you was good, kind and upright, I would still let the sun go out.

Total darkness and extreme coldness is the natural state of the Universe. Heat and light must be achieved and maintained. Each heavenly body must learn to make and maintain its own heat and light.

This is the fifth sun you have had. Four times before your suns have burned out and most all of you have died horrible death; from freezing, starvation or being slain for food by your fellowmen. Your Glacial periods or Ice Ages were caused by the going out of your former suns. These were periods of total darkness (except for the stars) and extreme coldness. In some places the temperature dropped as low as 1,600 degrees below zero.

In a short while now this present sun will go out; maybe suddenly as gas fires often do. But you have time to cover your land if you start now. Let this be your postwar work.

Even if you do not want me because I am black, you will do well to cogitate upon my words. I say I am the Lord; the Creator and Ruler of the Universe. If I am only a "fool", what can you lose by heeding my words?

Thick walls will prevent erosion of your soil. Thick walls and roofs will protect your crops from intense heat, storms and insects. Thick walls and roofs around your cities will prevent thousands of deaths from exposure every winter. The building of these walls will furnish more than two-hundred years of steady employment; even if both men and women work and you arrange to carry on the work twenty-four hours a day.

Think, and decide for yourselves: Am I trying to hurt you or help you?

Very sincerely yours

Mrs. Margaret J. Campbell

(Facsimile of letter sent to Rabbi Wise of New York City).

Rabbi Wise:

My harshness is not directed at you entirely, for you are along in years and have tried to do good. But I, and only I, am the Great God of the Universe. I am in the form of a Black woman now, but was the man you Jews slew in Jerusalem—I have also been slain or ill-treated by most every other Nation on earth; for I have been on earth in the power of my enemies for 6,000 years.

As the man Moses I related (according to the teaching of the Spirits who led me, and which I now know were mostly evil) that I made man on the sixth day. This really meant that I would establish my Kingdom here again, after living 6,000 years in flesh. And I'll either save a few people and re-establish my Kingdom, or turn this world into a blazing Hell.

I despise all flesh. I despise you Jews worst of all. Those I have given most, I hate most when they show me the rear of their persons.

I am "Black". I am part of the thick Darkness. (Not just in the Darkness; but of the Darkness). You foolish Jews have treated me worse than the gentile fools—most of whom I shall take pleasure in casting into Hell. Their reward has been the power I have given them and their white skins; and you Jews are separated from Hell by a wall as thick as the skin of your teeth. I came to Bless. I remain to curse.

Your nearest Hell is the flaming body you call the sun; and it is going out! Hell is a place where vile Gods are burned into senselessness after ages of torture. (I, the Lord, have no pleasure in Hell except when I am angry). When a Hell goes out, I inhabit it with creatures that are a small part Gods and a large part senseless earth. The small God portion animates the senseless earth until the whole is a living being; and will live until the Gods leave the body.

This present Hell is going out, and every creature receiving their heat from it will surely die unless they preserve themselves and their vegetation by covering their land with thick walls and roofs. (Babies must be cared for. Men take care of themselves. You see no "Suns" around most of the stars. My worlds are peopled with men who make their own heat! Cover your land, or freeze).

You Jews in Palestine can cover your part of the land there. You that are here and in other countries can get together wherever you are in each city and buy farm land and cover it.—You have the money. Like the thieving vultures you are, you rob every nation you live with. (Sell to all; buy only from a Jew: a refined form of robbery). If you cover, you had better make the walls and roofs thick. Twenty feet, is not too thick. You will eventually be fighting to keep out a temperature 1,600 degrees below zero.

I tell you, Rabbi Wise, and put the burden upon you of telling the rest of the Jews. After I tell you, I care little what you Jews do. I am Black. You are White; and therefore better than I. You open business places and insult me if I come into them. You give me your "low" work, overwork me, and pay me starvation wages. You rent me your old run-down property and charge me excessive rent. You enjoy seeing me in poverty. You deport yourselves mightily. You are White! You fools!

You have forgotten that Israel was a chosen people and Judah not the favorite son. Moreover, my Israelites were a black people; and I say these Negroes you Jews have trodden under your feet are a part of them. (To me, you white-skinned Jews are lepers--unclean because of your filthy hearts).

Now unto you who face death of the body by freezing, and after that destruction of your souls in a flaming hell, I will explain a few things:

You worship on Saturday without knowing that the Star (Planet) Saturn is the Throne of the Most High God, The Lord God of Host, The Holy One of Israel. You call me Adonai and other names. But by my real name "Saturn" you , nor the rest of the world no longer know me. I, Saturn, and only "I" am Lord God of the Heavens. The power of ruling jointly with me, that once I bestowed upon the Sun, the Moon, Mars, Mercury, Jupiter, Venus and Eden (this planet) I took away 75,000 years ago. It is the vile Gods of these Stars who are causing your wars and other troubles; for they had power until I had denounced them and proclaimed Myself Lord of All while shut up in flesh. It is they who have caused "men" to ill-treat and ignore me all over this earth. You who are imprisoned in flesh and robbed of all knowledge of past lives are mostly Gods who remained loyal to me. That is why I shall regret turning many of you into Hell. But you, who have allowed yourselves to be converted to evil after my efforts to establish you in righteousness, are little better than the evil Gods who led you.

The Sun, the leader of the revolt against me has already been destroyed. I have conquered all the others except this earth (Eden) and the Moon. What I taught as Prophets, Teachers, Priests, Kings and Queens during the 6,000 years I have been here is to be considered according to its benefit to the people. If a Law, commandment or custom is good, keep it. If it is foolish or no longer beneficial, discard it. I spoke according to the teaching of other Gods before. And my loyal followers could seldom help me because of my many enemies. This world shall survive according to the way My Words are received now; for now I speak for Myself.

I, Saturn, exalt righteousness, and abhor and destroy evil. I made "Man", and the Queen or Creator (called female) was made first; likewise she was made to rule Eden. The Servant or Worker (called male) was made as helpmate for the Queen, and was never ordered to rule except by the evil Gods who have distorted every righteous rule of the Heavens. I made vegetables, fruits and nuts for food. I, Saturn, made no living creature for food, for they are Gods even as you. Moreover, I, Saturn, did not imprison Gods in the forms of beast, birds, fishes and insects. This has been the work of the Evil. (You have not known all creatures were Gods because you did not understand that one God is too tiny to see, even under your powerful microscopes. The Gods mostly work in groups).

I, Saturn, was Abraham, the Hebrew; Moses, the Prophet; David, the King; Elijah, Isaiah and Jesus the prophets, as well as other less important Israelites. As Jesus (Joshua, the son of Joseph) Gods spoke through me and said many things. I did not say I was God because I did not know it. I called myself the Son of Man, yet you had me slain. You evidently wanted a magnificent God and I was poor and lowly. I am more poorer and lowlier now. Likewise I am "She", not "He". Shall I tremble while you Jews get the electric-chair ready?

Saturn, the Lord God of All

548 Oury St.
Tucson, Ariz.
March 28, 1945

Governor, and People of Arizona:

I do not want your money. I want no honor from you. All I ask you to do is band together and cover your fields, by surrounding them with thick walls and roofs. (All your land should be covered; but fields first).

The sun is a gaseous fire that will go out suddenly. This has happened four times before; causing your Glacial Ages.—These were periods of total darkness and extreme cold. All your prophets preached of a coming "Darkness". I am explaining the cause of this darkness to you. This is your fifth sun, and it is surely going out soon. The temperature may drop to 1,600 degrees below zero. You cannot survive unless you preserve your vegetation by covering your fields.

I say, I am the "Lord"; Creator and Ruler of the Universe. If I am only a "fool", what can you lose by heeding my words, except a little time and labor? Have not hothouses proven helpful already? Will not covered fields protect your crops from intense heat, storms and insects? Will not walls prevent erosion of your soil? Is it not better to cover your land 15 million years too early than one year too late? What can you lose by obeying me?

As the man Noe, I preached of destruction by water. I now preach of destruction by freezing. Remember these words: "And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man". Will you let it be that way?

"Fuel", food and light! "Heat", food and light! "Fire", food and light are about to become the chief concern of every nation on earth. You shall not remain lulled into a false sense of security by the energy the sun pours out; for you have no way to compare this energy with that of a thousand years ago.

There is still time for scientists to master the knowledge of utilizing the ocean water as an unfailing source of heat and light. (This must be done, because it is the only abundant supply of fuel and light, and unless these gases are burned, water will eventually cover the earth).

Kindly give this message to as many people as you can. I came to warn you; and must take this tedious method because since 1941 President Roosevelt has suppressed a letter I wrote to the nation.

Those who choose may ignore, or laugh, mock and call me a fool. Then when they suffer and pray and freeze, I will not feel too badly.

"Perchance a fool espies a hole in the dam the wise caretakers have overlooked".

Very sincerely yours

Constitution Day 1945

COUNCIL OF STATE GOVERNMENTS AND THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS.

Dear Governor Edward Martin and Mr. Ira Mosher:

The early patricts who literally pledged their fortunes and their lives in affixing their signatures to the Declaration of Independence were not impractical men. They knew what they wanted. They wanted the opportunities they had found in a new land permanently guaranteed to themselves and their descendants. They wanted the right to regulate their own affairs so that they might assure the greatest good to the greatest number. They wanted a voice in their own government.

James M. Beck, L.L.D. wrote in his remarkable book titled: "Constitution of the U.S.A." that: "The immediate purpose of the Constitutional Convention was to wipe out trade barriers and then form a new kind of national government... The framers believed in representative government to which they gave the name "Republicanism" as the antithesis to "democracy"... Mr. Gerry said: "The evils we experience flow from the excesses of democracy. The people are the dupes of pretended patriots." I beg you to examine carefully Art.1,Sec.10,Cl.2, Art.2,Sec.4 and Art.IV,Sec.4 of the Constitution. Turning to Art.1,Sec.9,Cls.10 what right has General Eisenhower and others to "accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince, or foreign state"?

The Federalist (which may be purchased in most any book store) is the basis of our Constitution. James Madison wrote in No.X that: "In a democracy the citizens administer the government in person...in a Republic, they administer it through their agents." There is no such thing as "American" or "representative" democracy. When a democracy becomes representative it becomes a republic. Madison's statement that: "Democracy is the bait of schemers, theoretic politicians.." fits our biggest peddlers of democracy about as neatly as a glove. What offense would it be against the Constitution to hurl rotten eggs and tomatoes into the teeth of any man who violates the pledge of allegiance to the extent of talking democracy - including the President of the United States? "The President of the United States is nothing more than an elective trustee or agent chosen by the people to administer certain well-defined and specific trusts for them... Our fathers formulated that portion of the Constitution which concerned the presidential office under a realizing sense of the evils they had suffered while subject to the caprices of a royal ruler, and guarded well against any assumption of power which could threaten or endanger the liberty of the people. The President is still the SERVANT of the people" - including our Governors and industrialists. (See Federalist XLVIII, Art.2, Sec. 4 and B. of R. 2) The victory is not a victory over tyranny. But is a part of a movement begun in our public schools to destroy our Independence and Government and from which a new world tyranny will arise. Only a personal interview can make this clear perhaps.

What right has the President to violate his oath to the extent of issuing "Executive orders"? What right have we to obey them? What did our legislators do who voted for the War Powers Acts except betray their trust? In other words violate the oath to support and defend Art.1, Sec.1, of the Constitution of the United States "without mental reservations"? "The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and to alter their Constitutions of government; but the Constitution which at any time exists, till changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people, is sacredly obligatory upon all." Geo. Washington, president of the Constitutional Convention - not of the Carnegie or Rockefeller Foundation which aims to tell our Governors and Industrialists what they may or may not do - at least indirectly.

The trial of Christ is an outstanding spectacle of the danger of "the processes of democratic government." Thrice Pilate announced that he found no fault in Him. Herod found no fault in Him. But through the rule of the mob, which is the method of democracy, and the recall of judicial decisions, the ancestors of the Rothchilds, the Warburgs, the Baruchs, the Kuhn-Loebs, Lehmans, and the Morganthaus, they crucified Him.

"For the removal of unwise laws from the statute books, appeal lies not to the courts but to the ballot and to the processes of democratic government." Justice Harlan F. Stone in his dissent from the majority opinion of Justice Owen J. Roberts invalidating the first agricultural adjustment act. Marcus Child in the Phila. Record July 9, 1945. See the 12 mo. book: "Back to the Republic" (1918) by Harry F. Atwood (More factual knowledge on the Constitution in 30 minutes than most people have learned about it in over 30 years). We pass about 75,000 statutes every 5 years which could mean 75,000 elections. If the Chief Justice is ignorant of both the purpose of the courts and the form of government under which we live, how can we expect Congressmen and Senators to operate inside the Constitution if they have never read it? Have you? And if not, pause 26 minutes, do so now.

There is no space here for Pearl Harbor except I note Admiral Halsey would "like to have kicked each Japanese delegate in the face." Turning to the Congressional Record of Dec. 8, 1942 it seems to me if the official statement of Winston Churchill and Lieut Dickinson U.S. Navy is true, it is the bounden duty of our lawmakers to exert every effort to have Admiral Halsey, Gen. George C. Marshall, Henry F. Stimson and others electrocuted, hung or shot at sunrise. What do you think? "Worse than traitors in arms are the men who, pretending loyalty to the flag, feast and fatten on the misfortunes of the Nation."

So you will know it, a copy of this letter is being sent to each Governor, the Chairman of every standing Committee of both the House and the Senate, every member of the Governing board of both the Nat'l Ass'n of Mfgrs. and the Committee for Economic Development.

"This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government they can exercise their...revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it."

I beg you in the press and over the radio to expound the Constitution and the Monroe Doctrine. Let the people know the nature of their rights and how to protect them. The Administration is not the Government - not yet.

"There has never been but one problem, in all civilization, how to prevent a few men from saying to many men, YOU (manufacturers and laborers) work and earn bread, and WE (politicians) will eat it."

I am an American. I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the REPUBLIC for which it stands - not to any Administration and to h--- with the high sounding flim-flam "democracy", "lasting peace" and the "United Nations". America is at the crossroads. If the Congress won't get rid of its traitors as provided in Art.2, Sec.4 the Governors can do it with the State militia. American Independence or "Union Now" - which?

Sincerely yours,

John J. Fleck

UNITED STATES LAWS ON CONSPIRACY: "If two or more persons conspire to injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate any citizen in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or because of his so having exercised the same...they shall be fined not more than $5,000 and imprisoned not more than ten years, and shall, moreover, thereafter be ineligible to any office, or place of honor, profit or trust created by the Constitution or laws of the United States." (From Section 19, U.S. Criminal Code-- 18 USC 51-- titled "Conspiracy to Injure Persons in the Exercise of Civil Rights).

"Any person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom or usage of any state or territory, subjects or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States, to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in any action at law or suit in equity or other proper proceeding for redress." (Section 43, U.S.C.R.S. 1917).

Why are these laws not applied to the 'closed shop,' 'sit-down' and 'sit-in' strikes, 'maintenance of membership,' the Wagner Act, the O. P.A. and other CIO-New Deal laws and bureaus which restrict individual liberty? Why are these laws not applied to the un-Constitutional trade barriers between the several states, and in cases where New Deal administrators have violated property rights? Why is our President not forced to obey his Oath of Office, which he takes with his hand upon the Holy Bible:

> "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the Office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

In the light of Art. I, Sect. 1, of the U. S. Constitution, is the President not now violating his solemn vow before God and Country, by supporting such agencies as O.P.A., T.V.A. and others which create their own laws, thereby infringing upon the exclusive right of Congress to exercise legislative power? How can O.P.A. legislate upon prices, or any 'labor board' pass laws on wages or strikes, when Art. I, Sect. 1. reads:

> "All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives."

Is it too much to expect, in view of the repeated violations of the Constitution by New Deal bureaucrats and civil officers, that those who have so violated their Oaths of Office should be immediately subjected to the full punishment provided for such offenses in Art. II, Sect. 4, of our Constitution, which reads:

> "THE PRESIDENT, VICE-PRESIDENT AND ALL CIVIL OFFICERS OF THE UNITED STATES, SHALL BE REMOVED FROM OFFICE ON IMPEACHMENT FOR, AND CONVICTION OF, TREASON, BRIBERY, OR OTHER HIGH CRIMES AND MISDEMEANORS."

GREAT MEN ON THE CONSTITUTION

GEORGE WASHINGTON: "The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and to alter their Constitutions of government; but the Constitution which at any time exists, til changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people, is sacredly obligatory upon all."

BENJAMIN F. TRACY: "The President of the United States is nothing more than an elective trustee or agent, chosen by the people to administer certain well-defined and specific trusts for them...Our fathers formulated that portion of the Constitution which concerned the presidential office under a realizing sense of the evils they had suffered while subject to the caprices of a royal ruler, and guarded well against any assumption of power...which could threaten or endanger the liberty of the people."

CHARLES KING: "...in their own (the people's) keeping exclusively, and not in that of any party leaders or party demagogues, or political hacks, is the integrity of the Constitution. It is in the strong arms and honest hearts of the great masses, who are not members of Congress, nor holders of office...that resides the safety of the states; and these masses, though slow to move, are irresistible, when the time and occasion come."

CHARLES A. DANA: "In order to understand the theory of the American Government, the most serious, calm, persistent study should be given to the Constitution of the United States. I don't mean learning it by heart, committing it to memory. What you want is to understand it, to know the principles at the bottom of it."

WM. E. GLADSTONE: "The American Constitution is, so far as I can see, the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

SAMUEL F. MILLER: "...and when the highest law to which we pay...homage is the Constitution of the United States, the history of the world has furnished no such wonder."

JAMES JOYCE: "It ranks above every other written Constitution for the intrinsic excellence of its scheme, its adaptation to the circumstances of the people, the simplicity, brevity and precision of its language, its judicious mixture of definition in principle with elasticity in details."

DANIEL WEBSTER: "The first object of a free people is the preservation of their liberty, and liberty is to be preserved only by maintaining constitutional restraints and just divisions of political power. Nothing is more deceptive or more dangerous than the pretense of a desire to simplify government. The simplest governments are despotisms; but all republics, all governments of law, must impose limitations of authority...This is the very essence of free political institutions."

WILLIAM PITT: "It will be the wonder and admiration of all future generations and the model of all future constitutions."

Dear Sir:

Sometime ago I ran across a letter signed Fabius. I sent the letter to Caller-Times of this city as a letter from the people, however it wasn't published. It seems to me like where a newspaper permits such a column it restricts the press if some of all contributions are not enclosed, however since I do not own any interst I have no kick coming, but feeling interested I produce the letter below for your consideration.

"Editor, Caller-Times:

I am amusingly interested in the many sided discussions of racial matters, appearing in letters to editor, under signatures of T.H., G.E.H., and Veronica Necaire. Their dazzled figures of speech imitates the innocence of children discussing some intricate questions, older people do not understand, and as usually the case, us poor trash, make more trouble for ourselves about the problems of other races, than they do of their own worries.

Ninty per cent of the colored people of the United States are happier right at this hour than ninty per cent of us 'white trash' who are so seriously engaged in trying to uplift them, so why allow masks, hatchets, racks, and vipers of a Groot, Tribe of Judah, Ham, Abraham, and a Moses produce the gloomy sentiments of speculative melancholy-they are the gloomy companions of an unbalanced imagination, the melancholy madness of poetry without the inspiration.

Does not all these writers know that the Lord once said about all the authorities, T.H., G.E.H., and V., quote, that the greatest of them shall be the least in his kingdom? So why not quote better authority?

Society sometimes can make a mistake in relying on civil government for certain corrections; it would be just as sensible to ask the legislative power to make the moon shine as bright as the sun, as to ask for laws to make the different races assume a standard of social equality. There are certain peculiarities of consanguinity, dialect, etc. that naturally draws each race together, and they prefer mingling with their common tongue. There are a few hot heads among the various races, who oftentimes for political preferences instigate prejudices so some character of segregation may act as a blessing in disguise to check the disturbance a small minority of such race would create.

I would as a friend to the colored man refer him to two men that have lived and died in the United States, both of whom have proven a worthy leadership for them-I refer to Abraham Lincoln and Booker T. Washington. There are now in the United States quite a number of leaders trying to have a FAIR EMPLOYMENT ACT made the law of the land. Lincoln would be against such legislation. Lincoln was leader of a group that gave the colored man the right to go out, to earn, to have a home and protection to that home, but he never gave him the right to go into some other man's business and tell him who to hire or not to hire. You never heard or can find where Booker T. Wahington, was before legislatures trying to have laws passed making his race socially equal to other races. He used the Lord's weapons, and addressed himself to common understanding of his race to a life of modesty and correct living, to those elements of the moral concepts of the Lord that elevates towards the goal of his conceptions and counteracts immoral enfluences. He, Booker T. Washington, in the language of his Master urged his womenfolks to dress "in modest apparel." Sometimes I think the colored women of the country is practicing this injunction more than the white women as a rule so if the increase keeps up no one can tell the results several centuries from now.

Fabius"

H. F. George

Dear Mrs. Colley?

I see from the pepers that you have had quite a bit of honor bestowed on you, and I hope you deserve it.

I take it for granted, that you do not believe in White supremacy; as you took a very active part in unseating Herman Talmadge. You may know more about somethings in the Bible than I do, but I know somethings myself. I know that when God created man, that he created him white, also Eve was white, and I believe He created them for a noble purpose. When Cain was banished from God, for killimg his brother, he took unto himself a wife. Evidently it was an inhabitant aoready on the earth., and not a white person. As you know one of Noah's sons was named Ham, and because of his sin against his father, a curse was put on him, and he was to be the servant of his brothers. The Bible does not say that he was colored, but it does say that one of his sons was named Canaan, and he dwelt in Canaan, another one went to Africa. Because the Negro came from Africa, you would naturally suppose that Ham was a Negro. The Bible tells us that the Generation of Ham was of Babylon and Egypt. which implies sin. And when the preachers, the lay leaders, and church goers try to bring about racial equallity in the church, they are bringing sin into the church. Let me ask you where does racial equallity stop? certainly not before it reaches the Marriage alter. Then you have Communism, in other words sin. To my mind Mrs. M. E. Tilley is bringing sin into the church, by advocating racial equallity. But people believe what they want to believe, right or wrong, just so it is popular.

There is not one word in the Bible that indicates that times spiritually or morrally, will get better, but will get worse as time goes on. Jews are not mixing their blood with Negroes, but the Gentiles are. And seemingly the church approves of it. I know there are many white people no better than Negroes. But mixing their blood will not make them any better.

People all over the country, have become prejudiced against Talmadge, and all he stands for, by the false propaganda put out by the Atlanta Journal and Constitution.

Your weeping and wailing article, by Bem Price, and published in papers of South was read with much interest, and it was really funny to those who believe in white Supremacy-but who believe in the broad principle of treating each man with justice-be he black or white.

As you state in this article that the Committee is composed of Whites and blacks--no doubt about 2/3 to 3/4 of its' members are black--and the balance of the mebership are those who love the negro and have drifted down and settled in Atlanta.

If my information is correct and I think it is--(you may look this up)--there was only one lynching in the South during 1947. In comparsion with this I wish you would read the July article in Readers Digest on the question "Harlem in N.Y.". (I don't recall now the exact title)--but it is on the negro question in Harlem and in July issue of Readers Digest.

After reading this article you might then advise the Northern Element -who dearly love the negro--would not object marrying him--would notm object eating and sleeping with him--to advise their Northn Broters to clean the filth and garbage from their own back yard before coming South and making an effort to tell decent White Southern People how to Live and how to run their Social affairs. It is the constant Meddling of this Northern type-which makes it hard on the Southern Negro--for they make every effort to elevate him above his present Station in Life and they hold out to him a FALSE HOPE.

That man Wallace--was let off light in his recent visit to the South. Eating with negroes, sleeping with negroes, negro Sec', etc--it is a wonder more did not happen to him as this was a gross insult thrown in the face of every decent white person in the South.

You take your Communism or other ism to Russie or some other Country where you are wanted. We can run out business in the South and without any suggestions from a tribe like your Council.

My dear Charles H. Fahy, Chairman:

It might be well to pay little or no attention to our Acting President. His duty is: "he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed." Mr. Truman does not know the form of government under which we live. If he does, why does he speak of our government as a "democracy"? We live in a REPUBLIC.

The Negro has never been Constitutionally made a citizen of the United States. If Truman does not know it, the Constitution does. If you will send 50¢ to M. R. Allen, P. O. Box 2243, Salt Lake City, Utah for a copy of the booklet: "The Negro and the Constitution" and examine it carefully; you should then realize the sanity and correctness of this point of view.

Let us have the whole truth and settle the Negro and Jew problems in the American way. Put these problems to a vote of the whole people:

No. 1. Shall we return the Negro to Africa as Abraham Lincoln and Booker T. Washington wanted to do?

No. 2. Shall we exile "the Jew, the Turk and the infidel" as our founding fathers wanted to do?

A copy of this letter and of the enclosure are being mailed to each member of your Committee, the secretaries of Defense, Army, Navy and Air Force and to others. Send a copy to the Hon. Harry S. Truman and each of our Governors. Or, shall I?

WHY SHOULD WE CHANGE OUR FORM OF GOVERNMENT?

"BATTLE FOR THE REPUBLIC"

John J. Fleck

The making of the American Constitution was a stupendous achievement of men who through reading, through reflection, through insight and through practical experience, had fully grasped the significance of the high task to which they had devoted themselves and who accomplished that task in a way that has excited the admiration of the civilized world. Those men built a representative REPUBLIC; they knew what had happened in Greece, in Rome, in Venice and in Florence; they knew what had happened in the making of the modern nations that occupied the continent of Europe. Knowing all this, they deliberately, after the most elaborate debate and discussion both of principles and details, produced the result with which we are so unfamiliar.

Our government was founded by men whose minds were fixed upon the problems involved in the creation of political institutions. They were thinking of liberty and representative government, of protection against tyranny and spoilation and of ways and means by which public opinion might, in orderly fashion, express itself in statute laws, in judical judgements and in executive acts. The task of the founding fathers was a political task and with what almost superhuman wisdom, foresight and skill they accomplished it, is recorded history. It is a noteworthy and singular characteristic of our American government that the Constitution provides a means of protecting individual liberty from invasion by the powers of government itself, as well as from invasion by others more powerful and less scrupulous than ourselves. The principles underlying our civil and political liberty are indelibly written into the Constitution of the United States and the nation's courts are instituted for their protection.

The representative REPUBLIC erected on the American continent under the Constitution of the United States is a more advanced, a more just and a wiser form of government than the atheistic, unsound and unwise "new world order" which is now proposed to substitute for it. To put the matter bluntly, there is underway in the United States at the present time TWO definite and determined movements to change our representative REPUBLIC into a Fabian-Communist Socialistic democracy such as now prevails in Russia. If we understand the one and not the other we will be beaten by both. These attempts carried on by Communists, their fellow-travellers and their dupes, on the one side, and by Fabians and their henchmen -- pretended Democrats and Republicans -- on the other, are the most impressive political factors in our public life of today. These attempts are being made in our schools, colleges, seminaries, universities, churches, literature, press, on the radio, in our legislative halls, in our courts of justice and in our industry while we are writing about them. They are so fantastic it is almost impossible to believe the truth when you know it is the truth. They present themselves in many persuasive and seductive forms. They use attractive formulas to which men like to give adhesion; but if they are successful, they will bring to an end the form of government that was founded when our Constitution was made and that our fathers with bleeding feet fought and died to establish.

Before the Constitution was written money was worth two and one-half cents on the dollar and there was no credit to be had anywhere. After the Constitution was written, our founding fathers successfully frustrated the designs of England, France and the Barbary pirates and in less than fifty years, while adhering more closely to representative government, paid off the national debt and refunded thirty-eight million dollars in unexpended taxes to the States. In addition they solved problems that had baffled the world for centuries and revolutionized agriculture, transportation, communication and industry. They created more statesmen on American soil during our first hundred years as a Republic than had been produced by the rest of the world in all time before. They became the leaders and example for the people of other countries. In the early days of the REPUBLIC under the Constitution, there was no inaccurate and misleading ballyhoo about the so-called "United Nations", but much talk of American Independence and the Monroe Doctrine. No bragging about the anti-American and destructive Bill "1776", but much talk of the patriots of '76. No talk of reciprocal trade agreements or free trade but much talk of protection for American farmers, manufacturers and laborers. No buncombe about subsidies or the faintest hint of a suggestion of paternalism, but much talk of reward for individual initiative and achievement. No talk of the red flag, but much devotion to the Stars and Stripes.

We began the destruction of the fundamental principles of representative government in this country when we permitted our lawmakers and public officials to violate, in the least particular, the wise provisions of our Constitution, above all, Article I, Sec. 8, Cl. 18, Article II, Sec. 4, and Article IV, Sec. 4. When we began, as is now quite commonly the case, to instruct a representative as to what he is to do when elected; when we began to pledge him, in advance of his election, that if chosen he will do certain things and oppose others, -- in other words, when we reduced the representative from the high, splendid and dignified status of a real representative chosen by his constituency to give his experience, his brains, his conscience and his best service and made him a mere registering machine for the moment, whatever it might happen to be.

Trying to make DEMOCRACY work, which is the very essence of Fabianism and Communism, we have piled up an almost insurmountable debt. The fact that democracy - the rule of the mob - is not a desirable tendency and will not work, is as old as civilization itself. This is a solemn warning against the dangers of direct government toward which we have been drifting since the latter part of the nineteenth century.

Is it not about time we stood up as the only great REPUBLIC of the world, go back to the principles of the REPUBLIC, when Godliness, reverence for the Almighty, clear thinking and accurate reasoning, a strong right arm and hard work were the principles of an industrious, moral and home loving free people, whose love for peace was known throughout the entire world.

The Constitution of the United States can be read aloud in twenty-six minutes. Prior to 1890 the - "great design" - most any school child and therefore adult could recite the Constitution, and we were the most normal people in our homes, schools, churches and industry that history records. If we desire to continue as a free people, the conclusion is immediate.

There is nothing one can do with so great profit to gain a clear concept of cause and remedy for the deplorable times in which we find ourselves today than to read "FEDERALIST" and study the Constitution of the United States. Supposedly educated and intelligent Americans will be surprised to learn to what extent they have been gulled by ambitious, governmentally ignorant and crooked politicians.

BACK TO THE REPUBLIC should be the watchword of every patriot in this Country. FOR THE LIFE OF OUR REPUBLIC IS AT STAKE.

POSTSCRIPT

There is no better or surer way to put a stop to concealment, demagogism, name calling and restore sanity in our domestic and foreign affairs than to give the common man - the worker - an understanding of his government via our schools, churches, press, radio and surely his pay envelope. I am offering a proof copy of "Our Priceless Heritage". It could be used. So could "If I Were King" and, "Americans Must Never Shut Up" by Dr. George W. Crane, 520 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois. What do our Governors, our Chambers of Commerce and Manufacturer Associations coast to coast have to offer? Let's get started. Have the above published in every school, church, college, National Guard, Chamber of Commerce and newspaper you can. A copy of "Our Priceless Heritage" sent on request.

If I Were King

BY SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

A GREAT AUTHOR once wrote a story: "If I Were King". I suppose every decent-minded person wishes, at times, that he were a king, not to feed his vanity with the trappings of thrones, but to use his power to benefit his fellow men.

If two choices were offered me; one to be the richest man in the world so I could turn my vast estates into public parks (as Caesar did in his last will in Shakespeare's play) or endow churches or colleges, or finance laboratories to seek the cure for some dread plague, I would turn it down if the other choice granted me were the power to get all of my fellow Americans to truly understand the priceless heritage they have in the American Constitution.

I say this soberly and after years of reflection. If this were in my power to do, I know my name would go down in history as a greater benefactor than any, and perhaps all the rich men who have ever endowed public charities. Such an understanding would enable common men everywhere to themselves build their own fortunes. It would lead to a country invincible abroad and happy at home.

Only one thing would I value more, that being my own understanding and ability to teach the laws of God for men, individually and socially. Part of these laws are, indeed, in the Constitution.

The Bible and the Constitution! "And the floods came and the winds blew and beat upon that house and it fell not, for it was founded upon a rock." The storm-tossed Stars and Stripes is, with one possible exception, the oldest flag that streams anywhere against the wind. It flies over the only undefeated great nation in the entire history of the world.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE do have a deep reverence for the Constitution in the same way as they revere the memory of brave but unknown men who long ago died for freedom at Valley Forge or the Alamo.

It has, however, been a long time since Madison, Hamilton and Jay wrote the Federalist Papers to explain every word and sentence in the Constitution; a long time since the Fourth of July meant much to American youth, beside the noise of firecrackers.

We need new Madisons, new Websters, new Calhouns. We need a new Benjamin Hill, who, in the post-bellum days of the Old South said, "The Constitution is my only client, and its preservation is the only fee I ask."

Recognizing, as Jefferson did, that "laws and institutions must go hand in hand with the progress of the human mind", I still believe, as our fathers hoped, that the basic truths of the Constitution constituted "a new order for the ages"; or as in the Latin words, "Novus ordo seclorum" which they inscribed on America's Great Seal, as you will see it pictured on the back of the dollar bill in your pocket. It was intended to be "for the ages". I believe most of the social and political ills of our time, including depressions and unemployment, are due to the fact that we have veered from the course our fathers charted.

THE CAVERNOUS BUREAUS of Government today are spinning intricate and sticky spider webs of countless laws, rules and regulations which

They did not intend men to make their livings like robber bands, preying upon each other with the ballot as their weapon of pillage. They intended, as God said to men in Genesis, "in the sweat of thy brow, thou shalt eat bread."

"I am not", said Jefferson, "the friend of an energetic government. It is bound to become oppressive."

DUE TO POPULAR IGNORANCE of the true meaning and worth of the Constitution, which enshrined the Individual and the family at the hearthstone as the very handiwork of the Creator, the materialism of a godless Communism is eating its way, like termites in the timbers of a house, into every nook and corner of the American edifice.

It is not the Constitution which has failed us; we have failed it. We have been the unfaithful stewards of the trust our fahers, dying, committed to our care.

With the actual record of great achievement under the Constitution in releasing the energies of free men in the greatest march of progress in the history of mankind, it is amazing indeed that so many Americans in their ignorance are embracing the reactionary philosophies of the Europe our forefathers thought they had left behind them forever, and whose governments now build barbed wire stockades at their frontiers to prevent the escape of desperate men seeking freedom from their cruelties.

Yes, if it were in my power, I would call back from their graves, the brooding spirits of Washington, Franklin, Madison, and Jefferson. I would:

> "Wake the dead,
> Bid the old heroes rise from their graves and scourge with their tongues
> Until this vain and rotting age, revitalized, shall rush
> To emulate their deeds, or learn to blush."

I would try, too, "If I Were King", to wake the teachers, pastors, editors, lawyers and the youth of today, so that Americans yet unborn may proudly say, "Freedom has still a continent to dwell on."

A CALL TO ACTION!

We Have Got To Clean House NOW.

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS, IN SPIRIT AND IN TRUTH

Every newspaper, every patriotic organization, every legislator, every loyal American, should take up this cry. Every hour and every minute of every day, these TERMITES, boring from within, are working to betray us and to SCUTTLE AMERICA. We need less talk: MORE ACTION. "Should a man full of TALK be justified?" (Job 11:2) "Should he reason with unprofitable TALK? Or with speeches wherewith he can do no good?" (Job 15:3). We are a TALKING nation: when what we need now is ACTION. Tomorrow may be forever too late.

TIME GROWS VERY SHORT. Our Bible says, "No man knoweth the day nor the hour: but when everyone is crying PEACE, PEACE (as is Henry Wallace), THEN COMETH SUDDEN DESTRUCTION!" It will be more sudden and devastating than Pearl Harbor. Catastrophe stands knocking at the door.

We MUST rid America and our Administration of traitors, communists—ALIENS: both native-born and foreign-born traitors, whether they are Jew, Gentile, or Negro. They should be impeached, hung, or deported. All who are not for AMERICA FIRST, are against us. WE NEED ACTION NOW! Every other country has waited until it was TOO LATE. Every day, some treasonable traitorous act is being committed against our security, by those in position to do so. WHAT TRAITORS IN THE ADMINISTRATION ARE STILL SENDING OIL, WHEAT, STEEL, AUTOMOTIVE AND FARM MACHINERY TO OUR SELF-CONFESSED ENEMY — RUSSIA?? Not long ago, Mr. Truman said he "saw no harm" in sending heavy locomotives, and other machinery to Russia. (Remember the scrap iron for Japan?) Now, the Administration is GIVING AWAY OUR SHIPS. Yet high Army officials say our DEFENSE IS A HOLLOW SHELL! Many Russian divisions are massed just across narrow Bering Strait from ALASKA.

Alert war veterans in New Jersey are picketing and protesting the loading of ships for Russia with our vital materiel. This treason should be stopped by FORCE. These veterans rightly scorn the President's call for UMT and drafting them, under such conditions. Mothers of Sons, how do you sleep nights, with this sort of betrayal going on continually? Shall more Christian American boys perish—while traitors wax rich and fat, in cur midst? Cowardice and indifference will not save these boys: only quick drastic ACTION can stave off utter ruin.

Mr. Truman's rubber-stamp (for Bernard M. Baruch) Administration has furnished no leadership for WHITE CHRISTIAN AMERICANS: his objectives have been those endorsed by Jew-Communist-Negro minorities: such as his "Civil Rights" program (drawn up by a hand-picked bunch of pro-Communists), which advocates invasion and abrogation of States' and individuals' rights. His Communistic F.E.P.C. program means a spy-ridden Police State.

Let's put ALL WHO WORK FOR RUSSIA'S INTERESTS ON A SHIP, AND SEND THEM THERE IMMEDIATELY, so they can work for PEACE in RUSSIA! Let's load THEM on Russian-bound ships instead of OUR RESOURCES. This includes Henry Wallace and his fellow-workers: as well as scientists such as Harlow Shapley, of Harvard University Observatory, who backs the ten convicted Hollywood subversives and who works to abolish the blessed Committee on UnAmerican Activities. I'd put unfrocked Leon Birkhead and his 'Friends of Democracy' on this same ship, together with European Alien, Kurt Singer: convicted Edward Barsky and his joint anti-fascist refugee committee: likewise Jas. H. Sheldon, of the New York sectarian spy league: as well as all of its officials and those active in the Jewish gestapo in the U.S.A.—the Anti-Defamation League. Probably our first export to Russia should be John L. Lewis.—And instead of hypocritically endeavoring to BAN the Klu Klux Klan—which stands bravely on the American Constitution, the Christian Bible, and White Christian Supremacy, I'd ask this fine organization to RIDE IN EVERY CITY AND EVERY HAMLET, UNTIL WE HAVE CLEANSED THIS COUNTRY OF SUBVERSIVE TRAITORS, native and alien.

When war comes (as it soon will), it will mean all the difference to us whether we have traitors and saboteurs in our midst, free to blow up vital plants and servives. WHY is the convicted Edward Barskey and his anti-fascist refugee committee STILL FREE TO CARRY ON THEIR SUBVERSION? WHY are Harry Bridges, the Alexander Bittelmans, and others of their ilk, who have been ordered deported, STILL IN OUR MIDST, and not even in jail?? After long delay, we are finally rid of the malefic Gerhardt Eislers.

From now on, we will have ONLY TWO CLASSES OF PEOPLE IN AMERICA: those who work to SAVE this Christian Republic: and those who work to SCUTTLE AMERICA. "The night cometh when no man can work." Let us deal with our enemies quickly. Even now, we will have to pay a heavy price for having tolerated EVIL in our midst for so long. WORK, while there is yet a little time. SHOW some love, zeal, and enthusiasm for our beloved country! The Christian Christ has said that these TARES (traitors, "children of the wicked one") shall be gathered together and burned in the fire in the last days." (St. Matt. 13: 30). These ARE the last days: they may be your last days unless you get busy.

Will you continue as 'sitting ducks' waiting to be sold into SLAVERY? Let's take into protective custody NOW such ALIEN REDS as Madame Joliet-Curie and other "scientists" who come to spy and betray. Let's place ALL doubtful, suspicious characters, as well as known, REDS in restricted areas, under guard, NOW, for our own protection. The FBI knows who these people are.

Every loyal citizen of this REPUBLIC has a solemn obligation to put aside ALL ELSE, and work for his Country. Only thus can he SAVE HIMSELF and his loved ones from deep misery and possible SLAVERY. You will never be able to carry out any of your life plans if this Country goes under Communistic totalitarian tyranny. IT IS TIME TO SHOW YOUR COLORS! A people without national spirit is dead and should be buried!

DON'T FORGET TO PRAY FOR AMERICA. The prayer of a righteous man availeth much.

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS, IN SPIRIT AND IN TRUTH!

O. K. the foregoing by signing your name and address, and forward to your legislators, newspaper editors, radio commentators, ministers, educators, and other leaders, before it is too late.

"SENATORS FOR EUROPE"

If, or when, BREAD LINES (such as they now have in Russia) form in the U.S.A. as a result of ERP (the Red alien-spawned 'Marshall Plan' for the benefit of FOREIGNERS, especially Communists: which will probably be administered by the same kind of people as was UNRRA), I hope that Arthur Vandenberg, "Senator for Europe," will be in that line.

I suggest that every poor, struggling family and bread-winner in America promptly appeal NOW to Senator Vandenberg personally for aid and for funds for their OWN families, so that they can meet the ever-rising cost of living. Senator Vandenberg is paid by American taxpayers: he has sworn a solemn oath to uphold and defend the Constitution of the USA and the welfare of the American people. I am not kidding when I say that every American family and every child in this country, should hold him personally responsible for throwing away BILLIONS of this Country's resources. ERP is HIS European baby and he has fought for it with the ferocity of a tiger. When ERP becomes only a maudlin BERP, and when the American people finally wake up to the enormity of how they have been SCUTTLED, let's remember Arthur Vandenberg—as well as Henry Morgenthau Jr., who gave our money plates to RUSSIA.—Very hard times are ahead for Americans (thanks to these two gentlemen, especially): and they had better 'trim their sails' accordingly.

Let's remember, too, that Utah's Senators, Arthur V. Watkins and Elbert D. Thomas (also "Senators for Europe") voted for this monstrous foreign "experiment" with American taxpayers' money. Of course, it was to be expected of Internationalist Elbert D. Thomas: but one did hope for more stamina and patriotism from Arthur V. Watkins.

PUSSYFOOTING PREACHERS

Why is it that most present-day alleged Christians (most especially ministers) have NO ZEAL, NO ENTHUSIASM, for the Cause of Christ, for FREEDOM, or for Christian America? Our Supreme Court and State Courts have ruled that this IS a Christian Republic.

We are living today in similar times as when the prophets of old thundered their bold courageous warnings to the people, who were about to be destroyed, because of their wickedness. These PROPHETS and APOSTLES, after that they had received the Holy Spirit from on high, were ENDUED with POWER, COURAGE, BOLDNESS. They were not timid, fearful, cowardly, soft-pedalers—like so many today, who have neither power nor courage: who have forgotten the Master's saying: "He that loseth his life for MY sake, shall find it." These MEN of old times were willing to LOSE their lives, or to be imprisoned, FOR HIS NAME'S SAKE. No man or woman CAN fight boldly who is continually worrying about what is going to happen to him or her, or who is afraid of what his neighbor will say. You have got to put your life in GOD'S hands, and THEN FIGHT FOR ALL YOU ARE WORTH, WITH BOLDNESS AND ENTHUSIASM, letting the chips fall where they may.

Would that Rev. Chas. E. Fuller, of Long Beach, Calif. (and many other preachers like him) would correct his own Biblical ignorance on the subject of Jews and Palestine. He says, "Christians should not hate Iraelites." Of COURSE, they shouldn't: White Christions ARE the TRUE Israelites: Jews are the "bad figs." Jews themselves, in all their literature, especially the Jewish TALMUD, proclaim their hatred for Christians. The Jewish TALMUD is the most anti-CHRISTIAN book in the world: just as the Christian Bible is the most anti-JEW.

Unfortunately, many of our ministers, like our Congressmen and politicians, are deadly afraid of the Jewish power of purse and persecution: so they keep silent on important truths. They, like the Disciples in the Garden of Gethsemane, sleep, while this Christian nation is betrayed. (Every minister and every American should read "OPEN LETTER TO CONGRESS" listed herein.) Right now, Radio Station KMPC, Hollywood, is being persecuted by the JEWISH Congress, who has appealed to Federal Communications Commission to revoke its license, because everything over this station is not slanted to JEWISH interests. Long ago, actual FREE SPEECH vanished in America: today only the most hardy dare exercise it.

After that America shall have been purged and cleansed of evil — evil people and evil ideologies — through sorrow, suffering, sacrifice—then "HE WHOSE RIGHT IT IS, SHALL RULE WITH A ROD OF IRON." The glory that WAS America's shall be re-established. Her light shall again shine forth. Old Glory will proudly wave over a people who are PROUD OF HER and her tradition. The most glorious possession of any FREE nation — the Divinely-inspired AMERICAN CONSTITUTION—will regain its rightful place in the minds and hearts of her people, who will truly evaluate its worth. The CHRISTIAN ideal—the Kingdom on Earth—will flower (as by first intent) in AMERICA.

THIS IS MY OWN, MY DEAR, AND NATIVE LAND

This is my own, my dear, and native Land.
This is the Promised Land of long ago,
To call the mystic Kingdom from the sky:
Establish it on this God-blessed Strand.

This is my own, my dear, and native Land,
Ordained to set a pattern in the world.
No foreign history or heritage
Can stir my soul as does American.

Betrayed ideals stab my heart with pain!
Her honor, glory, welfare, are my own.
She lives in me and I in her: each makes
The other what it has become: no gain

Except for both, in all sincerity.
Each answers for the vital part he plays:
For weal or woe, his fate is bound with hers,
Not only now, but through eternity!

In face of man-made menace: Nature's gales,
That seek to sink our Ship of State, let's pray
His Star may guide and guard America,
Until His Day of Righteousness prevails.

This is my own, my dear, and native Land:
Through life, or death, I'll wear no other Brand!

HAIL to the RED, WHITE and BLUE

Hail to the Red, White and Blue,
Mystic emblem of the true:
Symbol of our liberty,
Holy banner of the FREE!

Rally quickly round our flag;
Never for a moment lag.
Now's no time to doubt or falter,
Lest we too should wear a halter.

Hail to the Red, White and Blue!
How long she waves depends on YOU.
Will you write in scrolls of glory
All the worth of Freedom's story?

Now's no time to doubt or falter,
Lest we too should wear a halter.
FREE men always walk upright,
Facing ever toward the LIGHT.

I Love AMERICA

"I WAS BORN AN AMERICAN: I live an American: I shall die an American, and I intend to perform the duties incumbent upon me in that character to the end of my career. I mean to do this with absolute disregard of personal consequences. What are the personal consequences? What is the individual man, with all the good or evil that may betide him, in comparison with the good or evil which may befall a great country, and in the midst of great transactions which concern that country's fate? Let the consequences be what they will, I am careless. No man can suffer too much, and no man can fall too soon, if he suffer, or if he fall, to the defense of the LIBERTIES and CONSTITUTION OF HIS COUNTRY."

—Daniel Webster

Let's preach, and teach, and PRACTICE Americanism, first, last and always. Away with the "Internationalist - Communist" SCUTTLERS of our Country!

America needs only to follow her OWN CONSTITUTION and the Christian code laid down in the SERMON ON THE MOUNT, to fulfill her own destiny, and to BE the "Bright and Morning Star" among the constellation of Nations.

What are YOU sacrificing for LOVE of AMERICA?

Lakeland, Florida, Nov. 18, 1948

Dr. George S. Mitchell
Director, Southern Regional Council
Wesley Memorial Blvd.
Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Sir:

I read with much interest in the papers the account of the Southern Regional Council meeting November 11. It is positively disgusting the way you cowardly Southerners get down and wallow with these immoral negroes. Whatever the North tells you people to do you fall right in and trot along. You have no opinion of your own. The North has tried to force you down on a level with negroes for years, in fact, ever since 1865 when she turned them loose for spite to make a race problem for the South, and now she laughs all over herself to learn that she has finally forced you to do just what she set out to force you to do back in reconstruction days. What is the matter with Southern people anyway? They are the biggest cowards on earth. They have taken every slur, insult and lie the North wants to pour out to them, but almost none of them have the decency to resent anything. If the North spit on the people of the South there is no doubt they wouldn't resent it. They never have resented anything the North did to them. Germany after the first World War defended herself against what she thought were lies and the whole world respected her for it, but the cowardly Southerners never resent anything nor defend themselves against the lies of the North and nobody respects her. If Southern people think they are too "cultured, too refined, too religious and too proud" to "talk back" to the insulting North I don't respect them for it. I cannot respect culture, religion, refinement and pride that makes cowards out of people.

The cowardly Southerners have never told their story of the war of 1861, the facts of which are in the South's favor because they are too cowardly to do it. If one of their own like Senator Bilbo talks back to the insulting North in her own insulting language the "proud people of the South" tell him to shut up, not to resent anything the North says or does, which in effect means "the rest of us are cowards and you should be". Some cowardly newspapers in the South jumped all over him and told him that he wasn't fit to represent the great state of Mississippi only because he dared to talk back to the insulting North in her own dirty insluting language. The South abused him to please the North because she is afraid of the North.

The U.D.C. are always preaching "the South must have her rightful place in history" and when one of her own sons tries to help the South get it, they jump all over him as Mrs. John Wilcox did in Washington, D. C. June 3, 1946 when a professor of history in a university in Washington, D. C. told the United Daughters of the Confederacy that Lincoln started the war of 1861. She nearly went into fits over it and said " he shouldn't have said it. We don't want to get into an argument". Wasn't it worth it? And a Mr. Meyers of Washington, D. C. head of the Sons of Confederate Veterans said of the incident "It was most unfortunate". My God what is the matter with the cowardly Southerners anyway? They yelp like a dog with his tail stepped on for their "rightful place in history" and then go into fits if one of their own tries to help them get it. The whole North is ignorant because the cowardly South has never told her story and won't let anybody else tell it. It would seem the cowards of the South are perfectly willing to let the North tell her lies and have her way. Just anything to make her happy. I don't believe there is a Southerner alive today that has guts enough to talk plainly to the North, and get away with it in his own South. As long as the South remains cowardly the North is going to walk all over her. She is happy to think the South is too cowardly to resent the North's slurs, insults and lies. As long as the South remains cowardly the North is going to do the talking and the Southerners can expect to get the worst of things as they have in the past. Have you forgot how the Southerners were treated at the convention in Philadelphia last July?

The North forced a race problem on you of the South and is making you like it. Instead of telling the North she brought the negroes here and sold them in slavery and turned them loose for spite to make a race problem for the South, and that she still has the money the South paid her for those negroes, and to use that money to send the negroes back to their own land, you let the North make a race problem for you and then tell you what to do about it. Why don't you cowards of the South instead of getting down and wallowing with the immoral negroes and their bastards to please the North, tell the North to get these negroes out of this country, that she still has the money the South paid her for negro slaves she brought to this country and sold in slavery, and convince the North that she was wrong and still is? You won't do it because you are too cowardly to say that to her; you are afraid you will make her mad. You cow-tow to her; you follow in her footsteps, just anything to please her so you can eat the crumbs that fall from her table. You wouldn't dare talk back to the North. The South hasn't that much guts. Lincoln didn't believe in mixing the races, why of all people should you in the South do it? Davis Lee, Negro publisher of the Newark, N. J. Telegram, said last August that "The whites in the South stay with their own and the Negroes do likewise. This one fact alone has been the economic salvation of the Negro in the South". You of the Southern Regional Council should learn a lesson from this Negro publisher, and keep the races separated. What have you to gain by doing otherwise?

The North has to take the negro as her equal because she has talked too much in the past and has to pretend to live up to it, but why does the South have to get down and wallow with the negroes? She made them no promises. The North wants to force you to it because she has to; furthermore, if the South keeps the negro happy and content to live in the South, so much the better for the North; she doesn't want to be bothered with them. That's her main reason for complaining that the "South should treat the negro better". The North has an eye for business. The North does not want the negroes; she wants them to remain contented in the South. Chicago, where I lived, has more negroes than the whole state of Kentucky, and they are getting pretty sick of the whole negro mess, but are afraid to talk too much because they have talked too much in the past. When negroes first began moving next door to white people in Chicago and chasing them out of their homes, I heard a young white woman say: "These negroes should be taken back South, we don't want them in the North". To which I replied "You of the North brought the negroes to this country and sold them in slavery and turned them loose for spite to make a race problem for Southern people, now you have a race problem as the result of the North's spite work and you can like it. The negroes are your babies". This ended the conversation.

But the worst of it is the cowardly South falls for the North's line and falls over backward to ape the North and keep the negro happy and content to remain in the South. Wasn't it George Stephens of Asheville, N. C. who said at your meeting that if the "moderates don't grab the ball, the extremists will", meaning that "if the South doesn't follow in the footsteps of the North and get down and wallow with these immoral negroes and their bastards that the extremists (meaning Truman and Humphries of Minneapolis) will force them to it". Why haven't you people of the South guts enough to show the extremists where they are wrong? Don't let them tell you what to do about it. How long are Southerners going to live in a state of tension over this negro mess? How long will Southern Senators have to filibuster to protect themselves and their states from the meddling of the extremists in the North who are playing around with these negroes to get their votes? Why don't you do your christian duty and get the North to take these negroes out of this country and stop both political parties from playing up to them for their votes? How long is this sort of thing going on? Just so long as the South is too cowardly to take the bull by the horns and do something about it. On this matter the South could lick the North if she were not too cowardly. Wasn't it the North who brought the negroes to this country over a period of 226 years and grew rich selling them to Southern people, and then didn't they turn them loose for spite to make a race problem for you? Tell her to get these negroes out of this country and if she doesn't that this whole mess will be thrown up to her for a million years. You Southerners haven't guts enough to say that to her, have you? Truman and his cohorts used civil rights as a means of getting the Northern negro vote and this is what the Chicago Tribune said about it July 16, 1948: "The northern Democrats were equally hypocritical. Their interest in this matter springs from a desire to win their state and local elections in November. Their appeal to principles of humanity is phoney. Without giving the negroes, north or south, anything substantial, Mr. Roosevelt managed to win great blocks of negro votes in the northern cities for the Democratic party. The northern politicians strove at Philadelphia to hold this support for themselves". You of the South can expect this sort of thing to go on indefinitely unless you step in and do something about it such as I suggested above--have the negro sent out of this country to a home of his own.

I noticed you said that "some Southerners already are employing people (meaning the negroes) on merit". I think white men in the South are anxious to have these immoral negroes and their bastards hanging around their place of business, but I wouldn't stoop so low as to do business with any business man who selects a negro for his business over white people. The negro would not have sense enough to come in out of the rain if he didn't have white blood and that wasn't gotten decently. You and your kind are putting your stamp of approval upon that sort of thing by employing "negroes on merit" who have white blood that was gotten indecently. Look at their faces. They carry the sign with them as to what their women have been doing with white men. About a couple of months ago I read an article in Readers Digest about negroes in Harlem, that every other block in certain parts of that negro district, caters to nobody but white men. If that goes on in New York it goes on in Atlanta and other places. Why don't you hypocrites in the churches of the South induce the North to get these negroes out of this country and stop this sort of thing with white men? Perhaps you are not interested in that since you want to employ negro bastards on "their merit", just to have an excuse to get them into your office. Just how far are you people of the South going with this negro mess? Where are you going to draw the line? Now that the North has got you going as she wants you she will never stop until she has you going all the way with these negroes. She has to take them as her equals and she is going to make you do it. And the cowardly South lets the North lead her around by the nose. The next thing we know the do-gooders of the South will be marrying these negro bastards, or their sons and daughters will be marrying them. The South is coming to just that because the South hasn't guts enough to stop it. The North is doing it and the people of the South have no more sense than to follow in the footsteps of the North.

You people of the South fall over backward doing something "to help the negro" so the North will rise and call you blessed for it, while letting white people in the South go without encouragement to better their condition. The do-gooders of the South have looked down on the "poor white trash" of the South for years and even taught negroes that they are better than these poor unfortunate helpless white people. I saw the picture "Gone with the Wind" and noticed the negro servant referred to the "po' white trash". (Negroes should talk about the po' white trash! They wouldn't have sense enough to come in out of the rain if they didn't have white blood, and how did they get that?) Yes, you hypocrites in the South ape the North and even employ negroes in preference to white people only to get your names in the paper for being "broad-minded" (broadmindedness is like religion it covers up a multitude of sins) and let these poor unfortunate helpless white people go without opportunities just as they have ever since they lived in the South. Why don't you let these negroes go north where they belong and take care of your poor white people? Many of them would make the best of citizens if given a little encouragement. They need your attention and deserve it over these immoral negroes and their bastards. If you continue to give the negro preference over white people they will go north where there isn't too much of that "employing people (negroes) on merit" stuff. You had better try to build up a white South. If you don't the time will come when there will be nobody in the South but the negroes and their white employers who believe in "employing people on merit" meaning negroes.

You go out of your way to help the negro only because you think the eyes of the North are on you, but do nothing to encourage white people to equal or go ahead of the negroes in all professions. Don't you know that with all your encouragement you hold out to the negro he is going to bend every effort to excel the white people in the South, especially the po' white trash? Do you think it will be anything to your credit to have a lot of smart negroes in the South and a lot of dumb white ones? Pretty soon the negro will think he should run the South, and I suppose the do-gooders will let him since they believe in selecting the man "on merit". Let the negro go north where he belongs and take care of your white people. Only recently I saw this headline in a Florida paper "Negro Law Graduates to be Exempt from Florida Exam". Negroes don't have to take the examination here but white people do. If that one doesn't take the prize! Yes, all you hypocrites in the South fall over backward doing something for the negro just to make an impression on the United Nations and the North, and let white people go hang. The cowardly Southerners go from one extreme to another.

What the South needs is a new set of leaders. A lot of us cannot respect the ones she now has. The trouble is they are too much of the Lillian Smith type about which Edward L. Sullivan wrote in his "Capitolgram" editorial page of the American Glass Review of June 3, 1944: "Mrs. Roosevelt's love for the negro race is well known (her's is nothing but hypocrisy) but it would hardly be expected that this woman who is the wife of the President of the United States, would approve of illicit sexual relations between the blacks and whites with or without the benefit of clergy. By her endorsement of "Strange Fruit" as a suitable reading matter for decent people, she has placed her stamp of approval on the text and intent of the author whom no Southerner worth his salt would call a kinswoman". And Clark Foreman about whom a northern paper wrote in March, 1947: "The Southern Conference for Human Welfare (SCHW) is the leading movement now being organized in the South for stimulating mongrelization, intermarriage of blacks and whites, and the political rule of the Communist-educated negroes. This organization is being watched by all anti-Communist leaders in the Nation. It is financed chiefly by left-wing Jews from New York City." And big mouth Ellis Arnall who visions himself presidential timber and thinks he will need the negro and Jew vote some day to help elect him and is playing around with them now to get them warmed up to him. (He is one jackass I would see in H--- before I would vote for him) And the mayor of Albany, Ga. who put on a show to celebrate the occasion of the high jumping negro girl when she returned from Europe "decorated with honors". And Frank Graham, head of the University of North Carolina, who is referred to as a communist. I heard him speak over the Town Meeting program a few years ago and he positively disgusted me. I wouldn't send a dog of mine to such a university.

The above is the type that is running the South today. Where is the better element that they don't rise up and take over and tell the North to mind her own business, that the South's leaders are capable of running their own business without the North's interference. The type that will tell the North to take the negroes back to Africa where she got them. The type of Southerner that is too honorable to come down on a level with immoral negroes and their bastards just to please the North and her ilk. If the better Southerners, if there are any, don't rise up and take hold pretty soon there will be no South; it will all be North, for the North is taking the South, lock stock and barrel and has been for some years.

I don't want any advice from the do-gooders; they always have something to hide behind their long pious faces. Didn't we have enough of them back in the '50s and '60s, and look what they did. Church people have caused this country more trouble, grief and disgrace than all others put together and it is time they learn to mind their own business. There are too many crimes committed in the name of religion and I do not respect it. Wasn't old Harriet Beecher Stowe a minister's wife, and look what she did. Wasn't Lincoln's war fought behind a moral smokescreen? Didn't old John Brown murder in cold blood in the name of religion, and didn't he get the applause and approval of church people? Religion is nothing but a cloak for people to to hide behind while they mistreat their neighbors. And who is a bigger liar than church leaders, university men, public school teachers or a newspaper, all of which call themselves "our leaders". The less they say the better I like them.

And where were church leaders--Catholic priests, Jewish Rabbis and Protestant ministers in the early days of the slave trade carried on by the so-called pilgrims, puritans and their kind that they didn't put a stop to the slave trade in its early states? Why didn't they start a war then to stop it? I'll tell you why. They were too busy selling negroes in slavery for 226 years and enjoying the profits therefrom to concern themselves with the welfare of the negro then, weren't they? And they still are enjoying the profits from the slave trade for none of them have had the decency, the religion in their souls nor the honor to see to it that their congregations return that money to the people from they took it. They still have it and go to church with it in their pockets to put some of it on the collection plate "to send up to the Lord". Don't preach religion to me. It has been banded about too long to cover up this or that until I don't respect it, North or South. Until these negroes are taken out of this country there will be nothing but hypocrisy here and religion will have tough sledding. I haven't been inside a church (except to weddings) for twenty years because I have been reading and found out too much. I never intend to go to church again until church people clean up their past and mend their ways.

Yours truly

P. S. Jackass Georgia and North Carolina are two states I would never live in. They try to ape the North too much for me. If I want to live in the North I will go there. If I want to live in the South I certainly wouldn't live in a Northern state or one that apes her like Georgia and North Carolina.

"Quoting Lincoln"

Editorial From the Tampa Tribune July 24, 1948

It might have been helpful, in the battle over the civil rights question in the Philadelphia convention, if some spokesman of the South had read to the convention an excerpt from a speech made by Abraham Lincoln at Charleston, Illinois, Sept. 18, 1858. In the Course of that speech, Mr. Lincoln said:

"I will say, then, that I am not,nor ever have been, in favor of bringing about in any way the political and social equality of the white and black races; that I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of making voters or jurors of Negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor to intermarry with white people; and I still say, in addition to this, that there is a physical difference between the white and black races which, I believe, will forever forbid the two races being together on terms of social and political equality.

"And, inasmuch as they cannot so live, while they do remain together, there must be the position of superior and inferior and I, as much as any other man, am in favor of having the superior position assigned to the white man."

Mr. Lincoln later rescued the Negro from slavery; but it isn't of record that he ever changed his view on "social and political equality".

The Negro has since been given "political equality", even in the South, where he is now permitted to vote in Democratic primaries; but the social barrier, which Mr. Lincoln emphasised, still exists in the South. It was in upholding that barrier that Southern delegates in the recent convention took their stand against the civil rights plank in the platform, dictated by President Truman.

The Price of Liberty is Eternal Vigilance

Those who read and know contemporaneous history know the struggle of the individual, groups and nations for freedom, and the issue of freedom in Lincoln's time. In this scientific age there is scientific development in all fields and beyond the average persons comprehension.

Lincoln said, "You can fool all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." There are sinister efforts using scientific methods and infiltration within, of divide and rule and encroachment upon the mental and world conditions the stigma and mire of development necessitate intelectual understanding.

Altho I am very careful what I say or do or write about, in the past because of the necessity and being a person of fate, I contended to the various authorities and others about the evil use of radio waves. Altho I am not an officer of the law I do have a police character letter with international insignia and a character letter from the mayor and others. I have traveled up to Winnipeg, Canada; Washington, D.C.; and the Hawaiian Islands and contended the trend of affairs and the intelligence contended they heard about it. However, I contended time and again as far as I am concerned I don't want any of it, and I find it necessary to contend a rebuttal and the inscription on the dollar, "In God we trust."

It is the duty of all citizens to protect, uphold and defend the constitution of the United States from attack of any source and fundamental principles and inalienable rights to protect the individual anywhere, among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Altho there is the issue of Communism in the world, there is a trojan horse going on in the evil use of radio, a network known during the war, a hangover, deception and rough garments. The history of the quislings and the overrun countries of Europe and the corrupt law proves the methods used and the use of mental institutions by procrastination and development, deception and bribery and squeeze play effort and the satanic effort is trying to get away with super deception.

Who said science never betrays, but for the love of mike, it's just to confuse us. In this scientific age and the latter times my life is being threatened by Gestapo tactics and a network of radio known long ago the fiendish evil use of radio waves that is used on the human mind and body that could put a person in the hospital or the grave. The long years and use of this radio stuff is known. It is developed and used on any and all parts of the mind and body, the subconscious mind and sex glands and voluminous pressure that could cause cancer and also used on engine ignition, pirates of radio are known and necessitates adjustment by any sincere effort of law and order.

Those that study the mental, know the mental can't be violated without leaving its mark on the violators. Timothy 1:4 "Now the spirit speaketh expressly that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hyprocrisy having their conscience seared with a hot iron." The warning of Isaiah Ch. 28 to 35, the deeper speech, a little here and a little there, and the book of Revelation.

Analysis proves that Roosevelt might have lost his life because of this development. There was some eyesdropping radio equipment that was brought out in the New York Wire tapping probe that was contended as used on Forrestal and others and contended by a news commentator. Forrestall was put in a hospital and lost his life.

There is indirect confirmation in the Readers Digest of 1947 by the Bell Telephone Co., and the Readers Digest of October 1947 an article by Theoss. Those who are on their toes will find angles, direct and indirect in the news papers and magazines about the situation.

People do have the God given right to form vigilance committees for protection. Isaiah 1:18 "Come now and let us reason together, saith the Lord." Don't take anything for granted and know the angles, the trend of affairs, and firmly with tact consideration and understanding. The warning of Isaiah.

Hoover Opposes U.S. Police Force

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Saturday he is "as equivocally opposed" to any national police force in this country.

"The old world implications in the very words are abhorrent to me as an American," Hoover said.

The FBI chief expressed his views in a signed editorial in the March issue of the bureau's law enforcement bulletin.

Radio-'Divin r' Finds Metals, Lost Persons

PARIS, Sept. 6.— (UP) — Julien Calte, a radio diviner, and an inventor, Andre Coatrieux, claim they have perfected a process for discovering metals and even lost persons with the help of mysterious "radio waves."

Using Calte's divining properties which are "controlled" by a kind of Geiger counter invented by Coatrieux, the pair claim to have helped Paris police discover a body last March.

Police, they said, had given up all hope after a vain search of two months, but the team, using the machine which works by short waves, found the body without any trouble.

"Every metal and every person living or dead, sends out short waves of different lengths," Coatrieux said.

"Personal wave lengths are as individual as fingerprints. The only problem is to know how to receive them. We have not solved this problem," he said.

Coatrieux said the pair worked together to find water and metals rather than bodies.

HOW IT WORKS.

"Here is how we work," he said. "We limit the region of our search through the efforts of Calte, using a ring or watch. Then, with an electric counter, which has an antenna and earphones, I wait for an interruption of the low hum which shows the presence of the object. Each metal, gold, silver, copper must have a special machine keyed to its waves."

He said he thought once he had struck gold, but on digging, found a body with gold teeth.

In looking for water, he said, the low buzz was interrupted by a bee sound like a mosquito if there was water, and a whistling sound if he was near a cave without water.

Mother Unable to Save Four From Fire

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 6.—(INS)—Four children burned to death Tuesday in their frame home on the outskirts of Saginaw while their mother fought desperately to rescue them.

Mrs. Cleo Walters, 34, was hospitalized for shock and burns and her fifth child, Mary, 12, is in serious condition from injuries suffered in a leap from her second-floor bedroom.

The dead are Samuel, 14; Angela, 8; George, 4, and Walter Jr., 1.

Firemen said an oil stove apparently exploded on the first floor where Mrs. Walters slept. She reportedly was awakened by the blast at 3:30 a. m. but prevented from going upstairs by the flames.

Dear sir:

I am wondering if you are the Geo S. Mitchell who yesterday, as reported in today's Atlanta Constitution, recommended to a gathering of delegates from fifteen protestant denominations of the South, that there be "systematic exchange of ministers, speakers, and choirs in negro and white churches.", which means that I am supposed to feast, with great joy, my highly developed olfactory nerves on just any old scent emenating from a Negro occupied pulpit and choir! Perish the thought!

If such a debacle should come to pass I think the aristocracy of the South, many of whom literally trace their ancestry back into the neighborhood of Noah, should seek to be carted off to a domain of their particular own, where they can live their lives among themselves, so that the rest of our great country can be turned over to Negroes, hybrids, and other such stuff.

Very truly yours,

'Little Kefauver' Committee Summoned Here

Continuing Protests Cost City New Residents, Businesses

With the "Little Kefauver Committee" a hot subject in the legislature of Illinois, certain persistent Peorians, anxious that the name of their city be cleaned up from coast to coast, asked the NEWS this week about the chances of the commission coming here.

The chances, the NEWS has learned, would be about fifty-fifty. (The information came from one of the veteran legislators of the Illinois General Assembly.)

Reason given was the fact that powerful interests here, fearful of loss of prestige, would bend every effort to stymie such an investigation.

"Your town has a series of powerful combines, including your daily press," said the legislator who insisted that his name be withheld, "which would fight things being laid on the table. They are even paying sizable sums each month to a man you exposed as being accused of taking money from a gambling combine."

The NEWS agrees. Legislators in Illinois have flatly refused to "get their necks out to oust indicted legislators with political power. A purported "investigation" was once made here at one time by a puppet, and the subsequent "whitewash" resulted in

Peorian May Be in Race for Governor . . .

Big Field Thought To Aid Chances

Political developments of the week placed a severe strain on Peoria's vest buttons.

There is very little doubt in the minds of informed politicians here, that the "boom" for Sheriff John E. Babb of Cook County for the top spot in the GOP Illinois gubernatorial race, is now far past the planning stage.

While many have stated that Sheriff Babb, who smashingly upset entrenched political machines to win his important job, is "coming too fast"; wise political heads have stated that his hold on the independent electorate and especially among mothers and women's clubs is a political phenomenon, that he has both Chicago and a downstate background and that his war record is "terrific."

The name Richard Lyons of Libertyville, veteran state legislator and former candidate for U. S. Senator has cropped up in the political news as a possible lieutenant to William Bill Stratton, who is known to favor a shot at the governor's spot. Lyons, according to the "dope" may soon start actively campaigning in the Stratton camp.

Youth Offered "Headache" Remedy By Stranger In South Side Tavern

Seek Heads Of Alleged Ring Here

By STAFF WRITER

Alarming boldness of "peddlers" of habit forming sedatives, thought to be organized was reported to the NEWS this week, and thought to have effect on the recent sharp increase in burglaries and other crimes by juveniles.

A youth reported to the NEWS this week that he was seated in a certain tavern in the South Side of the city, when a dark-haired stranger engaged him in conversation. After the two had become acquainted, the youth complained of headache.

Yellow Pills

The stranger, after a furtive look around, seeing that the bartender was otherwise engaged, showed the youth a neatly packaged capsule of yellowish hue.

"These are rather expensive," he whispered, "but they will knock your headache quick. And if you want more, I can meet you here to sell them to you."

The youth, suspicious following the recent "goof-ball" disclosures in Peoria, asked if there was a continuing supply.

The man indicated that not only was there a good supply, but that there were others like him engaged, in the trade of selling the capsules to other young folk.

Fashionable

He indicated that it was "the thing" nowadays for the sophisicated to take the pills, and that several high school "parties" had been held at private homes.

Also, he stated to the young man who informed the NEWS, that the tender age of some youthful thieves was caused by their desire to get money for the "fine feeling" the pills caused.

The pills were believed to be the "barbital"-type sedatives of which have been taken from young people by Peoria police at various times recently. Authorities have been searching for the source of supply of the habit forming pills.

The open, and brazen, attempt at peddling is new and unusual authorities have stated.

AN EDITORIAL

The time has come for Peorians to put up or shut up.

If people around this town want the "Little Kefauver Commission" proposed now by the State of Illinois, to come here and look into some of the most amazing alliances between crime and the higher-ups, without regard to petty political sniping; let it be done.

If they don't really care—let them remain silent, that the city's "bad reputation" stop costing the city new residents and new business.

Civic pride hangs in the balance. Sometime ago the Peoria News printed an exposure of a newspaper publisher, chairman of the board of BOTH newspapers and one of the former judicial officers of this county taking $600 monthly from a crime syndicate. Two things happened: The publisher denied the accusation and threatened a lawsuit for damages. The other part of the newspaper business combine, later stated that the mentioned publisher was unfit for his job. The law suit never materialized; shortly afterward the complaining end of the business combine raised the "unfit" person's salary 10 per cent! The publisher or his accuser should have been tried for perjury—nothing was done about that, despite reams of damaging publicity in the metropolitan press of Chicago and St. Louis, Mo. The Peoria Bar Association, which is charged by the state supreme court with policing its own membership, and which has disbarred other Peorians, did nothing.

We are not trying to persecute any individuals in this plain talk. We do say that Peoria, if it wants to be "cleaned up", against which the evidence poses some doubt, should follow through. Peoria will be just as good or bad as its citizens make it. But one of the things which hampers such things as civic pride are "unholy alliances" which permit powerful enough cliques to intimidate officials. Powerful cliques, trading on public forgetfulness, make the laws applicable only to the "poor little people."

DRUG GRIP ON CHILDREN TOLD

Turn To Crime For Dope

WASHINGTON — Boys and girls, already "started on their way to a lingering death as dope addicts," are peddling narcotics to get their own supply, Chicago Crime Prevention Bureau director told Congress.

Dr. Lois Higgins, a doctor of psychology and a policewoman, said more and more youths, including scores of high school students, are acquiring the dope habit every day. Eventually they reach a point of desperation where they may even commit murder to get their supply, she warned.

50-65,000 Addicts

Dr. Higgins told a House Ways and Means Committee that the crimes these youths commit range from petty thievery to prostitution, robbery and murder.

George W. Cunningham, U. S. deputy narcotics commissioner, told the group there are 50,000

Syndicates Claimed Operating Here

In the city's dark corners, smouldering under layers of secrecy and silence, burns a great civic problem.

It has smouldered there for years. It has varied in its estimate by civic thinkers and planners, from a potential volcano, ready to erupt into lethal brilliance; to a necessary but undangerous smoke nuisance.

It is the problem of the city's known disorderly houses and the young.

Health Problem

The community health problem does not seem to be endangered. Records of the city's official family do not show as great incidence of social diseases as in other years, considering population percentages.

The moral question, however, seriously disturbs mothers, teachers, parents and businessmen.

Two sides to the question become immediately apparent. There is one school of thought, one based on the experience of the U.S. Army in the South Pacific theater, which argues that segregated districts are far more to be desired than scattering the ladies of the roving hearts throughout the city. The adherents of this theory are not all commercial or political. There are many men of science, of high moral character, in this corner.

But far more numerous and vocal are those who charge that accessibility and knowledge greatly increases the traffic, particularly among the young. These have written many letters, in a single week to the PEORIA NEWS, which feels therefore obligated to bring the matter to public attention.

These have leveled the following charges to the NEWS.

College boys, leaving fraternity pins exposed as an example of their careless acceptance of the practice, have appeared in numbers at the city's VD clinic. Youngsters, as little as 15 years old, have confided visits to their parents. Peoria's establishments have the look of a "syndicate" operation, such as those exposed by the Kefauver Committee's reports.

The People's Will

The NEWS proposes to find out the will of the public on this subject. While it assumes that the majority of communications will be against the matter; an honest determining of the will of the people is paramount.

Here are excerpts from a frank and open letter received by the NEWS this week: "I used to call you my favorite journalist . . . You always seemed proud o

Chicago Jails Overflowing With Drug Addicts

CHICAGO, May 5. (UP)—Chicago's jails are filled to overflowing with drug addicts, authorities reported today.

Wardens of the county jail and the house of correction warned that they have no more room for narcotics violators.

The situation developed only one month after the new narcotics court, which handles only narcotics cases, went into operation.

SINCE THEN, JUDGE Gibson Gorman has been sentencing a steady stream of violators to jail sentences.

Police and sociologists said the situation reflects the rapidly spreading use of narcotics, particularly among young people.

Superintendent Frank Sain of the house of correction appeared in narcotics court and warned Gorman:

"If you send me any more dope addicts I'll have to pile them on the floor. The cells are filled."

HE SAID THE COURT sent 381 narcotics violators to the house of correction in the last month, and suggested that the judge send prisoners in the future to the county jail.

But Warden William H. Wilbur of the county jail said the cells there were filled. Sheriff John Babb said the number of addicts confined in the jail had risen 25 per cent, and termed the condition a "shocking commentary on the drug traffic."

Gorman met with Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of municipal court to discuss the problem yesterday, but no solution was reached. Scheffler said he would seek to determine whether some addicts could not be sent to the state penitentiary.

Meanwhile, the police narcotics squad reported a sharp drop in the number of arrests since the new court has begun handing out stiff sentences for violations. Most of the cases currently handled by the court are older ones, police said.

THEY SAID PEDDLERS who once operated openly have gone under cover, and that the addict now must seek out the peddler.

Police last night arrested Homer Stiggers, 27, a negro, on a charge of selling two capsules of heroin to a 15-year-old white boy. Police were tipped that the sale would be made in front of a tavern and nabbed Stiggers shortly afterward.

Authorities said Stiggers would be the first offender prosecuted under a new state law providing penalties ranging from a year to life imprisonment for peddling narcotics.

Re: Question of 'attack within'- upon the human personality, entity as such, the functioning of the mind, the senses, etc; women as such, the home, men, children.
Question of methods used to discourage uses of public-libraries, YWCAs, churches, other public institutions, or to make use of the injurious or unsatisfactory.
Extended to streets, sales-service, etc.

My dear Mrs. Tilly:

These matters are so directly related to our survival that I am furnishing some further information to you, and attaching hereto a brief outline of how the business is worked.

You probably are a member of Daughters of the American Revolution, as I am. What I noted in June 1950 at D.A. R. headquarters in Washington, and at the American Association of University Women also gave rise to the question if there was effort to utilize them for some foreign purposes, foreign that is to the purposes for which they are established, whether as a field of operation for any intelligence, investigation and,or espionage business, or political matters of like character, and in such a way as to detract from their proper function and services to individual members,- particularly D.A.R. I felt that any such business conducted at or from D.A.R. would be highly undesirable, that its independence of operation for the purposes for which it is established is essentially connected with the maintenance of our republic of states and civil rights. I felt that the personnel of both organizations should be examined to ensure this being the case. There have been too many revelations of improper tie-ups in all fields to justify any tie-up with any outside agencies either government, political or business, in D.A.R. as an organization.

Reading published report of the current annual convention of D.A.R., I noted that some southern members and delegates on the floor expressed dissatisfaction with the trend toward Republicanism as evidenced in the matters of speech of General McArthur, and the President General's comments thereon. I particularly do not to take any stand in regard to that, because of matters which I feel of so much more vital importance- the uses of techniques which I have tried to describe to you- our very survival and that of our institutions, our republic. However, it could be related to the matters which I report above as having noted at D.A.R. in June. I have not been able to ascertain in what congressman's office

Mrs. Francis Lucas of Ohio, recently appointed executive secretary of the National Defense Secretary, received her training, nor whether she may be connected with any investigative, intelligence or espionage agency outside D.A.R. Her rather complete biography is available in a DAR news leaflet, but it does not state this, and I was unable to ascertain or obtain direct answer from Mrs. Patton in regard to the question of the identity of the congressman in whose office she received training or instructions of some type. Mrs. Patton also of Ohio, said that personnel appointed Mrs. Lucas, that she did not.

Naturally this might be highly relevant, considering the findings of recent investigations of crime committees and tie-ups with many fields. I do not mean to reflect upon anyone or any agency, simply we cannot afford to be mistreated, to be destroyed, injured, particularly when the matter appears to involve our security. We are accused of being apathetic, in this locality at least, actually I was told that people were afraid to do anything, as members of the League of Women Voters.

I am trying to inform you as well as I am able, believing that ourselves, our homes, our families, our institutions and our national security is involved. I do not mean to evaluate such matters as I have reported to you; I do not know their full significance; and I do not mean to cast reflection upon any institution or organization or individual. There are some highly shocking phases which I cannot describe here, raising the question as to just where the limits really are. I hope that this will serve to alert you to these matters.

Yours very truly,

Re: 'Attack from within'- upon the human personality, human entity-
Techniques, methods, etc. effects.

Techniques- methods: (Note: Bombardment principle us used; hypnotic techniques, etc.)

1. Destruction of capacity for reflective thinking, or crippling.
   a. Outright interference with use of philosophy section of library (reported man posing spread-eagle fashion in frontof it; other interference in library.
   b. Interference with and blocking normal free eye movements, also associated with reflective thinking. Emerson published the eyes in reflective thinking focus at a distance; this isinterfered with by 'training'- use of colors, motion, gestures of persons- extended to streets, use of autos- startling, etc.- introducing "cheese-cake" type 'posturing', utilizing abortive Freudian, left-handed psychiatric and Freudian stuff; i.e. systematic interfering with free eye movements.

2. Breaking down the personality- intellectual-emotional functioning of the trained adult, as you might take an auto apart; breakingdown thepersonality into its component parts.
   a. Disarranging the nervous-emotional spontaneous responses, including affectional responses for friends, relatives, relationship between husband and wife, religiousworship, intellectual pleasure, pleasures in aesthetic fields, creative, social, etc.

   As you might take an electric system apart, and then 'setting it up' as it were with short circuits- for comparison as though the kitchen light went on when the front door bell wasrung. i.e. arbitrarily tying in crude sex responses to religiousworship, to the same sex, or to strangers, or to portions of anatomy, or to objects!! This sounds impossible- fantastic- it is merely psychology used for the reverse of what wenormally use it- psycho-analysis in reverse, for creating inefficient, ineffective or destroyed personalities.

3. Training to or establishing 'psychological blocks' to normal behavior pattern and personality of the highly trained adult- 'psychological blocks' to study, reading, creative, intellectual, aesthetic pleasures and activities, to religious worship, to family affections and relationships. Training to frustration, disgust, unhappiness in connection with normal activities and pleasures, including use of public library, YWCA, churches, clubs, family, church, etc. even marketing.

4. Re-setting-up the component parts of the personality- intellectual-emotional pattern arbitrarily fixing or focussing interest on sex, the opposite sex and homosexual stuff, clothing and merchandise.

Involves techniques to set the eyes in crossed state, so that the individual cannot sleep (eyes said to turn out in sleep); and to compel the individual to write letters or engage in other activities against desires; question of techniques to madden with

Re: Question of techniques for 'attack within' - upon women as such, children, men as such, the home, religious worship, etc.

My dear Mrs. Tilly:

In previous communications I have tried to call your attention to the above matters, and no doubt you found it difficult to credit, except that in the light of the findings of the crime investigating committees we find alliances engaged in flouting our laws and our kind of government, and extended into legitimate and respectable enterprise fields.

Actually the business which is going on involves our immediate homes, families- our personal survival, as well as the survival of our nation, states and institutions, and it does appear that women have it in their power to accomplish correction of such businesses. In a city such as your own you would scarcely be able to get an adequate picture of what is involved- and the ramifications and extensions; you would not be able through any agency here to verify my descriptions to you. Perhaps as slightly indicative the enclosed section of page 1 of the Peoria News for April 5, 1951, with its several articles, one relating to the statement of a veteran Illinois State Assembly legislator, quoted as follows:

> "Your town has a series of powerful combines, including your daily press, which would fight things being laid on the table. They are even paying sizable sums each month to a man you exposed as being accused of taking money from a gambling combine"- further referring to this is editorial on same page connecting this with one of the former judicial officers.

(In calling attention to these published statements, I do not intend to vouch for them myself, of course, in any way, nor for any newspaper.)

Subsequent to this a sheriff, acting on a tip, it was published found a store of dope of unusual large quantity even for a city the size of Peoria, and three were arrested. However, the reports coming from other cities of the system for developing the habit in school children, and the grief of the parents are now being published. More than this, there has appearedto be technically highly developed left-handed psychiatric techniques, abortive Freudian stuff, and assorted hypnotic techniques, which would appear formidable as directed against women and girls- that no married woman and no girl could protect herself against being ruined, and such techniques may well be connected with syndicates for white-slavery, prostitution, for recruiting personnel and clients both, as well as for dealing with women or others who may attempt any reform.

Briefly these techniques might be described as capable of breaking down the whole nature and responses of the individual into its component parts, (as you would take an auto to pieces), and rebuilding it again, with a new psychological pattern forced upon the human so 'treated','fixing'the attention on sex (both the opposite sex and persons simulating homosexual characteristics), and on dress, etc.- essentially materialistic and involving the destruction of awareness of God, of family affections, etc. It involves setting up 'psychological blocks' to normal responses, to social responses. It also involves the instigating writing of letters and improper and illegal activities, involving repeated use of hypnotic techniques of assorted varieties. It sounds like some 'stuff' lifted out of a Nazi experimental terror camp, or from such source- or subversive in nature. It also involves what might be described as 'short-circuiting' the normal responses of the human organism, as you might short circuit an electric system, and make the kitchen light go on when the front door bell was rung, as a comparison. By startling, wierd and unnatural treatment, blocking normal responses, threatening by mien, manner, 'pawing' or training to fear of that- extended to virtually all public places surreptitiously, and including persons in public service, and by the use of automobiles and occupants, etc. This may be of considerable significance in view of findings of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee, which disclose that a large auto manufacturer employed in relatively high position a man who recruited convicts for various activities; also that the exclusive distributors for big name liquor industries in the middle west are connected with Mafia, the Capone gang, etc. (The precise statements are available in the reports of the Crime Investigating Committee, now made public, except that thebig name liquor industries are not named as such or by name- such information having been furnished in another publication.

Such curious business extends into the medical profession and across a number of states, into churches. (The last fact was cited by a long time resident of this city-.)

I am not trying to create distrust, only to avoid being apathetic, as we are accused of being and so responsible for conditions existing which jeopardize our safety and our survival. Those who conduct such business are brazen and ruthless. I believe that women can be a great force for good, for stability, for religious and moral values. If we could only wake up and realize it everything we care for is at stake. We cannot afford to be in ignorance and fail to fully evaluate those factors which are responsible for ruining sons, daughters, our right to worship God, to be decent and clean and moral. I am simply writing to you as a private citizen, and have no connection with any organization whatso ever forsuch purpose. Perhaps it will lie within your power to accomplish something. Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote that women by reason of their responses are aware of trends first of all, are able to sense them.

My Fellow Citizens:

If we desire to continue as a free people we must let the people know what the Constitution ment - and that right early. For the life of our Republic of REPUBLICS is at stake.

In the light of the evasions and violations of the Constitution, could the Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic utter truer words if he were here today: "Worse than traitors in arms are the men who, pretending loyalty to the flag, feast and fatten on the misfortunes of the Nation."? "Let the people know the truth and they will save the Republic."?

The pledge of allegiance has been made law. It binds we citizens to uphold our republican form of government and its liberties, - regardless of personal consequences. If the members of your organizations, above all, the chair warmers in your offices, will honor their oath of citizenship as is their solemn duty to do, controls will be banished from this country as the patriots of Seventy-six provided them to be. Free enterprise will be restored to its pre-eminent place in this Nation as our far-sighted and wise founding fathers intended it should be; and, we will get back to sanity in our domestic and foreign affairs.

Shortly after the FBI closed its record of the Dillinger case, someone asked of the Bureau's chief, "Who now is our Public Enemy No.1?" The answer of Mr. Hoover, as I recollect his exact words, was: "The crooked politician." What information did Chief Hoover have at that time to justify such a serious charge?

When a citizen attaches himself to a public payroll, including officers in our armed services, he swears that he will support and defend the Constitution of the United States - not the President - the Commander-in-Chief - no matter what his party label may be. The penalty which Article XI, section 4 of the Constitution provides for violation of the oath respecting its integrity in the least particular, isremoval from office. Does Article II of the Bill of Rights that our fathers made part of the Constitution, provide death without benefit of a jury?

"There is an important sense in which the Government is destinct from the Administration. One is perpetual, the other temporary and changeable. A man may be loyal to his Government and yet oppose the peculiar principles and methods of the Administration." Guess who. I answer, Lincoln and that the Administration - government - is not the Government - not yet.

Did certain of our lawmakers A PUBLIC SERVANTS - betray their trust to uphold Article I, section 1 of the Constitution when they delegated powers to the President which the Constitution forbids him to have? And, if so, why did not the minority remove the majority from office as the Constitutin provides? For your own welfare, the safety of your children and the future of this Republic - not a democracy - I beg you to examine carefully the "Quotes of Great Men on the Constitution" found on page 304 of a book titled: "The New American Encyclopedia"

Has Gen. Eisenhower, alleged DEMOCRAT and champion of free silver, or any other officer in our armed services betrayed their trust to uphold Art.I, sec. 9, cl. 8? Have any of our Governors betrayed their trust to uphold Art. I, sec. 10, cl. 1, 2 or 3? Is Article I, section 8, clause 18 meaningless?

Why has not a days pay been deducted from the monthly salary of our lawmakers who are absent except on account of sickness as more than one law provides? Turning to page 59 of the 1898 edition of: "Principles of Constitutional Law" by Thomas M. Cooley, the Constitution absolutely forbids our public servants to give or loan tax payers money to any man or group at home or abroad under any condition or for any condition whatsoever. There is something wrong somewhere. It isn't in Denmark.

Think of it! According to Opinion Research of the University of Denver, less than 24 per cent of our public servants have ever read the Constitution. And, when I wrote Mr. Leslie L. Biffle about the days pay laws, he wrote that he threw the letter "in the waste basket". It seems to me Mr. Biffle showed an attitude toward our laws which he is/has sworn to defend and the American tax payer that borders on contempt and has no right to hold office.

A kick in the teeth or removal from office may teach our factious and impudent crooked politicians to respect their superiors "We, the people," and our rights - not to run our government to suit themselves at our expense.

Sincerely yours

John J. Flock

If violence is to be kept from spreading: appeal to "let men manage own lines." That's the trouble of all this uprising - trying to shove something on folk. They don't want it. You don't make a man accept a religion he doesn't believe in; make a person he doesn't want. Let those that want negros for their own, have them. We've tried some: helped the deserving ones: & they come to us: but why thrust one - where not wanted; & why does he want to go, and get where he's not wanted? We've never mistreated one yet - That's all bosh: If you want a job w. Sab. get one: but don't let an "unemployed" be used to change - Fraction breeds mate, & warre - Kentuckians.

My Fellow Citizens:

In the language of Daniel Webster who immortalized his name as "The Great Expounder of the Constitution": "The ends I aim at shall be my Country's, my God's and Truth's."

The Negro has never been Constitutionally made a citizen of this country, and therefore has no Constitutional rights whatsoever, under any condition or for any reason whatsoever - no matter who or how many people may say that he has. According to constitutional authorities who are to be trusted, including the world-renowned Thomas M. Cooley, we need a Dred-Scott on it.

Moreover, Abraham Lincoln never wanted the Negro be a citizen of this country. Quoting the words as they fell from the lips of Lincoln: "I am not, and have never been, in favor of making voters or jurors of Negroes, or of qualifying them to hold office, nor to inter-marry with the Whites: and I will say further, in addition to this, that there is a physical difference between the black and white races which will FOREVER forbid the two races from living together on terms of social and political equality." The Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic had the power but he did not have the right to freethe Negro. And, if he did, what Article, section or clause in the Constitution gave him that right?

THE RIGHT OF REVOLUTION

From: "THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC" by James A. Woodburn
John J. Fleck

"ALL MEN ARE CREATED EQUAL," -in their rights to life, liberty and the persuit of happiness. Law and government must recognize the equal claim of everybody to these rights.

"IV. In the fourth place our fathers asserted what we are accustomed to call the "right of revolution." "When any form of government becomes destructive of these ends it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it and to institute a new government, such as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

"One great end of government is protection, -to secure men in their rights to life, liberty, property, happiness, and home. But if government, instead of recognizing the rights of men, denies these rights; if, instead of protecting these rights it violates them, it is no longer a righteous government and has no right to demand obedience and subjection. It may have power to rule, but it has no right to rule. Government ceases to be an object of obedience when it becomes an instrument of oppression.

"Administrations are often turned from an unjust course by an unsuccessful revolution. They fear the repetition of resistance. This is what Jefferson had in mind when he said that some resistance and bloodshed were necessary occasionaly to keep administrations in order."

ADDENDUM

Citizens who have a high regard for their own safety, the welfare of their children, and the future of their property and home, would do well to give some sober consideration to the address "Preservation of Our Institutions", delivered at Springfield, January 27, 1837, by Abraham Lincoln. Could the Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic have looked ahead with clearer vision to the years of the Commander-in-Chief who spouts democracy if he'd been endowed with the power of prophecy? Would it embarrass Mr. Truman to read the Lincoln address over the radio and at his proposed "Whistle Stops" in the light of the epithets of denunciation, criticizing the conduct of others, evasions and violations of the oath to uphold the Constitution, demanding powers which the Constitution absolutely forbids any President to have under any condition or for any reason whatsoever; and, continuous appeals to worse than savage mob passions?

Beware of the catchwords "democracy" and "democratic government" of Stalin and Truman. They are full of Communist-Fabian political quicksand. The United States never was a democracy; is not now. We live in a REPUBLIC. There is not a democratic thing in the Constitution of the United States, or the faintest hint of a suggestion any thing done under the Constitution would ever be done in a democratic way. If there is Mr. Truman and Mr. Stalin, in what Article, section or clause is it? I answer, not in Article IV, section 4, or Article 2 of the Bill of Rights. Will our lawmakers provide Constitutional government as they are/have sworn and are paid to do? And, if not, must "We, the people," get rid of them as Article 2 of the Bill of Rights provides? It is high time our public servants knew what the Constitution meant. You tell them.

BACK TO THE REPUBLIC

By John J. Fleck

The greatest heritage that has fallen to any single people in history is our Federal Constitution.

In this age of perplexing problems and chaotic conditions there is nothing one can do with so great profit, to gain a clear concept of cause and remedy, as to go back and read the history of this country for a few years before the Constitution was written and a few years after it was written. It would have a far-reaching influence for good if the American people who are seeking a way out of almost insurmountable difficulties, debts and taxes could be persuaded to study the Constitution and read the discussions that led up to the meeting of the Constitutional Convention and the arguments that were advanced in the "Federalist" and elsewhere for its adoption.

Before the Constitution was written, the mob drove our Congress from Philadelphia into New Jersey, Shay's rebellion assaulted the courthouses in the State of Massachusetts, money was worth two and one half cents on the dollar, and we had no credit anywhere.

ORDER OUT OF CHAOS

In that black night of chaos and darkness and despair, fifty-five men met in Philadelphia and wrote the Constitution; and almost immediately, governmentally, light began to come out of darkness, order began to come out of the chaos. During the hundred years following its adoption and the founding of this Republic, we made more human progress, material, mental, and moral, than the world had known in all times before. During that hundred years we were the most normal people in our homes, in our schools, in our churches, and in our industry that history records.

Before the Constitution was written, the pendulum of government throughout the centuries had swung back and forth from the monarch to the mob. Alexander Hamilton, the master mind of the Constitutional Convention, said: "We are forming a republican government. Real liberty is never found in despotism, or the extremes of democracy.. If we incline too much to democracy, we will shoot into a monarchy." Which in today's parlance means a dictatorship. In other words, we will be subject to the caprices of the de-Nationalist fraud called the "United Nations" and the flim flam called the World Bank — The Golden Calf — of the International "Money Changers" who aim to dominate all the trade of the world, our own included. The Constitution provided a middle ground, a representative government, and the founders called it a Republic. It guarantees to each of the states a republican form of government.

SOUGHT TO AVOID EXTREMES

The men who wrote the Constitution and founded this Republic strove to avoid the extremes of feudalism on the one hand, and all forms of socialism and communism on the other; and they sought also to avoid ~~welfare.~~ paternalism. So strong was the devotion of the builders of this Republic to the Constitution, that it was provided that public officals should take an oath to support it.

There is much talk of democracy on the part of a very great proportion of government officials, lawmakers, and educators who have a woeful lack of understanding of that oath or an indifference toward it that borders on contempt. There is not a democratic thing in the Constitution, and no one has yet been able to point out within the Constitution of the United States the faintest hint of a suggestion that it provided for direct action in any way, which is the method of democracy; and public officials are still required to take a solemn oath to uphold the Constitution of the United States, and that is the only thing they are sworn to do.

The penalty which the Constitution provides for violation of that oath in the least particular is removal from office. Violation of the oath to support the Constitution is disloyalty to the American people of the most dangerous kind, because it is the disloyalty of public servants who have sought and accepted a trust.

SWINGING AWAY FROM FIRST CONCEPTIONS

So long as we adhered to the guidance of the wise provisions of the Constitution we made great progress in this country and wielded a wholesome influence on the other countries of the world, but during the latter part of the nineteenth century we began drifting away from the Constitution, taking up popular fallacies, such as the initiative, referendum, recall, boards, commissions, bureaus, excess legislation, class legislation, election of judges, the long ballot, majority-rule legislation, etc. It is quite clear that there has been little or no difference between political parties in this regard. The tendency has been general and dangerous. We have been swinging from the sound statesmanship of representative government in a Republic toward the deceitful demagogism of the direct government of a democracy.

We are reaping the results of unwise departures from the Constitution in ever-increasing expenses and ever more and more confusion in governmental procedure.

FALLACY OF DIRECT GOVERNMENT

So long as people permit themselves to concede mentally that the substitution of direct government for representative government is a desirable tendency, which is denied by every page of history and every result of experience, it is impossible for them to think clearly and accurately on problems that pertain to the home, the school, the church, or industry. It is that tragedy, more than any other one thing, that accounts for the mob-mindedness and the confused reasoning and superficial thinking during recent years. All true patriots should make this a solemn hour of decision to exert their every influence to curb any further trend in that dangerous direction.

We should begin at once a campaign of education to carefully and consistently strip from our Government all the popular fallacies of direct government which have become attached to it and restore strictly representative government. We should compel our State Superintendents and school teachers to stop the teaching of foreign ideologies including "Social Studies" and "American" democracy and go back and teach American history and the Constitution as our founding fathers intended and provided they should do — as they are sworn and paid to do. The best possible way to create well-informed and patriotic citizens is to give students from kindergarten through State University, an understanding of the meaning of the Constitution of the United States and a high regard for its wise provisions. What we find in the schools today will permeate the life of the country tomorrow. A high standard of citizenship is all important if we are to keep the republican form of government that was founded when our Constitution was made and that we and our fathers and our grandfathers have known and gloried in.

Our lawmakers and educators should be impressed with the fact that their salaries are paid at public expense for the promotion of public welfare.

Above all, we should try to select public officials who have an understanding of the meaning of the oath to support the Constitution and of sufficient character to have a high regard for the sacredness of taking an oath.

In England they tell the Arthurian legend. That when danger threatens the institutions of the British oliarchy King Arthur will come again and draw his sword, Our Arthur sleeps at Mount Vernon. So long as the potent influence of George Washington remains alive in the hearts of the American people the Constitution, the Republic, will endure.

QUOTES & COMMENTS

My Fellow Citizens:

Permit me to remind you citizens who received a copy of my letter of 29 December 1951 of the clear, far-sighted and wise warning sounded by the Father of His Country in his Farewell Address: "I conjure you to believe me (my fellow citizens) the jealousy of a free people aught to be constantly awake since history and experience prove foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government."

Another warning perhaps. Is it true that Roosevelt ordered the books destroyed and also the plates of "Woodrow Wilson, Dicipie of Revolution" by Col. Jennings C. Wise so that he could start World War II nine days before Pearl Harbor and keep himself, his party leaders, party demagogues and political hacks in power? Was the "Right of Revolution" written in the book: "The American Republic in 1903 by James A. Woodburn, LLD. as a warning? The magazine, The AVENUE of TOMORROW, Detroit 31, Michigan will send you a copy the November 1951 issue which contains the "Righht of Revolution" in part. Write for it.

Only citizens who have failed in the discharge of their duties have pledged themselves to support or defend Europe, Asia or Africa. For to do so is to violate certain parts of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, the Monroe Doctrine; and, the pledge of allegiance which has been made law. It reads in part, as follows: "One Nation, INDIVISIBLE" The United Nations is the old Rothchild wench dressed up in a mink coat. It is our bounden duty, irrefutably, to destroy the ~~the~~ mis-called "United Nations". "Should law and order break down, and should there be domestic violence in the future it will be because citizens have failed in the discharge of their duties." J. Edger Hoover, Bureau Chief of the FBI. Have you failed?

"We are as maniacs if we try to make Europe moral or to settle their disputes by war. A just and solid republican government maintained here will be a standing monument and example for the aim and imitation of the people of other countries. If we were to depend on Washington to tell us when to sow and when to reap we would soon want bread." Could Thomas Jefferson sound more vital warnings if he were today? And, if so, what are they? And, if not, the conclusion is immediate. Could Lincoln? Read his address at Springfield, January 27, 1837 - in the light of today. Then let me know what you think.

Who only think they do."

Mr. Geo. S. Mitchell:

I was disgusted when I read in Chicago papers your remarks at the meeting of the NAACP in Dallas July 2. Southerners are getting as bad as Northerners when it comes to using the church for a cloak to hide, or to force their opinion on the public. Maybe you are a Republican and have an ax to grind. I know how cleverly they work their tricks. No person who goes around preaching religion or using the church for a cloak will get my support on any matter. It is disgusting to watch people use the church to hide their real purpose. We have had too much of that sort of thing in the past and I am fed up with it. We had too many do-gooders back in the '50s and '60s and look what they did. Southerners are too willing to agree with the North's so-called opinion, without thinking the whole thing out for themselves, just to stand in with her. When will the South ever produce a leader who has an opinion of his own and some guts? Lincoln didn't believe in mixing the races, in fact, he believed in white supremacy. Why don't you and your kind follow his leadership?

Yours truly

P. S. Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill of New York had the crust to withdraw the convention of the Episcopal church from Houston, Texas, which was to be held there in 1955 "because the delegates might be segregated". And the good bishop Sherrill has a home in Greenwich, Conn., one of the leading slave trade states of this nation, where he sits in comfort and enjoys the profits from the slave trade from fortunes from that nefarious business that still are in evidence in Connecticut, while criticising the South for doing no worse than segregate the negroes in schools and churches. He will have to mend his ways before he gets my confidence and that of a lot of others. The good bishop Sherrill gags at gnats and swallows camels. I told the good bishop Sherrill that the church has a lot of cleaning up to do if it is to survive. One thing the church will have to do is to clean up this negro mess church people made in the 1860s when they turned the negro loose for spite.

Why not try God? Why not try RACE? Why not a World RACE map? A World RACE Conference? A World divided by RACE? Why not a beautiful "Mongrelia" for the "Mongrelian" or mixed RACE? Why not a homeland for each and every RACE on the earth? RACE is God's business! The Jewish RACE observes God's laws on RACE because the Israeli Parliament passed a law making it illegal for any Jew in Israel to intermarry with Gentiles. The Integrity of RACE is the first law of life and the Right of RACE is the right of every RACE because RACE is the basis of Politics and the cause of War. It is RACE that counts! May Frank Duffey.

Dear Sir:

I read with much interest and disgust in Chicago papers the comments of different church leaders on " racial prejudices", the "biracial shool system in the South" and the "interracial church". One comment was that "prejudice is costly" . I wonder why church leaders didn't think about these things a long time ago. If they had you wouldn't have to play the hypocrite now to cover up the failures and mistakes of your forefathers. If you think white people as a whole are so asinine as to accept negroes in churches and other places with enthusiasm and open arms, you are just plain crazy. Why should they? Most if not all these negroes came down through a long line of immoral negro women. How else did they get their white blood? Some of them have been at this indecent business with white men over such a long period of time their offspring is nearly white. Nobody but an ignorant person would accept them in a social way or fraternize with them, and nobody but trash would marry them. Church leaders stand in their pulpits and religious organizations and preach morals and decency to white people while indecency between white men and negro women go on under their noses and they do nothing about it. But they tell me what to do about the "poor negroes" and that it is unconstitutional and unchristianlike not to accept them in churches, schools, neighborhoods and society. Let me tell you now that church leaders are weakening the influence of the church with this negro stuff. If I have to come down on a level with indecent negroes, and marry one to please the negroes and keep them happy, and give the rest of the world the impression that by doing so "I am a christian", frankly, I don't want to be a christian. What have I gained by becoming a christian? A lot of immoral negroes for friends? And what have we to gain by becoming mulattoes? That is what we are coming to under the leadership of churches.

Even Lincoln, the idol of the North, believed in white supremacy. He did not believe in mixing the races. Let me quote from his speech at Charleston, Ill. Sept. 18, 1858: "While I was at the hotel today, an elderly gentleman called upon me to know whether I was really in favor of producing a perfect equality between the negroes and white people. (Great laughter)....I will say that I am not, nor ever have been in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races (applause) that I am not, nor ever have been in favor of making voters or jurors of negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor to intermarry with white people....And inasmuch as they cannot so live, while they do live together there must be the position of superior and inferior, and I as much as any other man am in favor of having the superior position assigned to the white race". See Beveridge's Lincoln Vol. 2, p. 673. And on page 676 of the same volume Lincoln says: "I am not nor never have been in favor of negro citizenship". Yet the church is willing to flout the will of the "great Lincoln" because you and yours have made a disgraceful mess in the past and don't know what to do with it except to have the negro absorbed in the white race to "clean up the mess" your own forefathers made back in the '50s and '60s. What are we coming to anyway, when church leaders tell us how to live and what is good for us, and lead us into a mess like that? Positively, a lot of us are disgusted, and frankly, we are not going to follow our leaders; we are going to do our own thinking and do-gooders can like it. They have misled us before and we are fed up. We had too many of them back in the '50s and '60s and look what they did.

If "christians" in the North had minded their own business in the '50s and '60s there wouldn't be a race problem now, and church people wouldn't have to play the hypocrite in an effort to make amends for the mistakes of their forefathers in the past. The negro was "set free" for spite because of envy, jealousy and hate of the Southerners and taught to demand social equality with them when he wasn't even fit for citizenship (New England and the North never intended to give him social equality with themselves) and left him in the South to make conditions there as unbearable as possible because the "christians" of New England and the North hated the people of the South. Now that the negro is in the North making a mess of things you are trying to force everybody else, including the Southerners, to take the negroes as their social and political equals, so you and yours can feel better about the mess you got yourselves into for spite. The funny thing is that New England and the North pretend to love their own mess. Frankly, nobody loves the negro and nobody wants him. Let that include the best of church people. Those who pretend to love the negro are playing the hypocrite. I listened to a Jewish program on the air last August and heard a Rabbi say to a Gentile on the program with him, that "if we could go back to the civil war there were many things that were done then we wouldn't do now, and the Gentile agreed that that was true. I understood what they meant. Nobody wants this negro mess, and we wouldn't have it if church people had attended to their own business in those days and we had had a man in the White House who had intelligence enough to be president of the United States.

You and your kind do all you can to get Southerners to think and do your way so as to get by with the mess your forefathers made for spite. If Southerners are fools enough to follow your advice they are bigger fools than I think they are. If they use their heads as they have in the past (Southerners have always been our best leaders, and we wouldn't be in this negro mess today if we had followed their leadership) they will not take New England and the North as their models. They haven't intelligence enough to run their own business and that is why we are in a disgraceful negro mess today. They have a lot of nerve to tell others how to run their business when they can't run their own intelligently. Under the "christian leadership" of New England and the North negroes were brought to this country and sold in slavery over a period of 226 years, which was the forerunner and excuse for the war of 1861 "to free the negroes" for spite they had sold in slavery and received pay for, and "save the union" they had done nothing to make in the first place. Under their political leadership Lincoln was put in the White House to run the country when he wasn't fit for the presidency even in normal times, and certainly not in the '60s when the nation called for the biggest mind we had which wasn't Lincoln. He led us into a "stupid, unnecessary and wasteful war" as Dr. Paul M. Angle of the Chicago Historical Society put it a few weeks ago. Under their "christian leadership" the negro was turned loose for spite and left in the South to make a disgraceful race problem for the Southerners which has resulted in a race problem for the whole nation, race riots and an economic problem. Under their "christian leadership" the South was presented with the most disgraceful reconstruction period in all history when church people in New England and the North were trying to force the amalgamation with the negro on the white people of the South. Their purpose was to make the whole South a mulatto population. This was the work of Thad Stevens and Chas. Sumners, both New Englanders, and their kind (my history teacher in Chicago told his class that we could search history the world over for a parallel to that disgrace but that we would never find it. Under their "christian leadership" our Southern people have been discriminated against in tariffs, freight rates, taxes, and in many other ways to enrich the North at the expense of the South, and keep her out of the manufacturing business so she wouldn't be a competitor of the North and New England. Under their leadership from Lincoln to Coolidge we had no immigration law worthy of the name, thus permitting the riff-raff of Europe, isms and all, to come to this country uninterrupted. See Stoddard's "Re-Forging America". It took the first world war to wake us up as to what was going on under Northern and New England leadership. Under their leadership this country got itself into the worst panic in the nation's history when many people almost starved and others jumped out of windows. They were very instrumental in bringing about the second world war (and the first). Do you remember when old Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts used his best efforts (or worst) to keep this nation out of the League of nations because he was envious and jealous of Pres. Wilson and hated him? If we had been a member of the League of Nations that instrument might have helped prevent the second world war and our present world mess. The above are just a few reasons why church people should not tell others how to run their business. They haven't intelligence enough to run their own judging by church people in New England and the North in the past.

Take a look at past history and the mess handed down to us by "our" forefathers, church leaders among them. The negro was turned loose for spite because of envy jealousy and hate of our Southern people by New England and the North and left on the South's doorstep to starve for downright meanness. Although New England "christians" brought the negroes here and sold them in slavery and grew rich. she used slavery, her own crime, as the excuse to murder the people she hated and envied. Neither New England nor the North cared anything about the negro; he was nothing but a political football. When the South thought the time ripe to set some of the negroes free (after they had been trained and made partly fit for citizenship) she asked Massachusetts if she would take part of them and was told in "No,uncertainty". The South asked the border states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois if they would take part of them but they refused and said, "If you send any of them here we will chase them back across the river again". And they called themselves the "friends of the negro". Phooey! It was not love of the negro that induced the "friends of the negro" to turn him loose, it was envy, jealousy and hate of Southern people. The negro was turned loose for spite as a means of punishing the South. Go through the New England states and see how few negroes you find there. They don't want them; they don't want to be bothered with them; they don't want to give them jobs nor feed them when they are out of work. But they sit off in their selfish corner telling everybody else what to do about the negroes they don't want. The negro's head was crammed full of hate of the Southerners when he was turned loose for spite, and he was taught to do everything he could to the Southerners in the meanest way. There hasn't been a piece of dirty work too disgraceful for New England "christians" to do or teach negroes to do to the Southerners and there hasn't been a falsehood too big for them to manufacture against the South. All this in the name of religion. There have been so many crimes committed in the name of religion by just such people that a lot of us have lost respect for everybody's religion, and quit going to church.

During the war and reconstruction period Union soldiers from New England and the North were swarming through the South and living like animals with negro women and the mulatto population increased twice what it had been for 200 and more years; some of them were down there long enough to start the third generation of mulattoes. Then they came back north telling falsehoods on Southern men that they had done all of it. Negroes can boast, if it is any credit to them, that their forefathers came over on the Mayflower to "worship God as they pleased" as "did the pilgrims". When New England church people owned negro slaves and found slavery unprofitable to them, took their negroes to the Southern states and West Indies and sold them. They were not fullblood negroes but mixed breeds. New England "christians" sold their own blood in slavery and went to church with the money in their pockets to put some of it on the collection plate to "send up tp the Lord".

The South was left poor by the war which was fought for New England's money-making benefit, and was unable to do anything for the negro, but did "his friends" in New England and the North go to his assistance? No, they left him sitting on the South's doorstep to starve and without a church, a school or a home. (New England and the North went through that war almost wholly unscathed. They were richer after the war than they were before it started, and could have done much for the negro.) The only thing they did for him was to donate a little money for a college, just for the looks of things, and how many negroes were fit for a college education, or had the money to go to college? It takes a long long time to civilize a race, and most of the negroes are not fully civilized yet. Those who appear to be are the ones with the most white blood. The negro was turned loose for spite when he wasn't fit for citizenship, and the ballot put in his hands to vote before he could read or write, and many of them couldn't even talk English. Republicans went with them to the polls to mark their ballots "to be sure they were not deprived of their God-given right to vote Republican". Traditionally Republican New England was still engaging in the slave trade when Lincoln moved into the White House. Those negroes too, got their freedom and the ballot. All this under the leadership of the "good christian" New England people.

The Southerners are criticised by the descendants of slave traders in New England and the North, whose forefathers grew rich selling negroes as slaves to them, for "her unfairness to the negroes", but let me say that the South does not owe the negroes anything. She did not bring them to America nor did she sell them in slavery as New England did: she received no pay for them when they were so kindly set free for spite; nor did she leave them in the South to starve as you do. She made them no promises and has nothing to live up to. What the negroes get in the South in the way of schools they get almost gratis for few negroes own property and therefore very few of them pay taxes in the South. They are even opposed to paying a poll tax which would go a long way toward building schools for them and paying their teachers.

If church people in New England and the North had attended to their own business and let the South solve that slavery problem she would have solved it without bloodshed or race problems such as we face today, and both races would be happier than they now are. It is too bad the South didn't win the war for the good of both races. She was too smart, too decent, too honorable, too big and too fine to leave to future generations a race problem and race riots as the imbaciles of New England and the North did. Every day I hate Lincoln and these hypocrites in churches more and more and so do others. (I am ashamed that my people in Illinois followed such leadership.) Even Republicans like McCormick of the Chicago Tribune are now saying of Lincoln's "stupid, unnecessary and wasteful war" 'Our much regretted civil war'" which is an admission that that war was wrong and should not have happened. That's no compliment to Lincoln, and church people who brought it about.

Lincoln is called the "great emancipator" by his followers, yet he never freed the negroes nor was he interested in them. Lincoln's emancipation proclamation was supposed to be the greatest document he ever issued but it was no credit to him for it was not issued on any humanitarian ground. See Lincoln's letter to Horace Greeley Aug. 22, 1862. It was issued not to help the negro but to cripple the South so as to make it easy for him to go down in history as the winner. He was a poor loser and would stoop to anything to win. Lincoln had no concern for the negro , as church people and politicians would have us believe, and said on his first inaugural ~~address~~ day "I believe I have no lawful right to interfere with slavery where it exists, and I have no inclination to do so". He also said in the campaign that "if anything is wrong and must be abolished" yet that hypocrite took the case of a slave owner against a slave mother and her children to send them back across the border to slavery again. But school teachers, preachers and newspapers hold him up to the nation and the world as a model for others. He couldn't be depended upon nor trusted.

The negro and "his friends" tell us that he helped build America (so did the horse and in a similar way) but little or nothing is said about America making the negro what he is. The negro was good for nothing when the "pilgrims" and puritans and their descendants brought him to America and sold him in slavery so they could eat, wear clothes, have a roof over their heads, buy Bibles, pay preachers, build churches in which to "worship God as they pleased", and to build Harvard and Yale. They were heathens, savages, near-brutes, wild things and cannibals. One writer says if they had not been mixed to some extent with white blood they would have retrogressed to the brute, they were so low. The South took those negroes, held them in restraint until they became partly civilized (at least some of them) christianized, and shed their tails and horns and became human beings. The South trained those negroes (the ones she had long enough) to be good farmers, carpenters, painters, etc., and good cooks, housekeepers and dressmakers, and the negroes owe the South much for what they are and they should be thankful for it. They wouldn't have gotten this good training if they had remained in the African jungles. Negroes other there are still killing and eating their own race and hanging on to a limb by their tails. Slavery was the gateway through which the negro came to civilization, christianity and a better life and he should be thankful for it. I see no reason for being thankful for the manner in which slavery was gotten rid of. Lincoln's disgraceful war was worse than slavery, and unnecessary.

The only negroes who have contributed to the uplift of the negro race are the mulattoes, but who can be proud to be a mulatto? If there is any excuse for the bad behavior of negroes because of cramped conditions socially, and otherwise, there certainly is no excuse for their indecency. They don't have to keep that up no matter what their working, social, housing or political conditions are. Negro women can stop this indecency with white men if they want to stop it. The negro race is the lowest race on earth. He not only has white blood he got indecently, but savage blood. Who wants to work with him? Who wants the negroes as friends and social equals; who wants them even in the church with white people and who wants them as neighbors? We have hard enough time trying to keep some white people decent without taking on these immoral negroes.

I don't believe 1% of negroes are capable of voting intelligently, and enough ignorant voters can ruin any country. Who was to blame for the condition was in when Pres. Roosevelt took office but ignorant, backwoods, hillbilly voters? Who was a bigger mistake than old Abe Lincoln? He was an ignorant, backwoods, hillbilly and fool and not fit for his job. He led us into a "stupid, unnecessary and wasteful war" from which we have not recovered, and who put him in the White House but the ignorant, crackpot, hillbilly and hick voters of New England and the North. Let that include preachers of all denominations. The ignorant Lincoln whom the ignorant voters put in the White House was directly responsible for one of the most relentless, brutal and unjustified wars in modern history. My history teacher in a Chicago school told his class that Lincoln's war "cost this nation over five billion dollars (that was a lot of money for those days) but that every negro could have been purchased for less than three billion". And who put the fool Lincoln in the White House but a lot of ignorant voters in New England and the North? He made a disgraceful mess for which New England and the North will have to apologize until the end of time. But didn't they ask for it?

We are told that it is "unchristianlike and undemocratic to deny the negro his rights". There are a lot of things about a democracy we don't like (mixing negroes and whites together; giving the ignorant the ballot when they don't know to use it intelligently; and allowing foreigners to come to this country and take jobs and homes from Americans while they go on relief and live in garages as some of them have a few years ago, for example) and I don't know of anybody in church life who has any right to tell me how to live. He had better get right himself. Nobody told me more falsehoods about Lincoln and his disgraceful, unnecessary war than church leaders, university professors, public school teachers, newspapers and the like, all of whom are supposed to be religious in one way or another. Nobody can read the "Hidden Lincoln" by Hirtz and believe "our leaders" told the truth about old Abe. Forcing us to accept the objectionable features about a democracy only cause us to become more and more disgusted with it all. To make democracy work one must be trained to understand what democracy is. And church people had better get right themselves before giving advice to others. I haven't forgot their past failures and sins.

The forefathers of ministers and other church leaders, school teachers and the like, who are now giving advice and telling others how to live, and criticising Virginia and her Southern neighbors for slavery, were in a great way responsible for the present disgraceful mess we are in, and for race problems and race riots. Where were your people in the early days that they were not here helping Virginia, our first permanent English settler when she came to this country in 1607, blazed the trail for the rest of us and laid the foundation of this nation which by their absence forced Virginia to buy negroes to do the work your people were too lazy to do? I'll tell you where they were. They were back in Europe in more comfortable quarters while Virginia was building America with whatever labor she could get. When that hard work was done your people came rushing in to get their hands and pockets full, but never missed an opportunity to damn Virginia for slavery, did they? Even the "pilgrims" when they finally arrived as laborers for the Virginia colony (they did not come for religious reasons as New Englanders would have us believe) sat back in their selfish corner "trying toperfect their own conscience" while Virginia was building without them. The only thing they did to help build America was to steal negroes from Africa, separate them from their loved ones, bring them to America and sell them in slavery so they could eat and get money to get up in the world. Ministers in New England pulpits advised their congregations to bring more and more negroes here to sell in slavery and said "the more negroes you sell the more money you will have" (to pay the preachers).

Where were New England and Northern church leaders--Catholic priests, Jewish rabbis, and Protestant ministers in the early days of the slave trade carried on by so-called pilgrims and puritans that they didn't put a stop to that disgraceful business in its early stages? Why didn't they start a war then to stop it? Why did they wait 226 years and grow rich off the slave trade before deciding to "free the negroes" for spite? I'll tell you why. They were too busy in those days enjoying the profits from the slave trade to concern themselves with the welfare of the negroes then and the future welfare of America, weren't they? And they still are enjoying the profits from the slave trade, for none has had the decency, the honor, nor religion in his soul to want to do the right thing and return that money to the Southerners from whom they took it, and none has had the decency to suggest to his congregation that they return it. Church people of all denominations are still going to church with money in their pockets the South paid them for negro slaves and putting some of it on the collection plate "to send up to the Lord". Many of them are descendants of the "pilgrim fathers", who came to America to "worship God as they pleased".

Where were New England and Northern "christians" that they didn't put a stop to sweat shops which were worse than negro slavery in the South? Where were they when old John Brown was murdering in cold blood in the name of religion for the money-making benefit of his own New England people? They gave him their blessings and approval didn't they? Where were they before Lincoln's bloody disgrace began for the money-making benefit of New England and her kind? They were going from coast to coast wearing a long pious face telling falsehoods on Southern people with a Bible under one arm, a bottle of whiskey under the other (puritans were the biggest drunkards on earth) and money in their pockets the South paid them for negro slaves trying to stir up trouble to start a war for their own money-making benefit and to gratify their envious, jealous and hateful desires and wishes, weren't they? Where were they in the years of reconstruction of our Southern states that they permitted that disgrace to go on for years, which was the blackest disgrace on America's record? They were taking the leading part in it and going to church afterward to hide what they had done, with money in their pockets the South had paid them for negro slaves and put some of it on the collection plate "to send up to the Lord".

Where were they in the days when Thomas Jefferson, a Southern man and Virginian, wrote the Declaration of Independence and put a clause in it to stop the slave trade that they allowed John Adams of "liberty-loving, freedom-loving, cradle of liberty" Massachusetts to have that clause taken out, because he said, "We first want to find other employment for our ships before we give up the slave trade"? Old Benj. Franklin joined Adams in having that clause taken out of the Declaration of Independence so their own state of Massachusetts could continue making their living by selling negores to Southerners for slaves. Franklin and Adams' failure to do their duty as christians, good citizens, great men and statesmen, if they were all these, enabled their own state of Massachusetts to start a war in 1861, using slavery their own crime, as the excuse for it, and today we have a race problem as the result of their failure to do their duty. America would be better off if Franklin and Adams had never lived. The great Jefferson and other Southern leaders tried to do with the stroke of the pen what old Abe and his kind did with guns. Whom then should I admire and respect? Southern leaders or the "good christian" murderers of the sixties?

The slave trade in many respects was worse than German concentration camps. New England "christians" crammed negroes into filthy ships (they were seldom cleaned out from one voyage to the next) like cattle on a cattle car, and forced to stand on their feet for weeks and months as voyages were long. Many of them died for lack of food and water or from disease and their bodies were thrown in the ocean like a rat with no christian service. On the upper deck one could find the captain of the ship down on his knees with his face lifted toward Heaven, praying to God for a safe return to American shores with his cargo of negroes, while the negroes stood in filth above their ankles in the lower part of the ship. Those ships stunk to high Heaven, and one writer says that long before you could see them you knew they were coming by the smell. Talk about cruelty, what do you think of that? Where were New England and Northern "christians" when the slave trade was doing its worst? The slave trade with all its crimes and filth went on for 226 years while the so-called pilgrims, puritans and their kind grew rich, and "christians" did nothing about it.

The whole foundation of New England and the North was laid with slavery and everything they have is smeared with slavery, even their religion if they have any. Marshall Field & Co. in Chicago was built by Marshall Field of Massachusetts, a product of the slave trade; so were the Moody Bible Institute, Newberry Library, Christian Science, Congregational and other churches, products of the slave trade. Some years ago a Boston newspaper threw up to the Middlewest that Boston loaned money to build her railroads but that the Middlewest had never returned it. And where did Boston get it? She got it selling negro slaves to Southern people and "forgot to return it". Old South church and Trinity church in Boston and the Hall of Liberty in which so many denunciatory speeches were made of the South and slavery were built with money the South paid New England church people for negroes they brought to America as slaves.

No matter how much you and yours preach to the contrary, negroes are not wanted in this country. The North says little because she made this negro mess, and because she has talked too much and has to pretend to live up to some of it. The North never did anything for the negroes in her whole life. She turn them loose in the 1860s for spite, not principle; what she has given him since she has given him because the negro has either forced her to do it, or because she has talked too much and feels forced to pretend to life up to it. Or, the Republicans are looking for votes. In many ways he is told he isn't wanted. Some years ago I heard a young negro from Alabama who was with a minstrel, say that he hated the North because she is so hypocritical. "She tells us to expect much from the North but does not give us these things. At least, we know what to expect in the South", he said. Don't forget these hypocrites in the churches in New England and the North took the negroes as their equals in the 1860s when they turned them loose for spite. Shortly after the 1940 census was known the Chicago Tribune, a Republican newspaper, and "friend of the negro", lamented that the only increase in population in Chicago was in the negro section of Chicago's south side. The Tribune is an enemy of the South and is very critical of her "segregation of the negroes and for Jim Crowism", yet this same Republican Tribune, this "friend of the negro", suggested segregation of the negroes right here in Chicago. See the Tribune May 6, 1928.

The only reason Northern and Eastern schools take negroes is because they and theirs have talked too much in the past and are afraid of criticism. In 1923 Harvard refused to take negroes in her white dormitories until Southern newspapers and others literally took the hide off Harvard for it, and then she set about to mend her ways. Harvard and Yale, as well as Columbia and Princeton were built with and supported on money the South paid New England and Northern "christians" for negro slaves they brought to America and sold in slavery.

Everybody believes in segregation in one form or another. Even negroes believe in it and practice it. Negroes demand justice for themselves, but don't practice it. They wanted the continuance of the FEPC after the second world war to insure fairness to the negro, yet during the war the FEPC department of the government had 65% negroes. How come? In Chicago a housing project was started about 1946 to give the poor class of negroes better living quarters, but the "better class" of negroes objected to having the poor class in their neighborhood and told the authorities to put them somewhere else. Why don't they practice what they preach? And I see letters from negroes in Chicago papers objecting to some of their race coming to Chicago, because their poverty is objectionable to the better class of negroes". If negroes don't want their own, how can they expect white people to accept them?

If New England and the North are as much interested in the negro as they pretend, why has it taken eighty odd years to get around to proving it? Let them not forget that they took the negro as their equal back in the 1860s. And let me remind them that just after the war negroes went to New England and the North looking for work but were told there was no work and for them to go back South (where conditions were such they could hope for little or nothing). Now New England and the North are pretending to love the negro again and I am wondering what they are trying to hide this time.

If there had been more real christianity and less hypocrisy, lying, prejudice and hate in the days of Lincoln, old John Brown, Wm, Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, the Harriett Beecher Stowes and Lovejoys, our country would be better off, and churches would not now be trying to solve the negro problem, which "christians" in New England and the North made for us, and we would have more respect for our church leaders. In this regard let me quote from Re-Forging America by Stoddard of Boston: " The civil war is the supreme disaster of American history. This titanic struggle dealt the nation wounds from which it has never recovered. Indeed the blow was, in a sense, mortal, because it shattered the original pattern of our national life beyond repair. Though the vanquished Confederacy suffered the heavier material loss, the idealistic losses of the victorious North were even graver than those of the defeated South". With this in mind, let me remind the church people of New England and the North that they are getting what is coming to them. If we have lost respect for their so-called christianity whose fault is it? They sowed their seeds back in the '50s and '60s and since, now they are reaping their reward for meddling with what was none of their business. And don't forget that "Whatsoever ye sow that will ye also reap".

The world is in a mess today because the church is a failure. If this were not true the war of 1861 wouldn't have happened, nor would we be trying to pull ourselves out of the mess left by the second world war and Korea (and it looks as though we are about to get into another mess in Indo-China). Churches are nothing but cloaks for people to hide behind while they mistreat their neighbors. Many of us quit going to church because we have no confidence in nor respect for, any church leader. Religion has been banded about to cover up this or that until we have lost respect for all religion. Ministers and other church leaders are in their work for the money they get out of it, or for the opportunity of spreading hate and prejudice in their hearts to other people under the pretense they are doing their christian duty. One such outstanding one in Chicago is Preston Bradley, a "friend of the negro", to hear him tell it. Church people are never around when there is any real work to be done. They are only around when there is a flag to be waved, head a parade or get in the limelight in a discussion about "taking immoral negroes and their bastards as our church and social equals". I have been observing church people for a long time and have come to the conclusion there are no christians and that religion is a joke. Just watch religion in action! Ministers and other church leaders are long on preaching but short on practicing it. They had their chance a long time ago, and what did they do with it? It is now history what they did with it.

I am fed up with church people making a mess and then telling me what to do about it. It is time they learn to mind their own business. I don't want their advice and I am not going to take it. I am going to do what I think is best and they can like it. These negroes could have been sent to the Republic of Liberia which was acquired by the Monroe administration for the purpose of colonizing freed negroes from this country if church leaders had wanted to see justice done to both races. The money that was used to carry on a "stupid, unnecessary and wasteful war" could have been used to purchase these negroes (the South was entitled to pay for them) and send them back to Africa and save this country this negro mess (and the lives of men) if our so-called leaders, church people and all, had not been barbarians back in the 1860s. Oh, church leaders say "God made all of us of one blood", but don't forget that He left each of us to our own habitation. He put the negroes in Africa and the rest of us somewhere else.

Church leaders talk about the "brotherhood of man" with money in their pockets the South paid them for negro slaves, and with the blood of Southerners on their hands, pretending to do God's work. Yes, "prejudice is costly" and so was the war of 1861 and all its after effects, but none of you church people did anything about it then, nor are any of you doing anything about it now. You waste your time preaching "social equality for the negroes" to me.

Yours truly

A Disgusted White American

P. S. For years negroes have been crammed full of falsehoods by Republican politicians and used to keep them in power. Now the Jews are using them as a front for Jewry. Nobody in the past has mistreated the negroes more than the Jews. They are now using them to increase the strength of the minority groups only for the benefit of the Jews. This "brotherhood of man" stuff is a joke.

I suppose you hypocrites in churches were jubilant over the political supreme court decision on May 17th, which involved 5 million negro votes for the Republican party which it sorely needed judging by the election of 1952. Warren, the Eisenhower appointee, who was not far removed from politics as governor from the state of California, engineered that political decision through the court for the benefit of the Republican party. He hammered the associate justices to get them to reverse their previous opinions in order to have a unanimous decision and make it appear that no politics had entered in. If you would give as much attention to wrongs when they start, as they should when Massachusetts started the slave trade in 1635, we might be interested in what you say now on behalf of the "dear negro".

Church leaders sit around on their fanny and never become concerned about the negro at the right time, but come out swinging for him when the whole mess comes to a climax as it did in 1861, and over segregation of the schools in the South. Church leaders stand in their pulpits with money in their pockets the South paid them for negro slaves and with the blood of Southerners on their hands telling others how to live. Where were all church leaders when Massachusetts started the slave trade and continued it for 226 years before they saw anything wrong with the enslavement of the negro? Didn't they know it was wrong then? I am against that political court decision. Let the Southerners work out their own problem, now that you and your kind made it for them.

God's will—will not live a life of hell on earth—they will not undergo, an undescribable suffering as human outcasts in eternal Hell.

BRETHREN! This is God's World—Our preparatory abode, to create ourselves into fit inhabitants of Heaven; into a Godly Nature of a Christ-life of 100% Virtue. It is expedient for all Men who do God's will, to unite into ONE GODLY FAMILY, ONE SOCIETY OF PARADISEISM, (Catholic Mission College of Saintly Virtue). Men of Good Will have everything to gain, and nothing to lose—when they unite, and change this our Earth—into the long deferred PARADISEISM, the sequel of brotherly Mutualism.

of Good Will to UNITE WITH ALL THEIR WEALTH, as APOSTLES of GOD into One Godly Family! Because: The Human-race is face to face with the final DIVISIONARY EVOLUTION of MANKIND into positive (Godly) versus negative (satanic) MUTUALISM! Humanity faces a Demon controlled ATHEIST MOB COMMUNISM; that is, a WORLD STATE CAPITALISM—a regular Hell on Earth!

MEN of GOOD WILL are called by CHRIST. You have no choice, either UNITE or be extinct! You must counteract a World State Capitalism with CHRISTIAN MUTUALISM! You must join as CHRIST'S Brothers, in His One Catholic Church, and unite all your individual concentrated Wealth into One SOCIETY of PARADISEISM (Catholic Mission College of Saintly Virtue;) the sequel of Catholic (saintly) Communism.

THE RICH YOUNG RULER was demon deceived, HE CHOSE WEALTH, and now has neither wealth—nor CHRIST to comfort Him! "He is in Hell!"

You and I must choose CHRIST'S CATHOLIC CHURCH, to forestall (individually) a similar demon deception as has happened to the unfortunate (satanic hypnotic - suggestive controlled) rich young Ruler to loose both, WEALTH AND CHRIST, and become slaves, serfs, of the most cruel, most vicious devils, for an endless Eternity.

CHRIST, God came to save all Men, but is limited in Actuality; He must uphold positive and negative Individuality! Therefore, every (rational) Human - being, (including the rich young Ruler), must do their own thinking, and fight their own battles against satanic deceptions; (the demon nature of pride, hatred, deceitfulness etc.,) and establish their own Godly Nature of truth, justice and love etc.; but should You and I fail — then Christ who is God in Actuality, must accept actual facts of our negative Individuality, and let us go to Hell—as demon hypnotic suggestive controlled (illicit) slaves of the spiritual devils.

ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIAN PHARISEES! Will You Stop and Reason! This Earth is a preparatory abode for Eternity! We came and leave here without MATERIAL WEALTH; therefore, as all Men are spiritually individual brethren, who have the same aim and purpose of life, (that is, MEN OF CONCENTRATED THINKING AND JUDGMENT ONLY) will realize; that, Catholic (saintly) Communism Only—will change our Earth into the long deferred Paradise, the preparatory abode of co-operative assistance, to live a life of Saintly Virtue, and finally evolutionize into fit inhabitants of HEAVEN as self-created SEMI-GODS.

You and I must save ourselves — and civilization!

You and I, all Men who think—must unite within the basic Doctrine of the ETERNAL TRUTH (CHRIST'S TEACHING of brotherly-love) and despise all demon religious deceptions! We must save Ourselves and our Individual Concentrated Wealth—Or (Atheist Mob Communism) DEMON-WORLD-STATE-CAPITALISM will confiscate our wealth—and You and Me into State-slaves, of a Human-demon political machine; a regular Hell on Earth!

GOD will save those—who save Themselves! Will You and I follow CHRIST INTO ETERNAL SALVATION—Or the Rich Young Ruler—into ETERNAL DAMNATION? "My Choice is CHRIST, the Life, the Way and Truth!"

The "EMISSARY" GOD'S INTERMEDIATE "MESSENGER" OF GOOD WILL, MEN'S INTERMEDIATE GUIDE against Demon-Deceptions will lead and teach Men of Good Will, Individual (concentrated) Thinking and Judgment!

"Thinking-people will scorn, religious demon-deceptions!"

"THINKING PEOPLE ONLY will —and can recognize and distinguish the ETERNAL TRUTH, (Mathematically analyzed facts, from demon-religious-beliefs; that is, satanic-falsehood)—and CHRIST, the 'one' and 'only' REAL GOD IN ACTUALITY—from religious, mysterious, biblical, mythical, Infinite-magician-gods who exist 'only' in Inactuality; that is: a Jewish, Christian, demon-imagined God." "A Mysterious God 'spells' A Demon-invented Jehovah!"

The "EMISSARY" SUPERSEDES THE BIBLE!

Because: ETERNAL FACTS absolutely contradict, religious, mythical, biblical fables!

THE ETERNAL TRUTH (plainly) reveals, and positively proves, (by mathematical analysis) that CHRIST—is the One and Only —GOD THE TRINITY! "Live a Christ life, and You become a Semi-God!"

"CHRIST IS GOD, positively the 'One' and 'Only' GOD in Actuality; who reveals Himself in His three GODLY NATURES in Reality, consummated into ONE-ETERNAL-FACT, One Individual GOD, in absolutely One Godly Personality, who revealed Himself to Men, in a Human-body."

ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIANS!—You will, You can, YOU MUST accept this unalterable ETERNAL FACT—that Christ, is God in Actuality; or face eternal damnation as Human-outcasts, satanic-serfs in Hell. "STOP AND THINK—before it is too late."

The "EMISSARY" Reveals the ETERNAL TRUTH to all Men of Good Will, that all positive and negative, good or bad members of the Human-race, are human eternal [illegible] spiritual Eternal Facts though the Jewish people are 100% right, inasmuch, that Christ is not the Son of their biblical mythical, (satanic-invented) infinite God.

Mathematical analysis prove that any and ALL RELIGIONS are satanic illegally owned, and controlled Institutions, which lead their disciples into Hell, for lack of SAINTLINESS; that is, failure to live a CHRIST-LIFE, A LIFE OF 100% VIRTUE.

CHRISTIAN - PHARISEES — STOP AND THINK, and realize that You are demon-religious-deceived! YOUR RELIGION IS IDOLATROUS. One of the many demon-sects, an adulterated eternal truth; proven by the fact that the ETERNAL TRUTH is not a Religion, because—Christianity the cause of Saintliness—is not a religious belief, but a Godly Nature of a Human Person who has created Himself into a characteristic-individuality of a Godly personality, BASED ON CHRIST, GOD THE TRINITY, THE ONE ENLIGHTENING ETERNAL TRUTH; who reveals Eternal Facts in Actuality. Consequently, all biblical religious Christians who worship a demon-imagined, infinite, mythical Jehovah — (the devils invented (imagined) Father of Christ) are (spiritual) Idolators who are Hell-bound as demon-serfs.

Every Demon-Deceived Christian —of these various biblical Religions, (demon-sects) is more or less, demon-possessed (deceived) satanic hypnotic-suggestive controlled, because he lacks Saintliness.

All religious, demon-deceived Christians fail to recognize the fact that they lack, in fact are versus — a characteristic Godly-personality of SAINTLY VIRTUE fers; and the vast masses of the (degenerated) Human-outcasts, the ATHEISTS, the JEWS and the religious, demon-deceived CHRISTIANS—who are forced, that is, who must accept Christ's doctrine of the ETERNAL TRUTH — in "ACTUALITY of Eternal Hell" as deceived slaves (who are forced to adopt the Devils Nature of satanic-pride) — as demon-serfs, of the most cruel; most vicious (invincible) slave-drivers, (the self-damned Ignoramusses) the (spiritual) Devils. "Oppose Demon Deceptions—an infinite, biblical, religious Jehovah is a Myth — a Demon (imagined) impersonated God."

The "EMISSARY" exposes—the eternal (spiritual) "IGNORAMUSSES" the most hideous Devils, the sequel of ignorance, (satanic nature of pride—) the Lucifers (indirectly) demon hypnotic-possess and suggestive - control (more or less) every (rational) Human-being—except those—who recognize this fact, and fight the Demon-temptations — and thus build (create) themselves, individually into a characteristic Christ-like (Godly) personality of SAINTLY VIRTUE. "Saintliness 'spells' versus Atheists, Jews, Christian Pharisees!" "Devilness 'spells' Ignoramusses—Anti-Christ!"

Atheists, Jews, religious-deceived-Christians! WILL YOU ACCEPT ETERNAL FACTS? You must fight your arch enemies, the Satanic-nature of demon-religious-deceptive-temptation, of the cunning, deceitful devils—and win! "You must reverse your Negative-Demon-Individuality—OR BECOME DEMON-SERFS FOR ALL ETERNITY." "Take your choice!"

THE "EMISSARY" REVEALS "CATHOLICISM"

—the sequel of Christ's, (God's) collective body of Christians, known as the CATHOLIC CHURCH. "Saintly Virtue 'Only' is the basis of God's 'One' Church!"

to rescue them, (or a poor Soul of a relative) from the demon-invented Purgatory, the strictly Roman (Catholic) Soul Laundry. "Roman Purgatoryism 'spells' Hell for all concerned and super Roman deceptive, Ace-agents of the devils."

The "EMISSARY" exposes—Individual concentrated wealth, THE CAPITALISTIC - EXPLOITING - MONETARY-SYSTEM, as the chief cause of degenerating Christianity into religious Paganism!

"CAPITALISM" the sequel of the Monetary System of centralized (imagined) value, such as paper money, stocks and bonds, etc., which is deceptively recognized as a commodity, as an article of Commerce! Therefore, it is the sequel of demon deceptive exploitation and (indirect) slavery, by (demon-hypnotic-possessed, smart Human-beings of the satanic-nature of bossing their fellow men;) super - educated Human-negative-beings! "Real Human-demon-Individuals of all the satanic-traits; such as demon-pride, laziness, deceitfulness, etc., of religious PARASITES, political DICTATORS, PIRATES and DRONES, financial EXPLOITERS and SLAVE DRIVERS, and an Atheist LABOR MOB." All these are negative Human-beings, who are demon-hypnotic-possessed, (more or less) satanic-suggestive-controlled! Therefore, are preying (more or less) on the wealth and achievement of the middle class; that is, Men of Good Will; who must unite and fight Demon-aggression Mutually — or succumb.

Individual Capitalism will and must become State Capitalism, Atheist Mob Communism, when the Middle Class ceases to exist! What Then? A regular Hell of the self-damned, Ignoramus-Lucifers final Kingdom on Earth—of demon hypnotic-possessed and suggestive (individually) controlled ATHEIST (Dictator) MOB COMMUNISM! A State Capitalism of the satanic-nature of slave driving domination, of demon-regimentation. "A Human-demon dictator-bossed Nation, of negative, outcast, hell-bound Human-Individuals; that is, a sure and real Hell on Earth, and sure eternal damnation in Hell."

MEN OF GOOD WILL! The final divisionary evolution of the Human-race into two opposite camps of positive thinking Godly persons, and negative demon-possessed Ignoramusses is at hand!

BRETHREN — Will you save Yourself (Individually) and help to save Civilization, from utter demon destruction? "Will you Act Now and unite into One Godly Family—One Catholic Church, before it is too late?" "STOP AND THINK"—we will, we can, WE MUST CHANGE THIS OUR WORLD, into the long deferred PARADISE—"The only SALVATION of MEN WHO DO GOD'S WILL." "Saintliness is the basis of PARADISEISM, the preparatory abode (or Human-semi-gods."

TERMEDIATE MESSENGER OF GOOD WILL, is the One and Only Source—of (mathematically analyzed) Christ's God's final revelation — of all ETERNAL FACTS! For instance; the fact that, the biblical, religious, infinite, Magician Jehovah, is a satanic-imagined God, who does not exist in actuality: Therefore, "Christ is not the Son—but the 'One' and 'Only' REAL PERSONAL GOD IN ACTUALITY; who is limited SENGER" OF GOOD WILL, MEN'S INTERMEDIATE GUIDE against Demon-Deceptions will lead and teach Men of Good Will, Individual (concentrated) Thinking and Judgment!

"Thinking-people will scorn, religious demon-deceptions!"

"THINKING PEOPLE ONLY will —and can recognize and distinguish the ETERNAL TRUTH, (Mathematically analyzed facts, from demon-religious-beliefs; that is, satanic-falsehood)—and CHRIST, the 'one' and 'only' REAL GOD IN ACTUALITY—from religious, mysterious, biblical, mythical, Infinite-magician-gods who exist 'only' in Inactuality; that is: a Jewish, Christian, demon-imagined God." "A Mysterious God 'spells' A Demon-invented Jehovah!"

The "EMISSARY" SUPERSEDES THE BIBLE!

Because: ETERNAL FACTS absolutely contradict, religious, mythical, biblical fables!

THE ETERNAL TRUTH (plainly) reveals, and positively proves, (by mathematical analysis) that CHRIST—is the One and Only —GOD THE TRINITY! "Live a Christ life, and You become a Semi-God!"

"CHRIST IS GOD, positively the 'One' and 'Only' GOD in Actuality; who reveals Himself in His three GODLY NATURES in Reality, consummated into ONE-ETERNAL-FACT, One Individual GOD, in absolutely One Godly Personality, who revealed Himself to Men, in a Human-body."

ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIANS!—You will, You can, YOU MUST accept this unalterable ETERNAL FACT—that Christ, is God in Actuality; or face eternal damnation as Human-outcasts, satanic-serfs in Hell. "STOP AND THINK—before it is too late."

The "EMISSARY" Reveals the ETERNAL TRUTH to all Men of Good Will, that all positive and negative, good or bad members of the Human-race, are human eternal individuals; spiritual, Eternal Facts self-created or degenerated, but will exist forever, spiritually, positive in Actuality! Therefore every Human being is either of (thinking) saintly, 100% virtue —GODLY-PERSONALITY, or (ignoramus) SATANIC hypnotic-suggestive controlled—INDIVIDUALITY; that is, either heaven or hell-bound! Alas — "Saints 'only' are HEAVEN-BOUND!" Therefore, according to this analysis, ATHEISTS, JEWS and the religious-demon-deceived CHRISTIANS, are versus the qualifications of SAINTLINESS, and as such, are versus to the qualifications of fit inhabitants of HEAVEN — therefore are of negative Individuality.

Brethren! Will you reason with yourself (individually)? Will you recognize the ETERNAL TRUTH and scorn satanic religious deceptions? Or will You rather stay demon-deceived, a Human-outcast, a Satanic-serf? "Are you rational?"

"CHRIST IS GOD THE TRINITY, OUR (indirect) Eternal Father."

Men are eternally doomed—unless they live a CHRIST-LIFE of Godly Nature, a life of Saintly-virtue, united in One Godly Family —One collective body of Men of Good Will.

The "EMISSARY" reveals the ETERNAL TRUTH, based on the fact that Atheists are negative Individuals, who do not live a Christ Life; because they fail to Stop and Think—that Atheisism is versus Saintliness! That is, ATHEISTS ARE DEMON-DECEIVED; therefore are spiritually blind, negative Human-beings; although Atheists are 100% right, inasmuch, that a Jewish or Christian, biblical, religious, infinite Jehovah is a myth.

Atheists are Atheists, because they fail to recognize their Own negative spiritual Individuality of ignoramus Atheist Demon-nature.

MATHEMATICAL ANALYSIS PROVE; that all the Jewish people are of negative Individuality—they are demon deceived; and consequently believe—in a magic power miracle Jehovah; because they fail to recognize Christ as God the Trinity; and therefore, fail to live a Christian life of Saintliness—although the Jewish people are 100% right, inasmuch, that Christ is not the Son of their biblical mythical, (satanic-invented) infinite God.

Mathematical analysis prove that any and ALL RELIGIONS are satanic illegally owned, and controlled Institutions, which lead their disciples into Hell, for lack of SAINTLINESS; that is, failure to live a CHRIST-LIFE, A LIFE OF 100% VIRTUE.

CHRISTIAN - PHARISEES — STOP AND THINK, and realize that You are demon-religious-deceived! YOUR RELIGION IS IDOLATROUS. One of the many demon-sects, an adulterated eternal truth; proven by the fact that the ETERNAL TRUTH is not a Religion, because—Christianity the cause of Saintliness—is not a religious belief, but a Godly Nature of a Human Person who has created Himself into a characteristic-individuality of a Godly personality, BASED ON CHRIST, GOD THE TRINITY, THE ONE ENLIGHTENING ETERNAL TRUTH; who reveals Eternal Facts in Actuality. Every Demon-Deceived Christian —of these various biblical Religions, (demon-sects) is more or less, demon-possessed (deceived) satanic hypnotic-suggestive controlled, because he lacks Saintliness.

All religious, demon-deceived Christians fail to recognize the fact that they lack, in fact are versus — a characteristic Godly-personality of SAINTLY VIRTUE —the basis of their own (positive) Individuality, their OWN ETERNAL LIFE as Semi-Gods!

RESOLVED: Atheists, Jews and (religious) Christians — WILL YOU STOP AND THINK—and realize that you all—lack Saintliness? You are all demon-deceived Human-outcasts, satanic-serfs! Therefore, YOU ARE ALL POSITIVELY HELL-BOUND; unless you retract — and reverse — and recognize the ETERNAL FACT, that "CHRIST is the 'ONE' and 'ONLY' GOD THE TRINITY, your (loving) indirect Eternal Father." Unite Yourself (Individually) within the Will of God (in the One Apostolic Catholic Church) and fight the spiritual devils-nature of Satanic pride, which is the basis of Your lack of concentrated thinking — thus You build Yourself (individually) into a Godly Nature, of a Human-person, (who will create Himself or Herself) into a characteristic Godly personality of Saintly Virtue; in preparation to become spiritual (eternal) fit INHABITANTS OF HEAVEN, AS SEMI-GODS, WITH CHRIST — GOD. "Atheists, Jews, biblical Christians —'spells' demon-deceived negative-hell-bound-beings."

The "EMISSARY" reveals "ACTUALITY OF ETERNAL LIFE!" The sequel of "SPIRITUALITY" of divisible, positive and negative "INDIVIDUALITY,". the basis of all existence in REALITY.

There is Individuality of positive and negative spirituality of ETERNAL LIFE IN ACTUALITY! Because, there is, the Original (spiritual) ETERNAL LIGHT, Life, the Revealing ETERNAL WAY, the Word of God, and the consummated One Enlightening ETERNAL TRUTH — CHRIST, GOD THE TRINITY, the basis of "ACTUALITY OF ETERNAL LIFE" and a great Army of Spiritual (Thinking) Individuals, ANGELS, and Human-Saints—SEMI-GODS! Versus—negative, (ignorant) demon (spiritual) non-thinking—Individuals, the (pre-historic) Lucifers (degenerated) Human-outcasts, the ATHEISTS, the JEWS and the religious, demon-deceived CHRISTIANS—who are forced, that is, who must accept Christ's doctrine of the ETERNAL TRUTH — in "ACTUALITY of Eternal Hell" as deceived slaves (who are forced to adopt the Devils Nature of satanic-pride) — as demon-serfs, of the most cruel; most vicious (invincible) slave-drivers, (the self-damned Ignoramusses) the (spiritual) Devils. "Oppose Demon Deceptions—an infinite, biblical, religious Jehovah is a Myth — a Demon (imagined) impersonated God."

The "EMISSARY" exposes—the eternal (spiritual) "IGNORAMUSSES" the most hideous Devils, the sequel of ignorance, (satanic nature of pride—) the Lucifers (indirectly) demon hypnotic-possess and suggestive - control (more or less) every (rational) Human-being—except those—who recognize this fact, and fight the Demon-temptations — and thus build (create) themselves, individually into a characteristic Christ-like (Godly) personality of SAINTLY VIRTUE. "Saintliness 'spells' versus Atheists, Jews, Christian Pharisees!" "Devilness 'spells' Ignoramusses—Anti-Christ!"

Atheists, Jews, religious-deceived-Christians! WILL YOU ACCEPT ETERNAL FACTS? You must fight your arch enemies, the Satanic-nature of demon-religious-deceptive-temptation, of the cunning, deceitful devils—and win! "You must reverse your Negative-Demon-Individuality—OR BECOME DEMON - SERFS FOR ALL ETERNITY." "Take your choice!"

THE "EMISSARY" REVEALS "CATHOLICISM" —the sequel of Christ's, (God's) collective body of Christians, known as the CATHOLIC CHURCH. "Saintly Virtue 'Only' is the basis of God's 'One' Church!"

Catholicism is based on the Original (spiritual) ETERNAL LIGHT, (Individual Life); the revealing (spiritual) ETERNAL WAY, (The Word of God) the one consummated Enlightening ETERNAL TRUTH, One Eternal Fact of Christ, God the Trinity; the (indirect) Father of Mankind.

The "EMISSARY" EXPOSES "ROMANISM!"

The sequel of a biblical (religious) fictitious narrative, based on mystic mythology of demon deceived false—prophets—who worship a Magician, Infinite, demon-imagined JEHOVAH.

ROMANISM is the (demon-sworn-in-) SOCIETY OF THE HOLY ORDER, (bound by a demon-oath) of Anti-matrimony. It is the Idolatrous Roman (Catholic) Religion WITHIN THE CHURCH OF GOD, of (official) BEGGAR-KINGS; who deceive virtuous young women into Satanic HAREM-CLOISTERS; and Commercialize the (spiritual) Bread of ETERNAL-LIFE — CHRIST, God the Trinity. "ROMANISM is the stumbling block (of the Human-Race) in the road to Heaven!"

PURGATORY is a Demon-Imagined HUMAN - SOUL - LAUNDRY.

The "EMISSARY" exposes the (Demon-invented) "ROMAN-PURGATORYISM" — the sequel of cleansing and scrubbing Human-demon-souls—until they are changed by a (demon-invented) magician infinite Jehovah — into (demon-whitewashed) Human - demon - souls; that is, especially to whitewash the (demon-invented) ORIGINAL SIN OF ADAM, from the (demon-painted) black as coal Human (Catholic) Souls. "CATHOLIC DEMON SOUL LAUNDRY 'spells' ROMAN-DEMON-HELL!"

ROMAN - PURGATORYISM is the (100% deceptive) cash business of the (Holy) Roman (apostolic) Hierarchy, who sell their DEMON - DECEPTIVE (ceremonial) Mass, to their deceived Disciples! They are deceived deceivers, who cheat the Catholic people of their Eternal Life, and lead them into Hell (as agents of the Devils) with the (satanic-deceptive) pretense, a relative) from the demon-invented Purgatory, the strictly Roman (Catholic) Soul - Laundry.

deceptive, Ace-agents of the devils."

The "EMISSARY" exposes—Individual concentrated wealth, THE CAPITALISTIC - EXPLOITING - MONETARY-SYSTEM, as the chief cause of degenerating Christianity into religious Paganism!

"CAPITALISM" the sequel of the Monetary System of centralized (imagined) value, such as paper money, stocks and bonds, etc., which is deceptively recognized as a commodity, as an article of Commerce! Therefore, it is the sequel of demon deceptive exploitation and (indirect) slavery, by (demon-hypnotic-possessed, smart Human-beings of the satanic-nature of bossing their fellow men;) super - educated Human-negative-beings! "Real Human-demon-Individuals of all the satanic-traits; such as demon-pride, laziness, deceitfulness, etc., of religious PARASITES, political DICTATORS, PIRATES and DRONES, financial EXPLOITERS and SLAVE DRIVERS, and an Atheist LABOR MOB." All these are negative Human-beings, who are demon-hypnotic-possessed, (more or less) satanic-suggestive-controlled! Therefore, are preying (more or less) on the wealth and achievement of the middle class; that is, Men of Good Will; who must unite and fight Demon-aggression Mutually — or succumb.

Individual Capitalism will and must become State Capitalism, Atheist Mob Communism, when the Middle Class ceases to exist! What Then? A regular Hell of the self-damned, Ignoramus-Lucifers final Kingdom on Earth—of demon hypnotic-possessed and suggestive (individually) controlled ATHEIST (Dictator) MOB COMMUNISM! A State Capitalism of the satanic-nature of slave driving domination, of demon-regimentation. "A Human-demon dictator-bossed Nation, of negative, outcast, hell-bound Human-Individuals; that is, a sure and real Hell on Earth, and sure eternal damnation in Hell."

MEN OF GOOD WILL! The final divisionary evolution of the Human-race into two opposite camps of positive thinking Godly persons, and negative demon-possessed Ignoramusses is at hand!

BRETHREN — Will you save Yourself (Individually) and help to save Civilization, from utter demon destruction? "Will you Act Now and unite into One Godly Family—One Catholic Church, before it is too late?" "STOP AND THINK"—we will, we can, WE MUST CHANGE THIS OUR WORLD, into the long deferred PARADISE—"The only SALVATION of MEN WHO DO GOD'S WILL." "Saintliness is the basis of PARADISEISM, the preparatory abode for Human-semi-gods."

"PARADISEISM" — the sequel of "CATHOLIC" (Saintly) COMMUNISM — a collective body of a CHRISTIAN COMMUNION, (a Catholic Mission College) — who practice SAINTLY VIRTUE, and thus — by brotherly cooperation, (Men of Good Will Only) will adhere to the Will of God, and change this, our World, into the preparatory abode, for an ETERNAL PARADISEISM—HEAVEN.

"MIDDLE - MAN-ISM" — FOR ALL MEN OF GOOD WILL!

The sequel of SAINTLY (MUTUALISM) PARADISEISM a 100% cooperative body of Christ's God's Catholic Church; "Men Who Think!" Who help each other in their needs, to obtain material comfort of living, and fight united the satanic-nature of ignorance and satanic-pride, the (spiritual) deceptive, cunning devils temptations—and thus build themself (Individually) into a characteristic Godly personality, by living a life of Godly Nature; A CHRIST LIFE OF SAINTLINESS IN THIS WORLD — in preparation for an eternal life of Heavenly Bliss, as SELF - CREATED SEMI - GODS— with CHRIST, the ANGELS and SAINTS. "Christ's disciples conquer this World with Godly-love!" "Hatred is the basis of Satanic Wars!"

THE "EMISSARY" REVEALS THE GODLY NATURE OF CHRIST, the One (Consummated) Enlightening ETERNAL TRUTH, God the Trinity—who is limited in Actuality by Eternal Facts; and exposes the religious biblical, demon - imagined, infinite, unlimited, mythical God; subsequently is the authoritative Textbook of (mathematically analyzed) ETERNAL TRUTH! Therefore, is the KEY TO HEAVEN, the Guide of all Men of Good Will of the collective body of Christians, the ONE CATHOLIC CHURCH OF GOD.

The "EMISSARY" GOD'S INTERMEDIATE MESSENGER OF GOOD WILL, is the One and Only Source—of (mathematically analyzed) Christ's God's final revelation — of all ETERNAL FACTS! For instance; the fact that, the biblical, religious, infinite, Magician Jehovah, is a satanic-imagined God, who does not exist in actuality: Therefore, "Christ is not the Son—but the 'One' and 'Only' REAL PERSONAL GOD IN ACTUALITY; who is limited in Reality by ETERNAL FACTS."

CHRIST is God in Actuality; because, an infinite God is a myth! Because: Everybody and Everything is limited in Actuality; therefore reveals Reality.

CHRIST, God the Trinity, the indirect Creator of Everything and Everybody, is indirectly Omnipotent, that is "Supreme" but directly limited to uphold His personality of positive supremacy of Godly-Nature of His positive monopoly of Right, Truth, Justice, Love, etc., in Actuality—absolutely in Reality.

Everything and Everybody must have an origin, a beginning in Actuality. Read the "EMISSARY"— "Attend our FREE LECTURE COURSES!"

Eternal Facts prove that God and all spiritual eternal individuals (human individuals included), positive or negative, (Godly-or-Satanic) must have a beginning—as absolute Neutrals.

God, the ignoramus Lucifers, the Angels and all rational Members of the Human-race, were positively Neutrals originally; that is, they were neither persons nor beings before their beginning as individuals; absolutely NO - THING, (Spirit) in Actuality, before the final evolutionalization—into either positive (thinking) Godly—or negative (ignoramus) satanic, spiritual, eternal Individuals.

It is a proven fact, that Human-babies are absolutely Neutral, when they are born; should they die, then they will be and stay babies (nobodies) non-existant for all Eternity. "Read The EMISSARY"—the Key to Heaven"

Atheists, Jews and deceived religious Christians! Do You realize that, You are no longer Neutral Babies? Do You know that, it is utterly impossible for You to go backward, into the stage of infancy again—and die as Neutrals? Have You any imagination at all? Do You know that, as positive Individuals, You must live a Christ-life of 100% Virtue? You are rational! You should realize that Your existence is now permanent, forever! Individually, Spiritually.

THE EMISSARY

The Key to Heaven

THE EMISSARY REVEALS CHRIST'S (GOD'S) FINAL REVELATION, AND EXPLAINS ALL ETERNAL FACTS AND EXPOSES ALL SATANIC FALSEHOOD AND DECEPTIONS!

The final facts of all human knowledge in the physical and spiritual spheres, absolutely in accordance with the Eternal Truth, therefore positive versus of satanic-inspired falsehood of mysterious religious and atheistic Mysticism are analyzed and mathematically proven and explained, in this metaphysical work of almost 400 pages. Mr. Ulram's stated purpose in his study is to UNITE ALL MEN OF GOOD WILL into One Mutual Society of Paradiseism by understanding of themselves and Godly purposes, without resort to "Isms."

MEN OF GOOD WILL MUST UNITE—OR BE EXTINCT!

With this his object, the enlistment of all men of Good Will to unite into One Godly Family to change this world into the "Long Offered Paradiseism, the sequel of Catholic (saintly) Communism, the antithesis of atheist mob communism, religious parasites, political pirates and drones and financial exploiters and slave drivers" the author of

The book reveals truth and facts versus falsehood and deceptions, therefore is full of stringent attacks on organized religious deceptions, on modern atheistic education, on accepted false religious beliefs and on exploiting capitalism and mob communism. It is well presented typographically for study and discussion, with heavy black-faced type and italics liberally used for chapter headlines and emphasized paragraphs. Read THE EMISSARY.

The Key to Heaven

THE EMISSARY REVEALS CHRIST'S (GOD'S) FINAL REVELATION, AND EXPLAINS ALL ETERNAL FACTS AND EXPOSES ALL SATANIC FALSEHOOD AND DECEPTIONS!

The final facts of all human knowledge in the physical and spiritual spheres, absolutely in accordance with the Eternal Truth, therefore positive versus of satanic-inspired falsehood of mysterious religious and atheistic Mysticism are analyzed and mathematically proven and explained, in this metaphysical work of almost 400 pages. Mr. Ulram's stated purpose in his study is to UNITE ALL MEN OF GOOD WILL into One Mutual Society of Paradiseism by understanding of themselves and Godly purposes, without resort to "Isms."

MEN OF GOOD WILL MUST UNITE—OR BE EXTINCT!

With this his object, the enlistment of all men of Good Will to unite into One Godly Family to change this world into the "Long Offered Paradiseism, the sequel of Catholic (saintly) Communism, the antithesis of atheist mob communism, religious parasites, political pirates and drones and financial exploiters and slave drivers" the author of this book presents a vigorous and detailed discussion of doctrine which will startle and interest his readers. Saintly Communism "spells" Heaven on Earth.

THE EMISSARY IS AN OPEN BOOK OF FACTS, A GUIDE—"THE KEY TO HEAVEN."

The book reveals truth and facts versus falsehood and deceptions, therefore is full of stringent attacks on organized religious deceptions, on modern atheistic education, on accepted false religious beliefs and on exploiting capitalism and mob communism. It is well presented typographically for study and discussion, with heavy black-faced type and italics liberally used for chapter headlines and emphasized paragraphs. Read THE EMISSARY.

The "EMISSARY" Man's Intermediate Guide against demon-religious-deceptions proves all ETERNAL FACTS by mathematical analysis; therefore, CHRIST'S TEACHING AND HIS GODLY-LIFE ON EARTH, REVEAL HIS GODLY-NATURE OF HIS TRUTHFUL, LOVING PERSONALITY, OF GOD THE TRINITY.

"THERE IS ONE ETERNAL TRUTH, ONE GOD 'ONLY'! Therefore, Christ—who built His Church on Facts, must be—THE 'ONE' AND 'ONLY' GOD IN ACTUALITY, limited in Positive REALITY; when He came to teach, lead and guide His (indirect) Children on Earth, in His second Godly Nature, HIS REVEALING CHARACTERISTIC GODLY-PERSONALITY — in a Human-body." "Live a Christ-Life —Fight demon-deceptions!"

CHRIST BECAME KNOWN AND IS STILL KNOWN TODAY, as the Son of a religious, biblical, mythical, infinite Jehovah; although CHRIST (indirectly) identified Himself, AS THE ONE AND ONLY—GOD THE TRINITY! CHRIST said: "I AM the LIGHT, the WAY, and the TRUTH;" and again CHRIST said: "BEFORE ABRAHAM WAS —I AM." etc.

CHRIST REFERRED TO GOD (Himself) in His original Godly-nature, (characteristic) Godly personality (spiritual-body) AS MY FATHER; because CHRIST CAME INTO THIS, HIS AND OUR WORLD, in His second Godly - nature (characteristic) Godly-personality (spiritual-body) His revealing (spiritual) way; therefore, Christ's identity of God was correct; but Christ's identification of Himself, (representing (indirectly) the ORIGINAL LIGHT (Life), the REVEALING (spiritual) WAY (the Word of God), the ONE consummated three Godly-natures, in the One Enlightening ETERNAL TRUTH — GOD THE TRINITY,) was not and is still (today) not comprehensible to an ignorant (negative) Atheist, Jewish and religious deceived Christian mankind. Because: CHRIST'S, GOD'S CHARACTERISTIC GODLY-NATURES ARE (POSITIVE) SPIRITUAL BODIES! Therefore, Christ, God the Trinity — can be seen (by those capable of comprehension of Godly-natures) SPIRITUALLY ONLY! That is, by (individual) concentrated thinking! "And only" BY POSITIVE HUMAN PERSONS (of Good Will) who unite their Will, with the Will of CHRIST, GOD THE TRINITY. Therefore, You and I MUST STOP AND THINK, AND REASON—that, We also can attain Saintliness—by resistance of the (spiritual) cunning devils temptations only—can You and I build OURSELF—into OUR-OWN — INDIVIDUAL CHARACTER OF SAINTLY VIRTUE—(a characteristic spiritual-body) of A SEMI-GODLY-NATURE, OF A CHRIST-LIKE PERSONALITY, a positive Human-Person; a fit inhabitant of HEAVEN; who can (spiritually) SEE CHRIST, GOD IN ACTUALITY, and enjoy Heavenly-bliss with the ANGELS AND SAINTS —ETERNALLY.

The "EMISSARY" reveals Christ's, God's ONE DOCTRINE OF ETERNAL FACTS; and warns against biblical, religious doctrines of adulterated Eternal Truth; that is, any and all Religions are adulterated facts, demon deceptions! BECAUSE THERE IS BUT ONE CHRIST, WHO IS THE ONE AND ONLY GOD, who is (indirectly) the ONE Consummated ETERNAL TRUTH, BASED ON 'ACTUALITY; CHRIST, GOD HIMSELF IN REALITY; as the One Original, Revealing and Enlightening characteristic nature of God the Trinity. "Scorn any and all Religions, as falsified facts, mythological demon-deceptions—all lead into Hell."

ATHEISTS, JEWS AND DECEIVED CHRISTIANS! You are religious demon-deceived UNFORTUNATE PEOPLE; should you fail to recognize yourself individually (spiritually) as Eternal Facts; but YOU ARE FORTUNATE should You think, and accept CHRIST'S FINAL CALL (before it is too late) to reverse YOUR DEMON - NATURE as Anti-Christ, and recognize the Eternal Fact, that You and I, are Human, spiritual (eternal) individuals—and as such, YOU AND I ARE, EACH INDIVIDUALLY, A (INDIRECT) CHILD OF OUR LOVING (INDIRECT) ETERNAL FATHER IN HEAVEN. "Recognize the Eternal Truth, that Christ (our indirect Eternal-Brother) IS THE ONE AND 'ONLY' GOD THE TRINITY." Therefore, rejoice—You and I, (as Heirs)—share Heaven with Christ; provided You and I, each individually, CREATE OURSELF INTO A SEMI-GOD.

Brethren! Arouse Yourself (individually) and fight the (spiritual) devils collectively, IN ONE SOCIETY OF PARADISEISM, ONE CHURCH OF GOD, and build Yourself (individually), by mutual assistance (into a characteristic Godly-Nature of a Semi-Godly-personality), INTO A SPIRITUAL BODY OF SAINTLY VIRTUE! "Make Yourself ready—at once, as a fit inhabitant of HEAVEN!" ACCEPT GOD'S FINAL INVITATION, START TODAY — YOUR OWN SALVATION! WHY—DELAY? "Help change this World into a Paradise."

Wise-men will accept the unchangeable ETERNAL FACT — that every (rational) Member of the Human-race is a spiritual (eternal) Individual, and as such — MUST FIGHT HIS OR HER OWN "ETERNAL-WAR" with the Prehistoric Ignoramusses of satanic-nature of pride, hatred and deceitfulness, etc., the spiritual, self-damned Lucifers; WHICH IS THE BASIS OF YOUR AND MY INDIVIDUALITY. "Wise-men will unite—and fight the devils collectively!"

Invariably a Spiritual war against the devils-temptations is (eternally) as (more or less) demon-hypnotic-possessed and suggestive controlled NEGATIVE HUMAN BEINGS (of the satanic-nature of Atheists, Jews or demon-deceived Christians) of demon-traits of pride, hatred, deceitfulness, etc., proven by the positive fact, that You fail to recognize the Eternal Truth, that Christ is the One and Only God the Trinity. Stop and Think! Retract and reverse Your demon-nature of satanic individuality, into a Christ-life of Godly nature; a characteristic Godly personality of a good (indirect) Child of God the Trinity.

Brethren in Christ!

You and I are (indirectly) either self-created—or degenerated, of a distinctive (spiritual) character of either Saintly Virtue—or a characterless Human - outcast, demon hypnotic controlled! Recognize the fact that, You and I are incidental (indirect) children of God! We came into existence (indirectly) through Satanic (adverse) temptation! Subsequently—"You and I adhere to either positive Godly, or negative (devils) spiritual (eternal) factions! We serve One, and despise the other! We are either Atheists, Jews, false Christians, or Godly-people! Who are you and I?"

You and I, any and all Individuals, MUST START AS NEUTRAL - PROSPECTIVE - INDIVIDUALS, before You and I finally evolutionize into either a Godly-nature of a positive right thinking Godly-personality—or degenerate into a ignoramus demon-nature of a spiritually-blind, negative non-thinking Atheist, Jew or a Religious Christian, (demon-hypnotic-possessed and suggestive-controlled) wrong-thinking Individual. Do you realize that You and I are indirect Children of Christ. God? But You are of negative Spirituality of the Demon-nature of Anti-Christ; that is, Anti-God, versus a Godly-nature of Saintliness! You are demon hypnotic-suggestive controlled, slaves of ignoramus devils.

EVERY INDIVIDUAL MUST HAVE A BEGINNING, AS A NEUTRAL! God, the Angels, the Devils and You and I; any and all Individuals are their own (indirect) Individual Creators; of their own, either positive or negative Individuality; their own, either Godly or Devils, spiritual body. Your and My spiritual body is either of positive characteristic Godly personality, of SAINTLY VIRTUE, or Characterless, demon-controlled human-outcast of negative devils-serf-individuality. "Uphold Your Godly Individuality!"

RESOLVED: God, the Angels, the Devils, You and I have a self-created, limited, spiritual body, of Everlasting, Unchangeable, Eternal Individuality. "Is Your Spiritual-body of Saintly-Virtue?"

ATHEISTS, JEWS AND DECEIVED CHRISTIANS — All are misled by demon-controlled False-prophets! Agents of the spiritual Devils in Hell. "Their Spiritual-body is Demon-pride, based on Ignorance."

an individual, defensive fight of positive Human persons of Saintly-Nature against the combined forces of Hell! The invincible spiritual devils make a supreme effort to demon hypnotic-possess their victims, and by suggestive persistent satanic-nature of temptations control every (rational) Human being, (except Saints) more or less.

ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIANS! Are You and I one of the vast majority of the people of negative satanic-nature? ARE YOU AND I, HUMAN DEGENERATED OUTCASTS, who fail to fight or even fail to recognize the presence of the deceitful, cunning (invincible) spiritual devils? ARE YOU AND I ONE OF THOSE OF THE GREAT MASSES of the HUMAN RACE WHO SURRENDER —and naturally become a negative, (Spiritually demon-possessed, satanic-suggestive-controlled) Individual, (illegal) Slave, serf of the Eternal, most cruel Slave-drivers, the most hateful, merciless self-damned Devils "Cowards 'only' surrender to the piritual Devils!"

The "EMISSARY" Representing Christ APPEALS TO EVERY ATHEIST, JEW, ROMAN CATHOLIC and all other demon-deceived religious brethren! "Think!"

Are you irrapproachable to reasoning?

Have You any comprehension what your eternal damnation means? Have you any imagination at all?

Do You know—that every Atheist, Jew and Christian Pharisee is living a life of a Anti-Christ—which is versus a life of Saintliness? Do you realize (individually) that every Anti-Christ is a demon-possessed human-outcast, a serf of the most hateful Ignoramus Lucifers of either Atheist, Jewish or Religious Christians satanic-nature?

Why are you so indifferent?

WHY DO YOU NOT FIGHT THE DECEITFUL DEVILS AND ESTABLISH YOUR OWN GODLY-PERSONALITY?

BRETHREN DO NOT DESPAIR! The "EMISSARY" LEADS all Atheists, Jews, and religious deceived brethren into one Society of Paradiseism — and teaches, and guides them (individually) into a Christ-life, a life of a characteristic Godly personality of Saintliness in preparation for Heaven.

The "EMISSARY" reveals the "Status Quo" (spiritually analyzed) of the Atheists, Jews and religious Christian Pharisees of demon pride, hatred, etc., versus Men of Good Will of Godly-Nature, Right, Truth, Justice and Love, etc., who live a Christ-life of Saintly Virtue! fore, you are and must be of the negative-individuality of Satanic-Nature of Atheists, Jews and demon-Christianity! Because Your very name of Atheists, Jews and deceived Christians — is Anti-Christ! "Anti-Saintliness 'spells' Human - Demon!" "Anti - Christ 'spells' Atheist, Jew or Christian Pharisee!"

An Atheist, a Jew or a religious deceived Christian is not a mere name of a human-being, but means a human-individual with a DEMON-CHARACTERISTIC IDENTIFICATION of an Atheist, Satanic-nature, or a Jewish-demon-nature, and an ignoramus, cunning, deceptive Lucifers-nature of a deceived, religious Christian. Therefore, every Atheist, Jew or deceived Christian Pharisee must be classified amongst the negative, demon-possessed human-outcasts; in fact, their actions reveal, that, they do not realize — therefore, they are educated human-ignoramusses, full of the satanic-nature of pride, deceitfulness and hateful; in fact, full of all the satanic-nature of demon traits, to a more or less extent!

Eternity! Therefore, the biblical religious narrative that the Prehistoric spiritual devils are fallen Angels, is a biblical, religious, demon-deception!

Angels are (individually) united within the Will of God; therefore, will not and could not become devils; neither could a devil be converted into an Angel; because — Devils are (spiritual) individuals, ignorant satanic-beings, who could not be anybody-else, but hateful devils, on account of their ignorance and satanic-pride! Neither can devils go back into Neutrals! Devils are so ignorant that they can not, and will not, believe the truth, and fact, of their own negative-Demon-Individuality; the same as demon-deceived Atheists, Jews and Christions. "Why stay deceived?"

Eternal (spiritual) darkness (satanic - ignorance) versus Eternal (spiritual) light, (concentrated thinking) is the basis of Eternal Existence of Positive Godly, versus Negative Satanic — individuality. "Positive versus negative (individual) spirituality is and upholds Eternal Life in Actuality."

"There is (spiritual) Actuality of Eternal Truth! Because there is (spiritual) Demon-Deception Lie."

"THERE IS GOD, THE ANGELS AND THE HUMAN SAINTS IN HEAVEN! Because there are devils and human-outcasts in Hell!" It is self-evident that God, the Angels and Human Saints are persons of concentrated thinking and judgment, and that the Demon-degenerated ignoramusses and their Human-slaves of Atheists, Jews and Christian Pharisees are beings who lack concentrated thinking and judgment! Because: They are hateful, deceitful satanic - individuals who are more or less full of demon-pride; because, they live in spiritual darkness of ignorance.

"Devils are and were ignoramusses since the beginning of Prehistory; and as such degenerated into hateful, vicious, eternal (invincible) demons since the beginning of History! "Their capability

the Human Race! Therefore, it is the Worst period (of Human-Demon-Dictator-Rule) IN ALL HISTORY OF THIS WORLD! "Especially SATANIC-WORLD-WARS intensify the (spiritual) demons activity to (indirectly) boss their Human-slaves — or else by temptations arouse them into demon resisting SAINTLINESS." "SAINTS WILL—AND MUST CONQUER WITH PATIENCE!"

ONE SOCIETY OF PARADISEISM MUST RULE THIS — GOD'S WORLD!

"The Catholic Mission College will lead and teach and guide men into Saintly Virtue!"

Demon deceived Human-Demons, boss Atheists, Jews, Christian Pharisees; they, band together into—organized political-exploiting Human-Demon-Machines, and FORCE Men of Good Will to Stop and Think! Brethren! You must unite—Or be extinct.

There is no need to analyze all the wrong that exists: because all Thinking People realize same! MEN OF GOD'S WILL ARE FACE TO FACE WITH HUMAN-DEMON, ATHEISTIC, DICTATORIAL, POLITICAL-MACHINE GOVERNMENTS IN THIS WORLD; and there is absolutely no way to replace these political Governments with Men who do God's Will. Why? "GOD HAS NO DESIRE TO RULE THE PEOPLE WITHOUT THEIR CO-OPERATION."

BRETHREN OF GOOD WILL —STOP AND THINK! "DEVILS 'ONLY' CAN CONTROL HUMAN-OUTCASTS IN HELL!" Therefore, Organized Human-Demon — Atheist — Dictator-Political-Machine - Governments 'only' can control, (boss), an Atheist, Jewish and Christian-Pharisee, demon-hypnotic-possessed and satanic-suggestive-controlled popula-cause: "They have no desire to rule by force—an Atheist-Jewish-Christian-Parisee-Nation — who can be bossed and controlled 'only' by the brute force; by Human-Demon-Dictator-Political-Machines."

CHRIST, GOD CAME INTO THIS WORLD TO CONQUER THE NATIONS INDIVIDUALLY; without Force—or the sword; that contradicts the Satanic-Lie of Atheist, Jewish and Christian Pharisee Nations who claim, they War and Kill their fellowmen, to make this World a better place to live in! "Scorn Satanic-Deceptions —The Aim and Purpose of all Wars are Demon-Dominations!" "Human-Demon-Dictators 'spells' Hell on Earth!"

IT IS SELF-EVIDENT, that most of the Leaders of the Nations who are at War, are either of Atheist, Jewish or religious, CHRISTIAN-PHARISEE SATANIC-NATURE of Anti-Christ; demon hypnotic-possessed and suggestive controlled, deceived people; slaves of the cunning, hateful, spiritual (invincible) devils! "Facts prove (positively) the 'one' undeniable truth, that, most of the leaders of the people (of the Nations) who participate in Wars are allied into—ANTI-CHRIST - HUMAN-DEMON - DICTATOR - POLITICAL - MACHINES!"

"CHRISTIAN - SAINTS are — versus—demon-controlled Atheists, Jews and demon-deceived Christians who are (more or less) negative, hateful, characterless Human-outcasts, deceived Human-Ignoramusses; demon-slaves, enemies of CHRIST, RIGHT, TRUTH, JUSTICE, etc." Because —most of the Atheists, Jews and Religious Christian Pharisees are positively (more or less) spiritually blind, unfortunate people of Demon-Anti-Christ - nature; therefore ignore Christ's God's doctrine of One Enlightening ETERNAL TRUTH, and Godly love for their Brethren! "Consequently — they do not realize their own STATUS-QUO of demon-controlled-nature!" Never-the-less, ATHEISTS, JEWS AND CHRISTIAN - PHARISEES are more or less (indirectly) in-

of Hell! The invincible spiritual devils make a supreme effort to demon hypnotic-possess their victims, and by suggestive persistent satanic-nature of temptations control every (rational) Human being, (except Saints) more or less.

ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIANS! Are You and I one of the vast majority of the people of negative satanic-nature? ARE YOU AND I, HUMAN DEGENER- (invincible) spiritual devils? ARE YOU AND I ONE OF THOSE OF THE GREAT MASSES of the HUMAN RACE WHO SURRENDER —and naturally become a negative, (Spiritually demon-possessed, satanic-suggestive-controlled) Individual, (illegal) Slave, serf of the Eternal, most cruel Slave-drivers, the most hateful, merciless self-damned Devils "Cowards 'only' surrender to the piritual Devils!"

The "EMISSARY" Representing Christ APPEALS TO EVERY ATHEIST, JEW, ROMAN CATHOLIC and all other demon-deceived religious brethren! "Think!"

Are you irrapproachable to reasoning?

Have You any comprehension what your eternal damnation means? Have you any imagination at all?

Do You know—that every Atheist, Jew and Christian Pharisee is living a life of a Anti-Christ—which is versus a life of Saintliness? Do you realize (individually) that every Anti-Christ is a demon-possessed human-outcast, a serf of the most hateful Ignoramus Lucifers of either Atheist, Jewish or Religious Christians satanic-nature?

Why are you so indifferent?

WHY DO YOU NOT FIGHT THE DECEITFUL DEVILS AND ESTABLISH YOUR OWN GODLY-PERSONALITY?

BRETHREN DO NOT DESPAIR! The "EMISSARY" LEADS all Atheists, Jews, and religious deceived brethren into one Society of Paradiseism — and teaches, and guides them (individually) into a Christ-life, a life of a characteristic Godly personality of Saintliness in preparation for Heaven.

The "EMISSARY" reveals the "Status Quo" (spiritually analyzed) of the Atheists, Jews and religious Christian Pharisees of demon pride, hatred, etc., versus Men of Good Will of Godly-Nature, Right, Truth. Justice and Love, etc., who live a Christ-life of Saintly Virtue!

"Every (rational) member of the Human-race is either Heaven or Hell-bound." That sounds and is an empty religious phrase!

Therefore: The "EMISSARY" emphasizes God's final revelation of ETERNAL FACTS! Therefore resolves: "That, EVERY (rational) MEMBER OF MANKIND IS EITHER AN ATHEIST, A JEW, A DECEIVED RELIGIOUS CHRISTIAN OR A GOOD CHRISTIAN PERSON!" A Good Christian is a person who built himself into a characteristic-nature of God —of 100% Virtue, who unites His or Her Will with the Will of God, and fights the demon-nature of temptation with Saintly Virtue, of Right, Truth, Justice and Love, etc. Therefore, every Atheist, Jew or demon-deceived Christian (each individually) is a demon-deceived Person; that is a negative Human-outcast, (demon hypnotic-possessed and suggestive controlled) of satanic-nature of demon-pride, falsehood, selfishness, hatred, etc! Consequently, Atheists, Jews and Christian Pharisees will scorn a Human-Saint of Semi-Godly nature, of 100% Virtue, as a fantastic person; thus all Atheists, Jews and religious Christians indirectly admit that they are versus a Christian, who lives a Christ-life! But as they are of the satanic-nature of demon - ignoramusses (spiritually blindness) they cannot see, that is, they fail to recognize their own captivity as (individually) spiritually controlled Human-Demon-Slaves!

Demon-captivity of the Godly-Free-Will, the individuality of Atheists, Jews and Christian-Pharisees, is the very cause, the reason, why they — (our Brethren) are, and stay negative Human-outcasts of Atheist, Jewish and deceived Christian-Demon-Nature.

ATHEISTS, JEWS, and Deceived CHRISTIANS! Stop, Think and Reason! You are no longer Neutral Babies! You are not positive Human-persons of a characteristic personality of Godly-nature! Therefore, you are and must be of the negative-individuality of Satanic-Nature of Atheists, Jews and demon-Christianity! Because Your very name of Atheists, Jews and deceived Christians — is Anti-Christ! "Anti-Saintliness 'spells' Human - Demon!" "Anti - Christ 'spells' Atheist, Jew or Christian Pharisee!"

An Atheist, a Jew or a religious deceived Christian is not a mere name of a human-being, but means a human-individual with a DEMON-CHARACTERISTIC IDENTIFICATION of an Atheist, Satanic-nature, or a Jewish-demon-nature, and an ignoramus, cunning, deceptive Lucifers-nature of a deceived, religious Christian. Therefore, every Atheist, Jew or deceived Christian Pharisee must be classified amongst the negative, demon-possessed human-outcasts; in fact, their actions reveal, that, they do not realize — therefore, they are educated human-ignoramusses, full of the satanic-nature of pride, deceitfulness and hateful; in fact, full of all the satanic-nature of demon traits, to a more or less extent!

DEMON - POSSESSED - ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIANS are indirectly the cause (but are not (individually) to blame) that this World is not a Paradise, and that the people of the Nations who are at War, are enemies to each other; because, they lack Godly-love and a self-created Christ-life of 100% Godly Nature of a Semi-God.

ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIANS! There is, and must be, still a spark of Brotherly-Love and realization of God and Eternal Life in every Child of God! Arouse Yourself (individually) and Reason! "Why should You and I surrender (individually) to be a slave of the Pre-Historic-Santanic-Ignoramusses for all Eternity?" Remember—that it is up to You and to ME to live a Christ-life, and become Semi-Gods.

There are characteristic Persons versus characterless Beings!

There are devils and Angels; because there were (originally) in Pre-History NO-THING (neutral-spirit) in Actuality. Read the "EMISSARY" the book which supersedes the Bible.

The devils were the original ignoramusses; they had no choice, but to degenerate into arrogant devils; therefore, they refused to unite within the Will of God, because they were, and are, too ignorant to recognize Eternal Facts—! Therefore, they oppose God, and thus degenerate themselves into Demon-Individuals of the satanic-nature to hate God, the Angels and the Human-race for all Eternity. The Angels were the more capable; therefore, united themselves within the Will of God; that is, created themselves (individually) into an Angelic-Nature of Truth, Justice and Love, etc., united into One-Nature of God the Trinity, and limited in Actuality into the Will of One Godly Personality for all Angels, is a biblical, religious, demon-deception!

Angels are (individually) united within the Will of God; therefore, will not and could not become devils; neither could a devil be converted into an Angel; because — Devils are (spiritual) individuals, ignorant satanic-beings, who could not be anybody-else, but hateful devils, on account of their ignorance and satanic-pride! Neither can devils go back into Neutrals! Devils are so ignorant that they can not, and will not, believe the truth, and fact, of their own negative-Demon-Individuality; the same as demon-deceived Atheists, Jews and Christions. "Why stay deceived?"

Eternal (spiritual) darkness (satanic - ignorance) versus Eternal (spiritual) light, (concentrated thinking) is the basis of Eternal Existence of Positive Godly, versus Negative Satanic — individuality. "Positive versus negative (individual) spirituality is and upholds Eternal Life in Actuality."

"There is (spiritual) Actuality of Eternal Truth! Because there is (spiritual) Demon-Deception Lie."

"THERE IS GOD, THE ANGELS AND THE HUMAN SAINTS IN HEAVEN! Because there are devils and human-outcasts in Hell!" It is self-evident that God, the Angels and Human Saints are persons of concentrated thinking and judgment, and that the Demon-degenerated ignoramusses and their Human-slaves of Atheists, Jews and Christian Pharisees are beings who lack concentrated thinking and judgment! Because: They are hateful, deceitful satanic - individuals who are more or less full of demon-pride; because, they live in spiritual darkness of ignorance.

"Devils are and were ignoramusses since the beginning of Pre-history; and as such degenerated into hateful, vicious, eternal (invincible) demons since the beginning of History! "Their capability of concentrated thinking is zero; that is the reason they are devils!" "Devils were, are and will be devils for all Eternity." "Atheists, Jews, Christians—Stop and Think!"

The "EMISSARY" emphasizes the Eternal Fact, that all existence rest on the basis of spirituality, of Positive versus Negative, Good versus Bad, Godly versus Satanic, Thinking Saints of Godly-nature versus Atheists, Jews and deceived Christians of Demon-nature of Ignoramusses, which is the basis of unavoidable opposition; the cause of World Wars.

WARS PROVE THE FACT OF (SPIRITUAL), DEMON INCARNATION IN THE VAST MAJORITY OF THE HUMAN-RACE, by the fact of highly educated (spiritually-ignorant) individuals of Human-demon-nature; in fact those New Type of demon-hypnotic-suggestive controlled educated people prove their demon-human-nature as educated Human-Demon-Anti-Christ's! "THEREFORE NATIONS WAR, WITH HIGHLY DEVELOPED WAR-MACHINES; each doing their utmost to exterminate each other completely!" "Men of Saintly Virtue will War in Self-defense only!"

"It is self evident that the vast majority of the people of the Nations who are at War, are either Atheists, or Jews, or religious demon-deceived Christians; consequently they are all demon-hypnotic-possessed, satanic-suggestive-controlled Human-Demons, who hate each other; who are eternally doomed serfs of the spiritual, invincible, ignoramus Lucifers; (the most cruel Ignoramus (spiritual) savages), the undescribably hateful, self damned devils!"

The "EMISSARY" reveals the (rather sad) General Situation of DEGENERATION OF THE HUMAN RACE into educated human-demons, (spiritual blinded) deceived People; at this present Historic-Time; when God will unite all Men of Good Will — to save HISTORY OF THIS WORLD! "Especially SATANIC-WORLD-WARS intensify the (spiritual) demons activity to (indirectly) boss their Human-slaves — or else by temptations arouse them into demon resisting SAINTLINESS." "SAINTS WILL—AND MUST CONQUER WITH PATIENCE!"

ONE SOCIETY OF PARADISEISM MUST RULE THIS — GOD'S WORLD!

"The Catholic Mission College will lead and teach and guide men into Saintly Virtue!"

Demon deceived Human-Demons, boss Atheists, Jews, Christian Pharisees; they, band together into—organized political-exploiting Human-Demon-Machines, and FORCE Men of Good Will to Stop and Think! Brethren! You must unite—Or be extinct.

There is no need to analyze all the wrong that exists: because all Thinking People realize same! MEN OF GOD'S WILL ARE FACE TO FACE WITH HUMAN-DEMON, ATHEISTIC, DICTATORIAL, POLITICAL-MACHINE GOVERNMENTS IN THIS WORLD; and there is absolutely no way to replace these political Governments with Men who do God's Will. Why? "GOD HAS NO DESIRE TO RULE THE PEOPLE WITHOUT THEIR CO-OPERATION."

BRETHREN OF GOOD WILL —STOP AND THINK! "DEVILS 'ONLY' CAN CONTROL HUMAN-OUTCASTS IN HELL!" Therefore, Organized Human-Demon — Atheist — Dictator-Political-Machine - Governments 'only' can control, (boss), an Atheist, Jewish and Christian-Pharisee, demon-hypnotic-possessed and satanic-suggestive-controlled population of these various Nations in the World—"WHICH MEN OF GOOD WILL COULD NOT RULE!" Therefore, neither God nor Men who do God's Will, could or would overthrow Political Regimes of Demon-Dictator Governments! Because: "No Man can be bossed and controlled 'only' by the brute force; by Human-Demon-Dictator-Political-Machines."

CHRIST, GOD CAME INTO THIS WORLD TO CONQUER THE NATIONS INDIVIDUALLY; without Force—or the sword; that contradicts the Satanic-Lie of Atheist, Jewish and Christian Pharisee Nations who claim, they War and Kill their fellowmen, to make this World a better place to live in! "Scorn Satanic-Deceptions —The Aim and Purpose of all Wars are Demon-Dominations!" "Human-Demon-Dictators 'spells' Hell on Earth!"

IT IS SELF-EVIDENT, that most of the Leaders of the Nations who are at War, are either of Atheist, Jewish or religious, CHRISTIAN-PHARISEE SATANIC-NATURE of Anti-Christ; demon hypnotic-possessed and suggestive controlled, deceived people; slaves of the cunning, hateful, spiritual (invincible) devils! "Facts prove (positively) the 'one' undeniable truth, that, most of the leaders of the people (of the Nations) who participate in Wars are allied into—ANTI-CHRIST - HUMAN-DEMON - DICTATOR - POLITICAL - MACHINES!"

"CHRISTIAN - SAINTS are — versus—demon-controlled Atheists, Jews and demon-deceived Christians who are (more or less) negative, hateful, characterless Human-outcasts, deceived Human-Ignoramusses; demon-slaves, enemies of CHRIST, RIGHT, TRUTH, JUSTICE, etc." Because —most of the Atheists, Jews and Religious Christian Pharisees are positively (more or less) spiritually blind, unfortunate people of Demon-Anti-Christ - nature; therefore ignore Christ's God's doctrine of One Enlightening ETERNAL TRUTH, and Godly love for their Brethren! "Consequently — they do not realize their own STATUS-QUO of demon-controlled-nature!" Never-the-less, ATHEISTS, JEWS AND CHRISTIAN - PHARISEES are more or less (indirectly) individually responsible for their participation in SATANIC-WARS as demon-serfs; that is, they will be eternally damned as Human-Outcasts in Hell! "Because they are versus Saintliness, slaves of the devils."

ATHEISTS, JEWS, RELIGIOUS-CHRISTIANS — "Stop and Think." "FIGHT, WAR THE DEMONS — YOUR ARCH ENEMIES."

"WARS ARE THE CLIMAX of the spiritual (invincible) cunning, malicious, devils-deceptions."

"WARS ARE NOT SELF DEFENSE, but plainly noticeable Satanic-Wars!" Because, People who participate in Wars; have surrendered, and are the slaves, of the spiritual, invincible devils characterless ignoramus individuality, the DEMONS-NATURE OF SPIRITUAL BLINDNESS, IGNORANCE! "Unite, fight the damned-devils in God's, One Paradiseism."

It is Self-Evident that most of the Atheists, Jews, religious Christians, are of 100% controlled DEMON-SERF — Individuality; who are forced to adopt the satanic-traits of their SPIRITUAL-DEVIL-MASTERS-NATURE of Satanic-pride, hatred, revenge, injustice, deceitfulness, etc. "Deceived-Christians, Jews, Atheists 'spells' lack of Saintliness, Anti-Christ-spiritually-blind-people."

THERE ARE DEVILS: therefore, there will be WARS; as long as there are WARRIORS, demon-controlled human negative beings; of DEMON-NATURE of IGNORANCE; especially the (spiritually) deceived, demon - hypnotic - possessed (and ill-advised) satanic-suggestive controlled; (filled with the satanic-nature of (ignorance) Pride), NATIONAL LEADERS of the NATIONS where the majority of the people are ATHEISTS, JEWS AND CHRISTIAN Pharisees who are (more or less) SPIRITUALLY-BLIND! Therefore, the Leaders of these Anti-Christ Nations lack GODLY COMPREHENSION, concentrated thinking and Judgment, that a DECLARATION OF WAR IS SATANIC-IMPOSTURE; therefore is against the Will of God! Because: "No Man (not even God) or Men has the authority to infringe on their brethrens Individuality, the FREE WILL of their Fellow-men!"

It is self-evident, and plainly noticeable that, ALL WARS ARE SATANIC WARS! Because the vast majority of the demon-deceived satanic-suggestive-controlled Leaders of the Nations at War, act unknowingly and deceived as the AUTHORITATIVE AGENTS OF HELL, their spiritual Masters, the invincible ignorant devils! "Therefore, force unknowingly 'ILICIT' REGIMENTATION ON THE WHOLE NATION!"

DEMON CONTROLLED LEADERS WHO ARE AT WAR assume dictatorial demon - (illegal) - power, under the false, satanic-pretense of SELF DEFENSE!

Atheists, Jews and religious, deceived Christians prove themselves NEGATIVE HUMAN INDIVIDUALS, who are (positively like their invincible spiritual Masters) of demon-anti-Christ-nature; that is, satanic-traits of pride, hatred, deceitfulness, etc., more or less; therefore will war against their fellowmen of other nations readily! "BECAUSE, THE VAST MASSES OF ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE NATIONS WHO ARE AT WAR, ARE INDIRECTLY UNDER DEMON (HYPNOTIC-SUGGESTIVE) DOMINATION!" Therefore, will, in fact must obey the DEMON-CONTROLLED, HUMAN-DICTATORS, who call on them to war on their equally de- mon-oppressed brethren, by human-demon Dictators of opposing nations.

The Participants of these various people of the Nations at War, are (more or less) demon-dominated-HUMAN-SERFS; therefore are immune from direct blame! "NEVER-THE-LESS; those unfortunate negative human-outcast Individuals have a DEMON-ANTI-CHRIST-NATURE of ATHEISTS, or JEWS, or religious CHRISTIAN PHARISEES!" Therefore, they must bear and endure, the consequential, undescribable eternal (spiritual) punishment, (inflicted by their arch Enemies as eternal, satanic- slaves, deceived, conquered serfs, of the most vicious invincible Ignoramusses, the self-damned devils in Hell! "Subsequently: Atheists, JEWS AND RELIGIOUS CHRISTIANS are demon-deceived victims! Therefore, are ignorant of the fact, that, they must fight themselves free, of their own DEMON-ANTI-CHRIST NATURE, and scorn the SPIRITUAL DEVILS TEMPTATIONS, and thus create themselves into positive (Christ-like) Individuals of SEMI-GODS; the only salvation of Men." "Atheists, Jews, Christians! Stop, Recognize Facts."

The "EMISSARY" REVEALS AND FULLY ANALYZES CHRIST, God, and all Eternal Facts; and the HUMAN RACE AS (indirect) CHILDREN of God; spiritual (eternal) Individuals, not creatures; of either self-created Human (positive) Persons of CONCENTRATED THINKING—individual Judgment, of a characteristic Godly personality of SAINTLY VIRTUE; (who are fighting the demon temptations—) or negative Human-beings, who are unaware of the presence of the spiritual (invincible) devils! "Therefore, they War readily against their brethren of other Nations, but fail utterly to fight themselves free—from demon-hypnotic possession, satanic suggestive control, of the damned DEVILS."

Those unfortunate pitiable (spiritually) demon-blindfolded (de-

You and I—have the choice to either build OURSELF (individually) into a positive Character (spiritual body) of a Godly personality of SAINTLY VIRTUE, or degenerate into a negative CHARACTERLESS, DEMON-HYPNOTIC-POSSESSED and suggestive controlled HUMAN-OUTCAST, (full of satanic pride, and therefore full of demon ignorance, and indifference for our own eternal welfare;) and consequently full of (demon-created) BAD-HABITS! Subsequently irrapproachable to REASONING; and therefore, a demon hypnotic-possessed, satanic suggestive-controlled; that is (without a Godly personality of a Free Will) a regular Human-outcast, (satanic-dominated slave) a DEMON-HUMAN-BEING, with all the characteristic Satanic-traits of PRIDE, AVERICE, ENVY, UNCHASTITY, ANGER, GLUTTONY INDOLENCE, HATRED, DECEITFULNESS, CRUELTY, VICIOUSNESS, SPITEFULNESS, HIDEOUS, CUNNING, MALICIOUS, ETC.—Satanic possessed and controlled eternal slave of the ignoramus Demons whim.

"MEN OF GOOD WILL—Fight, WAR, against the invincible, vicious devils!" "Uphold Your own Godly (individuality) PERSONALITY of SEMI-GODS!" Do not surrender into satanic slavery and feel hateful against your brethren, to become Human-outcasts, eternal serfs of the most pitiless, most horrifying, undescribable hateful demon slave-drivers in Hell.

YOU AND I, ARE FORCED TO ACT! WE CAN NOT STAY NEUTRAL! "We must fight the Demons or sucumb as their Eternal Slaves."

All (rational) members of the HUMAN RACE, come forth as neutral prospective Individuals, but are forced—to take on a HUMAN (eternal) NATURE OF LIFE (spiritual body) of either GODLY NATURE OF GODLY LOVE, OF POSITIVE Human Persons of Saintliness, or the SATANIC NATURE of Satanic pride, hatred, etc., of negative Human-beings, such as Atheists, Jews and religious Christians; who are deceived—into submission, to adopt the demon nature, of the ignoramus Lucifers, to be eternally punished as demon slaves, satanic serfs in Hell.

THE "EMISSARY" EXPOSES THE DEMONS AND THEIR HUMAN SLAVES, to the ENLIGHTENING ETERNAL TRUTH, which is not a religious belief.

THE BIBLE is a religious (satanic inspired) fantastic Story-book; based on mystic mythology of a (satanic invented) mysterious magic-power-miracle Magician (mythical) infinite God. Therefore, Religions, are idolatrous satanic, Institutions, of demon (individually) controlled, deceptive Sects.

MATHEMATICAL analysis prove: that CHRIST, GOD THE TRINITY, IS One Individual Person; who reveals Himself (indirectly) in three characteristic Godly Personalities (spiritual bodies). THREE GODLY NATURES OF ONE INDIVIDUAL GOD.

CHRIST, GOD IN HIS FIRST GODLY NATURE the Eternal (spiritual) Light, indirectly the Original (semi-plural Individuality) NO-THING (spirit) in Actuality; the Eternal (spiritual-semi-plural) Life. God is the (spiritual) indirect, incidental originator of His own semi-plural individuality (Godly Nature) and all Pre-Historic (neutral) prospective-individuals who later evolutionized into eternal (spiritual) ANGELIC (Godly) PERSONS, and those who degenerated into Ignoramusses, eternal (spiritual devils) Satanic beings; and also His indirect, HISTORIC HUMAN CHILDREN. Therefore, Christ, God calls Himself, and is the FATHER OF THE HUMAN RACE!

CHRIST, GOD IN HIS SECOND GODLY NATURE, the Eternal Way, (revealing Word), is positively the indirect Son (offspring) of the ETERNAL (spiritual) LIGHT (life) HIMSELF, Semi-Imaginary, Semi - Evolutionary, Semi-Divisionary — Semi-creation spiritual multiplication, (indirectly) Self-recognization, incidentally, (through satanic opposition) of His Own Godly Nature, positively positive HIMSELF in REALITY! Therefore, Christ, who is God in a Human-body, the REVEALING TRUTH, (the Eternal Way, which leads to Heaven) CALLS Himself, and is the intermediate Messenger from Heaven, the Son of God.

THE ORIGINAL, PERSONAL GODLY NATURE OF (spiritual) LIGHT, (semi-plural Spirit of Life) GOD THE FATHER, and the divisional, spiritual, multiplicational, concentrational personal Godly Nature, the revealing (spiritual) ETERNAL WAY, the Word of GOD—is the concentrated Godly Personality (of the Super Individuality of God the Father and the Son, HIMSELF;) in One consummated Godly Nature, of ONE ORIGINAL, REVEALING AND ENLIGHTENING ETERNAL TRUTH, ONE ETERNAL FACT, OF CHRIST, GOD THE TRINITY.

CHRIST, GOD and every (eternal) individual (including Men) must have a self created (either Godly or Satanic) ETERNAL SPIRITUAL NATURE. A characteristic (either Godly or Satanic) positive or negative Individuality; "A SPIRITUAL BODY."

THE ANGELS and POSITIVE (thinking) HUMAN PERSONS, create themselves into Christ's, God's Nature of HUMILITY, UNSELFISHNESS, BROTHERLY-LOVE, CHASTITY, HUMBLENESS, INDUSTRIOUS, HONOR-

The "EMISSARY" EXPOSES THE INSIDIOUS DEVILS AS DOMINATORS OF ALL RELIGIONS, indirectly, through a satanic-imagined, infinite, mythical God, who is versus CHRIST, the Real God in Actuality.

There exists in this World today, a really sad and appalling, a most deplorable condition, of the climax of biblical, religious deceptions, by the invincible deceitful, spiritual, ignoramus Lucifers; especially religious (spiritual) Idolatry; adoration of a biblical (satanic impersonated) infinite, mythical Jehovah.

THE HUMAN RACE of today represent a most lamentable and unbelievable situation of (spiritual) darkness, (demon domination).

At this advanced age of Civilization, THE VAST MAJORITY OF THE PEOPLE ARE STILL RELIGIOUS DECEIVED; and are still victims of (demon deceived) apostolic impostors and misrepresentatives of Christ, God and His Eternal Word; which is the Original, Revealing and Enlightening Eternal Truth, One Fact; (indirectly) God, Christ Himself, positively in Actuality.

The "EMISSARY" reveals all ETERNAL FACTS TO MANKIND; but especially, will arouse the religious deceived Jewish, Roman Catholic and other religious people to your own personal attention, OF YOURSELF—to the fact that 1000 to 1, You are ONE OF THE VAST MASSES OF THE PEOPLE WHO IS DEMON HYPNOTIC POSSESSED; and therefore, you are (spiritually) suggestive controlled, by the (invincible) self-damned, satanic ignoramus Lucifers! Naturally, You do not recognize this positively positive fact, that you are the illegally owned slave, (human-outcast) of the deceitful, most vicious outcast DEMONS. "The very fact that you do not realize the reality of the presence of the (invincible) devils, 'in your mind'; is a mathematical proof, that you lack individual concentrated thinking!" Therefore, You are positively HELL-BOUND, as an illegally owned serf of the DEVILS. "Do not Despair, Arouse Yourself — Fight the Ignoramus Lucifers!"

The Author of The "EMISSARY" THE KEY TO HEAVEN! WILL TEACH, LEAD AND GUIDE every member of the HUMAN RACE, into a Christ Life, of Godly Personality, into a positive characteristic Individualty of Saintly Virtue; into a SPIRITUAL BODY of a SEMI-GOD. "ATHEISTS, JEWS, DECEIVED CHRISTIANS—WILL YOU ACT NOW—BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE?" "This very minute, unite Your Will with the Will of God; the ENLIGHTENING ETERNAL TRUTH, AND ESTABLISH YOUR OWN MIND; Your own Godly Individuality."

The "EMISSARY" reveals the ENLIGHTENING ETERNAL TRUTH — versus — Falsehood, demon deception! "MEN OF GOOD WILL—Reason!" "Arouse Yourselves — into individual concentrated Thinking and Judgment!" "You must fight the Devils—or surrender as their Serfs."

ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIANS! You are (indirect Children of God, positively in Actuality! "Each of You 'YOURSELF' must develop (create) YOUR OWN INDIVIDUALITY (positive Godly Personality) of SAINTLY VIRTUE!" It is a sure guess, that You can see all the negative bad Peoples action, can you see YOURS? Why—do You fail to live a life of 100% Godly (Christ-life) of SAINTLY VIRTUE? Because: You have falied to fight the (invincible) deceitful Lucifers! Are You a characterless Human-outcast, (spiritually blindfolded) demon hypnotic possessed, suggestive controlled Human (eternal) slave, of the damned Devils? Possibly you rely on some (demon invented) Atheist, Jewish or Christian infinite, false God, to miraculously transform You into a fit inhabitant of Heaven! "You and I must fight the demon temptations, and win, there is no alternative, either We build ourselves into Semi-Gods—or We degenerate into Eternal Slaves, of the most ignoramus Devils."

IGNORANCE (spiritual darkness) Hell — WILL CLAIM (absorb) THE VAST MAJORITY OF THE HUMAN RACE — But shall not prevail—against God's Christians, who live a life of Christ on Earth.

MATHEMATICAL ANALYSIS OF MAN, (Mankind).

Humanity (the Human Race) consists of Good and Bad, positive (thinking) and negative (non-thinking) Human (spiritual) Individuals—who depend on, and derive their Individuality (spiritual activity) from Eternal (spiritual) Individuals of either positive or negative, positively Individual opposing Sources; which positive Human-Individuals recognize as Godly Characteristic Attitudes of Good, Truth, Right, Love and Justice, etc., in absolute oppqsition to the negative satanic traits of Bad, Lie (falsehood) Wrong, Hatred, and Injustice, etc.

"NO MAN (You and I included) CAN SERVE TWO MASTERS!" "No man can hide His (spiritual) identity!"

"Man's Positive (angelic) characteristic personality, or versus—negative (satanic) traits—reveal His or Her—spiritual Individuality positively."

"Tell Me, who your companions are? And I tell you—who You are!" Are your Companions Men of SAINTLY VIRTUE? If not, then you are of negative Individuality. "Stop and Think."

"A Good Man is in absolute opposition with the negative (satanic) traits, which the Ignoramus Demon-possessed (the Bad-man) ceremoniously follows, and visa versa!" Alas—Men of Good Will are so few, amongst the Human Race—that it seems to be a WASTE OF TIME—to arouse the Atheists, Jews and Christian Pharisees into individual concentrated thinking, and recognition of the fact, that they are eternally doomed, religious demon deceived victims of the cunning deceitful invincible Lucifers.

MEN ARE CONCEPTIVE TO (either positive or negative) SPIRITUALIZATION!

Humans, (You and I) are born, (evolutionize into life) as absolutely neutrals; but are conceptive to (either positive or negative) Spiritual Factions; therefore are forced into (either positive or negative) Individualization, which is (indirectly) Spiritualization, of You and Me, for an endless Eternity. "Read The "EMISSARY", The Key to Heaven!"

Humans INDIVIDUALIZE, when confronted by the (spiritual) devils; that is, tempted to do the wrong, to lie, to hate, to act false (deceptive) unjust, etc., but are counter-confronted and enlightened by the Angels—to oppose the demon temptations and be truthful, to love and act kindly and just, etc., and thus people who think will fight the devils—the others will surrender as Demon-serfs!

Every (rational) Human—must fight demon temptations, and is more-or-less demon hypnotic suggestive influenced, (controlled) and finally will be satanic possessed as a demon-slave (serf) in Hell—for all Eternity—UNLESS HE OR SHE ACT NOW—and recognize the fact of developing themselves into their own (Godly) Individuality, and unite their own Will—with the WILL OF CHRIST (the Real and 'Only' One God) within His CATHOLIC CHURCH (Collective body of Christians) on Earth, and fight the demon temptations mutually to a successful VICTORY. "Fight the Demons, united in One Society of Men who do God's Will, (one Godly Family) and You Will, You must Win!"

MEN OF GOOD WILL! Fighting demon temptations victorious—is YOCR ONLY MEANS—to build Yourselves into a spiritual body of a Catholic CHARACTER OF SAINTLY VIRTUE! Thus the most vicious, hateful spiritual devils—are a necessary EVIL—they force You and Me, (all Men of Good Will) into a life of saintliness, in preparation, to become fit inhabitants of Heaven.

"Do Not Despair—Fight the Demons united in One collective body of Men!"*

THE ATHEISTIC CAPITALISTIC MONETIZATION SYSTEM HAS REACHED ITS SUMMIT, because War and Unification of the Atheist Labor Mob, will hasten the Atheist, STATE CAPITALISM (Dictator Mob Communism,) then what? "The final Division of positive versus negative people!"

In Unity with Christ, God, there is Eternal Irresistible Strength! "There is realization of Self Creation into Godliness."

The "EMISSARY" exposes as Misrepresentatives of Christ, God the Trinity, THE ROMAN (HOLY) HIERARCHY AS ACE IDOLATORS! "Apostolic Agents of the demons in Hell."

The Roman Hierarchy's Religion, and all other Religious demon-controlled sects — and their biblical, religious deceived disciples, STILL ADORE A GOLDEN-CALF, an infinite mythical Jehovah. "THEY STILL PRACTICE IDOLATRY." They are still demon deceived religious people; who still believe in fantastic fables of a spiritual (imagined) false-god; a deceptive, biblical, mysterious, magic-power miracle performing, infinite-demon-invented Magician God.

"There is not 'One' Religious Teacher; (including the Apostolic, Roman (holy) Hierarchy) who recognizes Eternal Facts!" "Who knows—The Real God; Christ, God in Actuality!" Here is the unfailing mathematical proof! "ANYBODY WHO KNOWS CHRIST, THE REAL GOD, WILL LIVE A CHRIST LIVE OF SAINTLY VIRTUE IN THIS GOD'S WORLD!" Because: CHRIST REVEALS, AND ETERNAL FACTS PROVE; that a characteristic Life of a Godly Personality of Saintliness on Earth, is essential—in preparation to become fit Inhabitants of Heaven! "All Religious Teachers are (Demon-deceived) False Prophets!"

"The "EMISSARY" Reveals, that this World is the 'only' preparatory abode, for a heavenly (saintly) life, with Christ, the Real, Personal God, our (indirect) Eternal Father in Heaven."

WHO IS THE OPPOSITE OF THE REAL GOD? WHO is the NEGATIVE-GOD? WHO IS GOD IN ACTUALITY?

The Apostolic Roman (demon Hypnotic - possessed) Hierarchy, and all other demon-religious-sects, naturally believe (falsely) that the most Ignoramus Lucifer (the demon-boss) is the opposite, the negative-god; and that their biblical, fabulous, mythical, magic-power-miracle, mysterious, infinite satanic-imagined Jehovah (who they claim is the FATHER OF (CHRIST,) is the positive REAL, (PERSONAL) GOD in ACTUALITY. "An infinite God is a satanic-deception!"

"Mathematical Analysis prove; that there never existed such an individual as a negative-god! "CHRIST, GOD IN ACTUALITY, REALITY, is the SUPREME, ONE (positive) PERSONALITY without a negative." "The devil or devils, are positively Ignoramusses, devils; therefore, are negative Angels, not negative-gods!" Because, they are degenerated (pre-historic) spiritual-beings, ignoramusses, of the least Individuality; far below the Human-beings. "The Devils were, are—and will stay ignorant vicious-demons." "Read the "EMISSARY" convince yourself of all Eternal Facts!"

The Devils are (invincible) negative-beings who (like the Human negative-beings of Atheists, Jews and Christian Pharisees) are ignorant; therefore, can not and do not want—to distinguish between positive persons and negative beings! Consequently the biblical religious, mysterious, infinite, magic-power-miracle, (mythical) Jehovah, is the ignorant devils-imagined Jewish and Christian mythical GOD IN INACTUALITY! That is; a negative religious-god is a demon-deception, a myth; therefore, does not exist in Actuality. "A negative biblical-god, is positively opposite to CHRIST, THE REAL, ACTUAL, PERSONAL, GOD the TRINITY."

"The BIBLICAL, RELIGIOUS (Satanic-imagined) infinite Jehovah of the Satanic - hypnotic - suggestive-controlled, (demon-possessed) Apostolic Roman (holy) Hierarchy, and all other religious sects, absolutely is non-existant in Actuality; symbolizes a GOLDEN CALF, an IDOL-HEATHEN-GOD."

ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIANS! Will You Stop and Think? You are demon-deceived! "Recognize the Eternal Fact that Christ is the 'One' and 'Only' God! Your loving (indirect) ETERNAL FATHER."

CHRIST, GOD, REVEALED HIMSELF TO MEN, (His indirect Children) in His second Godly (characteristic) personality (spiritual-body,) GOD IN A HUMAN-BODY; the revealing (spiritual) ETERNAL WAY, of Christ's, God's 'own' ETERNAL WORD; up-held by Christ, God-Himself, in His first (Original) Godly (characteristic) personality, the ETERNAL (spiritual) LIGHT; substantiated by CHRIST, GOD HIMSELF, in His third Godly (characteristic) personality; THE ENLIGHTENING ETERNAL TRUTH. "Christ is the 'One' and 'only' personal, the real God in Actuality; the One, ORIGINAL REVEALING AND ENLIGHTENING, uncontestable Eternal Fact, of God the Trinity." "ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIANS! Have you any imagination at all?" Your argument to blame either Your infinite, Mythical God, or Your Ancestors for bringing You into this World as either an Atheist, or Jew, or False Christian proves, Your dual Human-demon Individuality! Because: This World came forth by Evolution! Your far back ancestors were Savages; now You have advanced Yourselves from a Savage state; instruct in the refinements of civilized life! Christ, God came into this World to teach, lead and guide Mankind, to build ourselves into a characteristic Godly personality of Saintly Virtue, into a spiritual body of a Christ Nature of Right, Truth, Justice, Love, etc., into Semi-Gods.

All Men of Good Will should read the "EMISSARY" the God sent Volume, which reveals all Eternal-Facts and exposes the spiritual demons! "It supersedes the biblical, religious, fictitious narrative of MYSTIC MYTHOLOGY of an (infinite) false-god."

THE APOSTOLIC - ROMAN HIERARCHY - misrepresent God! THEY ARE Satanic-hypnotic-suggestive-controlled, DEMON POSSESSED — THEREFORE, ARE SPIRITUALLY BLIND, THEY DO NOT RECOGNIZE THIS FACT — AND ARE DOOMED.

The Roman Hierarchy and all the other religious teachers of these various demon religious sects have proven themselves to be demon - deceived hypnotic - possessed and suggestive controlled (spiritually blinded) IDOLATORS; who worship a Satanic-imagined mythical infinite Jehovah! Therefore, are agents of Hell—who teach their disciples mysterious MYTHOLOGY, IDOLATRY, and lead them and themselves unknowingly into eternal damnation.

All religious deceived people use the Satanic inspired Bible as the basis of their living, therefore believe in a religious, fictitious, narrative, based on mystic mythology of a magic-power-miracle-performing, infinite God; and therefore are deceived religious Idolators.

All Religious teachers use the mythical bible as their Text-book and deceive their unsuspecting disciples into the false belief—that CHRIST (who, in actuality is the REAL and 'ONLY' GOD) IS THE SON OF A BIBLICAL (satanic-invented) mythical religious JEHOVAH; and therefore are demon deceived False Prophets.

False Prophets use this demon-inspired fabulous Bible to prove—how this mysterious demon-invented. Magician - God. created .this World .(Universe). by .MAGIC-POWER-MIRACLES in Six Days—and this Earth was then a Paradise—until Adam and Eve sinned, ect. "These Bible stories are manufactured of such super-fantastic fables that any sensible Human must recognize the bible as a fantastic fairyland story-book!" "Sensible people wonder—why anybody believes same."

If those religious deceived people would stop and think—they would realize that OUR WORLD IS THE SAME PARADISE TODAY, or rather more developed now, than at the beginning of History—because, A PARADISE (A WORLD) OR A HEAVEN, OR A HELL, is a spiritual condition only, (rather than a place) which the inhabitants of A WORLD (A PARADISE,) HEAVEN OR HELL, create for themselves; that is: If the People on our Earth, You and I, would stop and think; that is, if You and I would live a characteristic Christ-life of Good Christians—a life of fit inhabitants of a PARADISE, a life of SAINTLY VIRTUE — then this our World would (naturally) be the long deferred Paradise—and consequently this our life is a preparatory-life TO BECOME FIT INHABITANTS OF HEAVEN!

"Brethren! It is expedient—in fact, it is absolutely necessary that You and I unite —INTO ONE SOCIETY OF PARADISEISM — ONE CATHOLIC (Universal) CHURCH of God, and live a life of fit inhabitants of a Paradise, A CATHOLIC LIFE OF SAINTLY-VIRTUE and help each other fight our common Enemies the Devils!"

But: If on the contrary, You and I, THE PEOPLE IN THIS WORLD, will submit to be demon-hypnotic-possessed and suggestive controlled; that is, should you and I be religiously demon-deceived and fail to fight Satanic-temptation of bad-habits, pride, etc., then—consequently (due to our own inactivity) WE FAIL TO CREATE OURSELVES INTO A POSITIVE HUMAN-PERSON OF SAINTLINESS! Subsequently we are demon-hypnotic - suggestive - controlled (more or less) HELL BOUND, NEGATIVE HUMAN-BEINGS; who will participate in SATANIC WORLD WARS and hatred of our fellow men, and all the horrors of human-demon-devastation, of the human - achievements. Naturally this our world will be (and stay) just what the spiritual-devils (who control (more or less) all the Atheists, Jews and deceived Christians) wants same to be—a Human-Demon-Dictator, Atheist-State Capitalism (Atheist-mob-communism) a World of Wretchedness and Misery—"A regular Hell of Satanic-hatred on Earth."

Men of Good Will—Stop and Think! "Read the "EMISSARY" Convince yourselves—that God is limited in Actuality, by Individuality; therefore, can not help any human—unless they help themselves." "God can not do Your thinking—and fight the Devils for You!"

WHY DID THE High-Priests CRUCIFY CHRIST, (GOD) RATHER THAN FOLLOW HIM — and live a Christ life of Saintly Virtue (godliness) in this World in preparation for an Eternal-Life in Heaven with God?

Why do the Apostolic Roman Hierarchy, the Atheists, Jews and Christians—today fail to recognize the Eternal Fact; that CHRIST IS THE REAL 'ONE' GOD? WHY! BECAUSE: THEY ARE (demon hypnotic-possessed and sugestive controlled spiritually blind Ignoramusses) NEGATIVE HUMAN - BEINGS. "Read the "EMISSARY" the Book which supercedes the Bible."

There has never been a greater crime committed against God and the Human-Race than to deceive the most VIRTUOUS YOUNG

THE POPE IS THE HOLY FATHER OF THE Satanic-hypnotic-suggestive-controlled, (DEMON POSSESSED) ROMAN CATHOLIC HIERARCHY, ROMAN HOLY-ORDER OF ANTI-MATRIMONY, who lock the most Virtuous Young Women up in Satanic Harem Cloisters, to prevent them from being VIRGIN MOTHERS OF VIRTUOUS CHRISTIAN FAMILIES!

Although the (holy) Roman Hierarchy Official Clergy of the Church of God are Masters of deceitfulness, THEY ARE THE MOST DECEIVED HUMAN BEINGS ON EARTH THEMSELVES. "Holy False Prophets 'spells' Satanic Poppets of Hell." "DEMON HYPNOTISM (SPIRITUALLY) BLINDFOLDS PEOPLE!"

The (holy) Roman Hierarchy, (False Prophets) are demon-deceived! They really believe in a mysterious, false, infinite god, who creates a Universe by mystic-miracles, and unlimited magic power, at His whim. "An Infinite God, is the biblical fantastic demon-imagined, (invented) religious God!"

THE HOLY ROMAN FALSE-PROPHETS, believe in a (strictly catholic) Purgatory—"A DEMON 'INVENTED' .SOUL .LAUNDRY!" CHRIST WHO IS THE REAL AND ONLY GOD, COMMANDED HIS APOSTLES AND THEIR DESCENDANTS TO CONTINUE HIS LAST SUPPER ON EARTH, until the end of His Historic Time, in His Commemoration, and mutuality of One Godly Family, the collective Body of Christians, (God's Catholic Church) a Community of Men who live a Christian Life on Earth—Men who do God's Will; therefore, practice Saintly Virtue.

THE (HOLY) ROMAN HIERARCHY ARE DEMON - DECEIVED—ACE FALSE PROPHETS; because they are Apostolic MIS-REPRESENTATIVES OF CHRIST WHO IS GOD. They have discontinued (the Christian Mutuality) the Last Supper, as God commanded same, and have substituted the (satanic-inspired) All-Ceremonial Mass, which they have commercialized; which is the most criminal demon interference; deception of Christ's elect disciples imaginable.

Catholic Brethren! The (holy) Roman Hierarchy prove themselves deceived Agents of Hell. "STOP AND THINK!" Attend the All Ceremonial Mass undiscriminatively; THEN COMPARE SAME WITH THE LAST SUPPER OF CHRIST AND HIS APOSTLES. The 'one' part of the Mass where the Apostolic descendant takes the bread and wine as Representative of Christ, who is God, and repeats the Word of God, and says: "THIS IS MY BODY!" "THIS IS MY BLOOD!" Is the 'only' part of the all ceremonial Mass which God will recognize and uphold as His authoritative representation of His Command at the Last Supper.

The (holy) ROMAN HIERARCHY. (false prophets) are Super-ignoramuses, ace negatives, Demon - deceived DECEIVERS; who have deceptively altered the Last Supper of Christ and His Apostles into an ALL CEREMONIAL MASS: which these demon-possessed, deceived-deceivers claim is not a Supper, but the unbloody offering on the Altar of Sacrifice of Christ (who they claim—is the Son of an infinite mysterious God) to appease His angry, unrelenting, infinite (mythical) Father for the Sins which are commited (against this demon imagined God), by the Atheists, Jews and Christian-Pharisees, the negative beings of the Human Race. etc. "Alas—False Prophets are negatives themselves!"

Brethren! CHRIST, GOD, ESTABLISHED HIS CHURCH (collective body of Christians) on Earth which is here today—but is under demon control—by a satanic-hypnotic possessed and suggestive controlled—APOSTOLIC, ROMAN HIERARCHY, who specialize as Agents of Hell, and as Idolatrous beggar Kings! "God wants them to be virtuous VIRGIN MOTHERS and propagate the World."*

"VIRGIN MOTHERS ARE GOD'S SPECIAL FAVORED INDIRECT CHILDREN!"

There are and have been Hundreds of Thousands of those VIRTUOUS YOUNG WOMEN locked up in the DEMON-ROMAN-CLOISTERS— SATANIC-OWNED HAREMS; by those criminally deceptive demon-deceived (Holy) Roman Hierarchy False Phophets; and their masters, the damned most vicious Demons. It is an outrageous crime against God and Humanity that those Good Virtuous Young Women are deceived into satanic religious slavery, and finally become religious Christian-Pharisees, full of Holiness, Laziness and Demon Pride of the ROMAN HOLY ORDER of Anti-matrimony; and are chained in Actuality, with a false (satanic) Vow—an illegal, criminal SATANIC-OATH AGAINST MATRIMONY AND THE HUMAN RACE.

Men of Good Will—You are urgently requested to read the "EMISSARY". Acquaint yourself with All Eternal Facts, and biblical, religious, demon-deceptions of the Apostolic Roman Hierarchy. "The Mis-Representatives of God's One Catholic Church."

"Eternal mathematical analysis proves that DECEIVERS ASSUME TITLES!" "Alas, Holiness is a satanic-inspired dignity of the (holy) ROMAN HIERARCHY (False Prophets)."

The (holy) Roman Hierarchy elects amongst themselves, a POPE AT ROME (a false, apostolic representative of God;) who identifies himself by his satanic-dignity of HIS HOLINESS.

"The Pope of Rome is positively a FALSE REPRESENTATIVE OF CHRIST, GOD, and His Collective body of Christians—His Church!"

hypnotic-suggestive-controlled, (DEMON POSSESSED) ROMAN CATHOLIC HIERARCHY, ROMAN HOLY-ORDER OF ANTI-MATRIMONY, who lock the most Virtuous Young Women up in Satanic Harem Cloisters, to prevent them from being VIRGIN MOTHERS OF VIRTUOUS CHRISTIAN FAMILIES!

Although the (holy) Roman Hierarchy Official Clergy of the Church of God are Masters of deceitfulness, THEY ARE THE MOST DECEIVED HUMAN BEINGS ON EARTH THEMSELVES. "Holy False Prophets 'spells' Satanic Poppets of Hell." "DEMON HYPNOTISM (SPIRITUALLY) BLINDFOLDS PEOPLE!"

The (holy) Roman Hierarchy, (False Prophets) are demon-deceived! They really believe in a mysterious, false, infinite god, who creates a Universe by mystic-miracles, and unlimited magic power, at His whim. "An Infinite God, is the biblical fantastic demon-imagined, (invented) religious God!"

THE HOLY ROMAN FALSE-PROPHETS, believe in a (strictly catholic) Purgatory—"A DEMON 'INVENTED' .SOUL .LAUNDRY!" Therefore deceive themselves and our Catholic-brethren into Eternal Damnation—by the demon-inspired .Proclamation .— that it is not absolutely necessary for Catholics to live a life of 100% (SAINTLY) VIRTUE on Earth —in order to enter Heaven. "Catholic Purgatory 'spells' Roman-Hell!" "CATHOLICS WHO LIVE A CHRIST-LIFE 'ONLY' ENTER HEAVEN!" "Apostolic Mis-Representatives are Demon deceived Judases!"

The Roman Hierarchy False Prophets — teach; that the devils are fallen Angels; which is a Roman-Demon-Lie!

The Lucifers are orginal spiritual Ignoramusses; who hypnotic-possess all False Prophets! Therefore; "THE HOLY ROMAN FALSE PROPHETS ARE LIKE THEIR MASTERS, IGNORAMUSSES; who really believe in a biblical infinite mythical God—AND FAIL TO RECOGNIZE CHRIST, THE 'ONE' AND 'ONLY' GOD!" Therefore; "THE ROMAN HIERARCHY TEACHES BIBLICAL FABLES of their demon-imagined God, who they claim created this Universe and everything in Six Days — and Adam and Eve sinned, etc.!"

The Roman Hierarchy reveal their demon-nature of ignorance, that is, their biblical teachings are of such silliness that same reveal the utmost incapability of any (Godly) leadership, except demon-deceptions, false leadership; thereby they lead the deceived catholics and (as apostolic misrepresentative of the Church of Christ, God) lead all other people into Hell.

The (holy) ROMAN HIERARCHY, prove themselves Ignoramusses, APOSTOLIC AGENTS OF HELL! They falsely proclaim that Christ, (who is really God the Trinity) sacrificed His (earthly) life to Redeem the Human Race. Redeem from Who? Did the Devils .ever .Own .Humanity? "Christ, God came to reveal the Eternal Truth versus Demon deceptions."

Why did CHRIST (God) come into this His World and suffer crucifixion? There are many reasons, but the One in particular is to AROUSE MANKIND INTO COMPARATIVE, THINKING AND REALIZATION OF POSITIVE RIGHT JUDGMENT AND SELF-RECOGNITION! Therefore God sent this special Warning: "BEWARE OF DEMON DECEPTIONS, OF AGENTS OF HELL —THE HOLY ROMAN FALSE PROPHETS—THEY WILL DECEIVE EVEN THE ELECT!"

There must be Demon deceptions, and there must be deceived victims of circumstances, in order to arouse men into CONCENTRATED THINKING AND SELF-ACTION! "MEN CAN SEE THE TRUTH 'ONLY' BECAUSE SPIRITUAL INDIVIDUALS; therefore God—must uphold Indi- ative - opposite demon - possessed Human-beings." "Reason!"

CHRIST WHO IS THE REAL AND ONLY GOD, COMMANDED HIS APOSTLES AND THEIR DESCENDANTS TO CONTINUE HIS LAST SUPPER ON EARTH, until the end of His Historic Time, in His Commemoration, and mutuality of One Godly Family, the collective Body of Christians, (God's Catholic Church) a Community of Men who live a Christian Life on Earth—Men who do God's Will; therefore, practice Saintly Virtue.

THE (HOLY) ROMAN HIERARCHY ARE DEMON - DECEIVED—ACE FALSE PROPHETS; because they are Apostolic MISREPRESENTATIVES OF CHRIST WHO IS GOD. They have discontinued (the Christian Mutuality) the Last Supper, as God commanded same, and have substituted the (satanic-inspired) All-Ceremonial Mass, which they have commercialized; which is the most criminal demon interference; deception of Christ's elect disciples imaginable.

Catholic Brethren! The (holy) Roman Hierarchy prove themselves deceived Agents of Hell. "STOP AND THINK!" Attend the All Ceremonial Mass undiscriminatively; THEN COMPARE SAME WITH THE LAST SUPPER OF CHRIST AND HIS APOSTLES. The 'one' part of the Mass where the Apostolic descendant takes the bread and wine as Representative of Christ, who is God, and repeats the Word of God, and says: "THIS IS MY BODY!" "THIS IS MY BLOOD!" Is the 'only' part of the all ceremonial Mass which God will recognize and uphold as His authoritative representation of His Command at the Last Supper.

The (holy) ROMAN HIERARCHY (false prophets) are Super-ignoramuses, ace negatives, Demon - deceived DECEIVERS; who have deceptively altered the Last Supper of Christ and His Apostles into an ALL CEREMONIAL MASS: which these demon-possessed, deceived-deceivers claim is not a Supper, but the unbloody offering on the Altar of Sacrifice of Christ (who they claim—is the Son of an infinite mysterious God) to appease His angry, unrelenting, infinite (mythical) Father for the Sins which are commited (against this demon imagined God), by the Atheists, Jews and Christian-Pharisees, the negative beings of the Human Race. etc. "Alas—False Prophets are negatives themselves!"

Brethren! Scorn the (holy ROMAN HIERARCHY; they are demon-deceived, over educated, satanic dominated DECEIVERS! The satanic-inspired deceptions that Christ is the Son of an (satanic invented) infinite Father, whom He must appease; and that Christ must make satisfactions, atonement for the sins of a negative, demon hypnotic-possessed Mankind is A SANTANIC-INSPIRED, DAMNABLE LIE of the most IDOLATROUS NATURE, an affrontery to CHRIST WHO IS THE ONE AND ONLY GOD IN ACTUALITY.

CHRIST IS GOD THE TRINITY, HIMSELF, who revealed Himself in His second characteristic (Godly) personality, the (eternal) Spiritual Way, the Word of God, the revealing ETERNAL TRUTH, God in Actuality; in His material, personal, human body.

The (holy) Roman Hierarchy prove themselves as Ignoramusses, deceived Deceivers. They use their exalted position as AUTHORITATIVE DESCENDANTS OF THE APOSTLES, to deceive the Catholic People! They are in Actuality, demon hypnotic-suggestive-possessed misrepresentatives of God; who prey on their victims, the elect disciples of the Church of God with their deceptive ALL CEREMONIAL MASS, for which they charge fees, and which they deceptively offer up as atonement to appease the infinite (satanic-invented) RAVING MAD, revengeful, demon - impersonated God, the mystic, magic, biblical, religious Jehovah.

THE ROMAN HIERARCHY assure their deceived victims that they can obtain from their satanic-invented God, almost anything they may wish to obtain, but especially, they should have THE ALL CEREMONIAL .MASSES .SAID FOR .THEIR .DEAD .RELATIVES, which will free them from the false (imaginary) Purgatory; THE DEMON INVENTED SOUL LAUNDRY. "SCORN THE (HOLY ROMAN HIERARCHY, FALSE PROPHETS: they are the most deceived CRIMINAL DECEIVERS OF ANY CRIMINAL DECEIVERS IN THIS WORLD!" "MASSES 'SPELLS' ROMAN CRIMINAL DEMON DECEPTION."

SCORN THE DEMON-DECEIVED CRIMINAL DECEITFUL PRIESTS, who say an All Ceremonial (demon-invented) Mass for you or your dead friends! "These Demon hypnotic-suggestive posessed Agents of Hell, Commercialize—the Bread of Life—God! The Eternal Truth!"

"The Eternal Bread of Eternal Life, is indirectly God the Trinity; therefore, cannot be commercialized and put on exhibition in a (satanic - deceptive) Theatrical manner for Demon Adoration."

"CHRISTIANITY — Christ's Catholic Church; is God's 'only' possibility of unification—His Godly individuality with Human Persons!"

GOD'S REPRESENTATIVES MUST LIVE A CHRIST-LIFE OF SAINTLINESS! "THEREFORE CAN NEITHER BE POLITICAL BOSSES NOR DOMINATING BEGGAR KINGS; but (as individuals) must teach and guide and lead, and concentrate all Men of Good Will (of the whole World) into ONE CHURCH (collective body of Christians) "ONE GODLY COMMUNITY FAMILY OF SAINTLY VIRTUE." "The (holy) Roman Hierarchy are apostolic Beggar Kings!"

"PARADISEISM the sequel of Catholic (saintly) Communism is the 'only' ANTITHESIS of religious PARASITES, political DICTATORS, PIRATES AND DRONES and CAPITALISTIC-EXPLOITERS and SLAVE DRIVERS and an ATHEIST State Capitalism, MOB COMMUNISM—a regular Hell on Earth!"

The Society of Paradiseism, leads, guides and teaches — All Men of God Will—how to live a life of Saintly Virtue—therefore, invites everybody to attend the educational Lectures of the Catholic Mission College, Free to all Men; and Publishes The "EMISSARY" which reveals all Eternal Facts — (which each member of the Human Race should know)! "THE KEY TO HEAVEN". The Book which supersedes the Bible, and exposes all biblical religious demon deceptions! "CHRISTIANITY IS THE ONLY BASIS OF PARADISEISM — THE SEQUEL OF CATHOLIC (SAINTLY) COMMUNISM — MENS ONLY SALVATION!"

"False demon-inspired teachings lead .all .religious .teachers .and their disciples into a false believe which leads into eternal damnation, as slaves (serfs) of the most vicious eternal slave drivers—The Devils in Hell. "Everybody lives a life—in accordance to His believe"

Atheists, Jews, Roman Catholics. It seems that most of you are beyond redemption! It is a pity —You are damned; because YOU ARE NEGATIVE DEMON-CONTROLLED INDIVIDUALS; therefore, You will be in Hell, and still—You will deny this Fact. "Hell's Inhabitants are negatives!" "All negatives deny the very fact that they exist!" "Will you admit the very fact, THAT YOU ARE NOT LIVING A CHRIST-LIFE OF SAINTY VIRTUE?"

The "EMISSARY" reveals — SAINTLINESS IS CHRIST'S GODLY NATURE OF 100% Virtue — THE BASIS OF YOUR AND MY ETERNAL LIFE AS SEMI-GODS — IN HEAVEN!

Why are Athelsts, Jews and deceived Christians — versus — Saints? That is, fail to live a life of a Saint? Why? "Lack of Christian Teachers of Saintly Virtue is the basic cause—for lack of Saintly Christians." "CHRIST IS THE 'ONE' AND 'ONLY' GOD THE TRINITY! Therefore is the basic Teacher of Godly Nature of Virtue!"

Brethren! Could or would anybody expect to be a Saint without Saintly Education? Therefore, it is absolutely necessary FOR THINKING PEOPLE, WHO ARE WITHOUT A SAINTLY EDUCATION; TO ATTEND PRELIMINARY LECTURE COURSES! — Under the auspices of the CATHOLIC MISSION COLLEGE—OF SAINTLY VIRTUE!

THE SOCIETY OF PARADISEISM, (PUBLISHERS OF THE "EMISSARY" THE KEY TO HEAVEN—) cordially invites, and ask full cooperation of ALL MEN OF GOOD WILL! Help to change this, God's World—into the long deferred Paradise—"Help save Civilization!"

Brethren of INDIVIDUAL CONCENTRATED WEALTH — Will You Stop, Think and Reason —Conserve Your Wealth, and Yourselves; unite with Men who do God's Will—Men who are an asset, not a burden—Real Brethren! Do You believe that it is possible for a Camel, to pass through the eye of a Needle? It is just as impossible for Men, who have a demon-desire for material Wealth and Power of satanic-domination of their fellowmen to go to heaven! Are you a similarity to the RICH YOUNG RULER—who rejected Christ's, God's invitation to follow Him, (as an Apostle) into a life of 100% Virtue on Earth—and finally as a Semi-God eternally?

ATHEISTS, JEWS, CHRISTIAN-PHARISEES—! "An Eternity in Hell, is a long — long dreary most horrible, undescribable terrifying future!" Will You stay negative, demon hypnotic-suggestive controlled Serfs? Will You (each of you individually) listen to sensible reasoning—like a good, neutral (indirect) child of God, and thus fight (indirectly) the temptations of the (spiritual) invincible, damned Lucifers?

"ALL EXISTENCE IS BASED ON (Neutrality) SPIRITUAL (eternal) ACTUALITY; and is limited in Reality, to positive and negative (opposing) Individualty!"

.."CHRIST IS GOD—The Angels are Angels—and the Devils are Devils (Ignoramuses) in Actuality, positively (eternal) in Reality!"

"NEUTRALITY IS THE BASE OF THE HUMAN RACE — Christ's God's Revelation of the Eternal Truth based on three Godly-Natures of Eternal Facts, forces (compels) every human-being, either into positive or negative (eternal) Individuals!"

Men are (limited) INDEPENDENT (spiritual) INDIVIDUALS; of either elect disciples of Christ, God—or Anti-Christ!

It is God's Will that All Men, with all their individual (material) wealth unite; because, the final evolution of Mankind is at hand! You and I are stewards only — in God's collective body of (saintly) Mutualism.

Brethren — "Stop and Think" — but be sure that you are thinking. "CONCENTRATED THINKING 'SPELLS' UNITY WITH GOD'S WILL!"

God could create a world—but not a Paradise—Christ, God came into this Earth, to teach, lead and guide us into a christian life of Saintly Virtue; because, "CATHOLIC (saintly) Communism 'only' can change this World into the long deferred PARADISEISM; the final Kingdom of God on Earth—! The Demons in Hell shall not prevail against it."

PARADISEISM, is positively the One and 'ONLY' antidote of individual, concentrated wealth; because christian Mutualism positively exterminates—religious Parasites (Beggar-Kings), Political Dictators, Pirates and Drones, financial Exploiters and Slave-drivers, (Piratic Saints) Philanthropists, Hoboes, Paupers, and Beggars, (Atheist Mob), State (Capitalism) Communism of political Human-demon-machine Governments; therefore changes this world into the preparatory abode, the final kingdom of God on Earth for the elect disciples of God's Church.

It seems hard to believe that all the wealthy people would not be willing to concentrate all their hard earned (earthly) riches, into One Godly Paradiseism, rather —than to be confiscated and wastefully destroyed, by an Atheist Mob State Capitalism! And it seems even more unbelievable that any and all the rich people would not be willing to surrender their Own Free Will to the Will of Christ, who is God the Trinity Himself, rather than to be the enslaved victims of their invincible hypnotic dictators and captors, their eternal arch enemies, the hateful, damned, spiritual devils, for an eternity—in undescribable suffering, as Human outcasts in Hell. It seems even more strange that poor, poverty stricken people would not prefer to live in God's preparatory Kingdom, Paradiseism, with (enormous material wealth) all the comforts of life, rather than to live a life of poverty, misery, deprivation, and hardship in this world — and in addition, to be eternal slaves of the damned, most vicious, ignoramus devils, forever in Hell.

Satanic, hypnotic possession, deceptive demon control (of their own Free Will) is and must be the cause, the reason why the vast masses of the people, (including their satanic-controlled leaders) reject to unite into One Godly Family on Earth, rather than a Hell on Earth and in Eternity.

Brethren! Rich and Poor —Young and Old! "Will you stop and think, or will you defy your Ownselves, as self-damned Human-demons, Eternally."

CHRIST'S FINAL APPEAL! Atheists, Jews and Christian Pharisees Reverse --Your Demon-nature into God's Nature of Christian Saints

"MEN WHO THINK 'ONLY' will unite into One Catholic Church, and by living a life of (saintly) Mutualism 'Only' will attain Eternal Salvation—and change our Earth into the long deferred, but finally established Paradiseism, and save Themselves and Mankind from (Atheist Mob Communism) Dictator State Capitalism—A regular poverty stricken Hell on Earth." "All Men of Good Will must unite into One Godly Family, and establish CATHOLIC MISSION COLLEGES (everywhere — in their Own Municipalty) and practice Saintly Virtue." "BRETHREN WILL YOU LISTEN!" "SCORN 'ANY AND ALL' RELIGIONS—they lead You into Hell, as Demon-serfs."

Revelation of Facts--

NOTICE! This is a copy of the original letter, sent to U.S. Congress!: R.Ulram

Congress of The UNITED STATES of America
Washington D. C.
Attention Brethren of The CONGRESS!

I send this letter as a token of Good Will, to express my deep feeling for Your Well-being -- and the great esteem -- of Your official standing, as Congressmen — of our great Republic! The Cradle of God's final Kingdom on Earth.

I introduce Myself as an humble Citizen, resigned to do the Will of God; as His Intermediate Messenger of Good Will; to lead, teach and guide my Brethren (who think) into a Christ-Life of Godly-Nature, a life of Saintly-Virtue; fit inhabitants of Heaven.

I have spent the greater part of my life in research, for the advancement of Mankind. I have solved all religious (biblical) mysteries, all Eternal-Facts; with mathematically analized Eternal-Truth. These Eternal-Facts are published by The Society of Paradiseism, in the "EMINENT NEWS" and "The EMISSARY" the book which supersedes the fictitious (religious) Bible. "The EMISSARY" exposes the Spiritual-devils Religions!

I have also solved, (after Years of research) the great riddle, to harness the inexhaustible -- Eternal-Power of Gravitation, for Men who do God's Will on Earth only!

Congressmen--! My words are based on unquestionable facts! I will gladly Lecture, and explain all Facts to You, and all Americans! "Truthful Men have nothing to conceal".

It is SELF-EVIDENT --that the final Evolution of Mankind (into positive versus negative, Godly versus Satanic eternal Factions) is at Hand! God will, He must separate the Sheep from the Goats! You and I, all the thinking people of America and the whole World must unite, in God's Catholic (Universal) Church; and form a mutual Society of Paradiseism (Saintly-Communism) to save America, and the World -- from Demon-dominated Dictator (political) Machine-Governments of Atheist (Mob-Communism) State Capitalism; who engage their Nations in Wars -- with the Satanic-deceptive-pretense of fighting for a peaceful Earthly-Heaven! Alas -- it is an undisputed fact, that Wars, conquest with the Sword, will neither change America, nor the World into a Paradise; but rather into more wars -- and more Demon-hatred of the Warrior-Nations, and therefore -- a perpetual Demon-slavery, a Hell on Earth -- and finally a great Victory for the Devils Eternally! That is; Eternal-Damnation -- a Hell of Eternal-wars, for all the Warriors forever!

Christ's Doctrine of --- "THE FOUR FREEDOMS" --- only' assures a Heaven on Earth!
FREEDOM -- from religious Parasites, Pharisees (Deceivers) False Prophets, Demon-Agents!
FREEDOM -- from political Bureaucracy, Dictators, Dissimulators, Pirates and Drones!
FREEDOM -- from financial Exploiters; Individual Concentrated-Wealth, Slave-Drivers!
FREEDOM -- from Atheist (Mob Communism) State Capitalism, a regular Earthly-Demon-Hell.

Gentlemen -- ! Are You and I, and our American Brethren Negative-Spiritual-Beings? Negative Human-beings are Demon-deceived (Satanic-hypnotic-possessed, suggestive-controlled) Hell-bound Demon-Serfs! There will be Wars, and Hell on Earth -- as long as there are Atheists, Jews, Roman Catholics, Protestants and other religious Sects --who hate each other! Why? Because: They are Anti-Christ, Anti-God --Negative Human-beings! Which is proven by the fact, that all religions are idolatrous Demon-institutions! They believe in a religious, mythical, biblical, mystical, infinite Demon-invented, (fabulous) Magician Jehovah! Because: They fail to recognize the Eternal Truth, that Christ is (the One and Only) God in Actuality! An Infinite-God, is an Imaginary-God in Reality.

I am fully convinced, I am able to build Gravitation-Power-Distance-Engines (electric) Power-Plants of Millions of Horse Power capacity; and I believe it would be a great Post-War help, to a War-torn Mankind! Because: It would change this World, into an Earthly-Heaven! If You and I, all Americans of Good Will, would Stop and Think, and change first -- into fit inhabitants of a Worldly-Heaven! That is; You and I, must fight (within ourselves) the demons-hatred -- not hate and War our Brethren! We must change into Christians, (who love and forgive our brethren) Citizens of God's final Kingdom on Earth.

You and I, all Individuals must pass the routine of life, into Eternity, as either Godly or Damned-People! All are born as Neutral-Babies; then (by Demon-temptation) all are Individualized, (more or less) into religious Negatives; then You and I, all Humans are confronted by Eternal Facts! We must now Stop and Think! Will You and I accept -- Christ's, God's final Doctrine of "THE FOUR FREEDOMS" as final Eternal Truth? Without reservation! Or stay religious Negative-Beings, and go to Hell, as Satanic-slaves, serfs, eternally. Are You and I with Christ? Americans of Good Will have no choice --We must unite in One Godly Family, and make America the basic Paradise! The final Kingdom of God.

Trusting in Your Good Will, that You will give due consideration, in co-operation with all Americans who do God's Will on Earth, as it is done in Heaven, I write to You as a well-meanig Citizen, (to the Representatives of the American Nation) to establish a historical record, of God's final endeavor-- to save America! Your Brother, R.Ulram.

P.S. Save Yourselves, America & World, from DEMON-DICTATOR-STATE-CAPITALISM-RUSSIAN-HELL!

Attention Brethren of the Press!

Kindly accept this well-meaning (indirect) letter of Good Will -- with an Open-Mind! I pray -- may I reveal my deep interest and zeal, to educate my brethren to the fact, that it is up to themselves to save America and Themselves, from Demon-domination; and my earnest desire, to arouse Your interest and pity with a War-torn Humanity! I plead -- for my brethren of other Nations, therefore appeal for Your co-operation, in a World-wide educational campaign against Demon-deception -- to change our Earth into Men's final Paradise.

The Human-Race is confronted with the final Evolution, of the final extremity of either positive Saintly-Persons, or religious, negative Demon-deceived Beings. Your and my spiritual survival, our Free-Will to do God's Will is at stake. We now must -- either unite (with our Free-Will) in God's final Kingdom on Earth -- or perish as negative Human-Demon-possessed-slaves (without a Free-Will) of a Demon-controlled America and World -- by Demon-controlled Bureaucracy, Dictators, Pirates, Drones etc.

Your and my right of individual concentrated thinking, and expession of Judgment is based on the eternal Individuality of Mankind as (indirect) Children of God! Therefore is, and has been attacked by the spiritual Devils, and their hypnotic-possessed and suggestive-controlled Human-Agents of Authority, the Rulers of the Nations, since the beginning! This is the basic Demon (camouflage) domination, of all Warriors; Dictators, and Citizens of whole Nations (including our America) thus the deceitful Devils have succeeded to reduce our Free American Citizens into Demon-serfs, (Slaves without a Free Will) Demon-dominated drafted Warriors, State-Slaves; negative Human-Beings.

Christ, God came into this, His World to establish Christianity; on the basis of Free Will of Men! Therefore, the Free Will -- Men's positive Individuality is the basic foundation of Civilization of the Human-Race! Therefore, military, or any forced conscription of Free American Citizens, (or any other people in this World) into Warriors -- is (camouflage) Satanic-domination of the Free-Will --A Criminal Injustice.

Christ's, God's doctrine of the Eternal Truth, is summerized into 100% Christians! A collective body of Saintly-disciples of Men! God's Catholic (Universal) Church!

Any and all Religions are the Devils greatest deceptions of Mankind; they are the trap set by the Arch-deceivers used as an incentive bait, as substitutes; Churches of Demon-Agents, of less than 100% Christianity! The spiritual Demons hypnotic-suggestive deceive all religious People, into the Satanic-ignorant-imagination, that a body of Men can modify the Eternal Truth to their own reasoning and liking.

Are You and I, one of the negative Demon-controlled vast majority of the American people who do not make any effort to live a Christ-life of 100% Virtue! Because: They say: Just imagine what silly-villy America this would be: When the American People, the President, the Congress, the Millionairs, the Press, Laborers and Hobos etc. would change their routine of living and thinking -- from negative Atheists, Jews, Roman-Catholics, Protestants and all these other demon religious sects, into positive Human-Persons of 100% Christians -- Saints? Do You really believe that Christians, who live a Christ-life of 100% Virtue are silly-villy Americans? Alas -- what a Silly-villy America this will be, should Americans of Good Will fail to live a life of Saintly-Virtue, and allow themselves to be engolfed by Demon-domination of World-State-Capitalism?

Brethren! It is within our own Choosing, either We fight the Demons, or become their Serfs! God can not modify the Eternal Truth; nor can He force anybody, against their Demon-hypnotic-suggestive controlled Free Will, to go to Heaven as Semi-Gods. Christ by His example of living a life of Godly-Nature, revealed the Eternal-Way of Godly-actuality of Men: therefore, You and I, all Americans of Good Will must follow Christ (with our own Free Will) that is, We must live a Christ-life of 100% Virtue.

Brethren of Journalism! Do You realize, that the spiritual Devils are the (indirect) cause of all Wars, and all Evils? Alas -- There are, and must be Devils, consequently Demons hypnotic-suggestive possess Human-Agents who draft Warriors etc.! Because: Without Demon aggression, there could be no Saintly development etc. without wrong, Men could not recognize right etc.! Therefore, God must allow , that the Devils finally engolfed all Russia into a Demon-owned Nation of State Capitalism -- an Earthly-Hell; under the camouflage name of a Soviet Republic. World-War No 2. treatens Demon-domination to engolf America, and the World -- into State-Capitalism, a Worldwide-Hell. Alas -- This is the last War in the History of the Human-Race -- it is the last, because it will last -- until Americans conquer Themselves from Demon-domination and accept Christ's final Doctrine of "THE FOUR FREEDOMS" as final Eternal Truth, in God's final Kingdom on Earth. AN OPEN LETTER

TO THE PRESIDENT, THE CONGRESS, AND THE PEOPLE

Permit No. 856

My Dear American Brethren:

I herewith transmit Christ's, God's final (indirect) Message to Americans!

I send this timely communication of Good Counsel—as CHRIST'S, God's (indirect) Messenger of Good Will, to those Americans, who are of Good Heart; those who have an open Mind—to Men and Women who Think and Reason!

Demon-Wars are based on unavoidable ignorance; therefore, are unavoidable Evils! Because: Demon-wars based on (ignorance) hatred—versus —Godly-peace based on (thinking) love, is the basis of all Eternal Life; the spiritual actuality of Individuality—of Right versus Wrong, Good versus Bad, Positive versus Negative; that is, thinking Angels versus ignoramus Devils, Heaven versus Hell-bound Americans. You and I are sure—We either go to Heaven, or to Hell! But—some (real smart) Americans would like to go back where they came from—alas—they do not know their old eternal address! "Infidel 'spells' Ignoramus."

Fellow Citizens! We are at War—You and I, (each individually) must Fight! AMERICANS! YOU AND I MUST WIN THE WAR—or become eternally enslaved serfs of our Conquerors. We must defeat our Arch-Enemies; the eternal Ignoramusses of hate; the cunning, most deceitful (invincible) spiritual Lucifers; or surrender as Human-outcasts to those damned Devils. Those malicious, cruel (spiritual) demons of eternal hate, are the basic (indirect) cause of War; that is, hatred amongst Individuals, and Nations! Because: Wars would stop, if Warriors would stop and think—and (each individually) would fight (within Himself or Herself) the eternal (invincible) Spirits of Satanic-hatred, with Angelic-Virtue—of CHRISTS, Godly-love.

My Dear Mr. President and American People! You and I must conquer (first individually) Ourselves; then conquer America and the World collectively—from Demon-domination.

You and I, Americans of Good Will, must master the conquest, the permanent establishment of our OWNSELVES, INDEPENDENTLY; the positive individuality, of our own Godly (spiritual) Personality; on the basis of Godly-Nature, as characteristic Americans who live a CHRIST-LIFE; that is, who practice Saintly-Virtue; and as such only—You and I, that is Americans who do God's will—only, will—or can save Themselves, and thus (indirectly) will save America, and the World from Atheist (Mob Communism) State Capitalism; an Earthly-Hell—and thus Americans, as Apostles of CHRIST, God—only, will joyfully teach, lead and guide our brethren of other nationalities; and thus —Characteristic Americans (who live a life of 100 per cent Virtue) only—will be the irresistible Warriors of Christ, God's (apostolic) Heroes, who conquer (first) Themselves individually and then America, (the World) all Nations collectively—WITHOUT THE SWORD, with brotherly-love; and Godly-patience.

"Christianity spells' Paradiseism—the sequel of Catholic (saintly) Communism; the antithesis of religious Parasites (false Prophets,) political Dictators, Pirates, and Drones, financial Exploiter and Slave-drivers, and Atheist (Mob Communism) State Capitalism; a demon controlled Hell on Earth."

Americans! Scorn Demon-deceptions, of a religious political intrigue, to lead you into worldly Paupers and eternal Hell!

Satanic-Wars—and conquest by the Sword, will not change this Earth into a Paradise; but rather into a World of poverty, slavery, misery and untold suffering; in fact—a Demon-dominated Dictator-State-Capitalism, a regular satanic-bossed Hell.

C—H—R—I—S—T solely, is the (indirect) Ruler of the World!

God leads and guides the destiny of Humanity, Yours and Mine!

C—hurchill, H—itler, R—oosevelt, I—L Duce, S—talin and T—ojo are (political) materialistic Leaders; therefore, they uphold and defend their own interpretation of the rights of their Nations, and naturally uphold their right with Might; and thus—they unknowingly, do their (negative) part in the historic progress of Mankind. Now—the Human-Race is face to face with (the final Evolution,) the final Progress; the (spiritual) division of the People on Earth—into final eternal factions of positive (thinking) Godly-persons—versus negative (ignorant) Demon-dominated-beings.

I introduce Myself, as an humble Citizen; with great esteem for all Americans (my brethren) of Good Will—and as Your God-sent Brother, I am sincerely interested to act as Your Intermediate Guide; to teach and lead You—into (spiritual) eternal, and material welfare; into (the fountain of Eternal Light) Christ's, God's Catholic Church; the final Society of Paradiseism—the sequel of thinking Americans, who live a Christ life of (saintly) Communism, the only salvation of You and of Me. "Saintly Communion 'spells' Paradiseism."

Americans! Christ's, God's final Census is at hand! You and I must decide now—or never! We must prepare Ourselves (individually) to become fit inhabitants of Heaven; to live with Christ, (God,) the Angels and Saints (in Communism) eternally! It is absolutely necessary; that, all Americans of Good Will unite, into One Catholic Church, within Christ's Godly-Nature, of 100% Virtue! Because: Saintliness is the One and only—basis of a United Humanity—to live collectively in Peace and Brotherly-love, as One-Mutual-Godly-Family. All the thinking people of the World, will finally unite into One Grand Society of Paradiseism; Christians, who practice Godly-love. You and I, progressive Americans of Good Will have no choice, but to unite, and lead, guide and teach our Fellowmen; as optimistic Apostles of Christ, God; or go to Hell Ourselves.

Americans—Who are You and I, Individually? Are You and I amongst the (thinking) positive People of Saintly Americans? Or are We amongst the (ignorant) negative people of doomed Americans? "Brethren—Stop and Think!"

Mathematical Analysis prove, that the spiritual condition of the Vast Masses of the American People is appalling! There are very few Americans who know, who they really are; those who think, whom Christ, God can reach, and I can teach, lead and guide into a heavenly life of Semi-Gods!

Facts prove—that the Vast Majority of the Americans, are versus of Saintly-Virtue; that is, full of (Bad-Habits) Evil-mind; helpless Victims of circumstances! Their plight is called AMNESIA; but they are in reality regular (negative) Human-beings, of (invincible) demon domination of their Mind. The point, that is of particular moment, and one that will strike the thoughtful People, is this—Those unfortunate Vast Masses of Americans, Men and Women, wander through life (more or less—spiritually blind) victims of Amnesia. They do not know—(nor do they care to know) where they come from; they do not know—(and are disinterested to know) where they are going; they really do not know—(spiritually) who they are; but absolutely refuse—to stop and think, to recognize the (positive) fact, that they are Negative (hell-bound) Americans; that is, that they are not Americans who live a Christ-life of 100% Virtue! Why? Because: Their Mind—their Individual-Will-Power is beyond their Own control! Therefore, they do not know why they are here; in fact, they refuse to believe, that they are here! Brethren—They are here! Because: their refusal to recognize the fact of their (individual) Presence, proves their negative (spiritual) presence positively! Infidel Americans—Stop and Think! How could You refuse to recognize the Eternal Fact, of Your presence in this World—if You were not Individually present?

The Vast Masses of the American People, that is, all those who do not live a Christ-life of 100% Virtue, represent really an undescribable pitiable situation of (spiritually blind and deaf) victims of Amnesia; that is, demon hypnotic-suggestive dominated (negative) Human-beings. Americans! Are You too busy, with Your material (money-making) occupations; that You really have no time, to stop and think?

Good Americans only—Will Reason! Therefore, will save themselves from demon domination, (as damned Human-outcasts in Hell—) and only—provided they are of Good Heart, who are willing to unite with their Godly-brethren—(with all their material possessions, still under their control) thus will submit their Will, to the Will of Christ, God in Actuality; (without any reservations;) and thus they will defend (collectively) their America, and their World—from Atheist (Mob Communism) State Capitalism; a Demon-controlled Earthly-Hell. Americans! Will you arouse Yourselves and think! Before it is too—late? Have You any imagination at all? Are You disinterested to save Yourselves of earthly pauperism and eternal Hell? Are You interested in the Eternal Fact, to know, that God—will, and can — help those, who help themselves—only? Are You aware of the Fact, that You are here? Are You interested to know, where You come from? Where are You going? Are You Religiously deceived; that You will go to Heaven—without a Character of 100% Virtue? Who are You and I? Read The "EMISSARY" & "EMINENT NEWS."

Americans—for Your Information! The Society of Paradiseism invites, and accepts Americans of Good Will only; and is composed of true Members of the (apostolic) Catholic Church, and as such teach, lead and guide Men of Good Will, into a Christ-life of 100% Virtue; and thus—a small Army of Characteristic American Men and Women, will establish Christ's, God's final Kingdom on Earth; the final Society of Paradiseism, the sequel of Catholic (saintly) Communism, Your and My—only salvation! You and I, are especially privileged to unite with our Godly brethren, who are resigned to do Christ's, God's Will on Earth, as it is done in Heaven.

The Society of Paradiseism Publishes the "EMISSARY"—the Book which supersedes the Bible; and the "EMINENT NEWS" an eight page educational Newspaper is really a publication of Eminent News, based on Eternal Facts—proving, that the Eternal Truth is versus any and all Religions! Scorn religious Demon deceptions! There is also a Book Review of The "EMISSARY." Price of The "EMINENT NEWS" is 10 cents a copy.

It is absolutely essential (for all the thinking people) to read The "EMISSARY"—The Key to Heaven! Christ's, God's final Revelation of all Eternal Facts of Pre-history, History of Time and History-Eternal—of all creation (including Men) mathematically analyzed, etc., versus Demon falsehood of religious deceptions, of an infinite, biblical, mystic (satanic invented) Magician God, etc. The Book is 6½"x9¾" and contains 94 chapters, 384 Pages of indispensable educational interest, and is handsomely and durably bound—etc. Price of The "EMISSARY" is $3.75—subject to increase—collect.

Americans who do God's Will! We have all reasons to be optimistic about the future! We are not discouraged; in fact, our time to conquer this God's World, from Demon domination has arrived. Americans! We need Your helping Hand, in our educational Campaign—to save America—from Atheist State Capitalism—an Earthly-Hell! Help us to teach, lead and guide, the thinking Americans, into a characteristic life of Godly Americans! Help us to distribute this "OPEN LETTER"—of Good Will! The "EMINENT NEWS and The EMISSARY" to Americans of Good Will.

I the Steward of the Society of Paradiseism, have devoted the major part of my life—to Scientific, and Eternal (spiritual) mathematical Research. I am fully convinced, that I have solved the riddle of (eternal) Gravitation Power. It is within my capability—to construct Gravitation-Power Distance-Engines-Power-Plants of Millions of Horse-Power capacity; to electrify America (and the World) with eternal Inexhaustible Power.

Americans! Will You arouse Yourself (individually) and Stop and Think! Will You unite with me, in God's Society of Mutualism—and live a Christ-life, of (saintly) Communism; and thus we are able to build Eternal Inexhaustible Power Plants, and change America (and the World) into the long deferred—but finally established Paradise—the final Kingdom of Christ, God, on Earth.

God reserves Eternal Power for Men of Good Will only; because, Warrior Nations, would use the Eternal Power of Gravitation, for Demon-wars against their Fellowmen of an Enemy Nation; and finally cause devastation of all Civilization—World-wide Atheist (Mob Communism) State Capitalism—A Demon controlled Hell on Earth.

P. S. We are (at this time) in actual need of Men and Women of Good-Will, to help manage our Educational Campaign & Barbershops etc. Peace—A Paradise on Earth—For Men who live in Saintly Communism.

Yours Devotedly,

Supt. of F. W.
Birmingham, Alabama

Dear Mr. Jones:

I have received from you and your associates a mimeographed communication, dated February 28, bearing my name and address. I am honestly very puzzled as to why you chose to address such a letter to me, since I have never on any occasion pretended to speak "for the masses of the American people."

Won't you please write me and put in simple words the reasons which prompted you to send this particular sort of letter to me? I should also like to know something about the investigations which your committee has undertaken. I have been engaged for several years in a study of crime, particularly the murder of Negroes by Negroes, and I am naturally interested in all investigations of the problem of delinquency.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I am

Sincerely yours,

GUY B. JOHNSON
Executive Director

Birmingham, Ala.
February 28, 1944.

Dr. Guy B. Johnson,
University, N. C.

Dear Sir:

We, the Committee on Investigation of Delinquency of our Race, speaking for those whom we represent, believing they have the best interest of this country at heart, feel it our duty as citizens of this country to inform you that you are taking too much authority in speaking for the masses of the American people.

We feel self-appointed individuals who take upon themselves the right to force social and racial standards, a scheme that is bound to bring about disunity among our people, especially in these perilous times, are going beyond all sense and reason, uncalled for, and against the better judgment of the better class of our race. And, too, in these perilous times, taking advantage of a situation that calls for the better judgment of all concerned is unfair.

We are now in war and we don't need any more agitation, therefore, we are asking you, in the name of common sense and reason, to desist from any further agitation on the race question.

From investigations of over 100 colleges and hundreds of high schools, it seems you would busy yourselves in cleaning up the stinch from under your own nose, of your own race, rather than trying to pull a smear at this time when we should be using every effort to win a war. With what you termed a progressive educational program in your schools and colleges, which has played havoc with our people and is a direct source of the increased immoral conditions among our race. These statements come from hundreds of teachers, college professors, and students themselves, as well as many secret societies, who have the evidence sufficient to prove these assertions.

When we take into consideration a movement that has been the leading contributing factor in bringing about its toll of human suffering in the form of thousands of suicides, divorces, illegitimate children, and continuously making criminals of our youth, and prostitutes of our womanhood, should be the uppermost question in the minds of those that have the welfare of this country at heart.

It is the opinion of many of our people today, judging from what seems to be a money proposition, some of our fellow citizens most likely are getting paid from two sources, as there has been millions spent for the advancement of one race while millions have been spent for the undoing of another. Surely they are not so gullible as to not feather their nests in selling the future hope of thousands of helpless and innocent souls, therefore, we feel any movement so important, especially in the hands of those that have proven such a farce in the last decade, are incapable of solving a question so vital as a "race issue" in times like these.

The well informed people of this country well know the Indian from India, the Negro from Africa, the Malay from the Orient are not coming over here to force social equality (that leads to a mongrel people) for the benefit of a few Negroes in this country.

With what we believe to be a thorough understanding of the situation, we are confident that you will have plenty of opposition in every center of this country of ours. The above thoughts have already dawned upon the minds of thousands of our people throughout this country, and it is our firm belief that your scheme will not work without a struggle. It is true no honest or fair-minded person would object to the elevating of the moral fibre and standards of any race, yet he is a cruel and ungrateful creature that would lower the moral standard of his own, or be an accomplice to such a scheme.

Yours very truly,
Investigating Committee on Basic Cause of

Why Not a Great Interracially Edited and Controlled Newspaper?

By M. S. STUART

THE AMERICAN Negro needs a medium through which to put and keep his case before the white American public. Constantly—every day preferably—his handicaps, the injustices of his case and the inequalities of his opportunities should be stated in a clear, strong, sober and convincing manner in some type of publication that will seek and can command a large circulation among white people. There long has been a need for such a medium. The need is greater now.

Mr. Stuart

Important white Americans were busy people even before the war threatened. They are extremely so now. They will continue to be so in the post-war period. The average white man does not stop to bother with much that is not his business unless brought to his attention in an unusually impressive manner. In several states of the Union white people read or hear little about the Negro. Often what they read about him is detrimental. Few anywhere have the opportunity to read about his better side. It is not surprising, then, that far too many white people have either an unfavorable impression of him or a superficial knowledge of the conditions under which the majority of the race must live.

EXPERT WRITERS NEEDED

A year or two past, a young college woman of the race was riding in a Pullman car from Detroit to Durham, N. C. A young white man from Michigan, going to enter college in Durham, sought some information of the young woman and started a conversation that lasted until the train reached Durham. Then he wanted to accompany her to her car and started through the white waiting room. He was astounded when she told him that she could not go through that waiting room nor allow him to escort her to the car. He said he had heard something about discrimination, but did not realize that it was that technical.

THE story of racial restrictions that should be told and retold, and the propaganda that should be released, ought to be the work of experts trained in the technique peculiarly necessary, and steeped in the sentiment sought to be cultivated. They should be broad enough to comprehend the whole American situation and qualified to impressively portray the effects of a national policy of discrimination and suppression on the future of democracy. They should have a thorough understanding of the type and tone of relation that will provoke the most favorable reaction in white people. Such an editorial staff should include the most realistic of both white and Negro editors and reporters possible to obtain.

In the future, as in the past, incidents involving racial angles will be occurring. There is great need for the facts concerning such incidents to be fully developed and impartially reported and published.

A GOOD NICHE FOR INTERRACIAL ORGAN

Sober, realistic race newspapers have done more to mold favorable sentiment and to win rights and recognition for the Negro than any other agency or organization. They, of course, must go on, and more and more must Negroes contribute that degree of support that will enable them to continue independent and untrammeled. But there is a niche in the interracial situation into which it appears they cannot very well fit. First, the umpire (the white public) counts at least one strike against purely racial journals even before they come to bat. Then it is hard to get enough white people who should be informed and converted to read Negro papers.

THUS it appears that there is a niche for a great daily newspaper, controlled by outstanding men and women, (some of both roces), the objective and editorial policy of which would be the cultivation of fairness for minorities in America. This column believes there is a great field for such a newspaper. The organization of such a publication would be a fine first concrete step for the National Council (the Durham-Richmond-Atlanta Movement — remember it?) and those big Chicago conferees and other committees or individuals who may be interested in racial fairness.

The Southern Regional Council Is Afraid to Move

By M. S. STUART

IT begins to look like it was a misnomer to call either that first meeting of Southern Negro leaders at Durham, the second one at Richmond or the third at Atlanta "a movement," unless the sponsors were speaking just geographically. Otherwise, that which has since become known as The Southern Regional Council has never moved. The council started out geared to high phrases and noble expression of ambition to improve racial relations by caution, compromise and appeasement. But it has balked at that. I am convinced it is not going anywhere. Why?

Mr. Stuart

Well, the council is afraid. That's all, and that is enough. It is afraid to pursue aggressively even those timid principles and methods which it put on the board as its own. If its leading spirits are afraid to take a bold stand for that minimum of racial advancement and mildest of operative techniques which it proclaimed for its guidance, then how does it hope to make headway? I propose to show that it is afraid.

AFRAID OF TERMS

Recently I was granted an interview by one of the white leaders of the organization. It was discouraging. I had anticipated reticence and some caution, and I wanted to be co-operative up to a certain point. So, in bed that morning I pored over the questions I intended to ask, and, particularly, the terms in which I should couch them. I eliminated bold, fearless, militant as too strong for my white "liberal." I was afraid that vigorous, energetic, active might arouse suspicion that I had never expected any action from the council. Aggressive seemed a rather nice, tame sort of word to me and of which my "liberal" might not become frightened. But he did. He said so.

I asked: Now that the council has absorbed the Interracial league or Commission on Interracial Co-operation, will its policy be any more aggressive. than that for which that League was noted? He replied in about these words: "Well, now you say aggressive—I am beginning to be afraid of terms. I prefer not to say aggressive now. Some time in the future the council might become aggressive, but not just now."

AFRAID OF CONFUSION

It is unfortunate that the council takes fright at this time. It is in the presence of a great opportunity for service to the South and to humanity. The time to move is NOW. The opposition is noisy, but it is confused. It has no definite plan to propose for settling the raging conflict between the Negro's legal status as an American citizen and that status of subordination and discrimination to which it would like to have him confined. Senator Bilbo urges deportation. He has not been able to offer any feasible plan to implement his idea, because it is an idle dream and he knows it. Representative Rankin says the problem can be solved by segregation. But the South has segregation, and the race question in the South is more of an enigma now than it ever was, The South is confused about segregation. No two states, hardly any two large communities, have the same pattern of enforcement. It is subject to the caprice of local authorities and the whims of white individual opinion. It is unregulated and confused.

MOST Southern white people oppose "social equality of the races." But an increasing number is beginning to realize segregation cannot be kept confined entirely to the social realm, and they are growing ashamed of imposing economic discrimination. They know it is an instrument of impoverishment of a large part of the population.

HOPE IN CONFUSION

The opportunity for the council is at hand. White opponents are without a concrete plan to expand segregation as a fixed policy or to justify it from perpetual attack even where it is in the laws. It is a worrisome child in the lap of the South, and its bawling inconsistencies will continue to prove disturbing and embarrassing. More and more thinking white Southerners would like to do something about it. They are not satisfied with it as it is. It is a pity the council is afraid.

THE opposition is vague, self-contradictory. Let them explain education. Few there be now so blind as to oppose it. Even the most constipated states provide a modicum of education for the Negro. But, apparently, what strange effects they expect it to have on him. They seem to expect it to contradict its time-tested formulas and act in reverse in colored people. If thought, ambition for a better life, resistance to injustice and desire for equality of opportunity are to be condemned, then why education? The council should "go to town" on such inconsistencies.

Dr. Ira De A. Reid
Atlanta University
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Dr. Reid:

I have read with great interest all that I have been able to lay my hands on about the Southern Regional Council and I should like to write you some of my reactions to it and to get yours in response.

Beginning with the Durham Statement I have followed on through with the first Atlanta, Richmond, and second Atlanta conferences, the initial statement of the Southern Regional Council, your memorandum of November, and the publication of plans in the March or April Southern Frontier. May I confess that I began with great hope and have gone on from decreasing hope to definite disappointment, because it seems to me there is a progressive weakening and watering down all the way along. Let me be specific, because the organization is still so young it might be responsive to specific constructive criticism.

In the Durham statement there are three specific items: 1) Unalterable opposition to compulsory segregation; 2) Immediate effort to eliminate inequalities based on race which are specified; 3) Cooperative endeavor of Whites and Negroes to that end. In subsequent statements all grows vaguer. First the segregation issue is evaded; second, specific objectives in action are dropped, and for them are substituted vague inclusive programs of study. Thus no concrete proposal emerge for developing any effective forms of cooperative attack on problems. Thus a vague, generalized program of surveying is substituted for the initial suggestion of a vigorous attack on specific racial discrimination, while the second of the two basic and inseparable race issues (discrimination and segregation) is wholly side-stepped.

The second thing that concerns me very gravely is the emphasis on the old interracial committees. In my personal opinion these are in general almost wholly futile, and certainly totally lacking the dynamic quality necessary to meet today's issues. I need not tell you that Negroes in general distrust them pretty completely and that in building primarily on them you are forfeiting any widespread support of the more dynamic elements of Negro leadership. What you may not realize is that the attitude of southern White youth, the more vital elements in southern White interracial leadership, and the White mass elements in the labor movement share that skepticism and are not going to go along with you on any such basis. You will get the old time "accommodation" leadership of gentle and rather timid liberals over 50 - and that's all.

The third thing that seems to me getting off badly on the wrong foot is the primary reliance on the big Foundations for funds. This will be just another pseudo-southern, pseudo-democratic movement, I fear--unless you make up your minds to go to the people for support. Closely related to this is the absence of any democracy in the structural plans. A few handpicked persons at the top are to run it, as far as I can see. Such an organization is a hot house plant; it will never root in the South; it will never root in the people. It will remain a mildly ameliorative influence among the educationally privileged--provided the United States and the world in general move with sufficiently extreme slowness for it to keep alive at all.

I think you know I do not write this in a hostile spirit. I am greatly distressed over the petering out of what began with elements of real promise. I can't imagine the Council's being particularly harmful if it gets going on the lines of the present outlook; but I can't imagine its being very important either.

Frankly I think the primary trouble probably lay in the sponsoring personnel. Were they not almost all--with a very few labor movement exceptions--men in the privileged groups, and men of 45 years of age or over? It seems to me they have with the best intentions simply demonstrated that the natural limitations of their age and privileged milieu have been too much for them. Is there still hope that they may break their bonds, that labor and farmer--and youth participation, democratic organization, and dynamic action maybe looked for-- or is this doomed to be just the old Interracial Commission watered down yet more to make it spread out thinner, till it becomes an adjunct of college departments of sociology?

So much for that. How is your book coming along? Dr. Johnson has had the rough draft of the "Best Practices" material in his hands since the end of April; I do not yet know what he proposes in terms of editing and revision; but if the latter is not too extensive it should be able to go to the publisher within a week or two after he completes going over it.

We look forward to seeing you here for the Institute in July.

Sincerely yours,

Margaret C. McCulloch

Dear Mr. Francis:

I liked your letter of July 12 very much, and I wish that more people would write in and tell us what they think of what we say in the SOUTHERN FRONTIER.

Perhaps I spoke a little vigorously in several phrases in the June editorial. I certainly would not want to alienate anyone who is working for equal rights for the Negro, but I did want to bear down a little on what seemed to me to be a rather unfair procedure on the part of the Democratic regulars in Texas, and to point out the possible consequences of a bitter row in the electoral college.

Do you mind if we quote from your letter in the FRONTIER for July or August? And if you let us quote, would you prefer that we use your name or that we refer to you as a Kentucky member?

Cordially yours,

EDWARD GUY FRANCIS

July 12, 1944

Dr. Guy B. Johnson, Executive Director
Southern Regional Council
Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Dr. Johnson;

I have just read the June issue of the FRONTIER and wish to offer a few comments which are intended to be helpful and which I hope you so consider.

I feel that in your editorial you have taken a line which might alienate some of those who otherwise earnestly wish for the winning of equal rights for the Negro. The line to which I object is what seems to me to be the identification of progress with a fourth term for Roosevelt.

I believe that an organization like the SRC, if it is to command the respect and cooperation which it must have, should strive to deal with issues and not with personalities. We believe in equal rights for the Negro, so does Roosevelt, in that and to that extent, we should laud him but it does not follow at all that we should perpetuate him in office.

You use the somewhat vigorous phrase "the festering anti-Roosevelt, ant-New Deal, anti-fourth term sentiment"; now that certainly sets me to festering, because I am anti all of those.

Roosevelt's great mistake has been the psychological mistake of all benevolent despots, i.e., the belief that only they are wise enough to do good, and sad to say, the more good a man does, the more likely he is to get that complex. Byviolating our sacred tradition of the two-term limitation, Roosevelt has jeopardized the good which he has accomplished. He has given to the South a just cause for opposition and one with which they will now cloak their unjust opposition to the good which he has tried to do.

If I had been writing the editorial mentioned, I would have added after the first paragraph, a paragraph somewhat on this order:-

"It is to be regretted that Roosevelt has in a large measure given just grounds for this revolt by his own acts and has thus, perhaps unwittingly, given comfort to those who oppose progress. How great an act of patriotism it would have been for Roosevelt to have retired voluntarily so that the Democrats of the South could have voted on the great issues of the day without being confused by one man's personality".

Please accept my continues high regards for the aims of the SRC and for the splendid work which you are doing to further those aims.

Sincerely yours,

E. G. Francis

Facts of Life for the South

Many Southerners have had to learn the hard way two simple truths about geography and leadership that were obvious to us three years ago.

In 1942 the Southern Regional Council, which grew out of the Southern Commission of Inter-racial Cooperation, flew in the face of facts with a "solution" of the "Negro problem" by (1) trying to separate the difficulties of Southern Negroes from the rest of the country; and (2) by hoping to leave the initiative and leadership of the movement to their white "best friends."

Now, the Norfolk Journal and Guide, embittered by Sen. Eastland's lying slander against Negro troops and by the stupid stubborn battle of Southern Democrats against the FEPC, grudgingly admits that after three fruitless years, they were never able to find a "white friend" who would accept the chairmanship, and finally, that the organization began to melt away over the insistence of these same "best friends" that any program had to be within the frame-work of jim-crow.

Outside of a couple of elaborate talk-fests in Atlanta and Richmond the Council's only accomplishment was to head-off the drive of Negroes for full American citizenship during one of the most hopeful times in our history.

It worked entirely against us.

Not in a spirit of "I told you so" but with the intention of being helpful, we want to re-state some racial realities.

First, the race problem in this country cannot be divided up by geography.

Every problem of the Southern Negro is our concern and vice versa. For instance, there are the struggle for the FEPC; the burying of the anti-poll tax bill and the prevalence of white primaries; the bottling up of the anti-lynch bill; to say nothing of the degradation of jim-crow in the armed forces, problems of migration, farming, reconversion and just ordinary job-getting and living.

These things strike every geographic section, and the South ought to understand, by now, that we, who are struggling

For instance, there are the struggle for the FEPC; the burying of the anti-poll tax bill and the prevalence of white primaries; the bottling up of the anti-lynch bill; to say nothing of the degradation of jim-crow in the armed forces, problems of migration, farming, reconversion and just ordinary job-getting and living.

These things strike every geographic section, and the South ought to understand, by now, that we, who are struggling against the same disabilities, are more vitally concerned about finding a real cure than some of the "best friends."

We never will get any relief unless we all stick together. Secondly, we must learn to rely on our own leadership. So, let's stop day-dreaming.

It is childish fancy to think that somebody else is going to do more for us than we do for ourselves. For adults, that dream is living in a papier mache and tinsel world whose falsity is exposed as cheap and worthless by such experiences as with the ill-conceived and abortive Southern Regional Council.

As a matter of cold experience, whenever white persons are brought into an organization that is intended to help the Negro achieve his proper stature in the nation, the movement is watered-down and weakened. It is a tragic mistake to think that we can give-up the initiative and leadership in solving the peculiar racial problems which America has foisted on us by trying to get the cure from the source of the sickness. The leadership and responsibility for initiative must remain in our hands.

This is not to say that we will reject the help of any person parallel minded with us. We welcome the help of all, whether they be "white," "yellow," or "red," as long as they cooperate with our purposes and do not try to twist things around to their own ends.

Our final observation.

Let's get the cotton out of our mouths.

The Journal and Guide said Eastland's "intemperate remarks could not be accepted as fair." Let's be blunt. The man is a liar. Also, we don't want "friends;" we want respect. If anyone wants to be friendly, that is an entirely personal affair. And no part of the geography has a corner on "friendliness."

So much for another noble attempt.

But, we still need an organization, under Negro leadership, cooperating with all like-purposed groups, to fight for full citizenship for all. Next time, let us be ready to carry the burden of leadership all together, knowing that if we try to give it up, the man who carries the load will choose the road.

It is time we choose the the road for ourselves.

Hitlers in the Bronx

"I hope nigers don't move in here. I hate nigers. I'm glad it burnt!"

This blunt hate hymn was scrawled on the broken and flame-blackened walls of the charred skeleton which was to have been the cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Donaldson Blockson in Baychester, the Bronx.

Race-hating Bronx fascists burned it down rather than let Negroes live there. This is arson in the second degree which is punishable by a penitentiary sentence of up to twenty-five years.

This is also a revolting and odorous illustration that New York City still has a lot of racial muck to clean up in her own yard, and that there is no cause for Negroes in New York to indulge themselves in any feelings of self-satisfied complacency. This crime can well remind us that too often our peace and security merely mean that we have become content to live within the invisible walls of our black ghetto.

The citizens of Baychester stand morally convicted of this crime and of promoting nazism as surely as if they had lit the match that set the fire. The fire-gutted bungalow stands as a monument to their racial intolerance.

It now rests with the city authorities to demonstrate whether or not this sort of fascist technique is to be tolerated in N.Y.C. These vandals and nazi rats must be ferreted out and prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Mr. Mayor, your sister suffered from fascists in Germany. What will you do in New York City?

To date, there has been no progress.

Firstly, I am a native "white" son of New York. When I read in a magazine an article telling of Governor Dewey's Racial Equality Bill, I was very happy. I have been for such a cause since I was old enough to understand the meaning of hatred and prejudice.

We are told today that we are fighting a war caused by both of these things. A lot of us know that prejudice is only a secondary cause. Prejudices have always been secondary. It is the cause, though, that reaches the multitudes most easily.

You must, as a Negro paper, tell your people not to become too demanding through their new found freedom. You must know what you want. What you are justly entitled to. You may say, the bill and your rights give you every freedom the whites have. You are right, but don't be too hasty.

I am thinking of the Negro and white "social" situation. Word is getting to us over here that your males are becoming too free with white females. You must maintain your own race pride. Don't try to mix. A least not through the method that is being used today.

We will not have our women attacked!

"Morons" and Women

These moronic fiends, I know, are in the minority. They are dangerous, though, to your race, as well as the United Sates. We can not stand any 'post war' race riots. These attacks must stop completely, or too many things will be lost.

I ask you again to set a policy for your readers. Let them become fully educated, through your columns, to rights and wrongs. Point to your readers that changes in social equality must come about with a slow evolution.

My wife, like other white women has been stopped by a Negro. I want to keep faith in any equaliy movement that will help us all. But, I will admit, that I'll not stand any man annoying my wife. I am tolerant, but cannot be expected to see my wife unjustly molested. There are many like myself, and many more on the fence, regarding the race question.

Help us prevent losing faith in your race, lest they become painted by some of us, the same as the Japs.

Hits Jim Crow in Jails

Sir: The anti-Jimcrow campaign by conscientious objectors in federal prisons hit the Federal Correctional Institution in Ashland, Ky., when 14 men there refused to continue eating in the prison mess hall as long as the existing Jimcrow seating arrangement is in effect. Included among the 14 are 3 Negroes and a Japanese-American.

Two of the Negroes were promptly transferred to other prisons. The other 12 men were placed in solitary confinement on charges of violating a prison rule which makes eating in the mess hall compulsory.

In a letter to U S. Prisons Director James V. Bennett the men said: "That an agency of the Government should enforce violation of the democratic ideal of the rights of all men to equal justice and opportunity and compel its citizens to conform to such a violation denies the fundamental human rights upon which our government is established."

The Ashland protest is one of the major actions in an anti-Jimcrow campaign in federal jails which has been in progress for the la few years. In the fall of 1943 Ji crow seating was eliminated at Federal Correctional Institution Danbury, Conn., as a result of strike in which 23 conscientious o jectors were locked in solitary 4½ months. SRC Criticism + Complaint

Rev. Russell C. Stroup
First Presbyterian Church
Ninth and Court Streets
Lynchburg, Virginia

Dear Mr. Stroup:

Thank you for your letter of February 4 addressed to Miss Margaret Price, our membership secretary. Your criticism of the story in the December-January NEW SOUTH is the sort of thoughtful comment which we appreciate from our members and friends. In many ways the work we are trying to do in human relations is still in an experimental stage, and no one mind or group of minds can afford to be complacent about the approach being used.

The primary aim of NEW SOUTH is to present useful material about the South's problems and progress which may be used as a basis for sound community action. A second function is to keep our readers informed of happenings, helpful or harmful, which are significant to the Southern scene. Naturally it is not our intention to aggravate racial tensions or to underline purely destructive influences.

We do believe, however, that it is wise for right-thinking people to understand the causes of hatred and violence in our region. We also believe that it is well to remind ourselves occasionally of the strength of the opposition. We only make ourselves less effective when we close our eyes to their activities and methods. That is why "Race Hatred Gets a Hearing" was published. It was an attempt, at any rate, to examine some of the roots of prejudice. Whether or not it served a useful purpose probably must remain a matter of opinion.

I am glad you liked Mr. Neal's article on the Negro colleges. The approach to race relations which he suggests is very much in the temper of the Southern Regional Council.

As you learn more about the Council, I hope you will decide to join our membership. In any case, we will always welcome any comments or suggestions you may offer us.

Sincerely yours,

Harold C. Fleming

Dear Miss Price,

I appreciate your letters and the invitation to become a member of the Southern Regional Council. From what I know I should say that the program you are working for is one that should concern every minister. But I cannot say "I would be one with you" until I know more than I do of your methods as well as your objectives.

I have read with care the material you have sent me and in all frankness I must confess that some of it seems to me calculated to aggravate rather than to alleviate racial tensions. May I give as an example the article in the NEW SOUTH for Dec.-Jan. 1947-48 enttitled "Race Hatred Gets a Hearing." The story behind the article is that a large Southern city in spite of aggressive opposition took the forward step of permitting Negro policemen to serve on the city force. The emphasis of the article, hower, is that a field day of racial hatred and bigotry was held in Atlanta and the impression is left ~~xxxx~~ from the report of testimony given and the reaction of the white spectators that ~~xxxxxxxxxxxx~~ in your words it was all only a "field day" for race-baiters and that they emerged in "triumph." Only as an after-thought is the primary fact mentioned that the resolution won out and even this is conditioned by the statement that the issue is far from settled.

Now in the first place the emphasis is, I think, a false one. In the second place your readers do not need to be stirred up by sadistic details of racial bigotry, however much satisfaction they may gain from the thought that we are not as these others are. In the third place you miseed the big important news. You told about the dog biting the man and not the man biting the dog, which is the more reprehensible since in this instance at least the man got in the last bite.

In sharp and gratifying contrast is the excellent and constructive article of Mr.Ernest E.Neal.

Sincerely yours,

Russell Stroup

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of the 9th.

It does not seem to me that statistics should be made and published when the integrity of the statistics is dependent on the assumption that the statistician has undisclosed knowledge.

I was very much disappointed at Tuskegee including the Hurst killing as a lynching. In my opinion, it has not even a remote resemblance to the popular conception of a lynching and the accepted understanding of the word.

It seems to me if you are to have the support of conservative people who have a genuine interest in improving housing, sanitation, education, fire and police protection and other things for Negroes, even though they do not go along on anti-segregation measures, the integrity of your findings should be beyond question as far as possible. When you agree with the findings of Tuskegee on an assumption instead of trying to ascertain the facts, it leaves me in doubt as to how well authenticated other statements and reports may be.

I wrote you for the two reasons that I have been solicited for financial support to the Council and I am one of those who have been trying to set up an inter-racial committee in the Birmingham Co-ordinating Council of Social Agencies and it has been suggested that this committee might work with you.

Very truly yours,

July 1, 1952

About two weeks ago a man called up, and seemed a little uncertain when I told him this was the SRC. He wanted to know what we did, and where our office was. When I said something about "race relations," he said, "Ah-ha," in a disapproving way. He wanted to know more about what we did, and I suggested to him that Mr. Fleming could call him up and talk to him as soon as he came back to the office. I also said I could send the man some pamphlets telling about the Council if he would give me his name and address. He gave his name as C. L. Swint, 302 N. Highland.

He next asked if Mrs. Tilly worked for us. I replied that I was not authorized to give out any information about Mrs. Tilly; that he could talk to her personally if there was anything he wanted to know about her. He laughed and said he didn't want to know anything about her, he just wanted to know if she worked for us. I repeated that he could talk to Mrs. Tilly personally if he wanted to know anything about her. He said something like, "I don't care no more for Mrs. Tilly than I do for an old snake. I wish she was out of the country."

By this time, I had made several unsuccessful attempts to terminate the conversation, so I finally hung up with Swint still raving.

Mrs. Sue R. Slaughter

Dear Mrs. Slaughter:

Your kind letter gives me some distress.

We really tried to present the two items about Sewanee in a way that would not take sides but that would explain what the items were, in order that NEW SOUTH's readers might draw from them the many lessons as to strategy in these matters which the items contained. It was easy to see that the matter of courtesy and organizational loyalty was involved as well as the issue of race. The two communications had been coupled in the Chattanooga paper and were therefore public.

I felt, myself, a duty to the Church before touching the controversy at all, and was at pains to write Bishop Penick ten days or so before we went to press, sending him the wording which we proposed to use for introducing the two items and asking him to be good enough to let me know if, for any reason, our reprinting of the letters, thus introduced, would be questioned. Bishop Penick did not reply, so I felt to that extent assured. I confess that the heading went on to the piece in the make-up stage some days after my letter to Bishop Penick, and so was in no sense cleared with him. But it did not seem to us to be a heading that took sides; we used it merely as something that succinctly put the problem.

I knew, by preliminary inquiry, of the report by those on the Siminary faculty to the public press, and I hoped that using the vice-chancellor's reply would reveal the questions of taste thus involved.

I sorrow with you that the Church has had this public controversy. But I did think that there were lessons in it fruitful for the whole South to perceive, and it was in that spirit that we carried what we did.

We appreciate the gentleness and sincerity of your letter and assure you that we are sorry that we did not so contrive the heading and the note as to make it perfectly clear that what we wanted was for Southern people to ponder the many lessons contained in the correspondence.

I have long admired the work of the Women's Council for Interracial Cooperation in Norfolk, and like particularly the spirit in which it goes about its work.

Mr Geo. S, Mitchell, Ex. Dir.
Southern Regional Council

Atlanta 3, Georgia

My dear Mr Mitchell:

The occasion for this letter is the recent publication in the Press of a letter from Dean James Pike declining an invitation to be the Baccalaureate speaker at Sewanee's Theological Seminary or to accept an honorary degree from the University. But the desire to write you has been in my mind for three months.

That you may understand my good will in the matter, may I say that I am a member of the Southern Regional Council and have been a very continuous and active member of Norfolk's own Women's Council for Interracial Cooperation: also, that I am an admirer of the "New South" for its temperate, clear and, ordinarily, fair reporting and believe it must have a very wide influence which I should like to help it maintain.

But I feel that the Oct.-Nov. 1952 issue, through the wording of its headline, "Conscience and Segregation at a Christian College," and through a phrase in the foreword to its printed exchange of letters between some faculty members and the trustees at Sewanee University's theological school was biased and the more damaging because of its outward appearance of objectivity. If the "whole truth" had been known, I dont really believe the "New South" would have handled the publication of the correspondence as it did.

Was it known, for instance, that the letter of resignation from members of the theological school was sent to the newspapers before there had been time for its receipt by Bishop Mitchell to whom it was addressed? One wonders why the writers should have given their letter to the public if they were sincerely trying to solve problems in human relations. Or why Dean Pike's recent letter declining to preach the baccalaureate sermon should have been published all over the country before it was received by the president of the university who happened to be away from Sewanee. Is this the right way to deal with a courtesy extended to the Dean by the University last summer? It leads to headlines like those on the front page of the Feb 21, 1953 national edition of Norfolk's Negro weekly, "Episcopal Bishop Rejects Jim Crow College Degree" but I seriously doubt whether it leads to anything constructive for the cause to which the Dean and the faculty members profess so much devotion. A little reflection upon the meaning of this sort of timing and this method of expressing disagreement would, I surmise, have warned the "New South" to get more facts before taking sides in the controversy.

A clear summary of the situation up to Jan 1953 is enclosed because you may not have seen it and may wish to seek still later information.

I think it is now too late for the SRC to attempt to correct the impression made by its publication of partial facts in the "New South". However, as a SRC member concerned for the good it is doing, I hope that complete information will be sought in future when a controversial issue arises and I gladly stand corrected if the editor of the "New South" really did have all the facts in his possession when he published (with what seems to me a prejudiced headline and foreword) the letters referred to. Parenthetically, I might add that, as one of the editors of our Womens Council News Sheet, I understand and sympathize with the difficulty of finding good material--for, if it is "news" there is no time to investigate it. But, maybe, we would more wisely fail to make our deadline than print something harmful to the cause we espouse.

I have felt that our SRC was rightly concerned with fostering good relations between the races and I am deeply troubled at observing (from what other readers tell me) that "Conscience and Segregation" has promoted ill will. To me it implies that Christian profession and Christian practice differ more sharply in the South than elsewhere and casts a serious doubt on the sincerity of the Church. Many people, particularly perhaps many Negroes, believe that their best hope of justice and brotherhood lies in the churches and to wreck that hope by the presentation of an article which is the more dangerous because it purports to be an unemotional statement of "fact" has been destructive of good relations.

Reading again our SRC pamphlet, "What Kind of South Do You Want?", I find a statement repeated in many forms that the Council is composed of Southerners who believe it their obligation as Southerners to face the problems of the South "honestly and work to solve them." Surely the University of the South, located in the exact center of the South, needs our help in solving its race problem. Whatever impulses motivated its resigning professors, they have not helped the University nor the Sewanee community to solve their racial problem.

Shall we of SRC not try to do better?

Sincerely yours,

Sue R Slaughter

SEWANEE QUESTION

By The Right Rev. Charles Clingman

In recent months, I have been asked many questions about "Sewanee and the Race Question." It occurs to me that it would be well for me to make, in this column, a brief statement of the facts.

In October 1951 the Synod of the Fourth Province met in Birmingham, Ala. The Department of Christian Social Relations of the Synod discussed the question of establishing a Theological Seminary in the South for the training of Negro men for the ministry. The Department advised against such action and offered a resolution calling on all our theological seminaries to receive all qualified students regardless of race. This resolution was adopted and the action was communicated to the Board of Trustees of the University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn., since one of its three departments is a theological seminary.

The Sewanee Trustees, at their meeting on June 6, 1952, discussed this matter at great length. After long discussion a motion was adopted which said that Negroes could not be admitted to any institution of learning chartered by the State of Tennessee, because of the laws of the State. After further discussion this action was reconsidered and, on reconsideration, was defeated. Then a resolution was presented, the evident purpose of which was to close the doors tightly against the possibility of admitting Negroes. This was overwhelmingly defeated, a significant fact which has been overlooked by those who have bitterly assailed the trustees for the action which was finally taken. The statement, which has been made in one form or another by virtually every editor of our Church papers and by many correspondents, to the effect that Sewanee has adopted the policy of closing its doors against the admission of Negroes, is utterly false.

The motion which was finally adopted made the statement that the trustees did not deem it to be for the best interests of the University or for either race to admit Negroes into our University at this time. When that motion was about to be put I arose and said that I would vote for it with the clear understanding that it would not close the door against further consideration of the matter. It was adopted by a vote of 45 to 12. Many trustees who voted in favor of the motion have told me that I had expressed their own sentiments. They agreed on the matter of the Christian principle involved, but they were aware of the great damage which would probably be done to the University by immediate favorable action, and they were concerned lest the admission of Negroes now might precipitate serious incidents between certain elements of the two races.

All this occurred in the afternoon of Friday, June 6. During that night and the following three days most of the Trustees were in Sewanee for Alumni Day, Baccalaureate Sunday, and Commencement Day (Monday, the 9th of June). On Monday afternoon practically all out of town visitors left Sewanee. Bishop Mitchell of Arkansas, the Chancellor of the University and President of the Board of Trustees, left Sewanee by automobile for his home in Little Rock, driving all night.

During a good part of that night (Monday) six members of the Theological Faculty, with the Chaplain of the University and the Professor of Religion in the College, discussed the action of the Trustees and issued a statement of protest in which they said they would resign in June 1953 if the Trustees did not rescind their action. This was sent by wire to Bishop Mitchell in Little Rock, reaching his home some time after 9 a.m. The bishop had arrived a little earlier, had gone to bed and was in a sound sleep from which his wife was unwilling to arouse him. In the meantime, however, and before the telegram could have reached Bishop Mitchell, the Chaplain of the University telephoned a friend of his in New York (a clergyman) giving him the statement of the protesting professors, asking him to give it to two of New York's leading

FORMER DEAN HONORED

Just off the press at Sewanee is the new issue of the "Anglican Theological Review," filled with significance for alumni and friends of the University of the South.

Labeled "Essays in Honor of Fleming James on his Seventy-fifth Birthday," the issue is dedicated to the distinguished, retired clergyman, former dean of the School of Theology at the University of the South.

The issue, normally edited by the Rev. Frederick Grant, a former professor of the Graduate School of Theology at Sewanee, was jointly edited in October by the Rev. R. Lansing Hicks, professor of Old Testament at the Sewanee seminary, and the Rev. Robert C. Dentan, a member of the faculty of Sewanee's summer session in graduate theological subjects. Contridutors include the Rev. Robert M. Grant, professor of New Testament at the School of Theology.

CHURCH COLLEGES

The Rector of All Saints Episcopal Junior College in Vicksburg, Miss., the Rev. W. G. Christian, takes the editor to task for referring to Keble College as "The Church's Newest College" in a December headline. "It's plumb amazing how things get mixed up and when a project is connected with the church and then doesn't turn out right, the church and all of her associated institutions suffer greatly."

It is true that the editor carelessly called a college a "Church college" simply because the officers included some priests of this church. Last May, in a story about the founding of the college, it was pointed out that the Diocese of Mississippi has no connection with the school. Therein lie the only references to Church in connection with the College in the pages of PARSONS.

As for the ruckus, if any, at the college, all this editor knows is what he has read in other papers. Dr. Vinnedge declined to issue a statement for publication in PARSONS.

What's the Difference?

Just what makes a college a "Church college?" It would seem a simple matter to answer that question, but it takes temerity to try! Elsewhere in this paper is a good deal about a certain Church University — it is owned by certain dioceses which elect its board of trustees. All Saints Episcopal Junior College is listed as "Tri-diocesan" in the Living Church Annual.

But the listing of Church Colleges and Universities, and of Church Schools, in that annual contains "private," "independent," and schools "historically associated with the Episcopal Church." Even our theological seminaries are not all, strictly speaking, "Church" institutions—owned and controlled by the Church; for some are only tied to the Church through ex-officio presence of certain Bishops on the Board.

The editor invites clarifying contributions to this subject!

WORDS FOR PREACHERS

Dean Pike of New York, lecturing to clergy in Ohio last September on "Communicating the Faith," said:

"Our job as preachers is to translate the Gospel in terms true to the facts and in words which people can understand."

"The Greeks thought in categories, the Bible speaks in verbs, telling of God's actions. People today think in Biblical terms."

"Good ethics flow out of right belief."

"What life is to be and what life is all about is the very core of our belief."

Questions

No board of experts has been set up to handle questions which come to the editor, so he passes them on for the consideration of subscribers. Try the following, and when you find an answer, or even some clues, write to the editor.

Question: Since the Benedictus in Morning Prayer may be shortened to four verses except in Advent, and since it seems to some that the division might better be made after verse eight if division is to be made, is it contrary to any ecclesiastical or liturgical law to sing just the first eight verses and the Gloria?

Question: A communicant desired to marry a divorced man; since she knew the bishop in another diocese she applied to him for judgment, and when favorable judgment was given, had her marriage solemnized in his diocese. What should be done about such a clear violation of the canons?

Question: Have you any ideas on these matters? Will you write the editor?

Church Art in Haiti

A recent issue of "Life" magazine had two pages in color of murals in the cathedral in Port-au-Prince, commissioned in 1950 by the Bishop. The painting is on the walls of the apse, of chapels and transepts. Biblical scenes have a Haitian landscape.

Bryan Green Said . . .

Archdeacon Wilson of southwest Alabama reported, in his parish paper, that he had heard the famous missioner in Birmingham say:

"When one has found the truth about one's self he is humble; when he finds the truth about God it is wonderful."

"Preaching of the Gospel is to bring outsiders into the Body of Christ, the Church; the teaching is for those who are in the body, for all be sinners. One is to produce justification, the other sanctification."

"The preaching of the Gospel is to produce Christ in me; faith is the positive response, repentance is the negative side of faith, which must be positive."

"There are some people so heavenly-minded they are no earthly use."

daily papers, connected with two of the principal news services.

From the wording of this ultimatum, and from a misinterpretation of the purpose of the resolution of the Trustees, it has been widely assumed (and naturally so, though erroneously) that a majority of the Trustees do not accept the Christian principle involved. A meeting of thirteen bishops of this Province was held in Atlanta on November 13 to consider this entire matter. We adopted, unanimously, a statement in which we clearly stated our acceptance of the Christian principle involved. A majority of these bishops had voted in favor of the resolution adopted in June; indeed, the June motion and the bishops' November resolution were written by the same man, Bishop Dandridge of Tennessee.

Our action in Atlanta did not indicate a change of mind, or conviction, since June. I then believed in both things; I still believe in both. I fail to see why a man may not accept an ethical principle, and at the same time give careful consideration to the time and circumstances of its application. To assume that the protestors are men of Christian principle and that the Trustees are not is absurd, not to say unChristian.

A committee of the Board of Trustees is giving the matter most careful study and will report to the Trustees at their next meeting. The next regular meeting will be held in June, 1953. There may be a special meeting held earlier, possibly in February, but this has not been determined at this time.

Sewanee Problem

The foregoing was printed in "The Bishop's Letter," diocesan paper of Kentucky, November-December, 1952.

What is to happen at Sewanee? That is the question in the minds and on the tongues of many, not only in the Fourth Province, but throughout the Church—indeed, outside as well as within this Church.

So far the only question that can be asked with any expectation of an answer is: What should happen at Sewanee? The Synod of the Fourth Province, in October, 1951, adopted the following statement:

"The 23rd Synod referred to the Department of Christian Social Relations the following resolution, to be considered and studied, report to be made to the 24th Synod:

" 'Whereas work among Negroes is an important phase of the work of our Church, and

" 'Whereas the shortage of Negro clergy poses a considerable problem in every Diocese in this Province, and

" 'Whereas there is at present no theological seminary for Negro candidates for the ministry in this Province;

" 'Therefore be it resolved: That the desirability and advisability of establishing such a seminary in this Province be considered by a committee of this Synod to report to the next Synod.'

"The Bishop of Lexington, chairman, reported:

" 'The Department of Christian Social Relations sums up its thinking that it would not be desirable or advisable to establish a segregated seminary for theological education in our Province; but it thinks it desirable and advisable that we should open existing seminaries in the South to students of all races.

" 'The Department, as special committee, recommends to the Synod that:

" '1. It accept with approval the report of the Department of Christian Social Relations on the question of seminary training of Negro candidates for the ministry;

" '2. That the Secretary of the Synod refer this information to the Board of Trustees of the University of the South with the request that the Synod be informed of action taken.' "

Board Action

The University Board of Trustees met in June, 1952, and adopted the following resolution:

"RESOLVED, that the Trustees of the University of the South inform the Synod of the Fourth Province that there is nothing in the ordinances of the University to prevent the admission of Negroes, or men of any other race, to the School of Theology, but that the Trustees are of the opinion that the encouragement of the enrollment of such students now is inadvisable for the following reasons:

"1. We are informed by several legal authorities that such action would be in violation of statutes of the State of Tennessee.

"2. The School of Theology at Sewanee, unlike most of our theological schools, is not a separate and self-controlled institution, but is part of the University both in the administration and in social life; and therefore must consider the whole life of the University community which is located on an isolated domain.

"THEREFORE, we are of the opinion that furtherance of the Church's work and the happiness and mutual good will of both races will not now be be served by the action requested by the Synod."

Present Status

The faculty resignations were accepted. The Bishops, meeting in Atlanta, November 13th, stated that racial discrimination is inconsistent with our religion, expressed the "hope that provision will continue to be made for the maintenance of a high quality of theological instruction at the University of the the South"; and called "upon all those concerned to join in putting away pride and prejudice, praying for unity and divine guidance, and working together in building a better and greater Sewanee."

The seminary students, in St. Luke's Society, went on record in favor of admitting Negroes to the School of Theology. The resolutions they adopted expressed "full confidence in the professional competence and integrity" of each faculty member; favored admission of men "regardless of the race or color"; expressed "accord with the published position of the majority of the members

BROWSING AT RANDOM

By Hewitt B. Vinnedge

Our English Bible in the Making. By Herbert Gordon May. Philadelphia: Westminster Press, 1952. Pp. 154. $2.75.

Here is a timely book in this year of the appearance of both Old and New Testaments in a great new version. The first chapter sets forth some general information on the whole matter of translations of the Holy Scriptures. After some preliminary reference to the Septuagint the reader is led through a brief consideration of the Peshitta, the Old Latin, and the Vulgate versions, the Coptic, Ethiopic, etc. Then follows a consideration of some of the earlier English translations: Caedman, Bede, Alfred the Great, Wycliffe. Then comes a history of English printed Bibles. The work of Tyndale is admirably presented, as are those which immediately preceded the great King James translation of 1611: Coverdale, "Matthew's Bible," the "Great Bible," the Geneva Bible, the "Bishops' Bible," the Rheims-Douai version. Following a discussion of the King James version there is the story of both the English and the American revised. Then we have a glimpse of the critical study which resulted in some of the modern translations, such as Moffatt, Weymouth, Moulton, Riverside, Smith-Goodspeed, Berkeley, "Basic English," recent Jewish translations, and the Ronald Knox version. There is a full chapter on the Revised Standard Version; this is most fitting, for the author is an active member of the international committee which has prepared this latest translation of the Sacred Writings.

Understanding Europe. By Christopher Dawson. New York: Sheed & Ward, 1952. Pp. ix, 261 (with index). $3.50.

The author of Religion and the Rise of Western Culture is well qualified to diagnose the ills of contemporary Europe, to explain how it got into its present condition, and to suggest necessary changes if a great cultural heritage is to be preserved. At times one feels that the brilliant historian-philosopher has abandoned hope for a cure and is merely describing the process of total and inevitable disintegration. Modern educationists will doubtless scoff at Dawson's book, for it clearly points to the chaos of contemporary educational procedure as at once symptom and cause of a declining civilization, with its over-emphasis on techniques and its tendency to scorn heritage. And so Europe (i. e., European civilization) has lost all unity of spirit; it has nothing left to defend. It has weapons, to be sure, but no will or nerve to use them. Moreover, he says, there has been too much nationalism—so much, in fact, that it has carried over into the intellectual and spiritual fields as a deadly compartmentalism. There must be the will "to accept the existence of Christian culture as an objective historical fact," to see it and understand it from the inside, to study "the nature of the whole" rather than merely so "studying the parts without reference to the whole that we are in danger of forgetting that there is any such thing as a cultural whole."

The Mystery of Love and Marriage. By Derrick Sherwin Bailey. New York: Harpers, 1952. Pp. x, 145 (with index). $2.

After correctly pointing out that Christian theology has singularly neglected the positive goodness and beauty of love between the sexes, Dr. Bailey suggests that the total commitment (body and soul) of one man and one woman to each other is a relatively new concept and phenomenon in human history. He suggests that it dates from only about the 11th or 12th century of the Christian era. It may be that the New Testament hints at some such idea (and the Church has perpetuated that hint in the Office of Holy Matrimony), but even St. Paul and certainly the Patristic writers badly muffed it. Certain recent theologians have done something to correct the centuries of neglect, but Dr. Bailey's monograph is by far the most significant that has yet come to light. He regards such love (the love unto "one flesh") not only as one of the rich blessings that God has given mankind but as a glimpse into the divine harmony of the universe and as an aid in the progressive growth toward the beatific vision. His theology is sound, his understanding is clear, and one can readily suppose that his marriage has been a blessed one. Anglican though he is, one can see that his book has value for clergy of all stripes. He treats sex frankly, honestly, reverently, and theologically. I earnestly commend this volume to the study of all my clerical brethren, whether they be celibate, bachelor, or married priests. And I urge them to pass its teaching on to their people.

Fun in Church: A Book of Cartoons. By W. Bolte Gibson and Henry C. Beck. Flemington, New Jersey: Calvary Church, 1952. Pp. 60.

Here is a little book to be viewed and not reviewed. The cartoons are hilarious —and churchly. The situations depicted are witty—and Anglican. For grand grins, cheery chuckles, or good guffaws, read Fun in Church.

The Hell Catholic. By Father "X." New York: Sheed & Ward, 1952. Pp. 155. $2.

This is a book equally for Anglicans and Romanists, to read with one's friends, to laugh about (within the body of Churchmen), and to relate samples of to others. The title was given because in the beginning of the story the principal character is not a Catholic ardent for heaven but merely one trying to avoid hell. The likeable framework of the narrative is a Holy Year Pilgrimage to Rome, with incidental cities and shrines on the way. Every line has humor, and yet leads on reverently and successfully to a loving maturity of thought about the Church. Father "X" is understandably anonymous because the good-humored criticisms might be distasteful to some Roman Catholics, and painful to Anglicans.

The Spiritual Letters of Shirley Carter Hughson, OHC, with Foreword by Robert Erskine Campbell, OHC. West Park, N. Y.: Holy Cross Press, 1952. Pp. ix, 251 (with index). $3.

This book was assembled by anonymous recipients of Father Hughson's letters who appreciated their worth for collection and recollection. The pages are as full of his spirit and of his help toward meditation and contemplation as if they had been penned to every reader specifically. While some of the letters are to the religious, all are so full of clear spiritual counsel that the book becomes quite evident as a handbook for one's own inner life. Father Hughson's eighteen books (at least) and his seven tracts all have this same warmth and wealth of guidance, but this posthumous selection of letters is an authoritative gift fulfilled to the Church.

—Ruth Knowles.

Woman Today. By John Fitzsimons. New York: Sheed & Ward, 1952. Pp. 192. $2.50.

Although colored by many Roman Catholic ideas, such as the overdone analogy of the "New Eve," this little book is good stuff. It tells the sad tale of woman's loss of status in our industrial society, and the battle of the feminists for equality in a man's world. The distressing picture of woman's frustration in the role she plays today is drawn truly. The high point of the book comes probably in the chapters concerning the nature of woman and of her true fulfillment and destiny. Any man who may deal with women—therefore, any man—will find this book of great help in understanding the supposedly mysterious creature. Much more, however, will it help women themselves. Any girl approaching maturity could benefit from this un-hackneyed approach to the problems of her sex. And perhaps it could change the insecure, almost contemptuous, view which women too often take of their kind into a confident pride in their magnificent role in life.

—Sally Denman.

He That Gathereth. By James W. Kennedy. New York: World Council of Churches. 1953. Pp. 107.

This is "A first hand account of the Third World Conference on Faith and Order—held in Lund, Sweden, August 15-28, 1952." The author states in the preface that "The purpose of this booklet is to present the material discussed at Lund along with the conclusions reached and the progress made, in such a way as to be useful for reading by all Christians, both the clergy and the laity, and for guidance in the conducting of study groups." A bibliography of Faith and Order movement publications and others relating to the movement is appended. Working together at the local level is the means recommended to carry out the purposes of the Lund meeting.

of the faculty." Of the 82 students voting a clear majority favored each resolution, but more than a third of them abstained from voting on the third proposition, on which there was a roll-call vote.

At present, then, the Trustees are waiting for a committee to report—in February, if the Bishops' suggestion is heeded. The faculty members are working with the expectation of being elsewhere next summer; most of the students are standing with their faculty on the issue of admitting Negroes.

Probably there are a good many people who feel as did one letter-writing layman — he wrote highly indignant letters to many people after reading of the Synod action in 1951—he averred that the University would fall if ever a Negro were admitted. Some folk blame the faculty members for taking their action, or for the way they let their attitude be known at first. Others believe that if the Trustees had discussed their position with others before issuing their first statement there might have been less trouble. Still others think that if the Trustees had stated simply that the ordinances of the University are not discriminatory, and that each applicant is considered from every angle before admission, there would have been a peaceful opportunity for further study—if a Negro should apply.

It will be a good thing for everyone to ponder the following words, in a resolution adopted by the Lambeth Conference of 1948, and quoted with approval by the Bishops in their November 13th statement:

"Recognizing that in the quest for a just social order the differences between those who value tradition and those who feel most urgently the need for change and reform may provoke enmity, the Conference believes that, however strong these tensions are, the fellowship of the Christian community should contain them, and that in times of controversy, Church members can make this significant contribution of unity in Christ to the life of neighborhood or nation."

ABOUT EDUCATION

Columbia University Press published, last November, two books on higher education which might well be considered by those dealing with colleges.

Nature and Needs of Higher Education is the Report of the Commission on Financing Higher Education, John D. Millett, executive director. The book opens with a discussion of the Objectives of Higher Education, and proceeds to finances from that base. ($5.00)

The Development and Scope of Higher Education in America, by Richard Hofstadter and C. DeWitt Hardy. Hofstadter is Associate Professor of History at Columbia; Hardy is Research Associate for the Commission referred to above. ($3.00)

Heard by the Rector Of St. Wearisome's . . .

"You Episcopalians are so stuck up," said the young critic with emphasis, not unkindly.

"Are we, really?" asked the rector thoughtfully. Then he added, "Why don't you join us and be stuck up with us?"

"I think that you ought to speak to Bishop," said an aroused Episcopalian to the rector. "Why those people over at St. Easier's are getting so high-church they even genuflex when they get off the bus."

The primary class at St. Wearisome's Sunday School was studying the Ten Commandments. The teacher was serious and earnest in talking about the Second.

"Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven image—"

"Thou shalt not bow to them nor worship them."

She finished her comments and there was a pause. Then a little boy's voice was heard:

"Will it be all right if you just sit?"

St. Wearisome's is just a composite Episcopal Church on the lighter side. The members of its congregation are glad that they are Episcopalians, but they aren't doing very much about it.

Its rector is a composite clergyman, hence a little better than mediocre, tho not much, and somewhat melancholy. But he has a great deal of hope.

St. Easier's is quite like it. Only it's easier to belong to.

"St. Wearisome's is my favorite congregation," wrote a correspondent. And another said: "I've been a member of that Church all my life and this is the first time I've known its name." And then added, "How do you transfer to St. Easier's?"

A RAILROAD MAP?

What a superb, gallant spirit there is in the maps in railroad timetables! Have you ever noticed it? We had occasion on a Saturday night to make a rather chastened little pilgrimage to Ithaca, in the course of which we were impressed once again with that spirit. The railroad, in one swift and splendid spring, sweeps magnificently across New Jersey, vaults in the smooth trajectory of a comet through Pennsylvania, and arches, delicately poised, over the Southern Tier until it comes home, like a tired child, gently, into the affectionate welcome of Buffalo.

That is, it does on the map. All railroads do, on the map. They whizz to Chicago like an arrow, they rocket along a ruler's edge to Los Angeles, they drop like a plumb line to Pensacola. What is geography to those dauntless cartographers? Mountains, lakes, rivers . . . no, we go from New York to Buffalo, Kansas City to San Francisco, and no nonsense with obstacles. On the map, that is.

Ah, those dreamers! It is not so in real life—what about that jolt at Flemington Junction, or that long screeching curve at Mauch Chunk, or the time we fell out of the berth at Sayre, or cut our chin at Van Etten? It is easy enough to draw maps, we mutter, but what about the people that have to ride on the trains—you can't fool us about the curves and the grades and the rabbit-leaps. A railroad is no straight line. It is a series of Brownian movements. Frightened by every hill, fascinated by every cow-barn, it zigzags across country in a continual crisis of indecision, indolence, timidity and regret.

It looks astonishingly like any good, standard biography, as a matter of fact. And we do just as much grumbling about life as we do about the railroads. Ah, those mapmakers!—(for which substitute ::preachers," "poets," "teachers," "saints," etc.)—they make it look so quiet and easy. St. Paul, for example, with all his fine talk about armor and the breastplate of righteousness and the sword of the spirit, just as if you could go out and with one tremendous swipe cut off the dragon's head and live happily ever after. As if all there was to life was The Great Renunciation and The Great Love and The Great Forgiveness and then the sunset glow. There is no sword, we soon discover, which will brilliantly cut off a lie—only painful and painstaking truth will do it. There is no bright armor against impurity—only the bitter resolution of the will. There is no swift, shining, single election of manhood—only the thousands of common inglorious choices by which a man slowly crawls, on his knees, up from the dust to his true self.

But the dreamers are not wrong. It's just that it takes a while before you can see the humble, obedient, steadfast will of a man as God sees it—before it looks like a sword. Remember that the only reason a cross looks like a cross to us is that to one Person it looked like death.

Dear Mrs. Slaughter:

We have been thinking and talking among ourselves for a couple of years about the kind of article you have in mind. It will be a difficult thing to do, partly because the approaches and techniques we try to use are usually most effective if one doesn't describe them as techniques! Your letter gives us renewed interest in trying our hand, and sooner or later, I hope we can include in NEW SOUTH something that will be helpful in the way you propose.

I expect that Sewanee, with the aid of a year or so of time, will find it possible to accept quietly the proposal that has now caused so much stir. One lesson is how very much advance preparation is needed in taking steps of this kind.

Let us know if you are in or near Atlanta. And if my travels can take me to Norfolk, I will look forward to coming to see you.

Sincerely,

My dear Dr Mitchell:

Thank you very much for your letter of Feb 24th and for your kindly spirit regarding mine of the 20th..

Like Bishop Penick, Bishop Mitchell and Vice-Chancellor McCready, I have been delayed in replying because I was out of town when your letter arrived but then, Bishops and College presidents may be expected to be away a great deal and to be slower than ordinary in answering letters!

Your letter interests me particularly because my thinking may be running along the line of your own in regard to our learning more about "strategy" in race relations. All human relations are delicate and race relations are doubly so because of their heightened emotional content. More and more it is borne in upon me that none of us is too expert and that we are retarding race harmony by mistakes in what we say and how we say it.

I feel that the growing resentment and chip-on-the-shoulder attitude of most Negroes is largely due to the emphasis in the Negro press on white injustices, to the use of inflammatory wording and to the frequently unwise tactics of pepresentatives of Negro organizations. The general custom by the white press in the South of playing up Negro crime and labeling it "(Negro)" and of omitting the courtesy titles of "Mr" and "Mrs" is, in its way, nearly as harmful. But we, who try in our writing, to influence both groups toward mutual good feeling dont seem so very successful either. Might the NEW SOUTH gives us an article on techniques?

For instance, your article on Sewanee was written for the purpose of getting Southerners "to ponder the many lessons contained in the correspondence" and I, whose sympathy is with any publication of SRC, did not get your point--due, I suppose, to my own blind spots! My reaction to the juxtaposition of "Conscience", "Segregation" and "Christian" was that the headline called unfavorable attention to the Unchristian attitude of the college in contrast to the noble "conscience" of the professors. (Actually I'm sure we would both agree that "a man may accept an ethical principle and, at the same time, give careful consideration to the time and circumstances of its application. To assume that the protestors are men of Christian principle and that the Trustes are not is absurd, not to say un-Christian.")

I wonder, too, if it would have been permissable to raise a few questions as an aid to readers (who, unfortunately, seldom "ponder") in spotting the "lessons contained". It seems to me that the element of restraint (and what I know to be protection for one person) in Dr. McCready's two replies was no match for the dramatic appeals in the letters from both the resigning faculty and from Dean Pike. Perhaps

SRC members could have been helped to a less emotional reading of the correspondence by a tactful suggestion in the foreword.

Do you know a psychologist or a public relations man who could contribute an article to the NEW SOUTH on strategy and technique? A Negro writer could be particularly helpful. Race tension seems to increase: white people think Negroes are demanding too many things too quickly and would attain their objectives more quickly if they "made haste slowly"; Negroes feel that they have already been patient too long. Pressure from Negroes leads to stiffened resistance from whites. On one side there is a lack of awareness; on the other, an extreme sensitiveness. Where and how can we break the circle? Can SRC help with a specific article or series on the subject? I very much like your resumes on public school suits and Supreme Court decisions, on race and suffrage and the reports on the Georgia County Unit amendment and the Tuskegee report on lynching which expand the brief notices appearing in many newspapers. I think we need that sort of information put into concise and complete form for our use. But I would like, in addition, some authoritative suggestions on how to make friends for the opposite race and influence people for harmony! We all know that our enemies make political capital of our race antogonisms but few of us know how to turn the tide in the other direction so that Americans will have enough good will toward each other not to do or say the things that create "incidents".

And, can you think of any way to help Sewanee? I recall that Mrs Henry Havens said her interest in working for race relations stemmed from her being a member of the Sewanee Province of the Episcopal Church. Would she now have contacts that would help?

Thanks for your compliments to Norfolk's Womens Council for Interracial Cooperation. We do try to stress the last word in our name but I must add that I wrote you as a member of SRC only. The Sewanee case has not been mentioned at any of our Norfolk meetings.

Sincerely yours,

Sue R Slaughter

The Episcopal Seminary at Alexandria, Va., accepts Negro students on exactly the same basis as white and is able to provide for all Negroes at present applying for training. Its years of preparation for non-segregation, its financial structure and its cosmopolitan neighborhood combine to make this happy fact possible.
Perhaps SRC can help Sewanee in a similar "preparation" (with due understanding of its need to recover from its unwanted notoriety) but a small isolated mountain community needs much time to change its social ideas.

ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING -----

Dean Sage Hall, Atlanta University
Atlanta, Georgia

The Executive Committee, which authorized the postponement of the 1952 meeting, has called a meeting for Thursday, May 14th at Dean Sage Hall, Atlanta University, at 10:00 a.m.

Registration will begin at 9:30.

Important business will be before the Council and a large attendance is hoped for.

Dear Geo. Mitchell: I'm sorry I cannot be at the SRC meeting. I have little enthusiasm for federations for they usually turn out to be aggregations and not real boards. Good luck to you Wickenhaupt

CIO LEADER LAUDS FIRST NON-JIM CROW CANTEEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Joseph Phillips, president of the C. I. O. Washington Industrial Union Council, said Wednesday his organization was proud of its sponsorship of "the first effective non-Jim Crow canteen in Washington."

His comment was prompted by the action of Representative Charles McKenzie (Democrat, Louisiana) in placing in the Congressional Record newspaper accounts of the opening of the "Labor Canteen" for service people of all races last Saturday night, an event in which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt participated.

In offering the material for the Record, McKenzie said: "How can anyone be a party to encouraging white girls into the arms of Negro soldiers at a canteen dance while singing 'Let Me Call You Sweetheart'?"

Said Phillips in reply:

"We of the C. I. O. in Washington are very proud that we could open the first effective non-Jim Crow canteen in Washington. The C. I. O. has always opposed Nazi theories of racial superiority. We believe that one aim of this war is to eliminate such theories. Our Commander in Chief has so expressed our policy.

"When people come to our dances they dance with whomever they choose. Only the reactionaries will fear to leave this strictly personal decision to the individual."

Representative McKenzie said he deplored and condemned "with all the intensity of my soul the promotion of such activities."

Mrs. Roosevelt Defends Washington Canteen

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said Wednesday that Representative Charles McKenzie (Democrat, Louisiana), who deplored activities at the new C. I. O.-sponsored canteen for both white and Negro servicemen in Washington, apparently was misinformed when he condemned the canteen.

Mrs. Roosevelt said that the congressman apparently was unaware of the nature of the sponsoring organization.

"Soldiers who come there (to the canteen) have been in unions composed of both white and Negro members," she said, "and naturally, if whites and Negroes work together, their union, when it sponsors a canteen, cannot cut out one group of its members. As usually happens, the people chose their own friends."

Hostesses at the canteen, Mrs. Roosevelt said, were white and Negro girls who are workers and members of unions having both white and Negro members.

Mrs. Roosevelt recalled that at the opening of the canteen a young man played a guitar as others gathered around him and "they sang all the old songs."

Here's what your gang and this stupid old fool in the White House are trying to fasten on the people of the South.

This band of labor cutthroats are trying to break down the social barriers between the niggers and the white people. So far as the C.I.O is concerned, there is no barrier -- they are about on a level socially with niggers. I never did think the time would come when a supposedly decent white woman would defend nigger soldiers dancing with white girls, while they sang, "Let me Call you Sweetheart". However old lady Roosevelt has come out and endorsed mixed marraiages and has stated she wouldn't mind one of her own family marrying "into the right sort of nigger family".

If either your nigger-loving crowd or this old stupid woman in the White House had the sense God promised a turkey you would know you are just preparing the way for trouble between the white people and niggers.

They have put severl nigger officers down here with nigger secretaries and the white employees who have to work in these departments have to take their orders through these nigger winches.

THE UGLY TRUTH ABOUT THE NAACP
An Address by ATTORNEY GENERAL EUGENE COOK
Before The 55th ANNUAL CONVENTION Of The
PEACE OFFICERS ASSOCIATION OF GEORGIA
HELD IN ATLANTA

* * * * *

PRESIDENT REDDING, DISTINGUISHED GUESTS AND MY FELLOW MEMBERS OF THE PEACE OFFICERS ASSOCIATION OF GEORGIA:

It is always a source of genuine personal satisfaction for me to have the opportunity of appearing before this group. Of all the organizations to which I have the privilege of belonging, none has accorded me a greater degree of support and cooperation than the Peace Officers Association of Georgia.

This rapport, I feel, is due principally to the fact that we share common professional objectives and personal convictions. As servants of our fellow citizens, we are made acutely aware of the grave responsibility inherent in protecting the rights and liberties of the people through vigorous and impartial enforcement of the law. As individuals charged with this solemn duty, we are able to see more clearly than others the threat to those rights and liberties posed by those who would substitute government by men for government by law.

It is because of your demonstrated discernment in this regard that I have chosen this occasion as the proper forum for revealing, for the first time, the authenticated details of the most ominous of these threats to arise during our lifetime. I refer to the subversive designs behind the current crusade of the misnamed National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and its fellow-traveling fronts to force upon the South the Communist-inspired doctrine of racial integration and amalgamation.

It shall be my purpose in this speech to totally disrobe the NAACP and to present this sinister and subtle organization in all its nakedness.

The ugly truth about the NAACP and its origin, aims and manipulators is so shocking as to stagger the imagination, but it is borne out by incontrovertible facts which can be established as matters of official record. These facts have been uncovered, checked, assembled and correlated through many weeks of intensive investigation and cooperative effort by my Staff and the Staffs of Congressman James C. Davis of Georgia and Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi.

I am prepared to prove everything I shall say. And I wish to state for the benefit of those who undoubtedly will attempt to smear me and discredit my findings and conclusions that I would welcome the opportunity to present the evidence I have in hand for determination before a trial jury in a court of law.

At the outset I wish to make it clear that the issue involved is one not of race but rather of subversion. None of the organizations which have exploited the race issue in this country has ever had the welfare of the negro people at heart. They have seized upon this issue as a convenient front for their more nefarious activities and as one with which they could dupe naive do-gooders, fuzzy-minded intellectuals, misguided clergymen and radical journalists to be their pawns.

The record shows that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was neither founded nor is presently directed by colored people. It was originated in New York City 46 years ago as the brain child of a Southern scallawag journalist and Russian-trained revolutionary named William E. Walling. Its principal personalities during its early years were descendants of the rabble-rousing abolitionists who fomented the strife which precipitated the War Between the States, a conflict which could have been avoided but for the activities of those abolitionists.

Of its five founders only one was a negro -- a Communist-sympathizing lawyer named W. E. B. DuBois whose record of participation in Communist, Communist-front and subversive organizations and activities taken from the files of the Committee on Un-American Activities of the United States House of Representatives requires eight pages of single-spaced, typewritten copy to outline. Among his more recent activities of this nature was the donation of his services in the preparation of legal briefs defending since-executed Communist spies Julius and Ethyl Rosenberg and the imprisoned leaders of the Communist Party of the United States. In 1953 he was awarded the International Peace Prize by the "Communist front" World Peace Council in recognition of his participation in the sponsorship of the series of Communist-dominated World Peace Conferences held since 1949 in an attempt to undermine the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

DuBois was Director of Research for the NAACP until 1949 and now is referred to by its officers and members as the organization's "Honorary Chairman."

In addition to Walling and DuBois, the other NAACP founders -- all white -- were Dr. Henry Moskowitz; Socialist Oswald Garrison Villard, grandson of Abolitionist William Lloyd Garrison; and Miss Mary Ovington White, also a descendant of an old-time abolitionist. The first president of the Association was a white Boston lawyer, Moorfield Storey, who was identified in his youth with the abolitionist movement and who served as secretary to the original race-baiter, Massachusetts Senator Charles Sumner.

From that day to this, South-hating white people with long records of affinity for, affiliation with and participation in Communist, Communist-front, fellow-traveling and subversive organizations, activities and causes have directed and subsidized the NAACP. Its present president, Arthur B. Spingarn of New York City, is a white man as are a large number of the current officers, directors and principal contributors.

The files of the House Un-American Activities Committee reveal records of affiliation with or participation in Communist, Communist-front, fellow-traveling or subversive organizations or activities on the part of the following present officials of the NAACP -- the President, the Chairman of the Board, the "Honorary Chairman," 11 of the 28 Vice Presidents, the Treasurer, 28 of 47 Directors, the Chairman of the National Legal Committee, the Executive Secretary, the Special Counsel, the Assistant Special Counsel, the Southeast Regional Secretary, the West Coast Secretary, the Director of the Washington Bureau, the Director of Public Relations and two Field Secretaries.

The transcript of this evidence numbers 121 pages of single-spaced, typewritten copy and would require more than six hours to be read aloud. Time being a factor, it is impossible to present all of this material; but, to give you an idea of the backgrounds and ideologies of the policy-making officials and personnel of the NAACP, I shall cite chapter and verse on the activities of this organization's principal personalities.

(The designations which I shall use in describing the organizations and activities with which these individuals have been identified are those applied to them by the Attorney General of the United States, the House Un-American Activities Committee or the Special House Un-American Activities Committee.)

President Spingarn was a participant in the Conference on Africa held April 14, 1944, in New York City by the "subversive and Communist" Council on African Affairs. In 1945 and 1946 he signed statements favoring the granting of Army commissions to Communists and opposing the use of injunctions in labor disputes sponsored by the "viciously subversive" National Federation of Constitutional Liberties. He is listed as a sponsor of the "Communist front" Public Use of Arts Committee.

Board Chairman Channing H. Tobias was a member of the Executive Board and Co-Chairman of the New York Committee of the "Communist front" Southern Conference for Human Welfare which was charged in 1947 with "serving the Soviet Union and its subserveient Communist Party in the United States." He belonged, prior to 1949, to the "subversive and Communist" Council on African Affairs and was a member of the Editorial Advisory Board of the "Protestant Digest" -- a magazine which "has faithfully propagated the Communist Party Line." He sponsored the "subversive and Communist" People's Institute of Applied Religion and the American Committee for Yugoslav Relief and was a member of the Executive Board of the American League for Peace and Democracy, "the largest of the Communist-front movements in the United States." He has sponsored confer nces and activities of the "viciously subversive" National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, and the "Communist front" New York State Conference on National Unity and the "subversive and Communist" American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born and the National Committee to Win the Peace.

Roy Wilkins -- successor to the late Walter White as NAACP Executive Secretary -- was quoted on June 17, 1936, by the New York Daily Worker, the official publication of the Communist Party in this country, as attaching "greatest significance" to the 1936 National Communist Party Convention and stating that the Communist Party's racial program had had "a very wholesome effect" in the United States. He was further quoted by the Daily Worker on July 15, 1949, as boasting that he had voted in New York City elections that year for since-convicted Negro Communist Benjamin J. Davis. He is listed as a member of the National Committee of the "Communist front" International Juridical Association which has "actively defended Communists and consistently followed the Communist Party line." He was a sponsor of the "subversive and Communist" Conference on Pan American Democracy and of a joint meeting in 1937 of the "subversive and Communist" American League Against War and Fascism and the "Communist front" American Friends of the Chinese People. He has spoken for the "subversive and Communist" International Labor Defense and the Workers' Alliance, the former of which is regarded as the "legal arm of the Communist Party" in this country.

Special Counsel Thurgood Marshall -- the negro lawyer responsible for the NAACP's court attacks upon segregation in the public schools -- as late as 1950 was a member of the Executive Board of the "Communist front" National Lawyers Guild which has been described as "the foremost legal bulwark of the Communist Party, its front organizations and controlled unions." Since its inception, the Guild "has never failed to rally to the legal defense of the Communist Party and individual members thereof, including known espionage agents." And, as a member and policy-making official of this Communist Front, Marshall has served as Associate Editor of the "Lawyers Guild Review" and has criticized this nation's loyalty program. He also is listed as a member of the National Committee of the "Communist front" International Juridical Association which has "actively defended Communists and consistently followed the Communist Party line." And he was among a group of attorneys who, in 1947, protested the issuance of contempt citations against pro-Communist Hollywood writers who refused to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The director of the NAACP's Washington Bureau, Clarence M. Mitchell, protested against being asked whether he was or ever had been a member of the Communist Party at a hearing on proposed legislation to outlaw the Communist Party held before the House Un-American Activities Committee on May 3, 1950. Although he stoutly denied being a Communist, he was quoted as saying that such a question was "unfair" because it "immediately precludes from appearing before this Committee many of the people who would be on trial under a bill of this kind." The transcript further quoted him as saying that: "Presumably there are people who may, for sincere and personal reasons, wish to be members of the Communist Party. They may want to come here and object to this bill, but, I suppose, if they had to answer that question, they very likely would not come."

Director of Public Relations Henry Lee Moon, the Association's propaganda chief, is listed as a member of the "subversive and Communist" Washington Book Shop and the likewise-designated National Negro Congress which is "the Communist-front movement in the United States among negroes." His book, "Balance of Power: The Negro Vote," was praised by the Daily Worker and he was listed in 1949 as a nominee to be commentator for the "subversive and Communist" Voice of Freedom Committee.

Of the NAACP's 28 Vice Presidents, the following 11 have records of Un-American activities:

John Haynes Holmes, 23 citations; A. Philip Randolph, 20 citations the late Mary McLeod Bethune (who still is listed as a vice president) and William Lloyd Imes, 16 citations each; Oscar Hammerstein, II, the composer, and Bishop W. J. Walls, seven citations each; Ira W. Jayne and L. Pearl Mitchell, two citations each; and Willard S. Townsend, T. G. Nutter and Grace B. Fenderson, one citation each.

Of the 47 members comprising the Association's Board of Directors, the following 28 have records of the Un-American activities:

Earl B. Dickerson, 25 citations; Algernon D. Black, 18 citations; Lewis Gannett, 15 citations; Roscoe Dunjee, 13 citations; S. Ralph Harlow and Chairman Channing H. Tobias, 10 citations each; William H. Hastie, nine citations; Hubert T. Delaney, eight citations; Benjamin E. Mays, president of Atlanta's morehouse College, six citations; Robert G. Weaver, five citations; Buell G. Gallagher, four citations; President Arthur B. Spingarn, Earl G. Harrison, James J. McClendon Ralph Bunche, Allen Knight Chalmers and W. Montague Cobb, three citations each; J. M. Tinsley, Wesley W. Law of Savannah, Ga., Norman Cousins , Z. Alexander Looby, Harry J. Greene and Alfred Baker Lewis, two citations each; and H. Claude Hudson, Carl R. Johnson, A Maceo Smith, James Hinton and Theodore M. Berry, one citation each.

Two other Vice Presidents and three other Directors are well-known apologists for left-wing causes. The two Vice Presidents are Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon and Eric Johnston of the Motion Picture Industry. The three Directors are Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, CIO President Walter Reuther and Senator Herbert H. Lehman of New York.

Other officers of the NAACP with Un-American activity records are:

Lloyd Garrison, chairman, National Legal Committee, five citations; Treasurer Allan Knight Chalmers and Branch Department Director Gloster B. Current, three citations each; Southeast Regional Secretary Ruby Hurley, West Coast Regional Secretary Franklin H. Williams, Field Secretary Madison S. Jones and Assistant Special Counsel Robert L. Carter, two citations each; and Field Secretary Tarea Hall Pittman, one citation.

But of all the NAACP officials and policy-makers listed in the files of the House Un-American Activities Committee, none has a record as notorious as that of W. E. B. DuBois to whom I have previously referred as one of the founders and present "Honorary Chairman" of the Association. No less than 72 citations of Communist, Communist-front and subversive activity are entered against his name -- the latest of which was the statement he issued upon the death of Joseph Stalin reading: "Let all negroes, Jews and foreign-born who have suffered in America from prejudice and intolerance, remember Joseph Stalin."

Yet this same W. E. B. DuBois was one of the "modern scientific authorities" whose writings were accepted by the United States Supreme Court as the basis for its decision of May 17, 1954, prohibiting segregation in the public schools. DuBois contributed to 82 different portions of the book, "An American Dilemma," which was cited in its entirety by the Supreme Court as an authority for its ruling.

And, speaking of that decision, let me emphasize in passing that 15 other contributors to "An American Dilemma" also have lengthy records of pro-Communist activity in the files of the Un-American Activities Committee. The same thing is true of two of the six individual authorities cited by the High Court -- Theodore Brameld and E. Franklin Frazier -- who between them have been members of or identified with 28 organizations declared to be Communist, Communist fronts or Communist dominated.

Another of the six individual authorities cited by the Supreme Court -- K. B. Clark -- was, at the time of the arguments before the Court, on the payroll of the NAACP as a so-called "social-science expert."

These records of individual officials and members of the NAACP are not the only source of proof of the subversive influences on and in that organization.

Elizabeth Dilling reported in her book, "The Red Network," that, during the seven years from 1923 to 1930, the NAACP received some $43,000 from the radical Garland Fund among whose directors were Communists William Z. Foster and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn. She also disclosed that the official report of the Fourth National Convention of the Communist Party of the United States held in 1925 stated that "the Party had penetrated the NAACP."

Official records show that the NAACP has consistently affiliated itself with Communist and left-wing movements.

It was a member of the American Youth for a Free World which was organized in 1942 and, in 1948, was described by the California Un-American Activities Committee as "heavily infiltrated and effectively dominated by the Communist Party." The House Un-American Activities Committee in its 1951 Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications described the AYFW as "a Communist clearing house."

In 1945, the NAACP sent its Branch Department Director, Gloster Current to London as an official delegate representing the Association at the founding of the World Federation of Democratic Youth. This Federation was cited by the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1948 as "part of the Communist International "solar system."

A report made at a meeting of the Communist Party of the United States on July 16, 1946, showed that the NAACP was one of a group of left-wing organizations invited by the National Committee of the Communist Party to a meeting held in Chicago to form a "third party." That report, as detailed on pages 150-51 of the 1947 Report of the House Un-American Activities Committee, lists the NAACP as an active participant in the conference at which the Progressive Citizens of America was formed.

And earlier this month, according to the United Press, the NAACP picketed a hearing on Communist propaganda conducted in Chicago by Senator Eastland for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

A pamphlet outlining the Program of the Communist Party of the United States, published in September 1954 by New Century Publishers of New York City, made specific reference on Page 22 to a link between the Communist Party and the NAACP. It stated:

"We call upon wage workers, working farmers, the Negro people, small business and professional people, upon the women and the youth, to join hands in a common fight...for the democratic demands of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People."

Former Negro Communist Foster Williams, Jr., testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee about this matter on June 17, 1954, in Seattle, Wash. He said:

"The Communist Party very sneakily manipulates the negro people for their own purposes..The NAACP has had this trouble."

The racial aims of the Communist Party of the United States and those of the NAACP are virtually identical. The Communist program, as reported in the May 26, 1928, issue of the Daily Worker, calls for :

"Full racial equality.

"Abolition of all laws which result in segregation of negroes.

"Abolition of laws forbidding intermarriage of persons of different races.

"Abolition of all laws and public administration measures which prohibit, or in practice prevent, Negro children from attending general public schools or universities.

"Full and equal admittance of negroes to all waiting rooms, restaurants, hotels and theaters."

Those are the identical demands being made today, 27 years later, by the NAACP.

On the basis of the evidence now in hand -- a minute portion of which I have related to you this afternoon -- no other conclusion can be drawn but that the NAACP is being used as a front and tool by subversive elements in this country. Either knowingly or unwittingly, it has allowed itself to become part and parcel of the Communist conspiracy to overthrow the democratic governments of this nation and its sovereign states.

Through its activities, the NAACP is fomenting strife and discord between the white and negro races in the South and is disrupting relations between these races which heretofore have been -- and at present are -- harmonious and friendly in every respect. These activities, carried to their ultimate conclusion, can only result in conflict, bloodshed and internal revolution, delivering this nation into the hands of international Communism.

The NAACP is being aided and abetted in its agitation by three "front" organizations on the Southern scene -- the Southern Conference Education Fund; the Southern Regional Council; and the SRC's affiliate, the Georgia Committee on Interracial Cooperation. The Southern Conference Education Fund and the Southern Regional Council are both dominated by individuals who, like the officials of the NAACP, have long records of affinity for and participation in Communist, Communist-front, fellow-traveling, left-wing and subversive organizations and activities. Sworn testimony taken by both House and Senate Committees has placed known Communists in both organizations and the Southern Conference Education Fund may soon be designated a subversive organization.

The Georgia Committee on Interracial Cooperation is a perfect example of an organization formed for the purpose of exploiting the names, reputations and services of well-intentioned do-gooders. It is composed of some of Georgia's most distinguished clergymen and most prominent civic and social leaders who have been duped into doing the bidding of the more sinister elements manipulating the Southern Regional Council.

Investigations currently are being made of all three organizations -- the results of which will greatly embarass those good citizens who unwittingly have become involved in their activities. I urge all such persons to take immediate steps to disassociate themselves from these groups and to disavow their programs and leaders before they, their friends and their congregations are exposed to the anguish and embarrassment which exposure of these groups will necessarily mean.

The activities of the NAACP and its local fronts pose a serious threat to the peace, tranquility, government and way of life of our State. And for that reason it is my intention to present the evidence which already has been, and currently is being, compiled about the subversive nature of these activities to the 1956 session of the General Assembly of Georgia convening next January for appropriate action by the elected representatives of the people of this State.

In the meantime I pledge the full resources of my Office to the enforcement of all existing State laws and constitutional provisions relating to subversive activities and our traditional pattern of race relations. And, toward that end, I solicit -- and know I can count on -- the full support and cooperation of you, the peace officers of Georgia.

I thank you.

SPOUT ROUTE COMINGUP

Don't be thunderstruck if one of the much-touted local "Reducing Salons" pulls the plug and goes the Spout Route in the verynear . . . Their ads about blubber-shedding look great, but the outfit's financial situation is sticky as stale grits — When the outfit does a fast plugpull and goes swirling down the spout, a whaleofalot of creditors could be left high and dry.

If anyone ever asks you to subscribe to a publication called "THE NEW SOUTH," or suggests that you join the "Southern Conference Education Fund" — be a stouttella and punch 'em in the mouth . . . The pious sounding "Southern Conference Educational Fund" was formed at the direction of the Communist Party — The "SCEF," cited as a communist front organization, was organized by Joseph Gelders, a known communist who took his orders directly from the nation's top Red, Earl Browder, who in turn received his orders from the Soviet Union according to testimony from a top communist . . . The "SCEF" (which replaced the notorious communist "Southern Conference for Human Welfare") serves a two-fold purpose: (1) "To promote and distribute communist propaganda" — (2) "Provide a vehicle to promote class hatred and race hatred . . . "The New South" is identified as the "official organ" of the "SCEF." It is written by hard-core communists who spout the usual anti-American garbage and attempt to influence the subscribers to follow the communist party line . . . As previously stated — if someone asks you to throwin with this trash, it would be considered good form to rap'em in the chops — On the other-hand, if you are active in anything like the "SCEF" — I hope someone gives YOU a bash in the grinders.

Bytheway — Lots'a copies of "IB" are sent to a bigbatch of fellas in the Armed Forces . . .These subscriptions are for-free. I figure it's the least I can do for men who are defending my country, my family and me . . . If you would like a copy of "IB" mailed to someone in service, just send his name and mail address to "IB", P.O. Box 23629 (Oakland Park Br.), Ft. Lauderdale. — If the serviceman is overseas, don't forget to include the APO number.

The latest "Localboy Makegood" plaudits belong to a music making batch of Lauderdale lads known as "The Jesters" . . . The "J's," Bob Ungerer, Bill Farnello, Mike Sherlock and Burns Wieck are captained by Mark Markham, leadman on the gitfiddle who composed some of the tunes that aced the group into a contract with RCA Victor. — So, like "Congratulations!," "Bang-On!" and allthat . . . Bytheway, if Mark's last-name has a familiar ring, it's because his dad, Bob Markham, is the Broward Co. Tax Assessor.

Mr. Moreland Griffith Smith, Director
Urban Planning Project

Subject: "Insight Broward", February 1967

Yes sir

Dear Moreland:

I am enclosing for your study two articles from the new issue of the subject publication. You will note charges contained therein to the effect Southern Regional Council, Florida Council on Human Relations and the Southern Conference for Human Welfare are or were Communist and subversive.

You will also observe that both Tom Reddick and I accused of being "red" and/or subversive, etc.

I may sue for libel and would appreciate any information the SRC may have which might be helpful. For example, what if any connection ever existed between SRC and the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, and what is, or was, the Southern Conference for Human Welfare?

Best wishes,

Don

Encl.

Space limitations prevent a review of every commission candidate, we'll take a look at the rest in the next issue — but here are a few commentaries that should prove interesting —:

FRED E. WELKER

Anyone who spends five minutes around Fred Welker realizes he is not a man to be taken lightly. Unlike many politicos, Welker is a born leader who never attempts to sidestep an issue or duck a responsibility.

WELKER

During his commission table tenure, Commissioner Welker has earned a well-deserved reputation of being a man who is not afraid to say what he thinks — then stands behind what he says. — Several sad but wiser "special interest" groups can testify Welker cannot be bullied into anything, by anyone at anytime.

Welker has pursued the responsibilities of his public office with an intensity and purpose seldom witnessed in the history of this (or any other) city. — Fred has dedicated more actual time and effort to his commission job than any of the other commissioners — The record proves Lauderdale and its residents have profited from Welker's overtime efforts.

I admire a public official who treats his job as a serious responsibility, and is willing to work hard to fulfill that responsibility — I respect a man who is not afraid to express himself and take positive action to back his position.

I admire Fred Welker as a public official and respect hima s a man . . . I will back this statement at the polls.

Mary McLeod Bethune, a negro woman who died in 1955, was billed as an "outstanding leader" in the Civil Rights movement . . . The following statement is an exact copy from the "Guide To Subersive Organizations", published by The U.S. Un-American Activities Committee —:

"Mary McLeod Bethune was a leader in the Communist Party's activities in establishing Communist-front organizations throughout the United States."

The Un-American Activities Comm. "Index" revealed Mary McLeod Bethune was a founder and/or officer of TWENTY FOUR organizations cited as "Subersive" and "Communist-front". — This is a matter of public record.

Below the "Directors Committee" listing Reddick, the "Salute To St. Augustine" banquet invitation listed the group that sponsored the affair: "Florida Council On Human Relations, an affiliate of the Southern Regional Council".

The Southern Regional Council was cited as a subversive Communist-front organization by the Florida Legislative Investigation Committee. This is a matter of public record.

As previously stated — Reddick, a candidate for the Lauderdale City Commission, has been an active member of a subversive Communist-front organization.

If you want this sort of person running your city, I suggest you move to Moscow — and take Reddick with you.

JIM LEAVITT

I was among the manymany who were glad to learn commissioner Leavitt decided to have another goatit . . . Jim has always been one of the best-liked people around City Hall. In addition to being very personable, Leavitt's outstanding commission record proves he has dedicated himself to the best interests of the entire community, and has never failed to express his position on controversial issues.

LEAVITT

Leavitt's experience on the commission has evidenced the fact he is keenly aware of every aspect of the complexities involved in directing Lauderdale's ever-increasing economy . . . Jim has proved himself to be an accomplished businessman who believes in, and is capable of, building Lauderdale's future through intelligent and realistic planning

In my opinion, Jim Leavitt is one of the best things that can happen to Ft. Lauderdale.

THOMAS J. REDDICK

Reddick is a local negro attorney who shares the guinea pig support of the NAACP and the Communist-front group, "Florida Council On Human Relations" . . . Reddick's communist support cocked quiteafew eyebrows — Not many people know this isn't the first time Reddick has been associated with a Communist-front organization. He has been active in Red front group activities for several years.

It is a FACT Reddick's name was listed as a member of the "Director's Committee" that organized an "Award Banquet" held by a subversive group at the Reef Restaurant in Lauderdale on November 7, 1964 . . . The banquet's formal invitations listed the affair as "A Salute To St. Augustine". The "Salute" honored the various negroes who "distinguished" themselves during the savage race riots that succeeded in achieving Martin Luther King's promise to cripple the City of St. Augustine.

The highpoint of the "Salute" was the presentation of the "Mary McLeod Bethune Award" . . . Here is a brief background of M. M. Bethune:

SUBVERSIVE'S SUCKERPLAY

So Few Cause Such Trouble For So Many

The various news media continually try to beat each other to the draw with exclusive news. "IB's" pistolgrips are notched with many news "Firsts" that planted the local papers in journalism's "Boot Hill . . . This is another "Fastdraw First" — but for the first time, I wish there wasn't anything to shoot at. — It's usually elating to be first to whirl and fire, but this time "IB's" triggers were pulled with regret and disgust — because the "news target" is a loathsome thing.

For the first time in Lauderdale's history the City Commission seats are the targets of large Communist-front organization . . . Reports indicate a Communist organization is using the upcoming city election as a "Test Market" — to determine the most effective methods of coordinating local negro votes into a well organized "Black Bloc" that can be easily controlled and directed by two or three "key individuals."

Needless to say, if they accomplish their goal, the obedient "Black Bloc" would become a powerful political weapon . . . Such a weapon would place the entire city under the absolute rule of the negro's "key individuals". The "Black Bloc" would enable the negro leaders to establish political control — placing them in a position to make or break city laws according to their whim.

The "Black Bloc" is a weapon designed to create and enforce "Black Power" . . . This was graphically illustrated by the recent Bahamian elections that placed the entire Bahama government under the rule of the communist-supported "PLP negro party.

RED-BLACK BLOC BOOSTERS

"IB's" sources revealed the Fort Lauderdale "Black Bloc" test is financed by a $10,000 "grant from the "Florida Council On Human Relations" — The "test survey" is being conducted by agents of the "FCHR", working with members of the local NAACP.

What is the "Florida Council On Human Relations"? . . . Who are the memebrs? What do they represent?

The "Florida Council On Human Relations" is the largest Communist-front organization in Florida.

The "FCHR" is the Florida chapter of the original "Southern Conference For Human Welfare", which was cited as "Subversive" and "Communist" by U.S. Committee on Un-American Activities (Report 592 — June 16, 1947).

The following is an exact copy of the Un-American Activities Committee report on the parent organization of the group that is active in Ft. Lauderdale at this very moment:

"Cited as a Communist-front organization which seeks to attract Southern liberals on the basis of its seeming interest in the problems of the South. Its professed interest in southern welfare is simply an expedient for larger aims serving the Soviet Union and its subservient Communist Party of the United States."

(Ref. "Guide To Subversive Organizations & Publications" pp. 154)

The local chapter of the NAACP is tied closely to the "Fla. Council On Human Relations" "Communist-front group . . . Donald R. Hallock, (666 Intracoastal Dr., Ft. Lauderdale) proudly proclaims he is the "Public Relations Director" of the local NAACP. Hallock is continually in the company of Alcee Hastings, negro NAACP attorney, and Rev. Samuel George, Chairman of the local NAACP. — Hallock has helped in the NAACP attacks on the Broward School Board, and participated in the negro picket of the Lauderdale Police Station — Donald Hallock is white . . .

By his own public admission, the "White Knight" of the NAACP is also an active member of Communist-directed "FCHR" . . . In a "Letter To the Editor", published Feb. 13, 1966 on page "2-BR" of the Herald, Hallock stated he was an "officer" of the Florida Council On Human Relations.

Seems the "White Knight is a Red.

RED-BLACK PLAN

Surprisingly, the $10,000 "Black Bloc" experiment is not dedicated to electing negro candidates. The "Test Survey" has two primary objectives —

1) Determine how to capture the interest of all negro voters, and get them to vote.

2) Determine the most effective way to "channel" the negro votes to the "proper" candidates (Those selected by the Black Bloc boss).

STICK WITH IT — ON PAGE EIGHTEEN

FIVE-PRONGED ATTACK

A squad of well-heeled agents of the Red-run "FCHR", working with the local NAACP, set up the first phase of the "Test survey" — The "proper" (negro) candidates.

In order to motivate the interest of the majority of the negro community, the Black Bloc testers ordered not one or two, but FIVE negro candiadtes . . . The 5-candidates provide a multi-pronged attack by creating five active campaign groups, all beating the bushes for votes and stimulating election interest — for negro candidates . . . Seeing five black candidates on the ballot would give many negroes the impression (a fake one) they were "rising to challange the white rule" — (Very few would realize five candidates representing a minority could only result in a multi-split vote — defeating every candidate and destroying any chance their group may have had for a commission seat.)

The Bigmoney Black Bloc Bosses issued orders for five negro candidates . . . Five negro candidates obediently signed up — and began trying to convince someone they are qualified to run Lauderdale's complex, multi-million dollar city gov't.

While the five negro candidates are busy destroying each other as each trys to subdivide the limited number of negro votes — the henchmen of the Communist-directed "FCHR" will assist each negro group, recording and tabulating everything for their "test survey".

The results of the survey will be reviewed by the ilk of the Communist-front organization — then processed into a "Black Bloc" formula to be applied in other municipal elections . . . Once the Reds have perfected their "BB" formula, it will be employed to elect hand picked Communist-choice candidates in dozens of communities.

Although this "IB" article has exposed the well-guarded Communist activities in Lauderdale — there isn't anything anyone can do to stop it . . . The Red's "Black Bloc" pitch is not illegal.

This isn't a wildeyed yarn, planted "ultra Right-Wing" or "Anti-Negro" groups . . . It is not shallow speculation about something that might happen — It IS happening, RIGHT NOW!

Needless to say, if the stinking subversives attain their goal, the obedient "Black Bloc" would become a powerful political weapon . . . Such a weapon would place the city government under the absolute rule of the Black Bloc bosses. A matched set of the "Bloc's" handpicked politicos on the City Commission could run the entire community according to the whim of the "Black Bloc Boss."

It has been a genuine pleasure to expose the well-guarded Communist-directed activities currently operating throughout Lauderdale's negro community — I wonder what happened to the ever-vigilant "news hawks" of our "fearless" local tabloids? . . . Although the Rancid Red's "Black Bloc" campaign is not illegal, like all subversive opera-

"Love & Marriage": In my opinion, one makes the other endurable . . . "Love" is a swing-en thing, and I'm allfor "Marriage — particularly my parent's.

"Decline of Boxing": "Decline" is a weak descriptive adjective — "Desintegration" is closer to the point.

"Equality for Homosexuals": Equal to what? . . . I have no quarel with the limp-wristed Lavender Lads — as long as they stay outside Rap In The Mouth range.

"Ecumenical Council": The name is enough to convince me this outfit is way outta my league . . . I have a vague concept of the "E.C.", enough to know when to keep a civil pen in my hand.

"Pornograhpic Publications". To discuss this, one must first define "pornographic" — There are some who claim any picture or photo of an undraped fem is "porno" and should be banished. Taken literally, this "Bluenose" bit would padlock the Louve and cover the works of Rapheal, Michaelangelo and the masters who daubed battallions of bountifully endowed hefty nudes — some engaged in "questionable" activities, like "The Rape of the Sabines" . . .

At the opposite end of the sex spectrum are those who publish myriads of "girlie magazines" featuring nude and near-nude fems in various "suggestive" poses and situations . . . Included in the "modern" approach to "expression" are manuscripts constructed in "Basic Gutter" language, dealing with every conceivable aspect of sex, sadism and perversion.

These "masterpieces" are advanced under the guise of "free sexual expression" . . . I believe all visual material dealing with sex should be regulated by the general restraints excersized over "Freedom of Speech" history course, should know the world's great thinkers expound widely divergent theories, but they all agree on one point — "Man's Inhumanity To Man" is a basic human trait that has existed since the beginning of recorded time — and there are no indications of any change within the next few weeks . . . I confess my nature is not governed by the "Golden Rule" about "Turning the Other Cheek" — Experience with "Man" has proved one of my father's oft-repeated sayings I have since adopted as a code of conduct —: "If you must fight — then hit'em with everything you've got. Keep on fighting till there's no one left to fight — If you get whipped, then go down swinging!" . . . It's a rather ungrammatical axiom — but if you apply it, you will discover the results outweigh the awkward grammar . . . If "Man" is "In

The paper's failure to publicize the Communist-backed "Black Bloc" bid indicates the "Straightforward" newspapers were either unaware of the situation — or they knew about the Red-directed activities, and preferred not to interfere . . . The tabloids were therefore pathetically inept — or they were sympathetic to the subversive groups goals.

In my opinion, the alternatives are equally degrading insults to the journalistic profession.

The "Black Bloc" guinea pig candidates may attempt to create a commotion, but their individual chances of garnering a substantial vote tally are infinitesimal. (For the benefit of their "highly qualified" candidate, Edison Wheeler, that means your chances are "very small").

Two of the "civic minded troops of "Black Bloc'ers" have been definitely identified with subversive with subversive groups — Communist and, believe it or not, the bloodthirsty Black Muslims.

The current "Black Bloc" crop poses no immediate threat to the municipal govt. — but it is a grim indication of what to expect in the future . . . Next time the Red rot moves in on a Lauderdale election — it may not be a "Test Survey." Watch for them — They're watch-you.

Several people cautioned me against revealing the seamy antics of the Communist-front organization's part in the Lauderdale elections, reminding me that I was shot by a Mau Mau goon squad when "IB" was credited with having contributed to the humiliating defeat of an NAACP political candidate. (A local negro, Jessie Davis, was recently convicted and sentenced to serve five years in prison for the attempted assassination.)

Frankly, I don't give a damn if this article annoys the local NAACP, or sends their Communist pals into a frothy-mouthed rage . . . This article is designed to advise this community of a deliberate plot aimed at securing information that can be used by subversive elements to secure control of our city government. I believe Lauderdale's residents are entitled to know the truth. "IB" has supplied the facts — The residents will act or react as they see fit. Their reactions will be reflected at the polls.

If this meets with the disapproval of the "civic minded" Mau Maus and the Reds — That's a DAMN SHAME!

FRANK E. SMITH

KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE 37902

January 30, 1967

Mr. Guy L. Smith, Editor
The Knoxville Journal
210 Church Avenue, S. W.
Knoxville, Tennessee 37902

Dear Mr. Smith:

The Knoxville Journal for January 28, 1967, contains a news story on page one which includes a flagrant error which I hope will be corrected immediately. I refer to the story headed "Red-Rooted Council Aids Knox Group." The allegation that the Southern Regional Council was founded by James E. Jackson, an official of the Communist Party, is completely false.

The allegation is not only a reflection upon the present membership of the Southern Regional Council, of which I am a member, but a greater one upon a group of farsighted Southern leaders who helped found the Council during the period 1943-44. To your great credit, you were one of the leaders in this movement, together with some thirty-odd other prominent citizens of Knox County.

In October 1942, at the call of Dr. Gordon B. Hancock of the Virginia Union Theological Seminary at Richmond, Virginia, and Dr. P. B. Young, publisher of the Norfolk Journal and Guide, a group of Southern Negro leaders met in Durham, North Carolina, and issued an appeal for Southerners to take the lead in eliminating the racial inequities and injustice then prevailing.

To quote Virginius Dabney, editor of the Richmond, Virginia, Times-Dispatch, "responding to their appeal, a group of white leaders met in Atlanta in the spring of 1943, and expressed a desire to cooperate. Out of this grew the Southern Regional Council."

You and Mr. Dabney were among a large group of distinguished editors who signed the Atlanta statement which led to the creation of the Southern Regional Council.

The prominent Tennesseans among the signers included W. E. Brock of Chattanooga; A. D. Huddleston, Alcoa; Alfred Mynders, Chattanooga; William R. Webb of Bell Buckle; Bishop Paul B. Kern of Nashville; and J. H. Anderson, G. C. Bearden, J. Fred Bibb, William E. Cole, George R. Dempster, J. W. Elmore, Jr., Charles G. Kelly, Joe P. Kimsey, Hazen Kreis, Haskell M. Miller, Loye W. Miller, Neal B. Spahr, W. P. Taylor and Hu B. Webster of Knoxville.

Other prominent signers included Governor Colgate W. Darden and Douglas Southall Freeman of Virginia, Donald Comer of Alabama, James G. Hanes of North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Stevens and Mrs. W. H. Ratliff of Mississippi.

Mr. Dabney was one of the members of a subcommittee which met later with representatives of the Negro leaders and formed the plans which created a "continuing committee" which became in 1944 the Southern Regional Council. The incorporators were Arthur J. Moore, Methodist Bishop of Georgia; Ralph McGill; Dr. Rufus E. Clement; Dr. Charles S. Johnson; and Dr. Howard W. Odum. Dr. Odum was the first president of the Southern Regional Council, and the present president of the organization is John H. Wheeler, a bank president of Durham, North Carolina.

When the allegation was made some ten years ago that James E. Jackson was a co-founder of the Southern Regional Council,

Mr. Guy L. Smith January 30, 1967

Mr. Dabney published a vigorous denial, speaking as one who was intimately familiar with the beginnings of the organization. To quote part of his statement: "Jackson did not participate in the meetings of white and Negro leaders in 1943 and 1944 which led to the establishment of the Southern Regional Council, and he was not at any time an officer, director, or member of that agency."

Attached to this letter are copies of Mr. Dabney's editorial and a copy of the statement which resulted from the Atlanta meetings, together with a list of the signers.

I very sincerely request that this correction be carried promptly, and given equal space and similar page one prominence as the erroneous story of January 28.

Cordially,

Frank E. Smith

The Atlanta Conference Statement:

Statement of Conference of White Southerners on Race Relations*

Atlanta, Georgia
April 8, 1943

IN OCTOBER, 1942, a representative group of Southern Negro leaders met in Durham, N. C., and issued a statement in which they addressed themselves "to the current problems of racial discrimination and neglect, and to ways in which we may cooperate in the advancement of programs aimed at the sound improvement of race relations, within the democratic framework."

Their statement is so frank and courageous, or free from any suggestion of threat and ultimatum, and at the same time shows such good will, that we gladly agree to cooperate.

We do not attempt to make here anything like a complete reply to the questions raised nor to offer solutions for all the vexing problems. We hope, however, to point the pathway for future cooperative efforts and to give assurance of our sincere good will and desire to cooperate in any sound program aimed at the improvement of race relations.

These Negro leaders rightly placed emphasis in their statement on discrimination in the administration of our laws on purely racial grounds. We are sensitive to this charge and admit that it is essentially just. From the Potomac to the Rio Grande there are some ten million Negroes. While all citizens are governed by the same laws, it is recognized that Negroes have little voice in the making and enforcement of the laws under which they must live. They are largely dependent upon the will of the majority group for the safety of life and property, education and health, and their general economic condition. This is a violation of the spirit of democracy. No Southerner can logically dispute the fact that the Negro, as an American citizen, is entitled to his civil rights and economic opportunities.

The race problem in any Southern community is complicated by our economic limitations. The factors which have kept the South a tributary section have also kept it poor and lacking in sufficient industry to develop and to provide enough jobs and enough public funds for every public need. Yet the only justification offered for those laws which have for their purpose the separation of the races is that they are intended to minister to the welfare and integrity of both races. There has been widespread and inexcusable discrimination in the administration of these laws. The white Southerner has an obligation to interest himself in the legitimate aspirations of the Negro. This means correcting the discrimination between the races in the allocation of school funds; in the number and quality of schools, and in the salaries of teachers. In public travel where the law demands a separation of the races, primary justice and a simple sense of fair play demand the facilities for safety, comfort, and health should be equal. The distribution of public utilities and public benefits, such as sewers, water, housing, street and sidewalk paving, playgrounds, public health, and hospital facilities should come to the Negro upon the basis of population and need.

It is recognized that there is often practical discrimination by some peace officers and in some courts in the treatment of Negro prisoners and in the abrogation of their civil rights. There is no such discrimination incorporated in the laws of any of the Southern states. False arrests, brutal beatings and other evils must be stopped.

In the economic field, unquestionably procedures should be undertaken to establish fully the right to receive equal pay for equal work. To do otherwise works a wrong to our entire economic life and to our self respect. With so large a proportion of our wage-earning population belonging to the minority race, if we cannot plan for a well-trained, well-employed, and prosperous Negro population, the economic future of the South is hopeless.

Most of the Negroes in the South are on farms and in rural communities. Failure to provide for them all the facilities for improving agricultural practices through schools, county agents, and supervision holds back all of the South. Fair wages, longer tenures of leases, and increased opportunities for farm ownership are also necessary.

All men who believe in justice, who love peace, and who believe in the meaning of this country are under the necessity of working together to draw off from the body of human society the poison of racial antagonism. This is one of the disruptive forces which unless checked will ultimately disturb and threaten the stability of the nation. Either to deny or to ignore the increased tension between the white and the colored races would be a gesture of insincerity.

That there are acute and intricate problems associated with two races living side by side in the South cannot be denied. But these problems can be solved and will ultimately disappear if they are brought out into an atmosphere of justice and good will. If we approach them with contempt in one group and with resentment in the other group, then we work on hopeless terms. The solution of these problems can be found only in men of both races who are known to be men of determined good will. The ultimate solution will be found in evolutionary methods and not in ill-founded revolutionary movements which promise immediate solutions.

We agree with the Durham Conference that it is "unfortunate that the simple efforts to correct obvious social and economic injustices continue, with such considerable popular support, to be interpreted as the predatory ambition of irresponsible Negroes to invade the privacy of family life." We agree also that "it is a wicked notion that the struggle by the Negro for citizenship is a struggle against the best interests of the nation. To urge such a doctrine, as many are doing, is to preach disunity, and to deny the most elementary principles of American life and government."

It is futile to imagine or to assert that the problem will solve itself. The need is for a positive program arrived at in an atmosphere of understanding, cooperation and a mutual respect.

Southern Regional Council

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

OF

HON. RICHARD BOLLING

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, March 2, 1959

Mr. BOLLING. Mr. Speaker, a sense of fairness impels me to insert the following editorials from two respected southern papers. These editorials from the Richmond Times-Dispatch and the Chattanooga Times discuss certain attacks on the good name of the Southern Regional Council and deserve the careful attention of every fairminded citizen regardless of his views:

[From the Richmond Times-Dispatch, Aug. 21, 1958]

A RACE AGENCY AND THE FACTS

Inaccurate statements as to its origins of the Southern Regional Council of Atlanta appeared recently in the Times-Dispatch, and should be corrected. They appeared—inadvertently, we are sure—in one of the series of articles by Edward B. Simmons, of the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times, concerning Communist efforts to incite racial strife in the United States.

Mr. Simmons stated in the article appearing in our paper on August 5 that the Southern Regional Council, established in Atlanta in 1944, was an "offshoot of the old Southern Conference for Human Welfare, which was dissolved in 1948 after twice being described by the Federal Government as Communist front." He also said: "The Communist Daily Worker openly boasted that James E. Jackson, chief of the southern branch of the U S. Communist Party, was a cofounder of the regional council."

Taking these two charges in order, the Southern Regional Council was not an offshoot of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. It was established in response to an appeal from respected southern Negro leaders, who met at Durham, N.C., in October 1942, on the call of Dr. Gordon B. Hancock, of the Virginia Union faculty here, and Dr. P. B. Young, of Norfolk, publisher of the Norfolk Journal and Guide. These Negro leaders did not ask for the elimination of segregation in the schools or anywhere else; they asked that "separate but equal" be made a reality.

Responding to their appeal, a group of white leaders met in Atlanta in the spring of 1943, and expressed a desire to cooperate. Out of this grew the Southern Regional Council. The council was the successor to the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, founded in 1919 by leading churchmen. To repeat, it not only was no offshoot of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare; it was criticized in some quarters because it was more conservative than that organization and suspected of being in competition with it.

We must remember, too, that when the Southern Conference for Human Welfare was established in 1938, it was not suspected of having any Communist connections, and many well intentioned and patriotic southerners participated in its early meetings. A number of these later joined the Southern Regional Council when they discovered the true purposes of the Conference for Human Welfare.

As to the allegation of the Communist Daily Worker that James E. Jackson, chief of the southern branch of the U.S. Communist Party, was a cofounder of the Southern Regional Council, there is nothing to support this.

A James E. Jackson is listed as having attended the Durham meeting of Negro leaders in October 1942, but is not mentioned by the Norfolk Journal and Guide as having been on the committee which drew up the statement then issued. Jackson did not participate in the meetings of white and Negro leaders in 1943 and 1944 which led to the establishment of the Southern Regional Council, and he was not at any time an officer, director, or member of that agency. The Daily Worker's statement that he was a founder is as unreliable and inaccurate as nearly everything else in that Communist sheet.

The late Dr. Howard W. Odum, noted and respected member of the University of North Carolina faculty, was the first president of the council. He was succeeded in 1945 by Paul D. Williams, prominent Catholic layman of Richmond and cofounder of the Catholic Committee of the South, who served until 1951. Mr. Williams was succeeded in that year by Marion A. Wright, South Carolina attorney, former chairman of the South Carolina Library Board and past president of the University of South Carolina Alumni Association.

It should be emphasized that SRC worked within the framework of "separate but equal" for 7 years, and did not announce for integration until 1951.

While we disagree strongly and completely with its present position on this issue, we feel obligated to point out, in fairness, that it was in no sense Communist in its origins. The Southern Regional Council was established because of a sincere desire on the part of white and Negro leaders in the South to eliminate many of the disabilities and discriminations from which Negroes were suffering.

It was hoped that if these could be substantially lessened, the colored South would not look to the colored North for leadership. Insufficient progress was made, unfortunately, and the NAACP moved in and launched its drive for the complete elimination of segregation—sooner than it probably would have done if SRC's accomplishments had been larger.

That is where we stand today.

[From the Chattanoga (Tenn.) Times, Dec. 20, 1958]

MATTHEWS AND THE SRC

The Arkansas Legislative Council, concluding that a Communist plot is substantially responsible for the Little Rock desegregation crisis, has aired some charges so grossly unjust as to recall the McCarthyist nightmare.

There was J. B. Matthews, himself a former Communist-front leader, declaring that the Southern Regional Council had Red sympathizers in its ranks.

Just 20 years ago, Mr. Matthews was accusing Shirley Temple of aiding the Bolsheviks. The former chief counsel of the Dies committee is primarily remembered, however, for his July 1953 article in the American Mercury labeling "at least 7,000 Protestant clergymen" as "party members, fellow travelers, espionage agents, partyline adherents, and unwilling dupes." The protest, from President Eisenhower and others, was so strong that Senator Joe McCarthy, who by then had carried his campaign of vilification directly to the White House, was forced to fire Mathews, whom he had just hired as executive director of his subcommittee.

In the Little Rock hearings, other familiar names in the business of smear were trotted out. The Southern Regional Council was a frequent target, though no one dared go so far as to impugn its motives as a whole.

The SRC, as is well known, is made up of foremost southern educators, clergymen, business, labor, and professional leaders. A discussion and research group, it was organized in 1943, as a result of Negro leaders' efforts to see that the "separate but equal" doctrine in southern education be made a reality. It grew also out of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, founded in 1919 by leading churchmen.

Since then it has favored gradual compliance with the Supreme Court's decision, but even so staunchly segregationist a newspaper as the Richmond Times-Dispatch recently said: "The Southern Regional Council was established because of a sincere desire on the part of white and Negro leaders in the South to eliminate many of the disabilities and discriminations from which Negroes were suffering."

Now the Arkansas Legislative Council, with never a peep about the role of its own Governor Faubus, concludes on the word of former Communists, who are professional name-callers, and others, most of them from out of the region, that little more than a Red plot is the cause of their difficulties.

THE SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL

Origins and Aims—Report on Negro Voters

SPEECH

HON. PAUL H. DOUGLAS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

Friday, July 26, 1957

Mr. DOUGLAS. Mr. President, at various times in the past I have quoted the publications of the Southern Regional Council. The Southern Regional Council is composed entirely of southerners, men and women of good will of both races in the South. It is in no sense a lobbying organization. I have been able to obtain material it provides through the Library of Congress, at my request.

I think the statement which has been prepared on the origins and aims of the Southern Regional Council should be printed in the RECORD at this point so as to indicate the high qualifications of the council and its emotional attachment to the South. So I ask unanimous consent, Mr. President, that the statement be printed in the RECORD at this point.

There being no objection, the statement was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

THE SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL: A BRIEF ACCOUNT OF ITS ORIGINS AND AIMS, APRIL 1956

"The South of the future toward which our efforts are directed, is a South freed of stultifying inheritances from the past. It is a South where the measure of a man will be his ability, not his race; where a common citizenship will work in democratic understanding for the common good; where all who labor will be rewarded in proportion to their skill and achievement; where all can feel confident of personal safety and equality before the law; where there will exist no double standard in housing, health, education, or other public services; where segregation will be recognized as a cruel and needless penalty on the human spirit, and will no longer be imposed; where, above all, every individual will enjoy a full share of dignity and self-respect, in recognition of his creation in the image of God." (From a Statement of Policy and Aims of the Southern Regional Council (1951).)

SRC AND THE COMMISSION ON INTERRACIAL COOPERATION

The Southern Regional Council and its predecessor, the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, have a history of 35 years of constructive activity.

In the troubled days following World War I, race conflict and the lawlessness of terror organizations reached such proportions that the need for new techniques of restoring harmony could not be ignored. To meet this need, interracial committees were formed in cities and towns throughout the South. It was found that by bringing together influential members of both races grievances could be aired, mutual problems discussed, and a meeting of minds effected. This method had such beneficial results that interracial committees became an established part of the life of the South in the early twenties. Their influence became southwide through the formation of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, a central organization with headquarters in Atlanta.

The commission was founded in 1919 by a group of the South's leading church men and women. Among them were Dr. M. Ashby Jones, prominent Baptist minister, Dr. John Hope, president of Atlanta University, Mr. John J. Eagan, businessman and philanthropist, Dr. Plato Durham, dean of the Emory University Theology School, Dr. Robert Moton, president of Tuskegee Institute, and Dr. Will W. Alexander, the commission's director. Its work in behalf of sound race relations was acclaimed by the South's leading newspapers, religious leaders, and by many public officials.

The commission helped organize, extend, and guide the work of State and local interracial committees. It assisted them in making their influence felt by newspapers, civil authorities, churches, school officials, police administrators, and health officers. It gave much attention to factual analysis of the problem of lynching and other forms of interracial violence. Its auxiliary, the Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, under the direction of Mrs. Jessie Daniel Ames, did much to educate public opinion in the causes and possible remedies for such violence.

From these early activities, the commission built up a body of acquaintance and confidence that has been an increasing asset through the years. The traditional barrier between the races was broken down to allow an interchange of ideas and mutual trust. The notion of cooperative action by people of good will, both white and Negro, took root and has continued to grow. In its 25 years of operation, the commission made the meeting of white and Negro citizens for the discussion of common problems an accepted practice almost everywhere in the South. It marshalled thousands of southern church people in opposition to lynching and other injustices, brought new light to bear on race relations, issued 2 million copies of pamphlets and leaflets, and symbolized the faith of the southern white people and Negro people in the processes of mutual agreement and cooperation.

Transition to SRC

In 1939 the leaders of the commission began to explore the possibility of expanding the activities of the organization to permit a broader approach to the problems of the South. In October, 1940, the commission instructed its executive committee to "take whatever steps are necessary to carry out the plans for the formation of a council on southern regional development," which would include in its program "the work of the commission and other activities connected with the economic, educational, and social development of the South."

Meanwhile the efforts of other progressive southerners were leading them to a similar purpose. The first movement in that direction took place when a group of southern Negro leaders met in Durham, N. C., on October 20, 1942, to set forth just what the Negro wants and is expecting of the postwar South and Nation, and to enlist the aid of interested white southerners. The result of this historic conference was a comprehensive statement covering the following areas: Political and civil rights, industry and labor, service occupations, education, agriculture, military service, and social welfare and health. Many social thinkers regarded the Durham statement as the most hopeful pronouncement on race relations that had come out of the South in the last 75 years.

In April 1943 a group of southern white leaders met in Atlanta to consider the statement of the Durham conference. These white leaders found the statement so frank and courageous, so free from any suggestion of threat and ultimatum, and so demonstrative of good will, that they gladly pledged their cooperation. "The need," they concluded, "is for a positive program arrived at in an atmosphere of understanding, cooperation, and mutual respect."

SRC organized

Representatives of both the Durham and Atlanta conferences met in Richmond in June 1943, to work out further details. The Durham statement was adopted as a general guide to action, and a continuing committee was appointed to devise practical means of approach. The organizing meeting of the council was held in response to a call issued by some of the South's finest leadership, including C. H. Gillman, Georgia director, CIO; George L. Googe, southern director, AFL; M. Ashby Jones, Baptist minister; Ryland Knight, Baptist minister; Rabbi David Marx, The Temple, Atlanta; Bishop Arthur J. Moore, the Methodist Church; Ralph McGill, editor, the Atlanta Constitution; Stuart R. Oglesby, Presbyterian minister; Most Rev. Gerald P. O'Hara, bishop of Savannah-Atlanta; Dean S. Paden, president, King Hardware Co.; J. McDowell Richards, president, Columbia Theological Seminary; Bishop John Moore Walker, the Protestant Episcopal Church; Goodrich C. White, president, Emory University.

Following the deliberations of this group and a subsequent conference with southern Negro leaders, the SRC was chartered early in 1944. The incorporators were Bishop Arthur J. Moore; Ralph McGill; Dr. Rufus E. Clement, president of Atlanta University; Dr. Charles S. Johnson, president of Fisk University; and Dr. Howard W. Odum, professor of sociology at the University of North Carolina. At the charter meeting, the Commission on Interracial Cooperation met and formally merged its program and assets with those of the council. A strong and democratic council had been established to attain through research and action the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the region.

Since this auspicious beginning, the council's membership has included distinguished southerners, white and Negro, in all walks of life. Dr. Odum was the first president of the organization. He was succeeded by Paul D. Williams, of Richmond, Va., a prominent Catholic layman and cofounder of the Catholic Committee of the South. Mr. Williams served as president for 6 years—from 1945 until 1951. He was succeeded by Mr. Marion A. Wright, widely known as a South Carolina attorney active in civic and educational affairs, now living in Linville Falls, N. C.

How SRC works

The Southern Regional Council consists of a board of some 80 southerners representing the major religious faiths, both races, and the 13 States of the region. These people are the Southern Regional Council. They make the policies and review all activities at an annual meeting. They elect an executive committee which meets at least every 3 months to give closer direction to the organization. And full reports of all activities are sent to the members quarterly. The council is nonprofit, nonpolitical, and nondenominational.

Financial support for the council has come from many different individuals and organizations. Some of the organizations are: the Julius Rosenwald Fund, General Education Board, the Fund for the Republic, Division of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church, Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, Phelps-Stokes Fund, Catholic Committee of the South, Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Ashby Jones Memorial Fund, Committee on Woman's Work of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Marshall Field Foundation, the Doris Duke Foundation, various trade unions, and some business firms. Individuals support the council through contributions, legacies, and payment of membership dues.

What SRC does

The council's present functions may be summarized as follows: (1) Clearinghouse and coordinating work with numerous agencies working on southern problems; (2) research and survey to determine the facts and the state of public opinion as a basis for sound social action; (3) educational activities through a monthly bulletin, the New South, and through pamphlets, press, radio, television, conferences, and personal contacts; (4) consultative services to private and official agencies; (5) promotion of specific programs of action through the council staff and affiliated State organizations.

Following are some of the areas with which the SRC's educational program has been concerned:

Employment of Negro policemen in southern communities.

Newspaper handling of racial news.

Community self-surveys, in which local people of both races study their problems as a basis for achieving local solutions.

Conferences of leading white and Negro southerners with common concerns and a common desire to further democratic practices in their areas of interest—religion, health, housing, education, etc.

Voluntary decisions to open professional associations, private colleges, public libraries, and the like to all qualified persons without respect to race.

The right to vote without racial discrimination or intimidation.

Impartial enforcement of the law and administration of justice in the South.

Orderly compliance at the community level with the recent decisions of the Supreme Court holding public school segregation unconstitutional.

Church support

Church people have always been the moving force in the southern interracial movement. This is as true today as it was 35 years ago. All of the major religious groups represented in the South have taken their stand in favor of the principle embodied in the Supreme Court's segregation ruling. The Court ruling was endorsed by the Southern Baptist Convention, many of the southern conferences of the Methodist Church, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church (southern), the Province of Sewanee (southeastern) of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Catholic Bishops of the South, the various Jewish religious and fraternal groups, and virtually all of the other denominations found in the South. It is only natural that many religious southerners should seek to put the principles of their faith into everyday practice.

The Southern Regional Council and the affiliated State groups have enjoyed both financial and moral support from religious bodies representing the three major faiths.

Dr. George S. Mitchell, executive director of the council, received the 1953 annual award of the Catholic committee of the South "for his significant contribution to the welfare of the South."

Affiliated State organizations

With the aid of a grant from the Fund for the Republic, the Southern Regional Council is assisting interracial organizations in 12 Southern States—Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia. Each of these organizations has its own membership, officers, and staff. In each case, people of the State involved make their own decisions as to policy and program. Affiliation with the Southern Regional Council is voluntary, and the purpose of the short-term financial aid from SRC is to help the State groups become strong, self-sustaining human relations agencies.

Toward the South of the future

The Southern Regional Council's main asset is and has always been those southerners who believe deeply in democratic practices, and who know firsthand the problems of the region. On such people rest the hopes of the South. They have wanted a regional organization, not out of any provincial desire to separate the South's problems from the Nation's, but out of the conviction that such an organization has unique advantages. It can express the best and often neglected elements of Southern thought and conscience; it can serve as a convincing demonstration of southerners working together as fellow citizens without regard to race; and it can tap local resources and initiative often inaccessible to national groups.

The Southern Regional Council and its affiliates seek to be practical organizations, aiming at working solutions rather than spectacular pronouncements. They hold the belief that every community must ultimately find its own answers within the framework of law and conscience. They offer no master blueprint, no sovereign remedy for the South's human problems. But they do offer a method—that of representative citizens, white and Negro, coming together in equal dignity to find the best ways to move ahead.

Mr. DOUGLAS. Mr. President, following the statement with respect to the Southern Regional Council, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the body of the RECORD a most extraordinarily able survey the Southern Regional Council has made, which is just off the press, under date of July 18, 1957. Again I wish to emphasize I have obtained the material at my request from the Library of Congress to show that it was in no sense forced upon me, so to speak.

The survey deals State by State with the various ways in which Negroes are prevented from voting in the South. I highly commend this factual account to the Members of the Senate, as we debate part IV of the bill.

There being no objection, the survey was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

THE NEGRO VOTER IN THE SOUTH—PART OF A REPORT OF A SURVEY BY THE SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL

(Furnished on his request to Senator DOUGLAS by the Library of Congress, Legislative Reference Service)

DISCRIMINATION AND INTIMIDATION

Just as the main segregationist movement has switched from the white sheet of the Ku Klux Klan to the white collar of the citizens council, so has the pattern of discrimination against the Negro southerner changed in recent years.

In no field is this gradual shift to subtler methods seen more clearly than in a study of Negro registration and voting. Killings, beatings, the dragging of Negroes from their homes in the middle of the night—these are now rare occurrences, compared to previous decades.

Overt violence is, in brief, the exception rather than the rule for racist dealing with assertive Negro citizens. The threat of violent tactics, however, is kept alive in some areas by anonymous telephone calls to Negro leaders. Crosses still are burned, jobs threatened. Occasionally, homes are shot into or bombed.

But, today, with less obvious means employed generally, Negroes interested in voting are far more likely to be barred by a question on the Constitution than by a rope or whip.

Alabama

The Alabama consultant directed a field survey in each of the counties in his State. According to these reports:

Negroes might be treated courteously, as in Bullock County, Ala., where the board of registrars has received Negro applicants pleasantly, let them fill out forms, then told them they didn't pass—with no reasons given. In this county, with 5,423 Negroes of voting age, only 6 were registered in the summer of 1956. In 1953, more than 100 attempted to register; in 1955, only 20 even tried, and of these 19 were refused. One of the six registered succeeded only on his seventh trip to the board.

In other counties of central Alabama, like Bullock, Negroes encounter greater difficulty. This is the black-belt section of the State, so-called because of the dark rich soil, an area where 15 counties have populations over 50 percent Negro.

Among these is Dallas, where only 275 of the 18,132 Negroes of voting age are registered.[1] In 1956 alone, at least 350 were turned down. Some reported that they filled out questionnaires 3 or 4 times but still were not sent registration certificates. Many reported they were given no help in filling out forms although white applicants were. One Negro teacher who registered was fired allegedly for being "too smart;" this frightened many other teachers.

Marengo, another county in the Alabama black belt, simply seems to have stopped registering Negroes. Of 10,223 eligible, 170 were registered before the Supreme Court decision calling for an end to segregated schools. This, plus formation of a local citizens council, is reported to have hardened the lines of white resistance to Negro equality and to have put the brakes on Negro registration.

In Monroe County, Ala., where 140 of the 5,914 Negroes of voting age are registered, other hopeful applicants said more often than not they found the board of registrars had "misplaced the application forms" or told them to return later. Registrars in Hale County, where 130 of 7,036 eligible Negroes are on the voting roll, have turned down 300 in the past 2 years for "failure to fill out forms correctly."

One Negro teacher in Alabama said she was refused because she didn't know the address of her estranged husband. Many Alabama boards require two voters to vouch for all Negro applicants and some require Negroes to produce white character witnesses. Registrars in one county where about 2 percent of nearly 7,000 Negroes over 21 have registered announced that a "good white man" must accompany Negro applicants.

In a black-belt county which is somewhat less than 50 percent Negro, registrars closed their office when a group of Negroes appeared. Other Negro applicants said they were told when the board would meet but then found no one present on arrival. A Negro leader who encouraged other Negroes to vote reported he was threatened anonymously by telephone and told to stop his activities or he would be run out of town. Only about 200 of over 5,000 Negroes have registered.

A Negro leader in Coosa County, Ala., also said he was threatened. Crosses were burned in front of the homes of two leaders of a Negro voters' drive in Choctow County. In the latter, 112 of 4,819 Negroes of voting age are registered; 28 said they were turned down on their first try, but accepted the second time. Most of those initially refused are teachers; maids and yardmen have found it somewhat easier to enroll.

Birmingham and surrounding Jefferson County present one of the gloomiest pictures for Negroes in the South. In no other major city of the region has it been so difficult for them to vote. Only about 7,000 of 121,510 Negroes over 21 are registered; at least that many more have been turned down. Instead of the standard form and the character witnesses, Jefferson County registrars have employed another method unique in the State: Added questions about government. They might ask on what date the 10th amendment to the Constitution became effective, what was the 14th State to be admitted to the Union, on what date did Oklahoma change from a territory to a State? They have recognized no limits to their power to interrogate. While Negroes have been the board's main target, white union members, particularly if they wear overalls or work clothes, have reported that they sometimes find registration difficult or impossible. Negroes appearing before the board often have been questioned for from 35 to 40 minutes; they have had to line up separately, and the longer the line the longer the questioning.

Strong, in his study of Jefferson County, described the method used by registrars to avoid suits with the following hypothetical case: a person who failed to satisfy the board was told orally he did not qualify; the applicant then secured an attorney and filed a suit, which was a signal for the board to register the plaintiff. His suit collapsed and no court has an opportunity to pass on section 33 of the Alabama Code and the "qualified to register" phrase.[2]

In Macon County, Ala., home of famed Tuskegee Institute, many college trained Negroes have found the barriers impregnable. Negroes outnumber white persons about 5 to 1; of the 14,526 of voting age, 1,100 have registered. By contrast, the Associated Press reported in April 1956, that 2,700 out of a total Macon County white population of 5,000 had registered, or that fewer than 100 white persons over 21 had failed to do so. An Alabama observer said that the board of registrars would sit until all white citizens interested had registered and then resign. In any event, for the major part of 1956, there was no board in the county, for 2 of the 3 members resigned and it takes at least 2 to transact business. This was at least the third time in a decade this had happened.

North Carolina

In North Carolina, as in other States with literacy laws, the registrar has considerable latitude. He can have the applicant copy indicated sections of the State constitution or he can dictate. Some Negroes have protested the use of dictation, since a registrar often reads too fast or uses a particularly difficult section. However, the State board of elections has upheld a registrar's right to use this means of testing.

A Negro attorney in a rural eastern county of North Carolina said that in certain precincts of this and adjoining counties, "It takes a white man only a few minutes to get registered, but it may take an hour for a Negro. Actually, the latter is given an academic rather than a literacy test. In this county, the tests are tough and the literacy rate low, which doubly handicaps the Negro. The tests given here actually require an interpretation of law."

A Negro college graduate in North Carolina who attempted to register for the May 1956, primary said he was turned down because he could not write a section of the State constitution from memory. Some registrars who want to disqualify Negroes have asked for a definition of such words as "ordained," "sovereignty," "posterity," etc. The replies often do not satisfy the registrar.

But there are counties throughout the State, including the rural piedmont and eastern sections, where literacy requirements are ignored for anyone, white or Negro, who wants to register. In others, only Negroes are required to do some reading. In some rural North Carolina counties, Negroes can register with a minimum of trouble only if sponsored by white persons.

Louisiana

Louisiana applicants for registration have been given a rather complicated form and the law has barred any help in filling it out. In most instances, completion is regarded as evidence of literacy although the registrar may, if he wishes, examine an applicant. There has been wide variation in the practice of helping applicants and in the strictness with which forms are scrutinized for mistakes. In some parishes, Negroes have found it almost impossible to satisfy the high standards demanded of them. In others, both Negroes and whites have been permitted to copy from previously completed forms and mistakes have been overlooked.

If a person is unable to complete the form satisfactorily, he still may qualify in some parts of Louisiana. In a number of parishes many white and Negro illiterates have registered under the physical disability provision of the State constitution. This makes it possible in some instances to control their ballot, because such registrants are entitled to ask for assistance in voting. Practice varies widely with respect to registration of illiterates but, as a rule, where literate Negroes have found it easy to qualify, illiterate Negroes also have met few obstacles.

Under one Louisiana statute which adds to the difficulties of Negro voting, two bona fide registered voters can challenge by affidavit the right of a person to be registered. The person challenged has to respond within 10 days by appearing before the registrar to prove his right to remain on the voting list. If a person fails to appear, his name is removed automatically. Citizens council groups have purged several hundred Negroes from voting lists through this device in more than a dozen parishes, including Natchitoches, Webster, and La Salle. They are able to learn which Negroes have registered under another Louisiana law which permits any 25 registered voters, by application, to copy or photostat registration records.

The Colfax Chronicle, county weekly of Grant Parish, reported (October 12, 1956) that members of the citizens council worked in the registrar's office that week in a frank effort to disfranchise the county's 864 Negro voters. The Chronicle also reported:

Their action followed a White Citizens Council meeting in Dry Prong attended by State Senator William Rainach and other Louisiana segregation advocates. W. J. B. Jones of Colfax County, WCC president, said the group voted unanimously to try to purge Negro voters. Louis Earl Stevens, council secretary, subsequently estimated that at least 90 percent of the Negro registrants were challenged in Grant Parish.

Where, instead of writing out colored on registration blanks the applicant simply put "C," the applications were challenged as being incorrect. Each Negro's age in years, days, and months was refigured and often found off by a day or so. The Chronicle checked the first 100 white registrations in one ward and found only one card which would meet the standards set by the WCC for Negroes. Four, including the superintendent of schools, figured their ages incorrectly. In a further check, the Chronicle discovered that not a single member of a citizens council committee had filled in correctly all the blanks. Needless to say, only the Negroes were challenged. Of the more than 700 Negroes purged 2 weeks before the November general election, 399 had cleared the challenges a week before the deadline.

The Chronicle commended Registrar Maxine Mosley for her fairness in dealing with the Negroes challenged.

Not all members of the white community supported the purge effort. District Attorney Sam L. Wells said he would be a witness and sign affidavits for those challenged registrants whose place of residence he knew of his own personal knowledge. J. M. Straughan of route 8, Colfax, wrote the Chronicle:

"I'm a southerner born and raised right here in central Louisiana and I am opposed to integration as strongly as any southerner could be. But what has integration got to do with the removal of Negroes from the registration rolls. I for one, will be glad to sign an affidavit for those colored voters I know to help keep them from being imposed on."

On February 25, 1957, the Justice Department made public some FBI findings on registration of Negroes in Louisiana. Assistant Attorney General Warren Olney III, said the FBI material indicated that testimony by Louisiana Attorney General Jack P. Gremillion to a House Judiciary Subcommittee "might have left a misleading impression in a number of respects." Olney's statement was in a letter to Chairman EMANUEL CELLER, Democrat, of New York, who presided at hearings in which Gremillion testified against the Eisenhower administration's civil-rights proposals.[8]

Olney said that Gremillion had mentioned "some difficulty with respect to voting" in Ouachita Parish, but contended this was "more or less an exception."

In fact, Olney asserted, the FBI investigated the handling of registrations in 10 Louisiana parishes and found that 8,552 Negroes were challenged when they tried to register in 1956.

Olney said that in Ouachita Parish there were some 4,000 registered Negro voters in the early fall of 1956 but that after a purge in October "there were in excess of 3,000 Negro voters deprived of the right to vote in the general election of November 6."

The Justice Department official challenged a number of Gremillion's statements, including his claim that registrants had a free choice in selecting the section of the United States Constitution they wished to interpret as part of their test.

"In none of the 10 parishes is there any evidence that the registrar permitted the applicant to choose which clause of the Constitution he wished to interpret," Olney said.

"Specifically, in the case arising from Ouachita Parish, the investigation by the FBI disclosed that the registrar of voters in examining applicants used a card on which was written an excerpt from the Constitution, which card was given to the registrar by the Citizens Council of Ouachita Parish."

Gremillion had told the committee that when a registered voter was challenged, the registrar sent a record of the challenge to the registrant, including a reply form, giving him 10 days to appear and establish his right to remain on the rolls by presenting statements from three voters registered in the same parish.

Olney said this did not appear to be the general practice in the parishes investigated. In six, he added, registrars "did everything to discourage the filing of reply affidavits in the statutory form and generally refused them when offered." He told Chairman CELLER that the FBI found instances of registrars refusing to accept white persons as supporting witnesses for Negroes on grounds they were of a different race.

There appeared to be a concerted effort in October 1956 by white citizens councils in Louisiana and other Southern States to get Negro registrants off the rolls or to prevent their registration, Olney added.

"With respect only to cases which have been investigated by the FBI," he continued, "the following numbers of Negro voters were challenged in each of the following parishes:

"Bienville, 560; Caldwell, 330; De Soto, 383; Grant, 758; Jackson, 953; La Salle, 345; Lincoln, 326; Ouachita, 3,240; Rapides, 1,058; and Union, 600."

However, there still are areas in Louisiana where there are no Negro registrants to challenge. For example, in one parish, which is over 50 percent Negro, none of the 4,500 Negroes of voting age had registered at the time of the 1956 general election. Only one had tried in recent years. A local priest recounted the Negro's experience: when he appeared, the registrar immediately took him to the sheriff, who asked, "Aren't you happy here? Is something wrong with the way things operate around here? If you aren't happy perhaps we could arrange for you to leave." The hapless Negro promptly assured the sheriff of his happiness and allowed that his attempt to register had been a tragic mistake. He remained in the community but his wife lost her job.

There are no Negroes registered in Tensas, East Carroll, Madison, and West Feliciana Parishes, all counties with populations over 50 percent Negro. "In these parishes," the Louisiana consultant said, "subterfuge is unnecessary to discourage Negro registration. Negroes know they should not and cannot register and therefore rarely attempt to do so."

In the general election in November 1956 Louisiana voters defeated a proposed constitutional amendment designed to help the Citizens Council cut Negro voting even more. The measure was drafted by the legislative watchdog committee on segregation which previously had won approval easily for its proposals. The amendment, which was turned down by an unofficial total of 190,410 to 178,833, required certain administrative steps before a voter losing his registration could take the matter into court. Thus, said the Associated Press in a dispatch from Baton Rouge, it would have set up "administrative barriers to a Federal court action."

South Carolina

In South Carolina the prevalence of discriminatory tactics in some counties where Negroes are in the majority is quite evident. Registration books are moved from place to place to keep Negroes from getting a certificate; they are given literacy tests that have little to do with reading and writing the State constitution, as required by South Carolina law; Negroes complain that if a number go together to register in some counties, clerks will pass only one or two and tell the rest the books are closed for the day. In a few counties, Negroes who had been certified have complied with demands of employers and other white persons that they remove their names from registration books. Some have said they were threatened with harm for attempting to vote, and many landlords reportedly have warned their Negro tenants that if they registered they would be fired.

Calhoun County, S. C., with more than twice as many Negroes as whites—10,449 to 4,304—has no Negroes registered, although 4,437 of them are of voting age. "Any Negro who tries to get a registration certificate is called a smart Negro and sooner or later leaves the community," a field consultant said.

McCormick County, S. C., where the population split is 5,998 Negroes, 3,589 whites, also has no Negroes registered out of the 2,625 over 21. All Negroes who had registration certificates in 1948 had their names purged from the voting list. The majority of Negroes in the county are sharecroppers; reportedly, they could not sell their produce until their names were removed.

In another South Carolina county, Abbeville, where only 15 of the 3,687 Negroes of voting age are registered (as compared to 6,000 of the 8,951 whites), an atmosphere of fear was found. Three years ago a Negro cottonwood worker was said to have been beaten at night for voting. Since then, Negroes have not taken part in elections and almost all of those who had registration certificates have lost them.

Texas

Intimidation as a means of limiting Negro voting in Texas was found to be relatively rare. Recent violence in the State usually has been aimed at school integration, notably in Mansfield. There have been occasional reports of local discrimination against potential Negro voters, generally in the form of a segment of the white population playing on the ignorance of the poorly educated among the Negroes—to imply, for example, that property taxes must have been paid to vote. But, by and large, the poll tax remains the only obvious deterrent.

Virginia

While discrimination in applying provisions of the Virginia poll tax and registration law is not found generally in that State, nevertheless it has been reported in certain counties and a few cities. Some Negro leaders feel that poorer white citizens often experience the same difficulties as do Negroes.

The poll tax can be an effective barrier for the politically uninformed, the educationally handicapped, and the socially disadvantaged. Just the use of words confuses many of the poorly educated who often do not know that in paying their Virginia capitation tax they have paid their poll taxes. Some tax collectors reportedly have discouraged voting by telling Negroes they do not have to pay poll taxes. Many Negroes have reported they did not receive poll-tax bills along with their property-tax notices, as did their fellow white citizens. These and similar methods have been employed to discourage Negroes from paying their poll taxes in some counties and it often seems that only those who know the legal requirements and insist on paying can win their right to register.

As for registration itself, Negroes sometimes encounter further barriers in Virginia. The same discriminatory methods of administering literacy tests found in other States turn up here and there in the State, where in some counties Negroes have to meet all the technical requirements of grammar, punctuation, and handwriting in filling out their application forms; they alone are given reading or education tests, or have to complete printed forms containing legal phraseology. Some white registrars will see white applicants at any time but are busy or ill or do not have their books when Negroes appear. When registrars operate in their homes, this presents a particular problem because of the long-standing southern custom of Negroes appearing in white homes only in a servant capacity.

Florida

In 1940, Florida had 51 counties with no Negroes registered, by 1946, only 4, and 10 years later only 2. However, the number of counties in which Negroes are registered gives an exaggerated picture of the extent of Negro registration. In some counties Negro electors constitute a small proportion of those on the voting lists. This is seen, for example, in the following counties:

County	Negro population over 21	Negro percentage of total population	Number of Negroes registered, 1956
Flagler	872	45.6	13
Gadsden	10,930	56.1	3
Liberty	333	18.1	1
Taylor	1,945	30.5	77

In the counties where Negro suffrage is limited most sharply, fear is a major deterring factor. In parts of the State, indirect methods are used to discourage Negro voters and the open threat has been reported, too. In one county, the first Negro registrants in history were subjected to several forms of intimidation—cross burnings, bomb-throwings and shots fired into their homes. All but one of the registrants in this county withdrew their names from the rolls.

In another Florida county, in the plantation section, it was reported that Negroes, most of whom live in rural areas, are not permitted in the business district on election day. In still another county one supervisor of registration has told Negro applicants, "Come on in and register," while sitting with his legs stretched across the door. Other Negroes complained that loungers around a courthouse told them, "Go ahead and register if you can take what comes afterward."

Georgia

Field studies were made in a number of Georgia counties representative of the various subregional areas of the State. One of these is Early, located in the extreme southwest portion of Georgia on the Alabama line. It is in a cluster of counties considered the hard core of the State in terms of resistance to integration. In such counties as Early, Miller, Seminole, and Decatur, the Negro population is from 30 to 50 percent of the total. In other southwest counties such as Clay, Calhoun, Baker, Dougherty, Quitman, Randolph, Terrell, Lee, Sumter, Webster, and Stewart, the Negro percentage of the total population is over 50 percent. The means of excluding Negroes as registrants in these counties is similar to that reported in other areas of the South. In some, there is the ever present threat of racial violence, which erupts on occasions. Often, police brutality against Negroes indicates to them they cannot depend upon law enforcement authorities to offer them protection if they try to vote. In recent years, economic pressures have been directed against Negroes militant enough to demand educational and political equality.

In some instances, Georgia sheriffs, instead of the boards of registrars, question prospective Negro registrants about the Constitution. Sheriffs, being white and also the "law," Negro applicants thus receive two warnings at one time.

In Early County, only 226 Negroes of the 4,790 over 18 (the legal voting age in Georgia) are registered. Many others who went to the courthouse to register said they later were summoned to appear there before the board of registrars to answer questions. The majority of those who showed up were disqualified and those who did not were removed from the list automatically. This is an effective method of disqualifying Negroes there who often think of going to the courthouse for any reason with misgiving. They know they are not expected to drive their cars up to the courthouse square to park.

Separate ballot boxes for white and Negro votes continue in use in many Georgia counties. This practice of separating ballots on a racial basis is an indirect technique of disfranchising some of the Negro voters who are unwilling to take a chance on having white persons discover how they voted.

Often, racial incidents have an effect both in the community involved and in adjacent counties. There is disagreement on the extent to which they deter registration, but fear of violence is bound to condition the thoughts and actions of some. In Walton County, Ga., many Negroes interviewed said there is more fear of lynching outside the county than inside. This county was the scene of an unsolved daylight lynching in 1946 of 4 Negroes—2 men and 2 women, 1 of whom was pregnant. One Negro in Walton said he did not think that Negroes generally are afraid to register there. He added that the so-called leading Negroes are afraid but the Negro working by the day isn't. Negro teachers and ministers seem to be afraid because of what they may lose; but what it is, I don't know."

Arkansas

In Arkansas, on rare occasions, clerks in the sheriff's office may tend to discourage poll-tax payments through various means of discourtesy. For the most part, however, the poll tax is more important in Arkansas as a source of revenue than as a device for the disfranchisement of the Negro. In 1956, voters rejected an amendment to repeal it. Some important Negro leaders opposed its abolition. They believed that if the State dropped the poll tax it might adopt registration procedures requiring the filling out of forms or answering of questions and that Negroes then would experience far more difficulty than at present.

Mississippi

Finally, Mississippi. All forms of violence, intimidation and discrimination reported from other States were found here. Where other sections usually rely on 1 or 2 means of limiting Negro registration, Mississippi, home of the White Citizens Council, apparently uses them all. As a result, the State which has the highest percentage of Negroes in the country has the lowest percentage registered. Only 4 percent were on the list of qualified voters in 1955, although Negroes make up 41 percent of the total population of voting age.

In the 13 Mississippi counties listed as having a population of more than 50-percent Negro, a total of 14 votes was cast in the 3 elections on which information was available for 1954. Five of the counties had no Negroes qualified and 3 had 1 registered who never voted. In the 7 counties having more than 60-percent Negro population, 2 votes were cast by Negroes in 1954.

Violence, threats, and economic reprisals discouraged Negroes interested in voting in Mississippi. Some instances were publicized but it may reasonably be supposed that others went unreported. In 1955 alone, a string of reports of brutality and illegal tactics came out of the State.

In the early spring of that year, Gus Courts, a Negro grocer at Belzoni, Miss., was told to move from his home and withdraw his name as president of the local NAACP chapter. He was forced to move his grocery store and advised to remove his name from the voting rolls. He refused; and, in November 1955, he was shot and seriously wounded by a group of men in a car who fired into his store.

Recovering from his wounds, Courts told a reporter: "I've known for a long time it was coming, and I'd tried to get prepared in my mind for it. But that's a hard thing to do when you know they're going to try to slip up and steal your life in the night and not in the bright. It's bad when you know you might get shot just walking around in your store. That's a hard kind of life to lead."

Courts was puzzled as to why anyone would want to shoot him for, "I've never been a troublemaker and I've never had on handcuffs. I'm 65 years old and I've never had the vote. That's all I wanted."

Courts' predecessor as NAACP president in Belzoni, the Rev. George Washington Lee, was killed May 7, 1954. The United Press, in a story from Belzoni on the Courts shooting, gave this background on the Lee death:

"The Reverend Lee was shot, allegedly on the day he refused a request from a white citizen that he remove his name from the voters' registration list. In that death, first of three race killings in Mississippi this year, Lee reportedly was driving down a Belzoni street when a car in which two white men and a Negro were riding suddenly came from behind and a shotgun blast shattered the Negro's car."

A coroner's inquest returned a verdict of accidental death and made no reference to the wounds in the dead man's face.

Other incidents in Mississippi in 1955, as reported by wire services and newspapers: T. V. Johnson, Belzoni Negro undertaker, was told to remove his name from the voting rolls if he desired continued credit; the Rev. James Hargroves fled the State after he was threatened with the fate of the Reverend Lee if he continued to work for the NAACP. In August, Lamar Smith, a Lincoln County Negro, was shot fatally; no indictment was returned, although reports indicated there were several witnesses to the shooting. Elsewhere, the home of a Negro leader was fired upon, and crosses were burned in front of the homes of two others. There were additional instances of violence against Negroes for activities other than voting.

If, despite the harassment and brutality, Negroes still try to vote in Mississippi, there is the State's registration law to act as a deterrent. The rigid education test, the essay on citizenship, all the requirements of the tighter registration law passed in 1954, present innumerable opportunities for the white registrar opposed to Negro registration.

LEGAL, SOCIAL, AND ECONOMIC FACTORS

The legal weapon most widely used in the South to discourage Negro registration is some form of literacy or constitutional interpretation test.

This weapon is the successor to the white primary—long the most effective method of restricting voting. Another weapon effective in the past, the poll tax, also has lost much of its sting with increased economic opportunity. Today only five States retain the poll tax—Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, and Virginia.

Some of the requirements in Southern States based on literacy or constitutional interpretation tests include:

Alabama

In addition to the usual basic qualification, the Voters Qualification Amendment of 1951 provides: "The following persons * * * shall be qualified to register * * * those who can read and write any article of the Constitution of the United States in the English language which may be submitted to them by the board of registrars, provided, however, that no person shall be entitled to register as electors except those who are of good character and who embrace the duties and obligations of citizenship under the Constitution of the United States and under the constitution of the State of Alabama, and provided, further that * * * each applicant shall be furnished * * * a written questionnaire * * *. Such questionnaire shall be answered in writing by the applicant, in the presence of the board without assistance."

Georgia

A registrant must be able to read correctly in English any paragraph of the State or United States Constitution and correctly write the same when read to him. Only those unable to read or write because of physical inability may qualify if they can understand and give a reasonable interpretation of constitutional sections read to them. There is a property alternative: 40 acres of land in the State on which an elector resides or property in the State assessed for taxation at $500 or more.

Mississippi

In 1954, Mississippi voters approved a constitutional amendment tightening the State's registration law. It makes ability to read and write a prerequisite; before that, an applicant could register if able to read or understand the Constitution when read to him. In addition to literacy, the amendment requires a new applicant to satisfy the county registrar as to his knowledge of citizenship under a constitutional form of government and to state why he feels he should be given the right to vote and what it means to him. Applicants are to write their own statements without aid.

Virginia

Unless physically unable, the prospective voter must apply to the registrar in his own handwriting, without aid, in the presence of the registrar, stating therein his name, age, date and place of birth, residence and occupation at the time and for the 1 year next preceding and whether he has voted previously and, if so, the State, county, and precinct in which he voted last. Also, he must answer on oath any questions affecting his qualifications as an elector, submitted to him by the registrar; questions and his answers must be reduced to writing, certified by the said officer and preserved as part of his official records.

South Carolina

A registrant must be able to "read and write" any section of the State constitution. An alternative is ownership and payment of taxes for the previous year on property in the State assessed at $300 or more.

Arkansas

Except for the usual requirements of age and residence, the one dollar, noncumulative poll tax is the only requirement for voting. Members of the Armed Forces are exempt. Certain adults are required by law to possess a poll tax receipt: those receiving wages, salaries, or other compensation paid from public funds (this includes white and Negro teachers) and those who apply for a license or permit from the State.

Louisiana

A prospective voter must be able to read and write and understand the duties and obligations of citizenship "under a republican form of government." Also, he must be able to read any clause in the State or United States Constitution and give interpretation satisfactory to the registrar. If he is unable to read or write, the applicant is entitled to register if he is a person of good character and reputation, attached to the principles of the Louisiana and United States Constitutions and if he is able to interpret any section of either. If an applicant is unable to read or write due to a physical disability, then the foregoing requirements may be waived. However, such an applicant must be accompanied by two witnesses who are registered voters from the applicant's precinct. No person may be a witness for more than two applicants.

North Carolina

Prospective voters must be able to read and write any section of the Constitution to the satisfaction of the registrar, who may have the applicant copy indicated sections of the State constitution or may dictate any section he chooses.

With such broad discretion left to registrars it is easy to see why Negroes may find it almost impossible to qualify in one county and comparatively easy in the next. In the last analysis, a Negro's ability to vote in a State with a literacy law still often depends on an individual registrar's sense of justice—or prejudice.

Socioeconomic factors also operate in determining the number of Negroes who vote. Racial, economic, and social patterns of any southern community exert a powerful influence on Negro registration.

Statistics on education, urbanization, farm tenancy, income, and racial composition help paint a fairly accurate picture of why Negro registration is above or below average.

Relatively few Negroes are likely to be registered in counties where they make up a large proportion of the population, in counties where education and income medians are low, and in counties that are predominantly agricultural and have a high rate of farm tenancy.

At the same time, in counties where Negroes comprise a large part of the population, white registration tends to be above normal.

Negroes are more likely to be registered in counties where they represent a small percentage of the total population, where they are better educated, are less dependent on the whims of white landlords and employers and are in a sounder economic position generally.

There are exceptions to these generalizations, of course; but Georgia presents a fairly typical picture.

In Georgia's 157 counties with Negro population of voting age, the median percentage of eligible Negroes registered is 25. However, the range of the registration figures is wide.

In only five Georgia counties does the number of Negro registrants exceed the number of white registrants, although there are more Negroes than whites of voting age in 27 counties.

The population ratio and its effect on voting is strikingly shown in Georgia figures. In counties where the percentage of Negroes in the population is below the State average, 69 percent show Negro registration above the State median; 68 percent of the counties above the State average in Negro population are below the median in Negro registration. The association is even more marked in counties with a population over half Negro—80 percent of these fall below the median in Negro registration.

The relationship between education and political participation also turned up in the Georgia survey. In counties where Negroes rank above the State median in the number of school years completed, 89 percent also are high in Negro registration. By contrast, only 37 percent of the counties below the median in Negro educational attainment have high registration figures.

As to the significance of economic factors, it is found that of the Georgia counties having median family income above the State figure of $1,130, 61 percent have high Negro registration. In counties below the median income level, only 35 percent are high in the number of Negroes qualified to vote. In short, Negro registration tends to increase along with overall income.

Also, there is a tendency in Georgia for predominantly industrial counties to rank higher in Negro registration than those primarily agricultural. Among counties in which farm income exceeds manufacturing income, 37 percent are high in Negro registration, as contrasted with 58 percent in counties where manufacturing exceeds agricultural income.

The agricultural counties in Georgia deriving more farm income from livestock, dairying, and poultry are somewhat higher in the percentage of Negroes registered than those in which the income stems largely from row crops. Also, there is a definite relationship between tenancy and registration. Among the Georgia agricultural counties which exceed the State average in the number of farms operated by tenants, only 34 percent have high registration figures, but among the counties below the State average in tenancy, 63 percent rank high in Negro registration.

Social and economic factors which influence Negro registration in Georgia apply in large measure over much of the South.

Journal Erred On SRC Origin

In its issue of Jan. 28, The Knoxville Journal on this page stated that the Southern Regional Council was founded by James E. Jackson Jr., once Southern regional secretary of the Communist Party and a member of its national committee. The story was based on an article appearing on Dec. 1, 1954 in the Communist Daily Worker which credited Jackson also with having had a hand in founding the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

The charge that the Southern Regional Council was founded by Jackson The Knoxville Journal has subsequently found to be untrue and is pleased to retract the charge and to extend its apologies to the Southern Regional Council, its officers and members, and to readers of this newspaper.

The Journal was duped by the claim of the Communist Daily Worker which, describing Jackson in its issue of Dec. 1, 1954 as "this stalwart Marxist," asserted: "He participated in the formation and building of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, the Southern Regional Council."

Protests as to the inaccuracy of the story were received from J. R. Rutter, president of the Greater Knoxville Council on Human Relations, and from TVA Director Frank E. Smith, a member of the council at this time.

It appears that an inaccuracy identical with this one which appeared in The Journal also was published in the Richmond Times-Dispatch on Aug. 21, 1958. An editorial in the Richmond paper, subsequently published, provides a recital of the actual beginnings of the Southern Regional Council and is reproduced herewith:

A Race Agency And The Facts

"Inaccurate statements as to its origins of the Southern Regional Council of Atlanta appeared recently in the Times-Dispatch, and should be corrected. They appeared—inadvertently, we are sure—in one of the series of articles by Edward B. Simmons, of the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times, concerning Communist efforts to incite racial strife in the United States.

"Mr. Simmons stated in the article appearing in our paper on Aug. 5 that the Southern Regional Council, established in Atlanta in 1944, was an 'offshoot of the old Southern Conference for Human Welfare, which was dissolved in 1948 after twice being described by the Federal Government as Communist front.' He also said : 'The Communist Daily Worker openly boasted that James E. Jackson, chief of the southern branch of the US Communist Party, was a cofounder of the regional council.'

"Taking these two charges in order, the Southern Regional Council was not an offshoot of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. It was established in response to an appeal from respected southern Negro leaders, who met at Durham, N.C., in October 1942, on the call of Dr. Gordon B. Hancock, of the Virginia Union faculty here, and Dr. P. B. Young, of Norfolk, publisher of the Norfolk Journal and Guide. These Negro leaders did not ask for the elimination of segregation in the schools or anywhere else; they asked that 'separate but equal' be made a reality.

"Responding to their appeal, a group of white leaders met in Atlanta in the spring of 1943, and expressed a desire to cooperate. Out of this grew the Southern Regional Council. The council was the successor to the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, founded in 1919 by leading churchmen. To repeat, it not only was no offshoot of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare; it was criticized in some quarters because it was more conservative than that organization and suspected of being in competition with it.

"We must remember, too, that when the Southern Conference for Human Welfare was established in 1938, it was not suspected of having any Communist connections, and many well intentioned and patriotic southerners participated in its early meetings. A number of these later joined the Southern Regional Council when they discovered the true purposes of the Conference for Human Welfare.

"As to the allegation of the Communist Daily Worker that James E. Jackson, chief of the southern branch of the US Communist Party, was a cofounder of the Southern Regional Council, there is nothing to support this.

"A James E. Jackson is listed as having attended the Durham meeting of Negro leaders in October 1942, but is not mentioned by the Norfolk Journal and Guide as having been on the committee which drew up the statement then issued. Jackson did not participate in the meetings of white and Negro leaders in 1943 and 1944 which led to the establishment of the Southern Regional Council, and he was not at any time an officer, director, or member of that agency. The Daily Worker's statement that he was a founder is as unreliable and inaccurate as nearly everything else in that Communist sheet.

"The late Dr. Howard W. Odum, noted and respected member of the University of North Carolina faculty, was the first president of the council. He was succeeded in 1945 by Paul D. Williams, prominent Catholic layman of Richmond and cofounder of the Catholic Committee of the South, who served until 1951. Mr. Williams was succeeded in that year by Marion A. Wright, South Carolina attorney, former chairman of the South Carolina Library Board and past president of the University of South Carolina Alumni Association.

"It should be emphasized that SRC worked within the framework of "separate but equal" for 7 years, and did not announce for integration until 1951.

"While we disagree strongly and completely with its present position on this issue, we feel obligated to point out, in fairness, that it was in no sense Communist in its origins. The Southern Regional Council was established because of a sincere desire on the part of white and Negro leaders in the South to eliminate many of the disabilities and discriminations from which Negroes were suffering.

"It was hoped that if these could be substantially lessened, the colored South would not look to the colored North for leadership. Insufficient progress was made, unfortunately, and the NAACP moved in and launched its drive for the complete elimination of segregation —sooner than it probably would have done if SRC's accomplishments had been larger.

"That is where we stand today."

The incorporators of the SRC, according to TVA Director Smith, were Arthur J. Moore, Methodist bishop of Georgia; Ralph McGill, then editor of Atlanta Constitution; Dr. Rufus E. Clement; Dr. Charles S. Johnson; and Dr. Howard W. Odum. Dr. Odum was the first president of the organization

President Rutter, of the Greater Knoxville Council on Human Relations, asserts that a man by the name of James E. Jackson Jr. did attend the Durham meeting referred to in the Richmond Times-Dispatch editorial, but the minutes of that meeting reflect no participation on his part.

Enclosed are copies of a recent attack made on the Southern Regional Council by the Knoxville Journal and their apology which appeared subsequently.

The attached is in the classic order of those we have experienced for some years. The remarkable fact about this is the thoroughness with which the Knoxville Journal apologized. We are all grateful to Mr. Frank Smith for his assistance in this. He is undoubtedly responsible for the apology.

I thought you might be interested in knowing this and desire to have copies of these articles for your records.

Red-Rooted Council Aids Knox Group

The Greater Knoxville Council on Human Relations has received funds from an organization founded by a onetime regional secretary of the Communist Party and member of the party's national committee.

J. R. Rutter, president of the Greater Knoxville group, in a letter dated June 6, 1966, announced a $2400 grant had been received from the Southern Regional Council which has headquarters in Atlanta.

OPERATED BY BRADEN

The Southern Regional Council was founded by James E. Jackson Jr., who was also instrumental in the organization of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, which is now operated by Carl Braden under the name of Southern Conference Education Fund.

A Communist Daily Worker of Dec. 1, 1954, described Jackson as "this stalwart Marxist . . . . Southern regional secretary of the Communist Party and member of its national committee."

The Greater Knoxville group has been in the news recently by cosponsorship of a meeting held here this week along with East Tennessee Civil Liberties Union, the Citizens for Progress and the Tennessee Valley Unitarian Church. This meeting was held in defense of the controversial Highlander Center here and the announced subject was "Free Speech and the Highlander Center."

LABELED RED FRONT

When the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee labeled the Southern Conference for Human Welfare a Communist front, the name was changed to SCEF and it continued to operate at the same address and the same phone number in New Orleans. It was headed for many years by Dr. James Dombrowski, who with Myles Horton, president of Highlander, Don West, onetime Communist Party director for North Carolina, and Rev. John Thompson, now pastor of the Community Congregational Church at Berkely, Calif., who is still a board member of Highlander, founded the original Highlander Folk School at Monteagle.

Berkeley, Calif., is the home of the University of California branch where many demonstrations, including antiwar ones, have been held in the past several years.

Braden, now executive director of the Southern Conference Education Fund, transferred the main offices to Louisville after he took over from Dombrowski. Braden served a one-year federal prison term for a conviction of contempt of Congress for refusing to discuss his Communist activities before an investigation by the House Un-American Activities Committee. The US Supreme Court upheld the conviction and the sentence.

LINKED TO HIGHLANDER

The Greater Knoxville Human Relations group is not only tied to the Southern Regional Council and the Tennessee Council on Human Relations, but is also closely associated with Highlander, Citizens for Progress and the East Tennessee Civil Liberties Union by interlocking members or officers.

Article X of the bylaws of the Tennessee Council on Human Relations states: Cooperation. This council shall cooperate with the Southern Regional Council, other state councils on human relations and groups which share the purposes and concern of the Tennessee Council on Human Relations.

The Tennessee Council is holding its annual meeting Saturday and Sunday in Nashville and the principle speaker on the schedule is Leslie Dunbar, former executive director of the Field Foundation, which has contributed liberally to the Tennessee Council.

The Tennessee Council's newsletter of May-June 1966 reported that on "June 14 the Field Foundation gave a two-year extension of our grant and increased the amount over our previous grant from $15,000 to $25,000."

THE MERRY GO ROUND

by: Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson

It will be vociferously denied, but some of the South's most vocal opponents of civil rights have either overlooked or sanctioned under the table CIA aid to help Negro voting registration and militant civil rights groups.

The CIA money was funnelled through private foundations right under the nose of the Central Intelligence Watchdog Committee headed by Sen. Dick Russell, Georgia Democrat, and Representative Mendal Rivers, the South Carolina Democrat. Both have made speeches denouncing the civil rights movement. Yet they permitted CIA funds to go to civil rights groups in the same manner that CIA money went to student groups.

The disclosure emphasizes the importance of the drive lead by Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D.-Minn.) and Sen. William Fulbright (D.-Ark.), to put members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the CIA Watchdog Group, now composed solely of members from the House and Senate Armed Services Committee. This drive was defeated last fall when Russell emphatically proclaimed that his committee knew what CIA was doing. Obviously it didn't.

On the Watchdog Committee, in addition to Russell and Rivers, are such southern stalwarts as John Stennis (D.-Miss.), Sam Ervin (Dem.-N.C.), and Strom Thurmond (R.-S.C.): Together with O. C. Fisher (Tex.), Elliott Hagan (Ga.), and Alton Lennon (N.C.) -- all Democrats

CIA'S SECRET CHANNELS

The main conduit for CIA money to help the Negro voter registration drive was the Southern Regional Council, which received $60,000 of CIA funds in 1963. The money was channeled through the New World Foundation.

In 1962, $6,000 of CIA funds went to the Southern Regional Council through the Aaron E. Norman Fund. In 1962, the Georgia Council on Human Relations also got $2,600 of CIA money from the Norman Fund.

The National Student Association, which received massive contributions of CIA money, was also encouraged by the CIA to push voter registration drives in the South.

Justification for using CIA funds was to quiet disastrous foreign publicity caused by civil rights violence.

The Norman Fund, incidentally, has also contributed to CORE's Scholarship and Educational Fund, the Lawyer's Constitutional Defense Committee, and the League for Industrial Democracy, all ~~&&&&~~ vigorous civil rights advocates.

Note: Fund officials deny any knowledge of CIA financial ties; nevertheless, they are a fact.

The disclosure emphasizes the importance of the drive led by Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.), and Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), to put members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the CIA Watchdog group, now composed solely of members from the House and Senate Armed Services Committee. This drive was defeated last fall when Russell emphatically proclaimed that his committee knew what CIA was doing. Obviously it didn't.

On the Watchdog Committee, in addition to Russell and Rivers, are such Southern stalwarts as John Stennis (D-Miss.), Sam Ervin (D-N.C.), and Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.): together with O. C. Fisher (Tex.), Elliott Hagan (Ga.), and Alton Lennon (N.C.) — all Democrats.

CIA's Secret Channels

The main conduit for CIA money to help the Negro voter registration drive was the Southern Regional Council, which received $60,000 of CIA funds in 1963. The money was channeled through the New World Foundation.

In 1962, $6000 of CIA funds went to the Southern Regional Council through the Aaron E. Norman Fund. In 1962, the Georgia Council on Human Relations also got $2600 of CIA money from the Norman Fund.

The National Student Association, which received massive contributions of CIA money, was also encouraged by the CIA to push voter registration drives in the South.

Justification for using CIA funds was to quiet disastrous foreign publicity caused by civil rights violence.

The Norman Fund, incidentally, has also contributed to CORE's scholarship and educational fund, the Lawyers' Constitutional Defense Committee, and the League for Industrial Democracy, all vigorous civil rights advocates.

Note: Fund officials deny any knowledge of CIA financial ties; nevertheless they are a fact.

One Man-One Vote

A drive to head off the first Federal Constitutional Convention in U.S. history has been started in legislatures which hitherto voted for such a convention. The drive is led by Illinois State Sen. Paul Simon of Troy, Ill., home state of a man who has chiefly sponsored the convention, Sen. Everett Dirksen, who wants to nullify the Supreme Court's one man-one vote ruling.

Though Dirksen's home legislature passed a resolution favoring a Constitutional Convention in order to overturn the Supreme Court, the Illinois legislature has now found that the Supreme Court was right and that the equalization of representation in the legislature has worked for Illinois's general benefit. It has also, incidentally, increased Republican representation, having given more votes to the suburbs around Chicago than to sparsely populated downstate Illinois.

Despite this, Dirksen helped to sneak resolutions through 32 state legislatures favoring the convention. Never before in the 180-year history of the United States has the Nation ever held a convention to change the Constitution; nor has it come this close. Only two more states are needed to get the required number of legislatures on record.

This is why Sen. Simon, a member of the Illinois legislature, which has already voted for the convention, has introduced a resolution to "rescind the previous action." He has also written to the majority and minority leaders of every House and Senate in the 50 states urging similar action. In his letter, Sen. Simon points out how easy it is for state legislatures to go on record for a Constitutional Convention.

"There is no statutory framework for a Federal Constitutional convention." Sen. Simon wrote his fellow legislators. "There is some question whether such a Convention can be limited to one topic.

This means that a Constitutional Convention could result in a fundamental challenge to our basic freedoms

"Under area representation in the past half century, gross inequalities in representation became part of the American scene," writes Sen. Simon. "In Nevada, 8 per cent of the population controlled one house of the legislature; in California, one district had 3,038,771 voters and another district 14,294. Are we serious about wanting to return to such a system?"

PRESS RELEASE For immediate release

New York, April 7, 1967: Answering an implication in Drew Pearson's nationally syndicated column, the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee denied today having received any money from the Central Intelligence Agency.

"We have never been given any money whatsoever either by the Government or by one of the CIA's dummy foundations," said Henry Schwarzschild, LCDC Executive Director, in New York, "mor have we ever requested any."

The LCDC statement continued:

"Since 1964, LCDC has provided legal representation to the civil-rights movement and the Negro community in the South. We are grateful for the financial support we have received in this difficult undertaking from a number of long-established, well-respected foundation, among them the Aaron E. Norman Fund, the New World Foundation, and others."

The LCDC statement concluded:

"From the outset, LCDC has worked intimately with the civil-rights movement. We have responded to the legal needs of those American fellow citizens whose claims to the equal protection of the Constitution and the laws have been long ignored. Not for a single moment and not in a single legal action has any purpose motivated LCDC other than the militant pursuit of racial justice and equal rights through law."

The Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee is a civil-rights lawyers organization, headquartered in New York. It maintains civil-rights law offices in Mississippi, Louisiana, and Alabama. LCDC's directors are the chief legal officers of various national civil-rights, civil-liberties, church, and intergroup relations agencies, among them the American Civil Liberties Union, the NAACP, the American Jewish Committee, the National Council of Churches, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and others.

The Chairman of LCDC is Howard M. Metzenbaum, Cleveland attorney and board chairman of ITT Consumer Services Corporation. Its President is Carl Rachlin, Legal Director of the Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund for Racial Equality. LCDC's national office is at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

3 Groups Deny CIA Aid On Rights

Three civil rights organizations denied yesterday charges by columnist Drew Pearson that they had received Central Intelligence Agency funds to organize Negro voter registration drives in the South.

The Southern Regional Council, the Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund for Racial Equality and the Lawyers' Constitutional Defense Committee all issued statements denying the Pearson charge.

Pearson wrote that the three groups received CIA funds through two foundations. The Government's purpose, he said, was to combat publicity abroad about civil rights disturbances in the South.

Paul Anthony, executive director of the Southern Regional Council, said its voter education project had received no funds from the foundations Pearson mentioned, although it had received money from them for other activities.

The two foundations Pearson cited are the Aaron E. Norman Fund and the New World Foundation.

The Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee's executive director, Henry Schwarzschild, said, "We have never been given any money whatsoever either by the Government or one of the CIA's dummy foundations."

Marvin Rich of the Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund for Racial Equality said the Norman fund had assued him that "not one penny of its grants to SEDFRE came from the CIA."

Pearson Drops Suit, So Does Christopher

LOS ANGELES, April 7 (AP) Newspaper columnist Drew Pearson and George Christopher, former mayor of San Francisco, aren't suing each other any more.

The two men clashed last year when Christopher was staging an unsuccessful campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Each charged libel.

But Superior Court records disclosed yesterday that both actions have been dismissed. A court aide said neither party wanted to pursue the matter.

Re: Drew Pearson - CIA Story

Dear Paul:

I received a copy of your letter addressed to the Members of the Executive Committee, reporting the denial which you issued to the Washington Post of the charge in Pearson's article appearing in that newspaper April 7th, to the effect that SRC was the recipient of CIA funds which were transmitted through the Aaron E. Norman Fund and the New World Association, as conduits.

There is some question in my mind as to whether or not we ought to pursue this further, but I suppose the responsibility for doing so really rests with the two Funds, since Pearson anticipates their denial, and controverts it in advance. I had originally thought when reading it, that he was controverting SRC's expected denial, but this does not seem to be the case.

It may be worthwhile to consider this at the Executive Committee Meeting on the 8th.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Cordially yours,

cellany is a good form for Mailer. Everyone interested in the life of the mind in our time should read this book. But it is less than a triumph to say, as he so honestly does speaking of his choice of a form for one piece, this which could also stand for the book as a whole: ". . . it is easier than an essay. . . . You see, my mind wanders. It dissipates. I have no patience left for quiet exposition. In an essay you must obey formal concerns which I have not the enthusiasm to obey any longer."

In criticism you must quietly expound the ideas of the author and their connections with his form, his matter. If Mailer has not the patience to try for these connections, neither has his reviewer. Let the collection stand as a miscellany, the bright and the dark, the rich and the empty. The man is there, pugnacious, abusive, battered, out on a razor edge talking a blue incoherent streak, and endearing. □

The CIA and the Intellectuals

Jason Epstein

Once there was a Communist rally in Union Square. The police came to break it up and soon the officers had begun to use their clubs. One protester objected that he was not a Communist but an anti-Communist. "I don't care what kind of Communist you are," the officer replied and continued to beat him.

I don't recall just when in the 1950s I began to suspect that the CIA together with the State Department, the Ford Foundation, and similar institutions had turned anti-Stalinism into a flourishing sub-profession for a number of former radicals and other left-wing intellectuals who were then and are still my friends in New York. No doubt the evidence was all around me well before I began to piece it together or before it popped into my head, as such discoveries do, that organized anti-Communism had become as much an industry within New York's intellectual life as Communism itself had been a decade or so earlier, and that it involved many of the same personnel. An important difference, however, was that the new enterprise was far more luxuriously financed than its predecessor had been, involving branch operations in Europe, Asia, Africa, and Latin America, together with subsidized publications in all these places, to say nothing of conferences and seminars on such a scale and in so many countries and with so much air travel to and fro that even the Ford Foundation, which was ostensibly paying for much of this activity, could hardly be assumed to be paying for it all.

THAT NO VISIBLE government agency was involved, except now and then the State Department, suggested that there had to be an invisible one. The invisible agency that we all began to hear about in the early Fifties was the CIA. The conclusion was, or should have been, obvious, but for those who, like myself, were not let in on the secret there was little more we could do than speculate, often irritably, when the spokesmen for American democracy departed each spring for Paris, Bombay, or Tokyo.

What most irritated us, beside the fact that we were not invited, was that the government seemed to be running an underground gravy train whose first-class compartments were not always occupied by first-class passengers: the CIA and the Ford Foundation, among other agencies, had set up and were financing an apparatus of intellectuals selected for their correct cold-war positions, as an alternative to what one might call a free intellectual market where ideology was presumed to count for less than individual talent and achievement, and where doubts about established orthodoxies were taken to be the beginning of all inquiry. In the recent controversy over the CIA's involvement with the intellectuals, this point seems not to have been made: that it was not a matter of buying off and subverting individual writers and scholars, but of setting up an arbitrary and factitious system of values by which academic personnel were advanced, magazine editors appointed, and scholars subsidized and published, not necessarily on their merits, though these were sometimes considerable, but because of their allegiances. The fault of the CIA was not that it corrupted the innocent but that it tried, in collusion with a group of insiders, to corner a free market. Given the illustrious bankers and lawyers[1] who ran the CIA and the big foundations, the tactics should have surprised no one, and after a while they didn't. One sighed to discover still another well-heeled racket emerging from the thickets of American public and corporate life, this time, alas, landing on one's own doorstep.

Yet this puts it too simply, for the individuals involved (many intellectuals, of course, were not involved at all or even aware of what was going on) were not nearly so homogeneous as this account suggests, nor were the degrees of involvement or the particular attitudes toward the conspiracy all of a piece. To

[1] John McCloy, who had been US High Commissioner for Germany, later became chairman of the Ford Foundation. John Foster Dulles and later Dean Rusk went from the presidency of the Rockefeller Foundation to become Secretary of State. When McGeorge Bundy decided to leave the White House, where he had been Special Assistant to the President in Charge of National Security, which meant, among other things, looking after the CIA, McCloy hired him to run the Ford Foundation. McCloy said that after looking high and low he could not find a more suitable man for the job. Bundy's brother William, who works in the Pentagon, had been with the CIA until 1961. The point here is not to insinuate guilt by association but to suggest that the CIA was not the only agency which might have had the political interests of the United States in mind when it chose to support, or not support, one or another cultural project. To a certain extent the large foundations have always acted as extensions of government. Shepard Stone, who served during World War I as a lieutenant colonel in US Army Intelligence and later with McCloy on the US High Commission for Germany, has been director of International Affairs for the Ford Foundation since 1954. Recently the Ford Foundation undertook to provide major support for the Congress for Cultural Freedom. For years the Congress funneled CIA money into various overseas publications, conferences, and other international cultural enterprises. A year or so ago the connection between the Congress and the CIA became the subject of widespread speculation. At this point the CIA began to withdraw its funds, and Ford, which had always taken an interest in the Congress, began to increase its support. It would be naive to assume that Ford's main interest had been to preserve its tax exemption, as had been the case with some of the smaller foundations which served as CIA fronts. No doubt the proprietors of the large foundations felt it their duty, as leading citizens, to cooperate with United States foreign policy. That Ford should pick up where the CIA left off must have seemed to its managers only natural. The trouble with all this is not that the foundations conspired darkly with an espionage agency, but that, insofar as the projects they supported were politically motivated, they were not motivated by disinterested literary or scientific criteria. This is not, of course, to say that all the projects undertaken by Ford and Rockefeller which may have advanced US interests were terrible. Some of them were useful. But the principle on which the foundations made their decisions concerning certain cultural projects was sometimes impure, since it mixed political with literary or scholarly considerations.

Dear Mr. Anderson:

Harold Fleming has told me of his recent conversation with you concerning CIA funds being used by the Council's Voter Education Project.

The following is the statement I gave to the Washington Post on April 7, 1967, and thereafter sent to our Executive Committee:

"Neither the New World Foundation nor the Aaron Norman Fund has given any funds to support the SRC Voter Education Project. Both foundations have given support for other SRC programs and we are deeply grateful for it. I have no reason to believe that SRC has ever received support from the CIA and would be astonished if that were the case."

As the statement indicates, we have been supported by both the New World Foundation and the Aaron Norman Fund for a number of years, but neither has contributed to our programs in the Voter Education Project. Should it have bearing in any further considerations you wish to give this matter our auditors assure me they will be willing to verify this in a statement by them to you.

I am not, of course, in a position to comment on the source of income of any foundation. However, both have assured me SRC received no CIA funds for any purposes.

If we may provide you with any further information or otherwise be of assistance, please let me know.

With best wishes.

Sincerely,

THE LIBERALS in Lyndon Land squawked like chickens when the fox nears the henhouse. The conservatives said: "So what?" The Reuthers, Walter and Victor, with priest-like piety, sniffed that George Meany and Jay Lovestone are CIA finks. The CIA defrocked the Reuthers with the Thomas W. Braden article in the Saturday Evening Post (May 20). The-man-who-has-never-called-a-strike, in his best labor-statesman tones, said: "It's a damn lie." And, one supposes, that ends another episode in the drama of "The Sins of the CIA."

We now have it on the best authority that the CIA has infiltrated and supported labor, student, cultural and professional organizations. In Braden's delicate phrase: "The agents could not only propose anti-communist programs to the official leaders of the organizations, but they could also suggest ways and means to solve the inevitable budgetary problems." Has ever the buying of finks been described with prettier words?

One interesting fact, at least, emerges, along with the stink of rotting things that once were men. Students they bought, and editors and labor statesmen and scholars and universities and cultural do-gooders. But they bought no executives and they infiltrated no corporations. Why? The question may be silly but let's pursue it. Part of what they wanted was intelligence and who's better equipped for intelligence work than the international corporations?

THERE IS A PASSAGE in Carl Marzani's The Survivor—Marzani was with CIA's predecessor, OSS, and later, with State Department Intelligence; though this book is a novel, presumably it is informed by his knowledge of spying—which reads like this:

"The Church is often accused of having the best intelligence service in the world. But that's not true. We have the second best."

"Who's first?" asked Marc, professionally interested.

"I thought you knew," said the Jesuit, surprised. "Standard Oil, of course."

F. HODGE O'NEAL'S Close Corporations is recommended by many lawyers as the best treatise available on corporate law and function. O'Neal writes: "Joint venture corporations engaged in foreign oil development—and indeed American corporations engaged abroad in extensive operations of other kinds—sometimes play highly significant roles in international affairs through the tremendous economic power they wield in areas of vital American interests . . . Among the highly important functions performed by Aramco [Arabian American Oil Co., jointly owned by Texaco and Standard] are . . . such diverse activities as running towns with the usual community services, operating an airline, and having a little State Department as a permanent part of its organizational structure. Aramco, in short, operates in exactly the same manner and performs the same functions, as would the United States government in the same situation." (my emphasis—J.M.).

IN 1954 THE ARBENZ government in Guatemala was threatening to give the starving peasants some United Fruit Co. land. A most unstatesman-like threat, said United Fruit. Arbenz must go, said CIA. A pity, said United Fruit, but it is our duty to save the peasants from communism He went, as have many others since.

DREW PEARSON reports that, in the early 1960s, the Southern Regional Council received large sums of CIA money. I worked for Southern Regional Council at that time. I feel no shock.

I didn't know about CIA money at the time, but I know where some of the money came from. Contributions were made by foundations which got their money from investments in Gulf Oil Corp., Standard Oil, Sears Roebuck, Aluminum Co. of America, the Democratic National Committee, etc. Southern Regional Council executives were stern anti-communists. Foundation executives are not appointed for the purpose of presiding over the dissolution of their contributors' estates. Neither are Southern Regional Council executives. I lasted a year and a half.

THE EXAMPLES are endless. The point is that the CIA has not infiltrated corporations, nor bought corporation executives, for a simple reason: The servant does not buy the master. The CIA is the international gun thug of America's corporate ruling class.

It is, of course, nonsense to argue about whether or not CIA is operating outside the control of the U.S. government. CIA and U.S. government are both the servants of the corporations which rule the free world. Foundations, and the executives who operate them, serve the same master. What does it matter whether those who rule us choose, for practical reasons, to finance their servants by contributing tax money through the CIA, or by contributing tax money through tax-exempt foundations?

ARKANSAS GAZETTE, Thurs., Oct. 19, 1967.

State Council on Human Relations Will Face Financial Crisis in 1968

Like its companion councils in 12 other Southern states, the Arkansas Council on Human Relations will face a financial crisis at the end of 1968.

The Southern Regional Council of Atlanta, which has been providing annual grants-in-aid to the state councils, plans to cease doing so at that time. The annual grant to the Arkansas Council has been $10,000—almost a third of the group's operating budget.

Members of the Arkansas Council were notified of the situation in the October issue of the Council's newsletter. Elijah Coleman, executive director, said the SRC, at a meeting of Council directors at Gatlinburg, Tenn., last month, "suggested that general grant-in-aid funds to the state councils from the Southern Regional Council be discontinued after December 31, 1968."

Coleman said the reason was that the private foundations that had been supporting the SRC were no longer willing to give general grants-in-aid and felt that the councils had been established long enough to go it alone. He said the SRC would continue to fund specific projects of the state councils.

"Where would this leave the Arkansas Council on Human Relations?" Coleman asked. "Simply, it would mean that the state office budget would be cut by some $10,000. This would seriously handicap organizing activities and programming to local affiliates. Also, this would mean that ACHR would need an additional 2,500 members just to keep our present pace of activities."

Arkansas Council Organized in 1954

The Arkansas Council was formed in 1954. It has approximately 1,200 members and has affiliate organizations in Conway, Fayetteville, Fort Smith, Pine Bluff, Little Rock, North Little Rock, El Dorado, Forrest City, Wynne, Camden and Jonesboro. A full-time staff concentrates on the problems of Negroes in employment, education, housing, welfare, and voting.

Rev. Walter B. Clancy, chairman of the Arkansas Council's Board of Directors, said, "There is very definitely no danger of the Council's going out of business.

"We're the only interracial group working in the state, and the only group besides the NAACP working in civil rights in the state. We're going to continue, but this will force us to spend more of our time organizing and less of our time doing the legwork of civil rights. We'll have to expect local people to redress local problems."

Three Major Sources Of Council Income

Father Clancy said the Arkansas Council had three major sources of income: The annual $10,000 grant from the SRC, a total of about $13,000 in grants from the Ford and Rockefeller Foundations and dues from Council members that provide from $7,000 to $10,000 a year.

There are five classes of memberships, Father Clancy said. A full individual membership is $5 a year, an associate membership $2, organizational membership $20, a student membership $1 and a Century Club membership for either individuals or organizations $100.

"We'll have to make up the $10,000 deficit in new memberships," Father Clancy said. He said the absence of crisis conditions in Arkansas and the reluctance of foundations to continue "unending support" of human relations organizations were the major factors in SRC's decision to end its annual grants.

'In 1957, Madness Of Massive Resistance'

Paul Anthony of Atlanta, director of the SRC, said by phone that the SRC subsidized the affiliates in 1954 with the intention of their being financially independent after three years. "However, in 1957 we had the madness of massive resistance," Anthony said, "and all human relations groups became extremely suspect." For this reason, he said, the affiliated councils showed little growth and the SRC devised a policy of grants-in-aid.

"We're not cutting off financial support now," Anthony said. "But according to our own reports, the South is changing a great deal. In effect, the foundations which contribute to us have said they question the unrestricted continuation of general grants." Anthony said the Ford Foundation had given notice that its grants to the SRC would end at the end of 1968.

Esquire Says CIA Provided Funds

By coincidence, the November issue of Esquire magazine contains an allegation that the SRC has received much of its support from the Central Intelligence Agency. A similar charge was made last spring by the syndicated newspaper columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

Asked whether that might have anything to do with the sudden crimp in the SRC budget, Anthony said, "Absolutely not." He said the SRC was operating this year on its largest budget ever: $1,250,000.

Anthony said two foundations that have been major contributors to the SRC—the Norman Fund and the New World Foundation—had been called channels of CIA funds but he said nobody had been able to prove that.

The Norman Fund is a prime source of funds for the SRC's Voter Education project, which Rev. Ben Grinage directs for the Arkansas Council. Anthony said he thought it was "ludicrous that the CIA would give money for the registration of Negroes in the South."

Dear Sir:

A nitwit from Louisville, Kentucky, sent me a copy of your January pamphlet which carried an article by M.D. Frank Daniel. I read it quickly and found many glaring and obvious lies that a child could note.

He assumes that anyone is a hypocrite who opposes mixing of the races. This is a lie on its face. There are more christians in the deep South per capita than any other section of this country.

The Negroes of this country who went through a period of slavery are far more advanced than their cousins in Africa are. The application of christian living is the same for all men. We stand equal in the sight of God. No one but an imbecile would deny this. God also made a Negro black and the white man white. Can the good doctor say God made a mistake in his creation.

He lies about the stand taken by all denominations. The vast majority of protestant preachers oppose mixing of the races on principal and find nothing unchristian in their stand. They hate to see the public schools done away with; so do all white people of the South. If there is no alternative, we will go to private schools.

He lies when he says christianity does not exist where segregation is practiced. Booker T. Washington also said the Negro and white can work together as the fingers of the hand, separate. He never advocated social mixing.

The poor fool speaks of the extra cost of separate schools. Is a woman's virtue worth to her one dollar or fifty billion. Can it be bought?

His reference to communist Russia is a dilly. Communism is having a field day among the Negroes with his help and others like him together with the NAACP. He need not worry about communism taking over in the countries he refers to as long as we keep them bribed with our tax payers' money.

He refers to the bad things reported in the press and T.V. There must be some little good somewhere. Why not use his influence to have this reported.

Hypocrisy--He is presumptious and absurd. "Psychological effect of segregation," the words of Earl Warren. No basis in law of the Constitution. He knows nothing about the southern white people. Suggest we stop and think; we have and we know the answer:

Dear doctor, as a race, is the Negro inferior to the white man? By mixed breeding can you make them equal? Are you equal or superior to most white men? Where has pride, self respect, and initiative gone? These things are born in us and nurtured. Legislation, fiats, and decrees cannot make it so.

As to admission to restaurants and clubs, how many private clubs can you get into? If you are not welcome to go in, why feel inferior? Are you? The bitterness is directed toward God yet you say he made us equal. You reason falsely.

The poor fool doctor continues to speak of the psychological effect and what would be done if southern whites understood it. Has he thought of this same effect on the southern whites if he could have his way. Yes, we have and we look ahead one hundred years and shudder at the result if we do not stop any leaks in the dam as it threatens.

He speaks the truth when he says that southern whites do not hate the Negro. Their only desire is to protect their white heritage and can not do so by integration. Any fool, even Ralph McGill, can see this.

He starts lying again when he says intermarriage does not follow integration. Take Boston as an example. What percentage of Boston's population was colored fifty years ago? Compare this percentage to Mississippi's and analyze. Cuba, Egypt, Panama, Portugal, Brazil and many other substandard countries are integrated. He will find the true answer there. He looks for the answer in Boston.

He refers to centuries of cultural development of the Negro when he will be on an equal plane with white people. This is his admission of the Negro's inferiority. That time will be soon enough to lower all of the social barriers he refers to.

The sins of man which created the mulatto was wrong and should be stopped. Certainly God had no part in this. The doctor lies when he says social mixing will reduce this evil. On sidewalks of New York, Boston, Washington, and Philadelphia you can see every day a demonstration of mixing without thoughts of marriage. Rapes and murder every night in these large cities is another form of mixing resisted by the victim.

"He poses a vital question." Speak Out. This I have done and whether the poor imbecile believes it or not, my thoughts are those of 90% of the white people of the deep South. He may be a good M.D. If so, he should confine his activity to medicine only.

Yours very truly,

and Violence in the South's Racial Crisis," in which they sought by innuendo, distortion, association, and half-truth to conclude from a series of 530 unrelated so-called incidents spread over a 4-year period that law, order, and harmonious race relations no longer exist in the 11 States of the South.

This studied effort to indict a whole region of our Nation is wholly one-sided and makes no pretense at comparison with other periods or regions, nor does it attempt in any way to report on the manner in which these so-called incidents have been dealt with under due process of law in the States and localities where they occurred. The hypocrisy which motivated so biased and inflammatory a publication is unspeakable and deserves the condemnation of all fairminded Americans, regardless of their place of residence.

Two of Georgia's outstanding newspapers—the Savannah Morning News and the Augusta Herald—have replied editorially to this attack with the indignation which it warrants. The Herald's editorial appeared in its issue of June 17, 1959, and was entitled "Unqualified Report on Crime in South Slanders Entire Southern Population." The Morning News' editorial appeared in its issue of June 22, 1959, and is entitled "The South Is Due an Apology." Mr. President, I endorse every word of these two editorials, and ask unanimous consent that they be printed herewith in the body of the RECORD.

There being no objection, the editorials were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From the August Herald, June 17, 1959]

UNQUALIFIED REPORT ON CRIME IN SOUTH SLANDERS ENTIRE SOUTHERN POPULATION

Three all-seeing agenices have pointed sneeringly at the South as a hotbed of racial violence, reprisal and intimidation since the U.S. Supreme Court handed down its school integration decision in 1954.

The reports of these groups—the American Friends Service Committee, High Point, N.C.; the Department of Racial and Cultural Relations of the National Council of Churches of Christ, New York; and the Southern Regional Council, Atlanta—are a barefaced slander upon the South, not for what they told, but for what they did not tell.

Basing their study upon newspaper reports of crimes in the South from January 1, 1955, to January 1, 1959, they reported 530 killings, beatings, bombings and mob actions in the South as indications of widespread erosion of individual liberties.

These agencies, supposedly working for the betterment of race relations, have not taken the trouble to assess this average against the national figure for similar crimes.

They have not sought to determine, through the northern press, the number of racially motivated crimes in the North during the same period. In this they may, to a degree, be pardoned, since the northern press does not have the honesty to call a Negro a Negro or a race incident a race incident.

Instead, they have ferreted out a few instances of anti-Jewish acts in the South and magnified them by implication into a marked outbreak of anti-Semitism, without any reference to the same ugly cancer that gnaws perpetually at the vitals of the North.

Instead, they have sought to tie this average to 132 cases of race violence a year squarely to the Supreme Court decision, suggesting in the most cowardly manner possible that legislative and executive policies of evading and defying Federal court decisions may have set an example whose contagion is uncontrollable.

May we suggest that, conversely, these things may not have set any such example—that no part of this country can enter the arena of argument over racial discrimination with clean hands—and that what has happened in the South is but one part of what was happening long before the Court's decision, throughout the United States.

These reports are, we contend, examples of the most despicable sort of distortion. They are loaded statistics taken out of the national context and fed to a northern readership whose enormous gullibility is expected to give them currency.

This newspaper and its morning contemporary, the press of the South generally, and by far the vast majority of its population, abhor race violence in any form. They have said so in the past, and will do so in the future.

But they also abhor cowards. Cowards who, for lack of any better argument, resort to slander, half-truths and distortions of fact simply to vilify one-fourth of a nation and make plaster saints out of the other three-fourths.

THE SOUTH IS DUE AN APOLOGY

Every resident of the 11 Southern States from Virginia to Texas is due a personal apology from three organizations which united to publish a slanderous and prejudicial document purporting to show that there has been a general breakdown of law and order in the South in the past 4 years.

The 30-page booklet, entitled "Intimidation, Reprisal and Violence in the South's Racial Crisis" was published jointly by (1) Southeastern Office, American Friends Service Committee of High Point, N.C.; (2) Department of Racial and Cultural Relations, National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States of America, of New York City; and (3) the Southern Regional Council in Atlanta.

The purpose of the tract, obviously, was to amass a box score of real or alleged incidents from newspaper clippings, and to present the total listing largely out of context without benefit of any statistical comparisons on which it could be properly judged or evaluated, in an effort to prove that the South is fairly wallowing in race riots and anarchy.

From the resulting conglomeration came a news release announcing widespread erosion of individual liberties in the 11 Southern States involved, attested to by a list of 530 specific cases of violence, reprisal, and intimidation in the 4-year period. The story made page 1 of New York papers last Monday. Editorials of condemnation followed. Declared the South-hating Washington Post and Times Herald: "There is little hope for the South to shake off this trend toward violent eruptions until its own basic thinking about adherence to the law as defined by the courts is straightened out."

Thus, the three groups responsible for the publication have, for reasons best known to themselves, contrived through a misleading document to fan fires of sectional animosity.

Let's take a look at the report itself, which covers the period from January 1, 1955, to January 1, 1959, during which 530 specific cases of violence, intimidation, or reprisal were cited. How many cases occurred in the 4 years from 1951 to 1955? This is not listed, but if twice as many occurred, it could be said that conditions in the 11 States are improving. More important, what would the box score show for the same period in 11 Eastern or Midwestern States, or any 11 chosen at random with the highest Negro-white ratios of population, if a similar count were made? Would the South show more cases—or would it show less?

Since no attempt was made to give such a comparison, the motive of the joint endeavor may be taken for granted—namely, to hold the South up to scorn and contempt.

Does a total of 530 incidents in 11 States over a 4-year period show a general breakdown of law and order? This would average out to about a dozen incidents per State per year.

Last year a congressional committee investigated more than 800 specific incidents of violence (not including intimidations and reprisals) during the same period of time in one labor dispute in Kohler, Wis. And this was by Walter Reuther's union—we don't even have to get into the statistics from the real bad boys such as Jimmy Hoffa. Does this indicate a widespread erosion of individual liberties in Wisconsin? And if so, why was this not included in the report?

On race incidents, what about Cicero, Ill., or Levittown, Pa., or Dearborn, Mich.? What about New York, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Chicago? The box score, had one been kept, of similar incidents, would have shown a greater number in New York or Chicago during the 4-year period than the 530 total for 11 Southern States.

In fact, when we consider that the Southern States have the highest proportion of Negro population to white, we'll bet our last dollar that an honest survey would prove race relations in the South to be better and more amicable than any other area of the country where there is an appreciable Negro population.

The organizations responsible for this report have done an irresponsible thing that will not help the cause of better race relations in the South or elsewhere. Their report, itself, admits "this is not a comprehensive survey. * * * It describes only their angry, violent side." We ask them—Why? We think the South is due an explanation.

WINTER ON THE SEAWAY—LETTER

Mr. LANGER. Mr. President, I have just received a letter from the Honorable Lester P. Barlow, who is a very excellent engineer, inventor and one of the leading experts on explosives in the United States.

He writes me and states that he wrote a letter to Business Week some time ago after they had published a story about the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway not being available for commercial shipping during the 5 months of winter. He noted that he was "kidding" Business Week about backing the "birds" to go to the moon to plant tomatoes, but forgetting that some of the brains should give attention to keeping our inland waterways open the year around.

Mr. President, on several occasions I have inserted remarks into the RECORD relating to the importance of the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the impact that it will have on shipping in the Great Lakes area and land transportation west from the Great Lakes into Minnesota, the Dakotas, and points west. I have also brought to the attention of Congress a bill cosponsored by the Senators in the North Central States, asking the Office of Defense Mobilization to make a survey of transportation and industry in the areas contiguous to

Smear Campaign Against the South

ONE OF THE greatest problems presently facing the South is in finding some way to counteract the smear campaign that is being waged against this entire area of the United States by prejudiced organizations with the support of anti-South newspapers.

Three such organizations, the American Friends Service Committee, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and the Southern Regional Council, recently issued a slanderous report purporting to show "widespread erosion of individual liberties" in 11 Southern states because of 530 cases of violence, reprisal or intimidation as a result of racial tensions during a four-year period.

We used the word prejudiced advisedly since the report contained no basis for comparison with other sections of the country, and failed to establish any trend in the area involved. It consisted only of unwarranted conclusions drawn from a series of newspaper clippings assembled for the transparent purpose of portraying the South in as unfavorable a light as possible. It was an irresponsible action, unworthy, we are sure, of many fair-minded persons affiliated with the organizations involved.

IN AN EDITORIAL last Monday we took exception to the report as an obvious and deliberate slur, entirely unsupported, and suggested that an apology might be in order from the organizations responsible. Copies of the editorial, with a request for comment, were forwarded immediately to the organizations. To date, this has met with complete silence.

Northern newspapers had a field day with the story on the report. "Defiance of Law Growing in South, 3 Groups Report," said the headline over a top story on page one of the New York Times. "Race Violence in South Growing, Survey Finds," said a two-column head over a front page story in the New York Herald Tribune. "Lawlessness Menaces South, 3 Groups Report," said the Washington Post & Times Herald with an accompanying editorial deploring lawlessness in Dixie.

Last Tuesday Sen. Herman Talmadge took note of the smear. He got to his feet and made a speech in the Senate about it. "This studied effort to indict a whole region of our Nation is wholly one-sided and makes no pretense at comparison with other periods or regions," declared Sen. Talmadge. "The hypocrisy which motivated so biased and inflammatory a publication is unspeakable and deserves the condemnation of all fair-minded Americans, regardless of their place of residence."

DID THE SAME newspapers which displayed the story of the original report so prominently follow through with Sen. Talmadge's rebuttal?

The Times, which maintains a corps of reporters in Washington, carried not a word the next day on the report on the Talmadge speech, although it did report on the Senate in sufficient detail to devote space to activities of little significance by other senators. The Post & Times Herald the next day gave fair space to the fact that the information minister of Ghana had complained of being treated unfairly in news reports, but nothing on Talmadge's defense of the South. Only in Southern newspapers, so far as we could determine, did Sen. Talmadge's refutation of the charges see the light of print.

SEN. TALMADGE'S speech did bring a weak rejoinder from the Southern Regional Council in Atlanta: "The Senator could not have read the report before making his charges. If he had, he would have found that each incident reported was taken from objective newspaper accounts and that arrests and convictions of offenders were also reported. Moreover, cases in which Negroes were the perpetrators of violence against whites were also included."

There was never any argument about these contentions. The only question was—why such a report in the first place unless it could be used for a comparison, or to show a trend, which it made no attempt to do? Why engage in a calculated campaign of misrepresentation through out-of-context reports in an effort to stir up sectional animosity against the South?

We can th[illegible] no explanation except intolerance.

Dear Mr. Lambright:

This will acknowledge your letter of June 22 forwarding a copy of your editorial "The South Is Due an Apology."

I believe the most cogent comment we can make is to invite you to read the introductory matter in "Intimidation, Reprisal, and Violence in the South's Racial Crisis." The base motives and effects you impute to the report are clearly contradicted by what is said in the report itself.

I may add that the story was page one in a number of Southern newspapers -- not just "New York papers" -- and drew thoughtful editorial comment from several. Two examples are enclosed. The editors of these papers evidently feel, as we do, that the report is "slanderous" only of those in the South who perpetrate or condone violence, intimidation, and reprisal. We do not feel that this element is due any apology.

Sincerely yours,

LET'S TAKE A LOOK at the report itself, which covers the period from Jan. 1, 1955 to Jan. 1, 1959, during which 530 specific cases of violence, intimidation or reprisal were cited. Today and Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Franco-American Relations

In our relations with France we are entering what may, unhappily, be a rough and difficult time. Immediately and specifically, this is because Gen. de Gaulle has raised a number of large and highly controversial issues. But before we look at them, it will be useful to understand, if we can, the historical situation in which the issues have been posed.

Since the war which ended 15 years ago Franco-American relations have been based on a premise which was never openly avowed but has always been assumed both in Paris and in Washington. The premise has been that France, though it is counted among the victors, was in fact defeated, and that her colonial empire is in the process of dissolution, and that she is no longer a first class power. The chronic instability of the post-war governments in France, the budgetary and monetary disorders, supported this view.

LIPPMANN

Our government acquired a habit of not consulting France regularly and genuinely, and indeed of treating her with less intimacy and confidence not only than Great Britain but even West Germany. On two recent occasions which might have led to a war involving France—the landing in Lebanon and the affair at Quemoy—there was no full consultation with Paris.

THE ADVENT to power of Gen. de Gaulle was bound to mean, as it has meant, that France would not accept the lower position which she has occupied. She has been regarded not only as not so great a power as Russia and the United States, but not even as being in the second rank with Great Britain or even with Adenauer's Germany.

We must never forget that Gen. de Gaulle, to his everlasting honor, is the Frenchman who never surrendered and who never accepted defeat, and it is a kind of historic justice that he should be the man who now insists that France must not be treated as a defeated and inferior power.

In this context we may look at the issues. They were raised diplomatically last summer and then in a note addressed to President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan on Sept. 24, 1958. This note has never been published. But it is said to set up three French objectives:

The first is that France shall be treated as a first class power in strategy in Europe, in Africa, and in Asia.

The second is that these three powers shall control collectively the use of nuclear weapons anywhere in the world—in the Far East quite as much as in Europe.

The third is that France shall have access to our nuclear secrets. This would mean that we undertook to enable France to become a nuclear power without the long and enormously expensive experimentation which Great Britain has gone through. The basic French argument here is that in the world today a first class power is by definition one with nuclear weapons, and that France must be treated in fact, not merely in form, as a first class power.

IT IS NOT QUITE clear to me whether these "objectives" should also be called "demands." But there is no doubt at all that the French government is serious, and this will entail serious discussion and negotiation.

The French government is backing up its policy by drawing away from the integration of military forces under Gen. Norstad and the NATO treaty organization. There is no question of French allegiance to the Atlantic Pact as a military alliance. But it is not improbably that Gen. de Gaulle has a poor opinion, both politically and militarily, of the NATO establishment with its headquarters near Paris. Thus, it is likely that the existing NATO establishment would have to pay for a failure to satisfy Gen. de Gaulle.

Can we satisfy him? We must put the question this way because in fact only the United States could satisfy him. It is obvious that we cannot satisfy him entirely. This Congress surely will not amend the law about communicating nuclear secrets. Nor is it possible for the President to make an unqualified commitment that we will in all circumstances support France in Algeria. There is today every disposition to support Gen. de Gaulle in Algeria. But no one can say in advance what we shall do if Gen. de Gaulle is overpowered by the extremists.

WHERE WE CAN do something useful and important is to come to a solemn understanding with France, and of course with Great Britain also, about the use of nuclear weapons anywhere in the world. Such an understanding would have to have as its corollary a much higher degree of consultation about global policy than exists today.

To bring this agout there should be an understanding carefully negotiated by the Secretary of State, who is especially well qualified

The Nation Today:

Army on Defensive in West Germany

By Holmes Alexander

STUTTGART, WEST GERMANY—West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt tells this story about a British member of Parliament and a Russian general who met at a Berlin cocktail party.

Britisher: "If you attacked, we would give you a rough time for a couple of hours."

Russian: "Did you say a couple of hours? I would have said 10 minutes."

Britisher: "If it's so easy, why don't you attack?"

Russian: "Consequences."

This anecdote deftly sizes up the Berlin impasse, and to a lesser degree being probed or harassed. The enemy has additional security in that the Eastern side of the jagged border, unlike the Western side, is buttressed by roadblocks, towers and barbed wire, in some places electrified. It would be far easier for the Communists to mobilize a surprise attack from their side than for us to do the same from ours.

IT DOESN'T TAKE a military expert (and I am not one) to see that the Communists have a sizable tactical advantage here. The idea of permitting the enemy a "privileged sanctuary," as the far shore of the Yalu River was called in Korea, does not seem like a very bright one, especially titude in West Berlin (where defensive thinking is understandable) and in West Germany (where it is less so) puts our full reliance upon what the Soviet general of the anecdote called "consequences," meaning an all-out atomic war.

President Eisenhower has made it a lot clearer than President Truman ever did that we have developed the nuclear weapons for use, not for storage. Mr. Eisenhower has specifically said that a European war would almost necessarily become a nuclear one, and this is good psychology. So long as Ike is in the White House, the warning presumably will hold.

Questions & Answers

DIESEL: Q. Are diesel freight engines cheaper to operate than steam locomotives? F. R.

A. Yes. One large railroad reports that, in 1958, the average cost of fuel per freight diesel unit mile was 24.94 cents, with water, lubricants, and supplies costing 3.56 cents. Comparable figures for freight steam locomotives (in 1957) were 80.78 cents for train fuel and 14.33 cents for water, lubricants, and supplies.

TREE: Q. What is the origin of the "Tree of Lights" used by the Salvation Army at Christmas time in some cities? A. O.

A. The idea for a community "Tree of Lights" grew out of a conference early in 1947 between officials of Radio Station KMOX and Salvation Army leaders in St. Louis, Missouri. Before Christmas, a 60-ft. cedar was erected in downtown St. Louis, and strung with colored lights. One bulb was turned on for each $100 contributed to the Army for its Christmas service program. The "Tree of Lights" fund-raising idea proved so successful that it soon spread to other communities. In small towns a $5 or $10 contribution may light a bulb. When a community's hoped-for quota has been reached, a Star of Bethlehem is lighted at the top of the tree.

MOON: Q. Please identify a children's poem about rocking in the new moon by holding on to the "two little horns." Y. L.

A. The poem is "The New Moon" by Eliza Lee Cabot Follen (1787-1860), Boston-born author and editor. It begins "Oh, mother, how pretty the moon looks tonight, It was never so cunning before." First published in Mrs. Follen's "Songs and Games for Little Ones," the 16-line poem has been included in a number of anthologies of verse for children.

BALLOT: Q. In what election was the Australian ballot first used in this country ? W. T.

A. The Australian ballot system was first used in the United States in the Louisville (Ky.) municipal election of 1888. That same year Massachusetts also adopted a law providing for the use of this system in state elections. The Australian ballot system, which provides voters with an official ballot and allows them absolute secrecy, derives its name from the fact that it was first used in South Australia, in 1856.

Hold On, Senator

SEN. PAUL DOUGLAS of Illinois has leveled a broadside against retired military officers who accept positions with industry. He said that when firms seeking defense contracts "hire former officers of high rank to negotiate with their former fellow officers—some of whom they have promoted—the potential and actual abuses are magnified."

We agree with the senator that if the government is being cheated on contracts, those responsible should be punished, but we can't go along with his scattershot tactics of condemning an entire group because of the possible misconduct of a few. How does the senator feel about character assassination?

Perhaps the fact that the most notable success story for a retired high-ranking officer involves a President who is a member of a different political party had some bearing on the charges, but we are sure Sen. Douglas would not stoop to guilt-by-association tactics.

Congressmen and senators should be cautious about pointing an accusing finger at those who allegedly exploit their former positions. Far too many former lawmakers presently derive lucrative incomes as Washington lobbyists.

Let Sen. Douglas be specific. Name the chiselers, prove the charges, and see them punished. But don't impugn the integrity of those who have served their government throughout an entire military career with honor and, often, with valor and distinction. We no longer have McCarthyism—let's not create Douglasism.

Australian sheepmen are complaining about kangaroos damaging their pastures. Perhaps they should establish kangaroo courts to deal with the situation.

Oops, That Again

THE UNITED STATES had been basking in recent weeks in report after report of economic conditions all pointing toward a boom. And then, boom comes a report that doesn't sound so good, although it must be said that it was to be expected.

Previously, various government agencies and private survey groups had reported business spending plans were up; employment was up and joblessness down, construction plans over the nation showed a healthy trend, consumers said they intended to buy more than ever before, installment buying showed they were doing that, wage averages were up, and so on.

But along comes a price statistician in the Department of Labor, and he reports the sad truth that practically everything in the family budget has gone up in price during the month of May. The rise has been small, on some items barely perceptible from a national average standpoint, but a rise nevertheless, spread all over the family budget.

So there is that old problem again—the cost of living.

This statistical measure of how Americans are getting along had remained fairly stable for about a year. And the increase is only three-tenths of one per cent over a year ago. But it was an increase rather than a decrease or remaining the same.

There's the thorn in the bed of rosy statistical pictures of life in the United States of America.

Make the Shoe Fit

INDIANS OF BRAZIL'S Amazon valley reportedly made the first rubber footwear by simply pouring the juice of the rubber plant over their feet. As the stuff hardened, additional layers were applied, and then the footwear was slipped off.

It may sound crude and primitive, but it beats any modern-day method we've heard of for insuring that shoes fit properly.

The Bank of America misplaced $113,000 and millions of housewives across the land said, "I told you so."

—there was no full consultation with Paris.

THE ADVENT to power of Gen. de Gaulle was bound to mean, as it has meant, that France would not accept the lower position which she has occupied. She has been regarded not only as not so great a power as Russia and the United States, but not even as being in the second rank with Great Britain or even with Adenauer's Germany.

We must never forget that Gen. de Gaulle, to his everlasting honor, is the Frenchman who never surrendered and who never accepted defeat, and it is a kind of historic justice that he should be the man who now insists that France must not be treated as a defeated and inferior power.

In this context we may look at the issues. They were raised diplomatically last summer and then in a note addressed to President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan on Sept. 24, 1958. This note has never been published. But it is said to set up three French objectives.

ONE IS THAT NATO, which is now a regional pact, shall become a global alliance in which France, Britain, and America have the same policy and the same in fact only the United States could satisfy him. It is obvious that we cannot satisfy him entirely. This Congress surely will not amend the law about communicating nuclear secrets. Nor is it possible for the President to make an unqualified commitment that we will in all circumstances support France in Algeria. There is today every disposition to support Gen. de Gaulle in Algeria. But no one can say in advance what we shall do if Gen. de Gaulle is overpowered by the extremists.

WHERE WE CAN do something useful and important is to come to a solemn understanding with France, and of course with Great Britain also, about the use of nuclear weapons anywhere in the world. Such an understanding would have to have as a corollary a much higher degree of consultation about global policy than exists today.

To bring this agout there should be an understanding carefully negotiated by the Secretary of State, who is especially well qualified to do that. This understanding might well be ratified by a personal meeting between the President and Gen. de Gaulle. It would be well worth a special trip to Paris.

Yankee Ingenuity

Russian Scientific Equipment Is Bargain for U. S. Schools

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — A Senate committee within the next few days will decide whether to forbid our schools from buying Russian scientific equipment with federal dollars.

It's a situation that promises to trigger a broad investigation of Russia's economic offensive. Dozens of our schools and colleges have decided that Russian instruction equipment for science courses is the best bargain going. And several of the high schools want to use the federal money they get under the 1958 National Defense Education Act to buy it.

Several members of Congress fear the purchases will feed the Russian propaganda mill. They say the propagandists will tell the world: "See, the United States even comes to us for the equipment it uses in its schools."

DOMESTIC manufacturers also are upset. They admit the Russian equipment is the better buy. But they claim the prices are set below actual cost in an attempt to destroy the U.S.industry.

The ruckus started because of the Yankee ingenuity of a Cambridge, Mass., import house—the Ealing Corp. Its president, Paul D. Grindle, last year happened to notice some fancy science equipment in the background of a picture of a Russian classroom. He asked our Commerce Department if there were any rules against importing such Russian equipment. The department said there were not. So off he went to Russia to investigate. He found the equipment there advanced in design and as little as one-twentieth of the cost of comparable domestic products.

Grindle made a deal. "The business rule I understand above all others," Grindle told a Senate subcommittee later, "is that if you can buy right you can sell right." He ordered $40,000 worth of the Russian equipment. He said with hardly any advertising on his part, 1,200 inquiries and 53 firm orders came in from high schools and colleges.

GRINDLE CHARGES that domestic manufacturers have been dozing inside the tariff wall they put up around their industry through intensive lobbying. "It comes as a shock to learn that the U.S. is the only country in the world that we can discover," Grindle said, "that has had to form an official committee of its national physics teachers group to attempt to do something about what these teachers have termed the deplorable condition of the science teaching equipment available in the United States today."

He referred to a 1956 memorandum of an American Assn. of Physics Teachers committee. The memorandum said physics teachers were dissatisfied with "the high cost, relatively poor quality, lack of imagination and paucity of new developments in the current offerings of apparatus supply houses in this country." A spokesman for the association conceded the industry has made progress since then, but said: "We still have a long way to go."

* * *

THE 1958 NATIONAL Defense Education Act authorized the government to give high schools money to buy teaching equipment. Congress for this fiscal year authorized $49 million for that purpose. The states match the federal money dollar for dollar.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) wants to prohibit schools from using any federal money to buy equipment made in Communist-dominated countries "so that we are not in any way aiding the Soviet effort for world domination."

He has proposed to add such a prohibition on to the pending fiscal 1960 appropriations bill for the U.S. Office of Education. A Senate appropriations subcommittee will vote on his amendment shortly. Then the full Appropriations Committee will vote on it and next the Senate itself. The House has similar amendments pending, but has not voted on them.

The Scientific Apparatus Makers Assn., representing the domestic industry, is pressing hard for the amendment. Besides citing the propaganda possibilities of the situation, the association maintains that if the equipment money were spent in this country, it would stimulate the industry and enable it to develop more advanced apparatus.

The Nation Today:

Army on Defensive in West Germany

By Holmes Alexander

STUTTGART, WEST GERMANY—West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt tells this story about a British member of Parliament and a Russian general who met at a Berlin cocktail party.

Britisher: "If you attacked, we would give you a rough time for a couple of hours."

Russian: "Did you say a couple of hours? I would have said 10 minutes."

Britisher: "If it's so easy, why don't you attack?"

Russian: "Consequences."

ALEXANDER

This anecdote deftly sizes up the Berlin impasse, and to a lesser degree of nicety, the whole hostile confrontation in West Germany. The 250-mile border which separates East from West Germany in the North and West Germany from Czechoslovakia to the south is guarded with jealousy on both sides, but it is lightly guarded.

There are military sentries on both sides, as well as provincial troops and some local constabulary. The American and Russian divisional strengths lie further back, about 65 miles apart. Actually, Americans and Russians rarely catch sight of each other. Some weeks ago a Soviet brigade got lost and broke into sight near the American position at Hof and there was a midnight alarm. But this seldom happens.

TO THE NEW ARRIVAL, it is disturbing to be told that the posture in West Germany is definitely defensive. This was to be expected in the Red-circled city to West Berlin where there is barely room to swing a cat. A defensive posture, and that alone, is inherent in the squeeze wherein the Puddin'head planners of Potsdam placed the American garrison at Berlin. But the broad vales of Bavaria in south central Germany are very inviting avenues of attack from either side.

There could be a hidden risk in our hold-the-line policy. Our patrols are instructed not to cross the border for any reason, so that the enemy has no fear of being probed or harassed. The enemy has additional security in that the Eastern side of the jagged border, unlike the Western side, is buttressed by roadblocks, towers and barbed wire, in some places electrified. It would be far easier for the Communists to mobilize a surprise attack from their side than for us to do the same from ours.

IT DOESN'T TAKE a military expert (and I am not one) to see that the Communists have a sizable tactical advantage here. The idea of permitting the enemy a "privileged sanctuary," as the far shore of the Yalu River was called in Korea, does not seem like a very bright one, especially in view of our experience since December 7, 1941.

I am told that the whole determination in these affairs is political. We are trying so hard to pose as peace-lovers that we almost make it attractive for the other side to act as peace-breakers. And while nobody in the Seventh Army has taken me into his confidence, I am posibitive that the military people hold a dim view of putting American troops at a tactical disadvantage for any reason whatever.

The theory of our being in West Germany is, of course, that our troops form a "plate glass" which, if shattered, will turn on a worldwide fire alarm. But I have been talking to a Normandy D-Day officer who also served in Korea. The political "theory" of our intervention in Korea, he reminded me, was that the Orientals would take one look at American uniforms and give up.

"We were told that we would be out of Korea within 60 days," he said.

WHILE THE TWO situations are very different in many ways, there is a disquieting similarity about the present "theory" which assumes that our troops are in West Germany for some other purpose than to fight. The danger is not that the Seventh Army won't be ready to fight, or that it won't fight well, but it would be awaful if a political policy should again cause us to lose the first battles, as we did at Pearl Harbor and in Korea.

Our defensive position and attitude in West Berlin (where defensive thinking is understandable) and in West Germany (where it is less so) puts our full reliance upon what the Soviet general of the anecdote called "consequences," meaning an all-out atomic war.

President Eisenhower has made it a lot clearer than President Truman ever did that we have developed the nuclear weapons for use, not for storage. Mr. Eisenhower has specifically said that a European war would almost necessarily become a nuclear one, and this is good psychology. So long as Ike is in the White House, the warning presumably will hold.

BUT IN 1956 Candidate Stevenson brought the issue of hydrogen bomb-testing into a national election, and also hinted at suspending the military draft. Both these ideas carry seeds of retreatism. Without a sure program of reinforcement and nuclear back-up, the Seventh Army would be under attack before the next sunrise.

We can have American troops in Europe only while we have the entire American military might on call. We can't have one without the other.

THE ETERNITY BEYOND . . .

The Book of Revelation has often greatly troubled Christian believers. It is a mysterious book describing heavenly things. Most of its symbolism appears to be beyond human comprehension, but its beauty is lost upon no one who appreciates beauty of thought and language. Also people whose hearts aspire for higher things find in this Book of Revelation an assurance and comfort which greatly supports their spiritual lives.

In the 21st chapter of Revelation, John says: And I saw no temple therein." He had just been describing the glories of high heaven. Amazing as it may seem, John declared that there is no church in heaven. He saw glorious things in that heavenly setting, but he saw no church.

Why? Because there never was and never will be any need of a church in heaven. Here on earth we have to set aside times, places, buildings which we use to the deepening of our spiritual capacities. But in heaven there are no set-aside areas of holiness. The whole of heaven is sacred. There is no need for a holy church in heaven because heaven is holier than any earthly church could possibly be. It is the enlargement to infinity of what we have in small compass here on earth.

No church in heaven! And for good reason. No area in heaven set aside for sacred use because all of heaven is completely sacred.

We begin to live the heavenly life here on earth; we complete it in the eternity beyond.

and editor. It begins "Oh, mother, how pretty the moon looks tonight, It was never so cunning before." First published in Mrs. Follen's "Songs and Games for Little Ones," the 16-line poem has been included in a number of anthologies of verse for children.

BALLOT: Q. In what election was the Australian ballot first used in this country ? W. T.

A. The Australian ballot system was first used in the United States in the Louisville (Ky.) municipal election of 1888. That same year Massachusetts also adopted a law providing for the use of this system in state elections. The Australian ballot system, which provides voters with an official ballot and allows them absolute secrecy, derives its name from the fact that it was first used in South Australia, in 1856.

FILM: Q. Is the television film "Armored Attack" based on a book? H. P.

A. "Armored Attack" is an adaptation of the Samuel Goldwyn motion picture "The North Star", released in 1943. This was based on a script originally written by playwright Lillian Hellman.

BLITZ: Q. What are the rules of the two-handed card game called Blitz? C. E.

A. The Association of American Playing Card Manufacturers says that each player has a deck of cards, makes his own layout and builds up cards on the center piles which both players share. Aces must be put in the center promptly, but building on them is compulsory only when play otherwise comes to a standstill. The player who gets rid of all his cards first is the winner. Blitz, a two-player type of Solitaire, is a name given to Double Canfield or Double Klondike.

CORBIE: Q. In architecture, what are "corbie" steps? J. D.

A. "Corbie steps" (also called corbel steps or crow steps) is the name given to the step-like trimming on the steep gables of some dwelling houses and other buildings. This finish was used for gables on Scottish houses from the 14th to the 17th century, and was also used in Holland, Flanders, and Germany. Some of the early Dutch houses in New York had gables finished with corbie steps.

My dear Senator Ervin:

In response to your letter of September 12, I am sending you the enclosed copy of our recent report, "The Negro and the Ballot in the South." I refer you particularly to pages 8 and 9 for a discussion of voter registration figures.

As you will see, we did not find a decrease in Negro registration for the entire South; the drop of 45,845 referred to by the Washington Post applied to eight states for which reliable statewide figures could be secured. In several of the eight states Negro registration increased, but these gains were offset by losses in other states. In each state where a decline occurred, the figures were obtained from official state sources.

Our figures for North Carolina show a gain of 15,000 Negro registrants between 1956 and 1958. No one regrets more than we that it has not been possible to give complete county-by-county figures for North Carolina; we have simply not been able to obtain these figures for every county in the State. However, our statewide estimates -- the latest made by the executive secretary of the State Election Board -- have not been challenged and have tallied with estimates used by such respected newspapers as the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel.

The Southern Regional Council's only purpose is to present as accurate a picture of registration and voting as possible. Our readiness to report progress in Negro suffrage is clearly evident in the reports we have published periodically since 1947.

If we can furnish additional information on these or other questions, feel free to call on us.

SRC AND RED RECORDS

The Associated Press has distributed to member newspapers an article by Bem Price on Harold C. Fleming of Atlanta. Mr. Fleming is director of the Southern Regional Council.

Mr. Price describes Mr. Fleming as an "advocate of the moderate approach to the South's ancient racial problem." Mr. Fleming and the Southern Regional Council are moderate only if one believes the NAACP is also moderate. The objectives of the SRC and the NAACP are the same--an end to separate public schools in the South.

The Southern Regional Council has received many thousands of dollars from the Fund for the Republic, a Northern foundation that acts as paymaster for integration in the South.

The May 15 issue of Firing Line, a publication of the National Americanism Commission of the American Legion, says:

"Records of the American Legion reveal a definite trend of interrelationship between the Southern Regional Council and the Southern Conference For Human Welfare, a defunct communist front organization."

Last December, an official of the SRC denied that the organization is the successor of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

A documented study of the SRC in the Legion publication states that 16 former and nine present directors of the Southern Regional Council have been affiliated with the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

This important information was not in Bem Price's article.

HAROLD C. FLEMING
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

June 28, 1957

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

Mr. Thomas Waring, Editor
The News and Courier
Charleston, South Carolina

Dear Mr. Waring:

Your editorial of June 25 titled "SRC and Red Records" seeks to discredit the Southern Regional Council. I trust that in the interest of fairness you will publish this reply.

There is little point in quarreling about interpretations of "moderate" -- except to say that, by your reasoning, the News and Courier can be no more moderate than the Ku Klux Klan, since both have the objective of maintaining a completely segregated school system.

You are correct in saying that the SRC has received grants-in-aid from the Fund for the Republic. So have the Southern Presbyterians, the Methodists, the Episcopalians, the Catholic Committee of the South, and most of the other major religious groups in the South. One of the beneficiaries of a Fund for the Republic grant -- that to the Southern Association of Nieman Fellows -- was the editor of the News and Courier himself, who received a fellowship under the Fund-financed program.

More importantly, you quote the Firing Line as establishing "a definite trend of interrelationship between the Southern Regional Council and the Southern Conference For Human Welfare, a defunct communist front organization." The "evidence" cited in support of this statement is that "16 former and nine present directors of the Southern Regional Council have been affiliated with the Southern Conference for Human Welfare." The obvious implication is that these directors have infected the SRC with pro-communist sympathies.

This charge is utterly false and is supported by "evidence" of the most dishonest sort. The "nine current directors" are Southerners of unimpeachable character, including two presidents of state-supported colleges, a labor official who serves by appointment on a state commission, the presidents of three of the South's leading Negro institutions of higher learning, the president emeritus of a Georgia Methodist college, a past president of the Georgia League of Women Voters, and a past president of the University of South Carolina Alumni Association.

The high crime of which these persons stand convicted in your eyes is shared by the Hon. James F. Byrnes, who prominently graced a dinner staged by the Southern Conference in 1945. Is one to believe that Mr. Byrnes is a carrier of the dread infection you ascribe to nine of SRC's 80 board members?

Among the past SRC board members indicted by the Firing Line is the late Dr. Charles S. Johnson, president of Fisk University. Until his recent death, Dr. Johnson served on the board of the Southern Education Reporting Service -- along with the editor of the News and Courier. Does this mean that the SERS and the worthy editor are tainted by this "definite trend of interrelationship"?

Among the other SRC directors cited by the Firing Line is that distinguished North Carolina scholar, the late Dr. Howard W. Odum. Dr. Odum was one of the chief authorities relied on by Attorney Robert McC. Figg in his brief defending the Clarendon County school authorities. What is one to make of this "interrelationship"?

The cynical formula that you have so readily applied to the SRC can be used to damage the reputation of any body of citizens. The SRC is and has always been squarely opposed to communism and all other totalitarian doctrines. I respectfully suggest that the News and Courier would serve its cause better if it based its criticisms on real differences of opinion rather than unfounded character attacks.

Sincerely,

Harold C. Fleming
Executive Director

REPORT OF THE
SOUTH-WIDE CONFERENCE OF STATE AND DISTRICT SUPERVISORS OF EXTENSION WORK WITH NEGROES

Washington, D. C.
June 23-28, 1945

---oOo---

FOREWORD

The work of the conference centered on some major problems with which Extension Service is concerned. Among the problems discussed were: the role of Extension Service in the post-war cotton program, wartime food production and conservation for home use, a program for our farm youth, assistance for veterans and displaced war workers, a conversion program for the cotton South, rural health, and improvement of extension methods.

A committee was appointed for each of the problems discussed. Each committee met and fully considered the aspects of the problems as presented by the speakers who covered the subject. After full discussion the committees prepared a brief set of recommendations. This report consists largely of the recommendations made by the committees and accepted by the conference as a whole. It is hoped that these recommendations will be used in the States by the supervisors in helping individual agents plan and carry on extension work to help rural people meet these specific problems.

Important sidelights of the conference: a presentation to Miss Lizzie A. Jenkins, district home demonstration agent of Virginia, upon her retirement on June 30, after 32 years in the service; a sightseeing tour of the capital, and a dinner at Slowe Hall. Dr. Jackson Davis of the General Education Board, Claude A. Barnett of the Associated Negro Press, and Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune were the principal speakers.

One of the unexpected pleasures of the conference was the attendance of J. C. Hotchkiss, formerly chief organizer, National Federation of Young Farmers' Clubs in England and Wales. Mr. Hotchkiss has been recently appointed director of 4-H Clubs for the British West Indies.

Also in attendance at the conference was Director I. P. Trotter of the Texas State Extension Service.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE NO. 1

ROLE OF EXTENSION SERVICE IN THE POST-WAR COTTON PROGRAM

A discussion of the role of extension in the post-war cotton program by H. H. Williamson, assistant director of the Extension Service, pointed up the fact that cotton production is not only important to the South, but is important to the whole Nation, because about one-fourth of the American farmers depend upon cotton for all or part of their income.

It is evident, however, that some adjustments will have to be made in the cotton production program in order for American cotton to find markets, and in order that some who are now employed in cotton production may be able to shift to other types of farming, or to other occupational endeavors.

Principal adjustments which must be made involve improving the quality of American cotton, and increasing the production efficiency of the American farmers.

It seems to us that Extension Service is well equipped to assist farmers in making these adjustments. Its neighborhood leadership program, and its 4-H activities provide ready channels through which an intensive educational program may be carried.

A seven-point post-war cotton program designed to achieve higher quality and efficiency in production has already been developed. The chief remaining task is the adaptation of this program to varying conditions in the Southern States, and in securing full participation in the program.

As outlined by Mr. Williamson, the seven-point program is as follows:

(1) Get together on the best varieties

By getting together on one variety, the best variety for local conditions, the farmers in a community can attract buyers who will pay a higher price for larger amounts of high quality, uniform cotton.

(2) Fit cotton into balanced farming

Plan a combination of cash crops, pasture, feed crops, and livestock that will make the fullest use all-year-round of soil, labor, stock, and equipment.

(3) Take care of soil

Stop erosion from stealing away the best top soil by putting every acre to its best use, and by terracing and other sound soil conservation practices.

(4) Make labor count

Lower costs by studying every job in terms of using methods and machinery that will save labor.

(5) Control insects and diseases

Reduce cotton losses due to insects and diseases by using the right insecticides when needed, treating seed, using wilt resistant varieties, and good cultural practices.

(6) Pick and gin high grades

To have high grade cotton, pick it as dry as possible, keep trash out, pick before weather damage, keep the good cotton separate, and see that the ginner uses the latest ginning methods to protect the grade.

(7) Sell for grade and staple value

Clean white bales of longer staple, stronger fiber varieties are worth more. Produce good cotton and get more for it. Don't overlook cotton seed. Handle it so that high grade oil, feed, and linters may be produced.

This program requires the most intensive emphasis on the establishment of a balanced agriculture on adequate family-sized units. Previously, Extension has encouraged diversification and balanced type farming on a voluntary basis, but if the future of cotton is to be assured, diversification and balanced farming must become an indispensable part of the program.

It is the opinion of this committee that Negro Extension workers and their farm leaders should participate more fully in the planning of the continuous adjustments which must be made in cotton production. The integration of the thinking of these leaders with the thinking of leaders of other groups should help to assure more effective operation of the program.

We pledge the unstinted support of the program. However, we feel that more in-service training for Negro personnel would help the workers render colored farm families more effective service.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF COMMITTEE NO. 2

WARTIME FOOD PRODUCTION AND CONSERVATION FOR HOME USE

I. Review of Discussions

Discussions on the subject reveal the following:

1. That while there has been a surprising increase in the amounts of food and feed produced by farm families in the past three years, the increased demands for food and feed by liberated nations, call for increased efforts on the part of Extension workers to get farmers to produce in quantities to meet this greater demand.

2. Food production and preservation for home use is of importance for two reasons:

   a. The health of farm people and people of the nation is directly related to an adequate amount of quality food produced and consumed.

   b. In view of the fact that there has been a shortage in the amount of food and feed produced and consumed by farm families themselves, the greatest contribution that subsistent and part-time farm people can make in winning the war is to produce and preserve the food and feed that is needed for their own consumption, so that other commercial production can go to meet the demands by the Armed Forces and by the liberated countries.

3. The discussion further brought out the fact that the family food supply is preserved by means of both home and community canning equipment and that the major part of food preserved and canned is done by individual families and through club leaders in the regular Extension food preservation program.

The many fine illustrations that were cited during the discussion indicate that there is an opportunity for cooperation on the part of the Extension workers in order that their influence may be widened in counties where these canning centers make it possible to reach a larger number of people and create a desire on the part of farm women to purchase the necessary improved canning equipment -- especially pressure cookers.

Discussions further pointed out the fact that increased production and preservation of the family food supply would increase the income of farm people and help in achieving the larger objective in raising their standard of living. For this reason, this program should be pushed with increased vigor to obtain this objective. Examples were given of extra pantry stores for sale to city consumers by farm homemakers, and while OPA regulations limit expansion in this direction, the practice is one which agents may look forward to as a means of increasing the income of farm families after the war.

In view of the things brought out in the discussion, the committee submits the following program for consideration of the body as means of increasing food production and conservation:

1. Production

   a. That increased efforts be made in getting non-farm families to produce more gardens, chickens and hogs for home consumption.

   b. That farm families be urged to produce more vegetables, small fruits, meats, poultry, and dairy products and to take advantage of the fish culture program.

2. Conservation

   a. That a greater number of people (rural and urban) be urged to preserve more foods for home consumption by the following methods:

      (1) The wider use of pressure cookers and canning equipment.
      (2) Drying fruits that require little or no sugar.
      (3) Brining cabbage to preserve nutritive value.
      (4) Providing adequate storage facilities for root crops and vegetables for winter.
      (5) Take advantage of quick-freezing facilities in the county.
      (6) Place special emphasis on proper methods of preservation to prevent waste from spoilage.

3. That increased efforts be made to get a large club enrollment and a larger number of projects carried by club boys and girls.

II. Suggestive supervisory program for accomplishing increased food production

1. Training programs for new agents, and refresher courses for in-service agents.

   a. By thoroughly acquainting agents with all agencies in the county and State that may contribute to increased food production and conservation.

   b. By the use of specialists in training meetings.

   c. By holding field-training days for agents at Experiment Stations.

   d. By developing joint programs on the part of farm and home agents to further the Live-at-Home program and promote better family relations.

   e. By assisting the agents in training neighborhood leaders to help people do a more effective job of canning.

f. Increasing effort on the part of supervisors to obtain information from other agencies which may promote food production and conservation.

III. Follow Up

1. Supervisors should assist the farm and home agents more in planning for the most effective results.

2. Develop techniques for checking the progress of the work of agents.

3. Increase efforts to obtain the cooperation of State-wide civic and religious organizations in getting the job done.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE NO. 3

PROGRAM FOR RURAL YOUTH

"Invest in the youth for tomorrow and your investment will bring satisfying results."

In view of the fact that we are approaching a changing situation in agriculture which will require the most intelligent citizenry, we believe that we need to start with the rural youth to make this possible.

While much progress has been made in 4-H Club work in recent years, it is quite apparent that a stepped-up and specific program is needed.

FORWARDING YOUTH PROGRAM

1. More people should be brought to understand the potentialities of rural living, so that they can see and create employment opportunities aside from the usual operations of farming and ranching, that will enrich life in the community for all and enable increased numbers of people to make a living in the country.

2. Special attention to the needs of young people needs to be given.

3. Advisory committees of Extension workers to review, plan and implement the services offered youth should be set up in the South.

4. Expanding and revitalizing 4-H work is the first step in enlarging the scope of Extension Service to rural youth in the Southern States.

5. The active participation of the entire Extension staff in meeting the needs of rural youth must be enlisted.

6. Physical, social and recreational programs for adults and junior leaders should be developed.

Juvenile delinquency is a problem of major concern to farm families and agencies working with them. The obvious reason why we have delinquents and criminals is because of bad environmental conditions. Recreation is one means by which youth can be strengthened physically, mentally and morally, which will in turn enrich family life and offset delinquency.

The strength of a nation depends upon the health of its people. The selective draft in the present world crisis has revealed the appalling need for health education and improved medical facilities. There should be closer cooperation between county health units and the Extension Service, by:

a. Making larger use of available recreation leaders to train agents and farm leaders.

b. Establishing local, county and State recreational facilities and centers.

c. Using all available public resources for recreation. Building a program for farm youth in every community, planned and directed by adult advisers and operated by the young people themselves.

FUTURE COURSE OF ACTION

1. Keep all Extension Service employees conscious of the needs for effective service to rural youth.

2. Stimulate individuals in the communities (youth and other adults together) to make a detailed inventory of rural youth in their area -- who they are where they are what they are doing their particular needs and desires

3. Appraise and improve the Extension program in the light of these community findings and individual needs.

4. Make the program known to the youths through whatever means that will best serve them.

5. Solicit advice from other agencies and individuals outlining specific programs for rural youth.

6. Take advantage of the present general demands for food, clothing, shelter and other supplies produced by the farmer to impress upon non-farmers the importance of the farmers' contribution to the general welfare of the Nation.

7. Help adults to understand and accept leadership from youth -- in order that youth may grow gradually and naturally into adult work, organizations and responsibilities. The community might provide for:

   definite youth representation in county counseling groups, and other planned responsibilities for youth to help them find their places in adult activities.

GETTING TO THE INDIVIDUAL YOUTH:

   individual work group work individual part or full-time employment topics for discussion

In view of the urgent need of bringing 4-H Club work up to parity, we recommend

I. Increased personnel

   (a) County Farm and Home agents
   (b) State 4-H leaders -- man and woman
   (c) 4-H National leaders -- man and woman

II. Leadership Training

(a) New agents
(b) Periodic in-service training for agents
(c) National annual meeting of State leaders
(d) Make 4-H material from State and National office more available to Negro State leaders.

III. Information

We recommend that Extension workers be kept conscious of the value and importance of 4-H Club information and that State 4-H Club leaders exchange material produced.

NATIONAL AWARDS:

In order to encourage a higher standard of club work and to stimulate fuller participation, we recommend that a National 4-H Congress and encampment be held annually, and that foundations and organizations which usually contribute to such causes be encouraged to also make provisions for Negro 4-H Club Work.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE No. 4

HELPING VETERANS AND DISPLACED WAR WORKERS ADJUST THEMSELVES TO THE CHANGING AGRICULTURAL ECONOMY IN THE SOUTH

The closing of the European theater of war has made possible the beginning of a movement to release from military service certain personnel, based on age, service record, physical condition and other qualifications. This movement will probably be accelerated as maximum military and defense manpower needs are determined and reached. Likewise, there are already visible signs that industrial reconversion may start a similar movement of war workers toward original homes or new jobs in civilian production.

The impact of these returning servicemen and women and these defense workers on communities throughout the South should be cushioned by a careful but vigorous program of education. Otherwise, we may find the fruits of victory bitter and the anticipated pleasures over our returning veterans and war workers blighted.

It would be well for us as Extension workers to keep our sights trained on the needs of our youth rather than solely on farming as a business. The teaching of farming and homemaking skills, unless this teaching is used as a means of developing all-around men and women able to live happily with people and adapt themselves to changes of environment, may be missing the mark.

Many young men and women have learned skills while engaged in military service and industry, and unless a place is provided where these skills may be used to advantage, those who do return to our communities may develop a feeling of uselessness and futility. Also the plight of the youth who remained in the rural community during the war will need to be considered. They have been denied many of the broadening influences that others have had in military training or in industry and may feel like back numbers when "Joe" and "Jane" come home. Attention to a few things that might be done to attract and hold intelligent young people to farm life will be profitable for Extension and local community leaders just now.

The Congress has made provision under the GI Bill of Rights (Public Law #346) and the Bill for Disabled Veterans (Public Law #16) to assist the men and women during their difficult years of readjustment to civilian life. The Veterans Administration will probably spare no pains in extending to these people every possible aid. But as vast as are the powers of these facilities for extending aid, they cannot provide the most important ingredient -- a public attitude that welcomes without coddling, that extends appreciation without pity, that accepts them with the spirit that will put hope and courage into their hearts and determination and faith as they face the future. This public attitude will be a product of planning and education.

But what has been prepared in the form of home occupational programs, including practical suggestions and ideas for members of the armed forces who upon return home cannot immediately seek outside employment? Some illustrative material showing accomplishments of others might stimulate their imagination and cause many individuals to feel a greater confidence in their ability.

In developing a program for this conference, our leaders wisely provided space for guidance and discussion on what Negro workers might do in their respective spheres of work in preparing and guiding their sector of public opinion and attitude for the return and orientation of these veterans.

At the Monday afternoon session of this conference, Mr. D. Z. McCormick of the Veterans Administration pointed out some of the problems facing returning veterans. He stated that the real adjustment was not to be made by the veteran, but by the public. He cautioned against emphasis on battle scars, war experiences, or other acts and expressions that might embarrass or discourage. Mr. Paul Maris of the Farm Security Administration and Dr. C. W. Warburton of the Farm Credit Administration explained how their respective organizations stood ready to render aid both advisory and financial to GI's who got the approval of the County Certifying Committee.

We recommend:

I. That Negro extension workers become active immediately. They should:

a. Contact county certifying committees and get the county certifying committee to use a small group of capable Negroes as advisers on all matters affecting Negroes.

b. Secure a list of selectees from the county selective service board and through the Neighborhood Leadership System

(1) Give cooperation to and seek the cooperation of other local agencies in preparation for return of local veterans and workers and in getting information to them.

(2) Use extension organizations as a medium through which helpful information is transmitted to the families of veterans and defense workers.

(3) Form an advisory committee in each neighborhood and on county level to spearhead educational work and advisory services.

(4) County advisory committees should contact county certifying committees in seeking to ease difficulties.

II. The inclusion of Negroes on the State Certifying Committee

III. That all available material be obtained for the use of educational and advisory groups for the returning veterans and workers themselves and for the families of veterans and defense workers. Publications from; United States Department of Agriculture, Veterans Administration, Schools and Colleges, and other sources.

IV. That the local Extension program be developed so as to give maximum assistance to returning veterans and displaced war workers on modern farming, consumer education, housing and home improvement, food production and conservation, nutrition, and family life education.

V. That county committees on Veterans' Affairs be urged to communicate with the Director of Veterans Administration, Washington, D.C. concerning cases which have not been given due consideration in the State.

VI. That a veteran who is disabled due to a service connected disability or believes that he or she is in need of vocational rehabilitation to overcome the handicap of his or her disability and who meets the eligibility requirement should be given assistance in making application for a course of education, or training, or a refresher or re-training course and follow-up until satisfactory results have been attained.

VII. That returning veterans, married or single, who meet the eligibility requirements and whose education was interrupted because of the war, be urged to continue his or her education according to provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

VIII. a. That eligible veterans who wish to farm avail themselves of Government loans under the provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

b. That Extension workers and local leaders become familiar with the "GI Bill" so as to intelligently help veterans secure loans.

c. That Extension workers and local leaders keep in touch with veterans who have gone into farming in order that they may assist such veterans in their undertakings.

IX. That Extension Agents cooperate with civic, social, and religious organizations in promoting inter-racial goodwill among civilians and returning veterans.

X. That the Extension Service on county and State levels be organized to serve as a clearing house for all services available to members of the Armed Forces interested in agriculture and home economics, and the agencies and institutions offering such services.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE NO. 5

RURAL HEALTH

Note: Report and Recommendations of the Rural Health Committee Based Upon Discussion and Visits to the National Health Institute and Freedman's Hospital Health Clinic, June 26, 1945

This report is devoted specifically to observations and recommendations in certain nutritional deficiencies and to general health programs conducted by Negro Extension workers, and to cooperative relationships with Public Health units in the Southern region.

A generally poor health condition prevails among colored rural families in the Southern States due largely to (1) low income, (2) poor housing, (3) limited medical and hospital facilities, (4) lack of production and consumption of the proper kinds of food, (5) inadequate educational opportunities, (6) lack of a sufficient number of health workers, (7) lack of sufficient Negro Extension Service personnel, and (8) neglect of sound health habits in the home due to war conditions which have kept farm women in the field producing food and fiber.

Based upon the records of the U. S. Public Health Service of 1940, there was reported a low of one case to a high of 4,139 cases of pellagra in the fifteen Southern States.

It has been definitely proved that improper diet causes pellagra, rickets, goiter, diabetes, anemia, etc.

1. A contributing factor which can help to correct this health situation is: Increased income of these families, many of whom receive less than $500 annually.

2. The production and consumption of more dairy products, more poultry and poultry products, livestock, vegetables and fruits would do much to relieve the situation.

3. Additional training in meal planning and food preparation is essential.

4. Create and develop an appreciation for the foods providing the necessary vitamins for good health.

5. Develop and intensify a program of increased production of small grain crops.

6. Educate the farm families to use more whole wheat products after producing them.

7. Encourage farm families to preserve the essential food elements in milling their wheat and corn. However, if corn or wheat is overrefined, urge the addition of enrichment ingredients. When meal or flour is purchased, the buyer should make sure that he is getting enriched products.

Recommendations for implementing the Rural Health Education Program among Negro Extension workers:

1. That all extension workers seek to obtain the necessary information on State nutrition programs.

2. Encourage all Extension workers to conduct a simple health program throughout the year.

3. Enlist the services of agencies and leaders in carrying nutrition practices to urban and rural families.

4. Conduct a nutrition campaign to include (1) nutrition training institutes for ministers and rural leaders and (2) nutrition centers in schools and 4-H Clubs.

5. Cooperate with the School Lunch Program.

6. Urge the use of preventive health measures and proper medical care.

7. Promote an intensive community health and sanitation improvement program.

Based upon the facts presented, which vividly portray a poor health condition among Negro farm families due largely to unbalanced, inadequate diets, lack of essential food production and conservation, and a general set of factors which could be corrected through Extension education, we feel that there is need for a substantial increase in personnel to serve Negro rural families in the several Southern States.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE NO. 6

HOW SHALL WE HELP EXTENSION AGENTS IMPROVE EXTENSION METHODS?

The Committee makes the following recommendations:

1. Provide a farm and home demonstration agent for each county where the Negro population justifies.

2. Make available continuous in-service training courses for the workers.

3. Use Extension methods to raise the educational level of rural people.

4. Develop effective, unified State, county, and community programs that will reach all of the people.

5. Place greater emphasis on method and result demonstrations as a means of helping to solve many vexing farm and home problems.

6. Utilize the experience of local people more fully in determining the major farm and home problems.

7. Evaluate extension accomplishments through surveys, news stories, photographs, and complete records of all extension operations.

8. Give more thought to rural health and sanitation and cooperate more fully with other agencies in matters pertaining to health.

9. Keep extension personnel informed on the latest findings of Experiment Stations, the Agricultural College, and the United States Department of Agriculture.

10. Give added impetus to the extension program through the use of specialists.

11. Make extension teaching more effective through close coordination with other agencies.

12. Develop an educational program for the purpose of teaching more efficient use of machinery and labor-saving devices to offset farm labor shortages and to lower costs of production.

13. Encourage larger participation in extension programs through more effective use of information releases, radio presentations, and through the publication of an extension organ.

SOME OPPORTUNITIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES IN EXTENSION WORK WITH NEGROES

M. L. Wilson
Director of Extension Work

The passage of the Bankhead-Flannagan Act marks another milestone in the history and permanent development of extension work in the United States. It provides funds to be matched by the States for the permanent development of extension work, and the debates in Congress clearly indicated that they had in mind a well-rounded, well-balanced Extension Service in the future with appropriate recognition of 4-H Club and home demonstration work, as well as agricultural work. This means that now is the time for thinking through carefully the experience of the past years and planning constructively for the years ahead. We are happy to have representatives of the extension work with Negroes here at this time for conferences and to know that you are participating in and thinking about making "the best, better." None of us have any apologies to make for what the Extension Service has done during the past 31 years or, specifically, for the services we have rendered our Government during this great war on the food front. I congratulate you on the splendid work with Negroes and the leadership you have given it in your respective States.

I have some specific comments to make at this time which are about as follows:

First, in principle, our basic legislative acts by Congress and by the States, and the administrative organization of the same by Secretaries of Agriculture and the presidents of land-grant colleges have always proceeded on the principle that there should be one Extension Service within a State under the administrative leadership of one Extension Director and that the whole would be integrated into one progressive group of workers. This being the case, we do not think of the extension work with Negroes as a separate Extension Service but as a part of the Cooperative Extension Service in the States, in the counties, and in the Department of Agriculture.

Second, we need to give thought to the better basic foundation preparation for extension workers. Our hope is that this problem will be brought to the attention of the Negro land-grant colleges and that proper courses and satisfactory basic training will develop therein so as to give us a flow of well-trained Negro workers.

Third, we also need in this connection better research in how educational activities can best be carried on so that Extension meets the whole need of farm families and is practical and realistic in its approach and its accomplishments.

Fourth, among the many important problems for Negro farmers, may I say a word expressing my personal interest in the program for enriched cornmeal in the Southern States. If it were possible to have niacin added to all cornmeal, the scourge of pellagra would be completely eliminated. This would be a great thing for the Negroes of the South. It is a tremendous job because it involves reaching not only families but the men who operate the little corn mills as well. I hope that in planning your programs reasonable consideration will be given to this important project.

COORDINATING EXTENSION WORK

By
Charles A. Sheffield
Field Agent, Southern States

Lester Schlup, chief of Extension Information, in a recent address before the Land-Grant College Association, made the following statement regarding the importance of coordination. He said, "We no longer live in the frontier world of Abraham Lincoln. Mankind today is more closely knit together by modern means of communication and transportation. We may readily assume that the rank and file of people, whether on the farm or in the urban areas, recognize that there are world problems all of which have repercussions on the welfare of the local community. For each community and each neighborhood to understand how it is affected by national and international problems, the national viewpoint should be presented."

With a steadily growing Extension personnel all over the country and with so many varied programs for farmers in the field, it becomes more necessary for us as Extension workers, and especially those of us in the supervisory field, to think more in terms of a coordinated Extension program.

What is meant by coordination?

Webster defines coordination as "a combination in suitable relation so as to give harmonious results, functioning of parts in cooperation and normal sequence." This definition of coordination applied to Extension work, stated briefly, means that all Extension work is made up of combinations of programs, procedures, organization, supervision, subject-matter teaching aids, and information adapted to the use of all farm people, both adults, boys and girls. Moreover, organization of personnel, programs, procedures, and teaching aids must be coordinated so as to give smooth functioning of their parts in cooperation and normal sequence, and to aim at harmonious results in counties and with farm people.

How coordination is achieved.

How can coordination of Extension work be more effectively achieved? Assuming that all of us agree as to the need for closer coordination of Extension work and to what is meant by coordination, could we not agree then that the basis for attaining effective coordination in States is twofold. First, one administration (county agent work, home economics, 4-H Club and youth work) is all Extension work under a single administration. Do we sometimes become confused between the terms administration and supervision? Secondly, a State program for all Extension work and one county program for all Extension work in counties.

All of you in your respective States hear farm people say almost daily that they are confused and irritated by too many farm programs, action or otherwise, being administered by States and counties, some duplicating others and very often the regulations of one program preventing the successful operation of other programs. If the several phases of a State Extension program were headed by several administrators we could easily have overlapping of functions and duplication within the Extension Service itself.

So much for administration! Let's consider for a few minutes the value of a county program as an aid in effective coordination of our work.

We are soon to undergo in agriculture and industry profound post-war changes. The States you represent, excluding Maryland, we are told have on their farms 5-million farm workers while the rest of the country has on its farms another 5- million farm workers. Farmers in the 14 Southern States have only 20 acres of cropland per farm worker, compared to 50 acres of cropland per farm worker in the rest of the United States. Likewise, the average farm income for the South is $850.00 per farm compared to an income of over $2,000 per farm family for the rest of the country. If we are to have an income per farm family in the South in any way comparable to the rest of the country, we are told that the 5-million farm workers on Southern farms in 1940 must be reduced to approximately 2,800,000 farm workers during the next few years. We are also told that subsidies for holding up cotton prices and the increasing use by leaps and bounds of rayon and other synthetics are rapidly putting cotton farmers out of the export cotton business. Therefore, the price of cotton grown in America must be lowered to a level to meet world competition. I think you know that means only farmers having good land, who mechanize their farms and produce large yields of high quality cotton at a low cost will be able to stay in the business.

I will not expand post-war problems further, as this subject will be covered in detail on Monday afternoon. The major changes we are likely to face in the post-war period might be summed up as follows:

1. Increasing Southern industries and moving farm workers from the land to work in plants.

2. The development of market outlets for increased farm production, especially livestock, milk, poultry, eggs, and vegetables.

3. Conversion changes on farms.

4. Training farm people to work in industry.

5. We will need to develop more efficient farmers.

6. We must be willing to look the facts in the face and be willing to face them as changes are needed.

If we are to keep abreast of these changes, keep Extension work coordinated and meet our full responsibilities, we must start soon on intensive development of programs in all counties, based on problems and local situations with the help of farm people.

Mr. Hochbaum, in a recent discussion before the Federal staff, sketched briefly the present status of program-making and its evaluation by outlining three approaches. At first he said, a program was made up of a selection of Extension activities for each of which the Extension worker had a work plan. By means of this he hoped to progressively influence people to adopt the recommendations carried in each phase of the program. The program thus represented more than good intentions. It must move people and get them to change. Secondly, Mr. Hochbaum observed that people learn only, that is change, as the teaching reflects some felt want, some annoyance, dissatisfaction, or problem which they recognize. Third, therefore, in program-making we must always work with people locally to find out through them what the local situations, problems, and dissatisfactions are. And there are seldom short cuts here. We and they are forced to range beyond these farms and homes we know most intimately, to make further inventory, checks, and studies in addition to having all the background information on problems.

The three methods widely used over the years have increasingly won the confidence and support of rural people for Extension work and have resulted in wide acceptance of Extension recommendations for the principle of basing programs on local needs and conditions as determined with the local people.

Are these methods of Extension program-making employed in the past years adequate to meet the vast changes and responsibilities to be placed upon the Extension Service in the post-war years ahead? I think not.

Coordination cannot be brought about around the desk--in offices. It must be accomplished in the field.

AGRICULTURAL OPPORTUNITIES IN THE SOUTH

C. C. Spaulding
President, North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company

- A Summary -

Mr. Spaulding pointed out in his address the importance of business methods in the successful operation of a farm. Said he, "Every farmer ought to keep books if for no other reason than to know when he should quit farming and go into some other occupation."

Stressing business management, Mr. Spaulding cites an example to show how one tenant farmer, who had been coming out in debt to his landlord every year, got a loan from his bank to operate his farm one season and succeeded not only in repaying his loan from the return from his crops, but also made the down payment on a farm of his own.

Mr. Spaulding said that he knew several colored farmers who are grossing annually from $10,000 to $100,000 through careful management of their farms. He emphasized the need for keeping a record of all production costs, and of all monies received from the sale of products. By so doing a farmer can know when to buy a car and when not to. He criticized the large garages and small barns seen on many farms operated by Negroes and called on the Extension supervisors to counsel with the farmers and help them to put their small income to the best use.

In discussing farm youth, Mr. Spaulding said that every effort should be made to encourage farm boys and girls with their projects. He pointed out that his bank was not only making loans to farm youths to buy pigs, and chickens, but that it was also offering $700 in prizes this year to North Carolina youth for breeding better strains of livestock.

THE ROLE OF THE EXTENSION SERVICE IN THE POST-WAR COTTON PROGRAM

H. H. Williamson
Assistant Director of Extension Work

It is generally expected that, among the things that will undergo great changes following the war period will be Southern agriculture. The radical changes in the first two decades after the war may be as great as in any previous half a century. Any agricultural program dealing with the cotton problem touches the mainspring of the agricultural economy of the South, the reason being that cotton and its by-products account for about one-third of the agricultural income of the South.

We are reminded by economists and statisticians that about half the farm people reside in the area usually referred to as the Cotton Belt, which constitutes approximately one-third of the land area, and in this area is to be found about half the farms of America. When we remember that one-half the farmers in this area, which represents approximately one-fourth of the total for the United States, depend directly or indirectly upon cotton for all or a part of their income, we then can appreciate that the future of cotton is not only of primary concern to the South, but to the Nation as a whole.

We can well ask these questions: Is the maintenance of a fair-sized cotton crop in the farm economy of the South of importance? Can cotton be eliminated from our farm production program without serious financial injury to the South and to the United States? Obviously, "no" is the answer to the latter. Can we retain cotton production in the Southern farm program and sell it in the markets of the world in the face of growing competition with foreign cotton and synthetic fibers? In my opinion, the answer is definitely "yes," but with qualifying provisions; two of which can be: (1) foreign trade policies that are conducive to the promoting of cotton exports, and (2) production techniques that would enable us to compete in the market both in price and quality of product.

It is recognized that our domestic policies, relating to price support, and production control, directly or indirectly, will have a tremendous influence on the future of cotton. The same can be said with reference to research. Research not only as it relates to production, but to the manufacturing processes and the development of new uses for cotton and cotton products. The efficient production of cotton of high quality, for which there is a demand, is going to be a very definite factor in the future of cotton. With this in mind, State and Federal extension people, in cooperation with the various bureaus and agencies of the Department of Agriculture, are now endeavoring to reorganize and implement an all-inclusive educational program dealing with cotton production that can be adapted to the various States and areas. It is intended to be a program that will point the way to a readjustment in cotton production in an appropriate and profitable manner. This program is being expressed in the form of seven essential steps. The reasons for, and the importance of each step is to make for uniformity. Each State will further develop the program by adding the "know how" for getting the job done under the prevailing conditions within its own boundary:

1. Get together on the best variety.
2. Fit cotton into balanced farming.
3. Take care of your soil.
4. Make your labor count.
5. Control insects and diseases.
6. Pick and gin high grade.
7. Sell for grade and staple value.

As a production program of this character develops and competition becomes keener, it will mean, in general, shifting production from high-cost to low-cost areas, from low-yield land to the more productive cotton land. It will also bring about the use of labor-saving production and harvesting practices. It will necessitate cotton production being fitted into balanced farming and cotton being used in many instances for part rather than for primary farm income.

Extension services, under the leadership of county extension agents, are in position to contribute effectively by guiding farmers in the application of these seven recommended steps. It's a challenge! It's an opportunity!

WARTIME FOOD PRODUCTION AND CONSERVATION FOR HOME USE

Mrs. Marian B. Paul

Even a year before Pearl Harbor South Carolina had launched its Better Farm Living program, a program planned and designed to interest the farm land owners in producing at least 75 percent of food and feed stuff needed for their families and livestock.

One hundred and seventy thousand small farmers, tenants and sharecroppers were found deficient in the production of the essential foods. How could the already overburdened extension agents reach these persons? The only solution was to interest all available leadership, and our agents succeeded in instituting the neighborhood leaders' program. Each leader was to contact at least 10 neighbors and get them to sign cards pledging to raise the foods in which they were deficient. In 1941, to further promote this essential subject, a state-wide conference of 602 leaders, college presidents, school principals, teachers, etc. was held at State College, and later in the year an institute for rural ministers was conducted. These meetings were followed by nutrition schools in each county.

By 1943 the entire nation had become food conscious and we launched our "Food for Victory" campaign. The work among Negroes was handicapped because of our limited personnel -- only 16 home agents to carry on homemaking activities among 61,000 colored farmers. In fact, only one-third of the counties of the State were touched by Negro extension agents.

Through the War Food emergency appropriation, 12 emergency workers were placed in South Carolina during February, 1944, and four additional workers were placed in April. An emergency war food specialist was employed in June, and now, with this staff which is not sufficient for there are still 16 counties needing help, we feel that we are making some progress.

The goal for the South Carolina Victory Garden program in 1945 is 141,000 farm gardens and 275,000 town and city gardens. Each year a new slogan is used in order to create renewed interest in our food production and conservation program. In January of this year, we launched our "10-Point Food and Feed Production Program". These 10 points are:

1. Make maximum use of available labor and equipment on the farm and in the community.

2. Arrange now for quality planting seed.

3. Arrange now for fertilizers for heavy applications.

4. Check farm and home equipment, and order parts or new equipment now.

5. Grow plenty of high quality grazing, hay, and silage.

6. Produce increased quantities of corn and small grain.

7. Produce adequate vegetables, poultry, eggs, meat, and milk for every family and conserve for home use.

8. Produce, grade, pack, and market quality products.

9. Take care of the land and forests.

10. Control crop and livestock diseases, insects, and parasites.

To accomplish these goals and our 10-Point Food and Feed Production program, we enlisted the services of our 7,826 community leaders and our 7,976 4-H boys and girls. We conducted garden demonstrations, and the Farm Security Administration distributed approximately 6,000 seed packages. A bulletin board has been placed in each seed store in South Carolina for posting the 10 most important bulletins published by the Extension Service to promote food production and conservation.

A series of garden articles is being published daily in the majority of our papers. There is a daily statement over the radio on gardening. Some stations broadcast these statements several times during the day. We also have a series of articles for weekly papers. One hundred and twenty-five thousand copies of our bulletin "A Victory Garden for Every Family", have been sent to farm and town families.

The Extension Horticultural Specialists prepare and send out each month a garden letter to all garden leaders and to several thousand gardeners. In many counties, county agents reproduce this letter and mail it to all farm families.

Letters on sweet potato culture and on home orchards are prepared and sent to leaders who promote the production of these for home use.

With the coordination of all these efforts, our food program for 1945 is most successful. South Carolina has more good gardens than any other time in its history. I quote from Federal-State Agricultural Statistician, Frank O. Black, in a statement June 16. "Yields have been good to excellent. Preliminary estimates for the State's 13 principal spring and summer crops showed aggregate production of 209,751 tons, which would be 49 percent more than last year and 22 percent above the previous 10 years."

The food conservation project is the one phase of our program which needs little promoting. The home agents and neighborhood leaders have completely sold conservation to our people. We have conducted training schools for neighborhood leaders where we taught conservation of foods by canning, drying, brining, sulphuring, dehydration and by storing. All-day canning schools were held in all communities, canning centers established, pressure cooker clinics conducted, and more calls came from individuals than our agents were able to fill.

I visited a leaders' training meeting in Sumter County, attended by 48 leaders, and it was most gratifying to hear these leaders say that except for sugar, they never used their ration books. That is true in many counties. On a tour in Greenville County June 15, 1945, the farm women, with all praise and humility, gave thanks to the Extension worker who taught them to can meats and vegetables for the first time.

But we, who are striving for the peace which is to follow the victories from the wars, see chaos, suffering and retardation unless this program and these workers are maintained. A well fed and healthy people is a happy, prosperous people. I, therefore, urge and recommend that Negro farm and home demonstration agents be employed in all counties where the Negro rural population so justifies.

A PROGRAM FOR FARM YOUTH

Reuben Brigham
Assistant Director of Extension Work

Early provision by State extension services for the adequate servicing of rural youth between the approximate ages of 10 and 30 years is vital to the development of the agriculture and rural life of the United States of the next 25 years, and is equally vital to the future of cooperative extension work. Particularly is there need for developing an effective program of service to rural young Negro men and women between the approximate ages of 20 and 30. Also, for integrating this work with 4-H Club work at the younger age limit and with regular adult extension work at the older age limits.

In planning a service to rural youth, consideration should be given to the situation and needs of every agent and interested group. This should include (1) those returning from the armed forces; (2) those returning from war plants and war industries; (3) those who have been carrying on farm production as deferred farm workers; (4) those in the IV-F classification who have not been inducted into even limited military service; and (5) the wives of the men in each of the foregoing groups. There is also a sixth group of younger rural people whom we may designate as oncoming youth and who are now receiving education and training through the public school system through vocational courses in agriculture and home economics and through membership in 4-H Clubs. All these groups are in the rural-youth picture and should be enlisted and integrated into an all-out community and county effort to (1) rebuild and conserve the soil resources on every farm; (2) maintain farm buying power; (3) rebuild and vitalize rural community life.

The rural-youth needs of each locality should be inventoried by the people of the locality with the encouragement and assistance of extension workers. Programs of lasting character and practical in their social and economic values should be set up by the people themselves in full consultation with their own rural-youth leadership. Specific activities, both for rural-youth groups and for rural youth as individuals, should be determined upon and listed and a sound foundation laid for the economic and social development of rural youth as individuals and as members of groups with common interests and purposes.

Several types of rural-youth organizations, such as county-wide groups, district groups representing a group of several communities within a county, and community youth groups, are all meeting with success, and it is doubtful if any one uniform pattern for organization should be attempted or even considered. The main thought should be to stimulate and advise rural youth in both individual and group thought and action.

It should be our object to see provided in every rural county with Negro population some type of rural youth activity and organization calculated to serve best the interests of each such community and its rural youth. One of the first steps, if it has not already been taken, is to set up an extension committee on rural youth. This committee should be charged with the responsibility of planning and getting under way a comprehensive extension program for Negro rural young people. There is time, possibly six months, in which to inventory the situation, to develop a plan, and to bring about effective action. The year ahead should not be wasted through delayed action or haphazard planning. It is already 12 o'clock--tomorrow is here. There is a job to be done.

A PROGRAM FOR RURAL YOUTH

Dr. E. B. Evans
Dean of School of Veterinary Medicine
Tuskegee Institute

Any analysis of the economic situation of rural youth must recognize the expectation of the younger generation. In recent years, in rural America the trend has been toward dependence on wages for work. This idea has been vitalized by the fact that industries, such as lumbering, mining, petroleum, textiles and defense plants have been developed on a large scale in rural territory, and a wage earning class has been created. The idea of having a job has become dominant, particularly among the younger generation. This trend must be recognized along with the traditional background, which measures economic security in rural society in terms of property ownership, and the economic relationship between parents and children.

The economic status of rural young people who are living with their parents and working at home can be but partially measured by money income, by property owned, or by whether or not they receive wages for their work. Their economic status must frequently be measured by the prospects for ultimately owning a farm or business in the community or becoming established in a profession, in a secure salaried position, or in a skilled trade. In order to interpret the situation of rural youth fully then it is necessary to discover the opportunities for farm youth to attain farm ownership or a satisfactory tenant status, if they remain in rural territory, or for village youth to become permanently established in some non-agricultural occupation.

Most of the studies related to the economic status of farm youth were made prior to World War II. And although the heavy demands on all available man-power have to some extent eliminated the pile up of youth on the farm, a brief look at the situation preceding the war may give us some insight into what the situation may be like in the period of readjustment.

Prior to the war, farm youth between 15 and 24 years of age formed the bulk of the unpaid family labor and a large proportion of the hired labor on farms. To be specific, over 95 per cent of all the young men 15-19 years of age and over 70 per cent of those 20-24 years of age listed in the 1930 census as agricultural workers belonged to one or the other of these two groups, which together totaled 1,843,000 youth. By 1935 probably, 500,000 more young men had "piled up" on the farm, which sharpened competition for available farm labor jobs and no doubt greatly increased the number of unpaid family workers.

To some extent the war has mitigated the effect of these trends, but to the extent and in the degree that they are checked by a positive program in the post-war period will depend the provision of a healthy climate of economic opportunity, geared to meet rural youth's expectation.

Recreation in Rural Areas

Urban studies of youth have revealed that the key to the problems of many young people lies in the use they make of their leisure hours. There is no reason to believe that this relationship is any less effective in rural than in urban areas.

Outside of the church and other organizations found to a greater or less extent in rural territory, there is quite a gamut of activities that may absorb the leisure time of young people. These range from organized group recreation, such as athletic teams promoted by some local agency or by youth themselves, parties, picnics, to individual activities, such as reading, swimming, dancing, and attending motion pictures.

Juvenile Delinquency

What conditions cause delinquency? You know what causes poor plants, poor pigs, poor cows. One writer has said, poor soil, poor farmers, poor techniques as well as an infinite amount of meddling by insects and interference by persons who know less than farmers. Delinquency grows out of poor soil or family background, maladjusted parents, broken homes, inadequate health, housing and recreational facilities, poverty and ceaseless coddling and meddling by doting parents or friends who like to see the baby cavort or do hundreds of "funny" things to satisfy a caprice or repression.

Delinquency breeds in areas characterized by physical deterioration, shifting population, poor living conditions, marked absence of home ownership, faulty educational and correctional standards.

Socio-Economic Standards for Rural People

Programs for farm youth must be based upon sound, constructive and progressive standards, going even beyond the "Educational Standards for Rural People" worked out by a committee during the 1944 meeting of the American Country Life Association in Chicago, Illinois.

Such standards rest upon the fact that the village-centered community is the basic unit in rural society for carrying on the activities. The people acting together discover their needs, plan together the program, and enlist their principal agencies (such as schools, churches, libraries, discussion groups or councils, farm organizations, extension services and other branches of national agencies) to work out the solutions. These standards include:

1. An adequate instructional program for every child until he is ready to take his place in adult society, based upon experiences of rural children and adapted to needs of rural and world community.

2. Modern, well-equipped buildings with desirable surroundings, progressively supported by local, state and federal funds.

3. Competent teaching and administrative personnel with sound philosophy, comfortably housed, adequately paid and rewarded by security of tenure for loyal and satisfactory service.

4. Institutional church with a trained and secure leadership expousing social doctrines that give primacy to the family, land as God's gift to the people, and cooperative effort as the means of individual betterment.

5. Rural public libraries (mobile and adequately housed and staffed) serving the expanding needs of the community and cooperating with other agencies.

6. Neighborhood groups and community councils for exchange of ideas and planned action to find farms and follow facts necessary for community development on the national and world economic and social trends.

7. Expanding employment (agricultural and industrial and professional) through development of chemurgy or diversified agriculture or a balance between farming and industry so as to provide money income and necessary goods and services for a constantly rising standard or norm of living.

8. Establishment of producer and consumer cooperatives to educate farm people as well as solve their major individual and social problems.

9. Intensified backing of the cooperative Extension Service in providing a national out-of-school program for assisting all rural people in utilizing the community resources and adopting the best-known home and farm practices in improving rural life.

10. Provision of localized, creative cooperative recreation to replace harmful, commercialized ventures.

11. Extension of social service, medical care and social security to rural areas.

12. Articulation of local, governmental units in formulation and execution of policy as to constitute the democratic way of life.

13. Cooperation in every way possible to promote world peace, world security and inter-cultural relations so the energies of rural folk can be developed and utilized to prevent war and assure brotherhood, understanding and justice.

Programs for Farm Youth

If farm people in their many communities need the following, it is conceivable that workable programs can be shaped for them:

1. Doctors and nurses, clinics and hospitals near enough and good enough that rural families can afford good health.

2. Schools that are well staffed and equipped for rural and national needs.

3. Land and soils conserved and improved by regional agencies and available for family ownership and cultivation.

4. Employment continuous or diversified enough to supply sufficient purchasing power to buy the necessities and comforts of life.

5. Electricity, telephones, good roads, sanitation and other conveniences at rates within the reach of all.

6. Recreation and amusement to offset delinquency and enrich rural family life.

7. Churches and other religious agencies whose leaders can get adequate followership to master the problems of living.

8. Responsive, responsible and efficient government rendering mass welfare services at lowest per capita costs to all rural citizens.

Such a program implies that rural community reorganization is both necessary and desirable and that farm youth through various agencies can take an active part.

A PROGRAM FOR FARM YOUTH

John W. Mitchell, Field Agent

Since January 1, 1944, it has been my privilege to visit each of the States in which there are Negro extension workers. Even though these visits have been brief in some of the States, I have tried to make alert observations and to gain as much first hand information from office conferences as well as from field visits as time and opportunity would permit. On my last trip in the field, I visited 11 States, going as far South as Alabama, crossing into Mississippi, then to Louisiana, coming back up to Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and finishing in West Virginia. On this trip especially, I was looking for both what was being done in 4-H Club and adult work. The following is my impression:

The General Situation is Encouraging

Decided progress is being made. One can put his finger on tangible results being accomplished by Negro 4-H Club members in a number of the States.

In South Carolina the Fat Stock Show held its third annual exhibit this Spring in Florence. The organization also plans to hold an annual 4-H Camp as soon as travel conditions will permit. In Georgia there was a large exhibit of hams and eggs by 4-H Club members held at the 30th annual Ham and Egg Show at Fort Valley. Not only do they have a permanent camp site in Georgia but the Negro extension workers have on hand some splendid material and supplies recently salvaged from one of the U.S.O. clubs. In North Carolina where 31 carloads of dairy cows have been placed with Negro farmers within the last two years, the first carload was ordered for Negro 4-H Club members and 4-H Club members have shared in each of these shipments.

In a number of the States successful wildlife camps have been held and the workers expressed a hope that such camps will be continued.

Attitudes Good

The attitude of the public toward 4-H Club work is at an all-time high. The public, as it is educated to know more about 4-H Club work and its program, has a much greater appreciation of the work. As a result it is being given increased encouragement.

1. Parents are not only taking more interest in encouraging their children to be members, but are also giving them an opportunity to carry out projects.

2. Some landlords are cooperating by allowing 4-H Club members on their plantation to have projects.

3. School officials are giving the work splendid cooperation. Time is allowed for children to carry on 4-H Club activities in the school. In some of the States, 4-H Clubs are operated in the institutions of higher learning. As a result, the club members do not lose their identity with 4-H Club work while at college.

Potentialities of Program of 4-H Club Work Among Negroes in the South

1. Statistical data on Negro 4-H Club work prepared by Dr. Erwin H. Shinn, shows that there are 1,622,059 Negro rural boys and girls eligible for membership in the States covered by Negro extension personnel. In the year Dr. Shinn made the study, only 17 1/10 percent of this number had enrolled in 4-H Club work, which anyone will agree is a very small percentage of those who should have been enrolled. Negro club enrollment for 1944 shows a total of 104,304 boys and 156,801 girls which is still far short of the number of boys and girls who should participate in the 4-H Club program. (The figures for Maryland and Tennessee were not available and are not included in the above totals for 1944.)

2. On actual observation there is a large number of young people who have a native love of farm life and enjoy rural environment although we often hear statements to the contrary.

3. Rural educational opportunities for the Negro in the South are decidedly on the up-grade. In a number of communities where there was formerly a one-teacher school, there are now consolidated schools with home economics and vocational agriculture teachers. The students are being taught to appreciate rural life.

4. In quite a number of the rural communities, trained young Negroes are establishing themselves in agriculture, showing the advantages of the type of training being received in the Land-Grant colleges and other institutions of higher learning. It also reflects the success of the work being done by Federal and State agricultural agencies.

Finally, the Extension Service has almost unlimited opportunities to render a needed service to colored farmers. And because they make up such a large segment of the Southern rural population, any lifting of their living standards is sure to play an important part in raising the whole level of rural life in the South.

Recommendations

While much progress has been made in 4-H Club work in recent years, it is apparent that a stepped-up and specific program is needed. Therefore,

I make the following recommendations:

1. Encourage extension workers to devote a just proportion of their time to the 4-H Club program.

2. Offer awards and scholarships to Negro 4-H Club members in order to provide new stimuli and incentives.

3. Strengthen the program by appointing a full-time Negro 4-H Club leader in each of the States where there is a Negro Land-Grant college.

4. Appoint two capable colored men on the Federal level to give their full time to the 4-H program. This would further implement the excellent work now being done by Dr. Erwin H. Shinn and other 4-H Club officials working out of the Washington office.

EXTENSION INFORMATION TECHNIQUES

Lester A. Schlup
Chief, Division of Extension Information

Educational work with Negro farm people presents a great and extremely vital challenge to the effectiveness of Extension techniques. Not all of the mass communication media, such as the press and the radio, can be used with maximum results. Publications issued by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural Colleges, in many instances, need to be written in more simplified language to meet the requirements of understanding of the educational level of many farm people. Census data for 1940 indicate that there are many, many families which do not have a radio, although in a great many instances farm programs are heard in listening groups at meetings.

All of this points to two things: (1) We need to amplify the basic information that we have about the situation of Negro farm people before we can recommend intelligently that this or that informational or visual method can be used with effectiveness; and, (2) we need to know more about the problems of the Negro agents, such as lack of cameras, projectors, mimeograph machines, and other equipment and facilities, as well as the availability of electrical power for projection equipment. Studies along these lines would be very valuable as a basis for a definite program of visual and information aids to Negro agents.

It seems evident that greater use could be made by the agents of intelligently written, brief, and well-illustrated circular letters..... photographs, even though not technically perfect, could be used to a larger extent in explaining how better practices have been adopted to advantage. Such photographs would be even more effective if they illustrated the "before-and-after" to contrast the good results with the situation that was corrected. Photographs always lend real-life authenticity to a recommendation, which may fall flat if reliance is placed solely upon talking about it.....likewise, film slides would be helpful. Film slides are nothing more than a series of still photographs put together in a well-organized series on a strip of film, and projected on a screen. The agent's own pictures, either in film slide form or on 2x2 glass slides would be better than United States Department of Agriculture series because they would portray local situations known to the people seeing them. They would have the home-spun flavor so helpful in "selling" good practices.

It seems evident that more training of district and local agents is needed in techniques such as these. We, in the Division of Extension Information, have been so pressed with the necessities arising out of the urgency of the war that we have not been able to give enough attention to providing such aids as film slides showing how to prepare good circular letters or how to use the radio, or how to write a news story, or how to take a good photograph. Extension editors in the States have also been hard pressed during the war. However, as the postwar period approaches closer and closer, and as the present restrictions on all types of equipment will gradually improve, we hope to remedy our present lack of aids. When these become available they will be supplied some without cost, some at a nominal cost, for the use of supervisors and district agents in agent training meetings.

The Extension Service Review, house organ of the entire Cooperative Extension Service, has had very few stories of Negro work during the last 18 months. This is due primarily to the fact that few such stories have been supplied to us. We could use more stories which would reflect how the agents are planning, organizing and carrying out their programs, what methods they use to reach and influence farm people, what results they obtain, and the like. Such stories, not more than 400 words in length, would be welcome. They would help to spread effective ideas and techniques developed by one agent to other agents. They should be sent to the State extension editor for State clearance, and for sending to the Extension Service Review.

A CONVERSION PROGRAM FOR THE COTTON SOUTH

Note: The statement below represents a summary of a symposium on the conversion program. Participants in the symposium were Dr. F. F. Elliot, Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel, and Dr. Sherman Johnson of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Steadily rising competition from foreign growths and synthetics is making the position of United States cotton growers increasingly precarious. If the farm price of cotton is maintained at or near parity in the years after the war, export and domestic markets will be seriously reduced. Yet large numbers of cotton farmers would find it impossible to continue to grow cotton at freely competitive prices.

The position of all of Southern agriculture is seriously jeopardized, for cotton is by far the most important cash crop of the area and is grown by half of the South's farm families.

Also, the difficulties besetting cotton as a commodity are not the only threat to the future well-being of Southern farm people. Large numbers of them are seriously underemployed, on farms that are either too small or for other reasons too unproductive to fully utilize the skill and labor of a farm family and to yield an adequate family living. During the decade ending with 1942, farm income per family in the South was less than half that of farm families in the rest of the country. Immediate difficulties are heightened as mechanization and other improvements in the technology of agricultural production push more and more families off their farms and often completely out of agriculture. After the war, even more rapid gains in mechanization are in prospect. For the long run, mechanization holds promise of more productiveness and better incomes. For the short run, without careful management it can mean great distress.

In the tangled situation two facts stand out. First, efforts to maintain the position of cotton artificially are, in the long run, almost certainly doomed to failure. Price maintenance means loss of the export trade and reduction of home markets, as well as an eventual choice between drastic acreage control and the piling up of an unmanageable surplus. Export subsidies invite retaliation. Support of cotton through income payments to growers means increasing dependence of Southern farmers on large year-to-year Federal appropriations. Neither course would cure the situation; both would tend to perpetuate the conditions that made Federal aid necessary.

Second, strong tides toward more diversified farming and displacement of many farm families already are running in the agricultural South. Efforts to prop up cotton artificially could not stem that tide; they would only cause dangerous cross-currents.

Another course is open--an agricultural conversion program to take full advantage of the tides that are running and to harness their power constructively. Such a conversion program would call for a competitive price for all cotton so as to increase consumption and encourage production of the South's leading crop by farmers who could grow it efficiently. A conversion program also would assist farmers who cannot grow cotton profitably to shift to other farm enterprises, and would assist underemployed members of the region's dense farm population to leave agriculture altogether for productive work in industry or trade. Conversion would mean fewer and larger farms, better farm incomes, and a higher agricultural income for the whole region.

Hand in hand with the agricultural conversion program would go a broad program to encourage greater industrialization in the South. Obviously, people should not be encouraged to leave farms unless they have good jobs to go to in other lines. Also, more industry and trade in the South will mean better markets for the farm people who remain on the land.

In the decade after the last war, without the aid of any definite program non-agricultural employment in the South increased by a third. A nearly two-thirds increase will be required in the decade after this war to provide full-time jobs for all of the working force of the area, including those who leave farms. The South has the basic human and physical resources for such an increase. An integrated program of technical assistance and credit would greatly stimulate such a development. Although interdependent, and closely related as to timing, the agricultural and industrial programs would of necessity operate separately. Local, State, and Federal agricultural agencies and organizations that would handle much of the job of farm conversion are not equipped for widespread action in the nonfarm field. An outstanding exception is development of new processing and marketing facilities for the new products that would be produced on Southern farms. There, agriculture has a direct interest in adequate and well-timed development, and a large contribution to make.

Essentials of the agricultural conversion program would consist of: (1) A freely competitive price for all cotton, (2) cotton price adjustment payments on a descending scale for a limited period to cushion the drop from present price levels (3) a broad program of assistance to farmers who needed to go out of cotton, reduce their cotton acreage, enlarge their farms, or make other basic changes in order to establish a stable, diversified pattern of farming that could best be expected to yield adequate incomes, (4) an integrated system of conversion payments and credit facilities to help farmers make the required changes, with aid conditioned on following long-range individual farm plans, and (5) a program for training for other work farm people who wanted to leave agriculture and of helping them locate jobs and establish themselves.

Under conditions of full national employment, the active phase of the conversion program could be completed in 10 years. The diminishing cotton price adjustments would be made during a 5-year period. Conversion of individual farms also could be accomplished in 5 years, but it would be reasonable to expect farmers to enter such a program in different years during the decade.

While full national employment would speed the conversion program and enhance its benefits, the success of the program would not be dependent on full employment. Even with considerable unemployment, the conversion program would have advantages over other possible approaches.

During the first decade, the conversion program might cost the Federal Government an average of 460 million dollars a year. This sum would be something more than 100 million dollars larger than the average cost of farm programs in the South during the 3 years before the war. It would be larger than the estimated cost of some of the alternative approaches for the future, smaller than that of others.

It could be expected, however, to result in the greatest farm income for the region, and because of the smaller number of farm families, an even larger relative advantage in income per farm family.

During the second decade and thereafter, the conversion program, while it still could be expected to yield the largest farm income, would be by far the least expensive of the possible approaches. Once the major phase of agricultural conversion has been completed, the cost to the Government would be confined to that of a continuing conservation program. The other approaches, since they would not have cured fundamental weaknesses, would cost more in the second decade than in the first.

Carrying out a truly effective conversion program would require changes in well-established patterns of farming and habits of thought. Prejudices and educational deficiencies would have to be taken into account and overcome. Determined effort and close cooperation on the part of farm and city people and local, State, and Federal governments would be required. In a word, the difficulties would be great.

But the gains could be tremendous. Alone of all possible approaches, the conversion program offers a way toward curing, and not merely palliating, the ills that have beset the agriculture of the South.

AN APPRAISAL OF THE CONFERENCE

H. W. Hochbaum
Chief, Division of Field Coordination

This has been a fine conference in every way. It was inspiring to hear the many good talks and to note the earnestness and diligence of all who attended. The recommendations of the various committees are well thought out and well expressed. They are excellent contributions toward better fitting extension work to meet some of the major problems and responsibilities of today. The many opportunities for the exchange of experiences between supervisors from so large a region of the country may have better mutual understanding and have a higher appreciation of the part extension workers can play in improving farm and rural life. The supervisors left with new courage and fresh determination to help extension agents and local leaders to understand the significance of some of the larger problems which they must tackle in order to be of greater service to rural people. We hope that the supervisors will make the problems emphasized in the conference a very great part of their programs of supervision. We hope that they will do more than talk these things over with the county extension agents. Supervisors can rightly do so much more if they will sit down with each agent, come to an agreement on the need for attacking these problems, and show them how to do this in terms of their own conditions by actually helping each agent make a plan of work involving the best use of the most fitting extension method to influence the largest possible number of people to change their habits and practices. Then the supervisor may very well follow up these spelled out and scheduled plans and systematically help the agent carry through and meet the desired goals.

We here in Washington are glad that you could come here for this conference. We enjoyed working with you and we wish you every success in the important work you are doing.

Dr. Guy B. Johnson

Atlanta 3, Georgia

My dear Dr. Johnson:

I am sending you enclosed a copy of our addresses for the Associations of the Southern Region. In several instances you will see that we have had to type in a title because the executive director has resigned. The turnover in Associations, and particularly in Negro branches, is so great as to be really frightening particularly as we have great difficulty in locating adequate sources for replacements.

Now that I think of it, I need not explain to you how difficult it is to secure new staff. I was almost as pleased as you must have been to learn that you were able to get two new people with another in sight.

Perhaps I ought to say too that we are asking all our Associations to give special attention in the months immediately ahead to the problems related to returning Negro servicemen. We are hopeful that our people, either on their own initiative or in groups such as you are developing, may use their influence to secure the aid of public officials, newspaper editors, and the like, in giving Negroes a better deal. We shall urge that the Y.W.C.A. does not act alone when there is any going concern in the community with which it can work to these ends. I mention this because it may be that some of Dr. Mitchell's work can be helped along by the Y.W.C.A. leaders if they know about it.

I appreciate very much the material you have sent. The report of the Committee of Editors and Writers of the South seems to me beautifully done from the standpoint of form and usability.

You were very good to tell me so explicitly about your interview with your doctor. It does sound reasuring if you meet the conditions. I hope you are planning on a real vacation also.

Cordially yours,

Dear Mrs. Smith:

It was very good of you to send us the list of Associations in the southern region. This is going to be extremely useful to us. I am bringing the list to Dr. Mitchell's attention, and we plan to distribute sample copies of a new pamphlet entitled "Opportunities for the Negro Veteran in Atlanta, Georgia" to the Negro YW branches. I am enclosing a copy of this pamphlet.

I am glad that you like the material we have been sending. Incidentally, we have three or four new pamphlets stacked up waiting for pamphlet envelopes.

I hope you are getting a little rest and relaxation this summer. I am trying to line up a vacation for the first half of August, but I know that if things run true to form something will happen to cut it down to a few days.

July 1, 1945

MR. GUY V. ALDRICH

Mr. Aldrich's experience includes the following positions in the Young Men's Christian Association:

General Secretary, State University of Iowa

Educational Director, Department of the East, National War Work Council

Associate General Secretary, Rochester, New York

State Secretary, Wisconsin

Executive Secretary, North Central Area Council

He is a member of the F. and A.M., Delta Sigma Rho honorary fraternity, and a former member of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. In Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, he was President of the Board of Education.

The Southern Area Council of Young Men's Christian Associations

The Southern Area Council is a federation of local member Associations in Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, and Georgia, which functions as a section of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A.

The responsibility of the Area Council is to federate the Association interests of the South, strengthen local Associations in their service to youth, provide leadership in work with young people in sections and communities without Y.M.C.A.'s and to assist such communities in the organization of local Y.M.C.A.'s where it is desired and where adequate resources warrant such action.

Service rendered to member Associations includes assistance in the development of their program, counsel in matters of administration and community problems and helping them to secure adequate and competent personnel. Such service is rendered through visits of members of the Area staff, surveys, conferences and assemblies, the making available of program and other materials and through correspondence.

The Board of the Area Council serves as the agent of member Associations in dealing with governmental agencies, church bodies and other representative national and state groups.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION we regard as being in its essential genius a world-wide fellowship of men and boys, united by a common loyalty to Jesus, for the purpose of developing Christian personality and building a Christian society.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Because of the shortage in paper and the difficulty in getting printing done, both due to the war situation, and the related fact that our 1943-1944 catalogue due in March, 1944, did not appear until late in the summer of that year, we are issuing this brief catalogue. For fuller information and for description of courses, please refer to the 1943-1944 catalogue.

For the duration of the war in order to synchronize with military training programs within the University the year has been divided into three semesters of sixteen weeks each. The Summer Semester is divided into two units of eight weeks each. We are listing in this catalogue the second of these terms beginning September third. The Winter Semester follows immediately.

Please see me about addresses.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Several University scholarships, available to both men and women, are open to candidates in any department represented in the Graduate School.

The Department of Social Work has one graduate fellowship which pays $600 a year and tuition.

The Division participates in the Scholarship program of the American Red Cross. In the year 1943-1944 two scholarship students were assigned to this School. These scholarships pay all tuition and fees and $65 a month for living expenses. Application for admission to the School should be made to the Division of Public Welfare and Social Work. Application for scholarship must be made to the Southeastern Area, American Red Cross, 230 Spring Street, N.W., Atlanta 3, Georgia.

LOAN FUNDS

Each year the Chapel Hill Branch of the American Association of University Women makes available for the use of women graduate students a loan fund of $100. Applications for this fund should be made to the Chapel Hill Branch of the A.A.U.W. Besides this special loan fund, the general loan funds, announced in the University catalogue, are open to graduate students. Applications, approved by the Dean of the Graduate School, should be made to the officer in charge of student loans.

The North Carolina Rural Rehabilitation Corporation has set apart from its reserve fund $25,000 as a loan fund for social work students. Applications should be made through the Division of Public Welfare and Social Work of the University. Money may be borrowed at four per cent interest and may be repaid on as easy terms as sixty monthly installments beginning one year after the student finishes his period of study. Two responsible endorsers are required.

Kenan Hall, an attractive new dormitory, is maintained for graduate and professonal women. This dormitory provides residence for 130 students. Five other dormitories are also reserved for women. The student furnishes bed linen, blankets, pillows, and towels. Application should be made well in advance of the date of entry to Mrs. Marvin H. Stacy, Dean of Women, accompanied by a deposit of $6.00. Details as to rental charges may be secured from Mrs. Stacy. For dormitory rooms men should make application to Mr. T. H. Evans, General Cashier of the University.

The University maintains dining halls at which meals are served at the lowest possible cost. There are also a number of cafeterias and other eating places in the village.

ADMISSION

Application for admission should be made at least two months before the beginning of the term to which the applicant seeks admission. It is especially important that application for admission to field work courses be made at least two months in advance of the beginning of the course. Application blanks will be furnished on request.

Before a student may be admitted to candidacy for a degree in Social Work he must have completed the work for the bachelor's degree in a college or university of recognized standing with a major of twenty semester hours in economics, political science, psychology, or sociology. In all cases he should have had the basic introductory courses in economics, psychology, and sociology. The student deficient in these requirements may be admitted to courses in the discretion of the Division, but must remove the deficiencies before he may be admitted to candidacy for a degree.

The student who has completed twenty semester hours in sociology, psychology, economics, and political science, or in these and the basic courses in biology, and who has completed twelve semester hours in one of these social sciences may be admitted to candidacy for the certificate in social work only.

CERTIFICATE AND DEGREES

The work offered by the Division of Public Welfare and Social Work leads, (1) to a Certificate in Social Work; (2) to the degree of Master of Science in Social Work; (3) to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The Certificate in Social Work will ordinarily require a minimum of two semesters' work, and must cover the "Minimum Curriculum" prescribed by the American Association of Schools of Social Work.

For the degree of Master of Science in Social Work a minimum of four semesters is required. At least nine courses must be chosen from those approved by the Graduate School for the degree of Master of Arts. The selection of these courses must conform to the general rules of the Graduate School as to major and minor grouping. The same principle will be applied, in so far as practicable, to the selection of other courses.

On the recommendation of the faculty of the Department of Social Work the requirement of a reading knowledge of a foreign language may be waived in the case of a candidate for the degree of Master of Science in Social Work.

Credit for graduate work to be applied in satisfaction of the requirements for the degree of Master of Science in Social Work not to exceed two full courses, acceptable for transfer for the degree of Master of Arts, from institutions recognized by the Association of American Universities, and not to exceed four additional full courses in technical social work, from institutions which are members of the American Association of Schools of Social Work, or not to exceed six full courses in technical social work from such accredited institutions, may be transferred to the Division of Public Welfare and Social Work of the Graduate School of the University of North Carolina. Such transfer must be recommended by the head of the Department of Social Work and is subject to the approval of the Administrative Board of the Division. It should be understood that the granting of this maximum transfer of credits does not reduce the minimum required residence period of four full quarters or their equivalent.

THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy is conferred only upon those who have completed, with high distinction, a period of extended study and investigation in a single field of learning during which they have gained control of the materials in the chosen field, have mastered the method of advanced study, and have illustrated this method through a dissertation, the result of independent research, which adds to the sum of human knowledge or presents results that have enduring value. Neither the accumulation of facts, however great in amount, nor the completion of advanced courses, however numerous, can be substituted for this power of independent investigation and the proofs of its possession. While it is true that a well prepared student of good ability may secure the degree upon the completion of two years' study beyond the Master's degree in Social Work, it should be understood that this time requirement is wholly secondary to other considerations which are explained in the full catalogue of 1943-1944. In some instances work done in other institutions may be counted toward the degree at the discretion of the committee in charge and the administrative board. Under no circumstances will the degree be awarded until the student has been in residence at least two consecutive semesters.

Judge Davis' Decision

Editor, The Journal: The decision of Judge T. Hoyt Davis that colored citizens are legally entitled to vote in Democratic primaries will do much to establish justice and promote the general welfare. The shame of the situation is that court action was necessary to secure this blessing of democracy. The right to vote is fundamental. Requiring colored people to pay taxes without having a part in choosing their representatives is intolerably obnoxious.

Heretofore, our actions have paralleled those of the people who said "Lord, Lord," but failed to do the things He commanded. Theoretically, we believe in democracy. In practice, though, we are Fascists at home while fighting dictators abroad. Our enlightened consciences impel us to detest the Nazi conception of a superior race. However, we smugly discriminate against minorities with regard to political, economic and civil rights. With sanctimonious inconsistency, we assert our faith in government of, by and for the people.

Dear Miss Clay -

Your letter with check enclosed came today.

Since the office has only received one letter from me (Oct. 17), and since it is not the usual custom to give credit for returned literature I feel that you are due an explaination.

The literature sent was not what I ordered at all is the reason I returned it and I am at a loss as to why you did not receive it sooner as I returned it on Oct. 30th

The communications I mentioned in my letter of Dec. 3rd were sent Mrs. Chas. Saxon - perhaps if you contact her - she can clear this up in the office

I am sorry this misunderstanding about the returned literature has occurred however I felt when I refunded your postage in mailing it to me that the office was not at any expense on my order.

Cordially yours,

Mrs. J. A. Hill

THE WOMEN'S COUNCIL

For Interracial Cooperation

NORFOLK, VA.

December 10, 1945

Mrs. Henry Havens
Southern Regional Conference
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mrs. Havens,

Mrs. Tunstall has turned your request for our membership list over to me. It is enclosed and let me tell you how glad we are to haveour members on your mailing list. I know it will be educational for them and I hope many will join your organization.

Thanks for your congratulations on the Negro police. We expect two more to be appointed in January and four more have passed preliminary examinations.

Our latest project was extending the free X-Ray service, sponsored by the health department, for two weeks for the Negro population. Under separate cover, I'm sending you a copy of a broadcast we had last week which tells the whole story,, of our health campaign. The broadcast was we think another first for Norfolk. We had an informal discussion of the purpose and meaning of our organization, with one of our white and Negro members participating. It went over well and we hope to repeat it soon. There is a public service program here which is on 5 nights a week over our main station WTAR. Time is given to civic organizations free of charge.

We have been having monthly meetings plus executive and committee meetings as needed. Our newest committees are Health, Child Welfare, Education, Housing. The work of the police and transportation committees continues. At our last meeting, Dr. Dorothy Lucker, of the Norfolk branch of William and Mary College reviewed Gunnar Myrdal's "American Dilemma." We received excellent publicity in the newspapers, including a brief resume of Dr. Myrdal's salient points on race.

Mrs. Mason is in Paris now as a delegate to the International Women's Conference. May I suggest you send your idea along to me or to Mrs. Arnold Strauss, vice-president, as Mrs. Mason expects to be in Europe for some time. Mrs. Strauss's address is 1002 Langley Rd., Norfolk.

We have just sent out 250 letters to local ministers, offering our cooperation on interracial projects and asking theirs in our work. We plan to send one to unions, and civic organizations after Christmas. If you have any suggestions for broadening our membership, we would be glad to have them. Thanks for your interest in our work.

Sincerely yours,

Mrs. Arnold Zetlin, Corr. Sec'y

A PRAYER FOR WORKSHOP DAYS

"Father of all mankind, throughout this day, and every day, help me to remember that a very real portion of Thy Kingdom has been placed in my keeping. Therefore, teach me to love Thee:

With all my mind—that I may think Thy thoughts after Thee, from dawn to dark, making beautiful and significant each decision of my daily living; help me to remove all prejudice and small-mindedness, O Lord:

With all my heart—that I may love those whom Thou lovest, feeling for even the most unlovable and difficult of Thy children Thine everlasting mercy:

With all my soul—that I may seek fresh ways in which we can all be one in Jesus Christ our Lord, praying for Thy divine power to surge through my commonplace routine from morning till night:

With all my strength—that I may work the works of Him who sent me while it is day, seeking to channel through every act Thy devotion to the needs of both my neighbor and myself. Remind me from moment to moment that this is not optional, but the last command of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Quicken me and use me this day, for Thy name's sake, Amen."

CONFERENCE HYMN

Lord, only with Thy loving care
Can we Thy truth to others bear;
We ask of Thee, whom we adore,
The strength to love and serve Thee more.

CHORUS

O, give to us Thy grace and truth,
That we may love Thee nobly,
We pledge to do our best for Thee,
And with our hearts and minds to see,
To love, to serve Thee only.

Lord, only with Thy tender love,
Can we Thy grace to others prove;
So let our hearts with love outpour,
That we may learn to love Thee more.

Lord, only with Thy mercy rare,
Can we Thy love with others share;
O, let our hearts with grave o'erflow,
Teach us, dear Lord, to love Thee more.

And in this humble prayer of mine,
Let every task, each deed, be Thine;
And let us here, Thy workers be,
Until we rest in peace with Thee.

Florence Fields, 1938.

Dear Mrs. Cowan:

Thank you very much for sending us the names of friends who will make good Council members. We shall send them invitations right away.

We are about to launch a membership campaign. I hope that with the aid of loyal members we can greatly increase our membership and the effectiveness of our work in places where it is now weak.

Dear Friends:

Please send material about our organization to the following: Mrs. W.J. Abshier, 211 Adrienne St, Lafayette La; Mrs. Carey B. Schmid, P.O. Box 6005 Houston 6, Texas; Miss Catherine Louden, 1844 Colquitt, Houston 6, Texas.

I know these women are interested in our work and will make zealous members. I hope during the year to send more names but it seems as though the work in the deep south, at least in Mississippi and Louisiana, goes much slower than elsewhere.

Dear Jane:

Here is your salary check for the first half of January. The reduced Withholding Tax deduction helps a little, doesn't it? I'm wondering, though, whether the powers that be are wise in making the reduction now when the debt is still so great. The politicians have to work for votes, I suppose.

How do you like our new stationery? We have the full-size letterhead, too, with the names of the officers on it. If Dr. Johnson doesn't object, I will ask him to slip a small supply in his suitcase and give it to you tomorrow. In case he has too much of a load without it, though, I'll mail it to you.

Last week Helen Douglas Mankin was busy with the pre-conference session of the Legislature, and now the full Legislature is in session, as you perhaps know. I don't know whether I shall be able to get in touch with her during the session or not, but I shall try. Mrs. Tilly suggests, however, that Miss Daphne Roberts, who is president of the Women's Lawyers' Association, or whatever their organization is called, might be better. I'm trying to find out something more about her, however, than that she is attractive looking and can make a good speech. I'll try to do something definite this week and let you know.

We haven't been able to send invitations yet to the two lists which you have sent me. The invitation has to be revised, on account of new officers, etc., and the job hasn't been completed yet. I hope that we can send them in a week or so, however.

I'm in a rush again, so I'll be seeing you later!

Dear Emily;

Thanks for your notes,etc. I really had a good laugh about Henry's letter. If that had been me, I could have understood it, but you, well, I never thought I would live long enough to see that. I am sending it on to him in Atlanta and I feel sure that you will hear from him. But think nothing of it, after 25 years with me, nothing surprises him any more.

I am enclosing my December expense account, sorry I did not get it off sooner, but Friday, Mrs Zeuch phoned me and asked Son and I to spend the week-end holidays in South Florida. All the children had not been together since Warren Jr. and Son parted company in Camp Blanding three years ago. So on the spur of the moment after Church Sunday we drove down. It was simply wonderful to see those boys pick up just where they left off, all the Sewanee gossip,etc. The weather was perfect and it was a nice break. Henry was here for four days at Christmas, but returned to Atlanta and is now at the Piedmont Hotel. He has been trying to find a room in town, but gather that is a problem now, if you hear of anything phone him at the Hotel. Just what the future holds is any one's guess, but think he is wise to stay with the Army until things settle down again as he is at the top there.

It does seem a long time since I was there, but I knew it would be this way until the holidays were over. Then both Dr. J and I thought it wise for me to nurse this Jacksonville committee along a little as well as the new State Division. I am terribly pleased the way the latter is progressing, tho not much can be done until after the Board meets on the 17th. We are hoping that the man in Tampa ,Mr. Ed Ray will accept the Chairmanship. He is so well fitted for it. Has he sent in his membership yet? Bishop Wing is going to speeak at the Daytona committee's general meeting on the 10th and that same week to a Rotary meeting. I am planning a membership drive in several places in these Rotary Clubs. They are doing a grand job on this housing situation. Have sent some clippings about the Orlando Club to Dr. J. My friend Ted Kissam really is responsible for that one, I only indirectly promoted it through him. But there is so much to be done, I still wish I was twins. Get the clipping of the editorial that Herbert Davidson wrote in the Daytona paper I have sent in and read it. I was terribly pleased with that,also. It has taken

Dear Emily;

I know that you do not have enough to do...? so I am adding a little more. But I do feel that you will like to do it.

You remember that I told you I wanted the Commission on a Christian World ofthe Triennial Convention, to hold it's spring meeting in the office there? Well the dates set are: March 26 and 27, begining at 7:30 P. M. Mrs. Randall Chase thechairman is most interested in having this group have some of our sample literature ahead of the meeting and also that those that are not members of SRC be sent invitations. They are all from the southeastern part of the UsS. I am enclosing the list, this is a bi-racial group as you know. The subjects we are studying are:

1. Religion.
2. Education.
3. Health and Housing.
4. Recreation.
5. Minority Groups.
6. Unemployment.
7. Labor and Management.
8. Taxation and Public Adminstration.
9. Women and Law and law enforcement
10. International Trade.
11. United Nations Charter.

I know that we do not have something on all these subjects, but you can see how closely our work is with SRC. Mrs. Chase says that any expense will be paid by the fund set aside by the National Auxiliary.

One more thing in this connection, we are asking several specialists to confer with us at this meeting, but we have no woman lawyer. I remembered that we discussed Helen Douglas _____ one day at lunch, do you know her well enough or would be willing to phone her and ask her if she could meet with us the first evening? Then Mrs. Chase could write her later. If not her, could you suggest some one like her in Atlanta? We are going to ask Dr. Johnson and Mr. Trigg to help us also, and I thought that you would join us when you could. It should be a most interesting meeting.

Thanks for your help as always,

Affectionately,

Jane

Memo from GUY B. JOHNSON

to Mrs. Saxon

Let's start an alphabetical card file of people who want to receive announcements about SRC publications. It will include the names of persons such as the one on the attached card and other names that we give you from time to time.

When you get a request which says "Please put me on your mailing list," but says nothing about paying or subscribing, put the person's name and address on the card, write him a note saying that we have listed him to receive announcements of Council publications. Tell him that he can subscribe to the New South at $1.00 a year or to all publications at $2.00 a year. Always enclose a list of publications. We will soon have a new one ready.

January 25, 1946

Dear Jane:

You will be thinking that I have completely forgotten your letter about Mrs. Mankin and the meeting of the Commission on a Christian World, but I have not. As I wrote last week, the Legislature is in session here. Mrs. Mankin has been so busy with that that I have not been able to get in touch with her. I wanted to call her at home at night, but her 'phone isn't listed. I have left a call for her, however, and her secretary promised to bring me a message at the first opportunity. The Legislature will be adjourning in a few days -- perhaps Monday; then, maybe I can talk with Mrs. Mankin either in person or over the 'phone.

I have not been able to find out anything about Miss Daphne Robert's attitudes, so I don't know whether she would be helpful in your meeting or not. I shall try to get some information about her, however, in case Mrs. Mankin cannot accept the invitation.

I wish that I could be going down with Dr. Johnson next week. I'd like to have a visit with you and also to have an opportunity to see what is going on in Florida.

Clement arrived from Shanghai last week. Isn't that wonderful for the Clay family?!

Have you heard that All Saints will have an assistant rector on February 1? I was interested yesterday to have a letter from him (from Ferguson, Missouri), asking that his address be changed to Atlanta, so that he will continue to receive the FRONTIER.

Affectionately,

January 31, 1946

Dear Jane:

At last I have secured a promise from a woman lawyer to meet with the Commission on a Christian World of the Triennial Convention! She is Mrs. Francis Dwyer, Candler Building, Atlanta 3, Georgia.

Mrs. Dwyer is one of a family of lawyers. Her husband and both of her parents are lawyers and I think they all practice together. She is a member of the Christian Church. For years she has been actively interested in the Atlanta Legal Aid Society, and for some time she served as General Counsel, or some such title. Recently, she was largely responsible for getting the new Child Labor Law through the Georgia Legislature — all of which indicates that she has a strong social consciousness. I do not know Mrs. Dwyer, but I understand that she is not only a capable lawyer, but an attractive woman. Perhaps you would remember her as Frances Craighead. (It is odd that she and her husband have the same first name, except for the spelling!)

After some delay, I received an answer from Mrs. Mankin's secretary, who said that Mrs. Mankin would like very much to accept the invitation, but that because of the pressure under which she is working just now she could not make an engagement so far in advance. If she is elected to the Congress on February 12 she will be in Washington in March. She suggested that we call her again after the election when she could give a definite answer. I was afraid to wait that long, though, and decided to try to get Mrs. Dwyer. In some ways, I think that the selection is better, anyway. Mrs. Tilly says that Mrs. Dwyer is fine.

Of course, Mrs. Dwyer would like to have further information about the meeting. I told her of the various subjects to be discussed and that there would be twelve women from the Southeastern States, but I did not tell her where the meeting would be held. As I understand it, you will get Mrs. Chase to write her; at least, that's what I told Mrs. Dwyer.

Dr. Trigg's train was delayed because of a hotbox and he did not arrive until after lunch. He had expected to find Mr. Williams here. Unfortunately, however, Mr. Williams came in on a morning train, instead of one which would reach Atlanta about one o'clock, and left here about 12:30. He will be back, though, for the meeting of the Executive Committee on February 27. He really seems to be fine, and I think that the Council will make progress under his leadership.

I was glad to have a good report on yesterday's meeting in Jacksonville.

Affectionately,

January 31, 1946

Mrs. Francis Dwyer

Dear Mrs. Dwyer:

Since talking with you this morning about the meeting of the Commission on a Christian World of the Triennial Convention of the Episcopal Church, which will be held in Atlanta on March 26-27, I have learned that the session which you are especially invited to attend will convene at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday March 26. You will receive further information from Mrs. Randall Chase, of Sanford, Florida, who is Chairman of the Commission.

I appreciate very much your willingness to confer with the Commission on the subject of "Women and Law and Law Enforcement," and I am sure that you will be a great help to them.

Cordially yours,

Emily H. Clay

Zukoski Pleads For Justice For Negro People

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (SNS)— More justice for the Negro, defeat of the "vicious" proposed Boswell amendment which would require explaining and understanding the constitution, modification of the poll tax law, were among the things advocated by Charles F. Zukoski, vice president and trust officer of the First National Bank, in a speech March 1, before the Civitian Club. Mr. Zukoski is also mayor of Mountain Brook and on the executive committee of the Birmingham and Jefferson County Negro Hospital Association.

Mr. Zukoski said that voters in picking their public officers should be interested in the public welfare rather than selfish interest.

Would Add 'Issues' To School Curricula

ATHENS, Ga., March 28.—(AP)—City Schools Superintendent B. M. Grier says "controversial issues—local, state and international—should be added to the curriculum" of present adult schools. In addition to the familiar type of courses, he says institutes, conferences and community meetings on current public questions should be arranged, as "never in the history of the world has education been called upon to shoulder so many responsibilities as at the present."

When Mrs. C. B. Pittman came to see me this week, she gave me the names of the following people who she says would like to be members of SRC:

Mrs. Lucy H. Aiken (Wife of the building contractor)

Atlanta, Georgia

Mrs. J. S. Flipper (Widow of Bishop Flipper)
488 Houston, N. E.

Mrs. Marcus J. Beavers (Teachers in Reid's Business College at A.U.)

I told Mrs. Pittman that if any of these people are now members of the Georgia Committee we would not send invitations, as we did not want to seem to be competing with the State organization. If they are not on the Ga. list, please have invitations sent. If they are, please let me know when I come back from Florida.

Mrs. Dwyer Won't Seek Mankin Seat

Mrs. Francis Craighead Dwyer will not be a candidate for the seat in the Georgia House of Representatives vacated by Mrs. Helen Douglas Mankin, she announced Wednesday. "It is impossible for me to run in the early July primary because of the pressure of my law practice at this particular time," she said. Dear Friend:

As you probably know, the South Carolina Committee is now a State Division of the Southern Regional Council.

One dues payment of $2.00 a year, to be sent directly to this office, now covers membership in SRC and the South Carolina Division. Half of all dues payments, as well as any additional contributions which you wish to ear-mark for the South Carolina Division, will be turned over to your State Treasurer. We hope that you will contribute as liberally as you can.

Please fill out the enclosed slip now and send it, with your check, in the stamped, self-addressed envelope which is provided.

Sincerely yours,

July 11, 1946

Dr. Johnson:

A friend of mine, Mrs. William Homan, called me today. She said that at the Pan American Dinner last night at Emory she sat beside Mr. George H. Richter of 97 E. Park Lane. She said that Mr. Richter told her he had read some of your books and is interested in the work you are doing here. He would like some literature about the Council, and Mrs. Homan said he might become a member.

I told her we would send him some literature and maybe an invitation to join.

ACTIVITIES OF THE SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL

The Southern Regional Council is a non-profit, non-denominational, non-political organization set up in February, 1944, to study the many problems of the South and to mobilize the people of the region to solve these problems. It absorbed the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation and set out to promote a broader and more vigorous program of human progress in the South, recognizing that problems in human relations cannot be solved outside the total economic and social framework of the region. Here are some of the Council's current projects.

Work with State and Local Committees. In these postwar days when tempers are on edge -when we are apt to act first and think afterward- when the Ku Klux Klan is trying to make a comeback, when race tension is mounting, the Southern Regional Council has a real job to do in bringing together men and women of both races to plan for community development so that all people may find opportunities to live full lives, enriched by education, good health, high income, and real political democracy. Local interracial committees have often been responsible for preventing race clashes, since they bring together leaders of both races to talk things over and plan for preventive action. There are state divisions of the Council in South Carolina, Mississippi, Florida. Tennessee is in process of forming such a division. In most of the other states, there are state committees affiliated with the Council.

Cooperation with Numerous Agencies Working in the South. The Southern Regional Council cooperates with other agencies devoted to Southern progress, such as the Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., church groups, women's clubs, Urban League, community councils, National Conference of Christians and Jews, to mention only a few. It cooperated with a number of other organizations in Georgia in the fall of 1945 to sponsor a conference on rural health, writing and distributing a leaflet on the health needs of the State.

Working Toward a Balanced Economy. Recognizing that many of the South's problems stem from the low per capita income of the Region, and that there is no getting around the necessity of raising the economic level of the South, the Southern Regional Council does what it can to promote a sounder economy in the region. In April of 1945, the Council sponsored a Conference on the South's Postwar Economy, in which experts conferred with businessmen on various phases of the South's postwar problems--agriculture and industry, labor, foreign trade and the South, freight rates and industrial growth, housing, and the like. The speeches made at the Conference are published in booklet form in our publication, The South--America's Opportunity Number One. The March, 1946, issue of our monthly publication, New South, entitled "Wanted: the South's Future for the Nation," is an over-all view of the South in terms of population, economy, health, and education. It is a condensation of the latest book by Rupert B. Vance, entitled All These People. The September issue of New South (ready about September 15) deals with the mechanization of agriculture and the problems created thereby.

Veterans Service Projects. Reassimilating the veteran into the social and economic life of the Nation is tremendously important to the progress of the South. The Southern Regional Council is contributing its bit to this reassimilation through its Division of Veterans Services, headed by George S. Mitchell and administered by a field staff of from eight to ten persons. This Division finds its main work to be with Negro veterans, although white veterans are included, also. The purpose of this project is to examine the operation of the veterans' services in the Southern states, to point out weaknesses and discrimination with respect to the services rendered to Negro veterans, and to make constructive suggestions to the various veterans' agencies. Dr. Mitchell has kept in close touch with the National Veterans Administration, as well as with administration at the state and local level.

Surveys. The Southern Regional Council assists local communities with surveys. The most recent example is the survey of the Jacksonville, Florida, Negro community, completed during the spring of 1946. The survey was planned by the Southern Regional Council and the Jacksonville Council of Social Agencies, which sponsored the survey. Local people collected the data and are now working to implement the action program resulting from the survey. The written report of the survey may be obtained from the Southern Regional Council or from the Jacksonville Council of Social Agencies. Price $1.00.

Informational Services. The Council is becoming a clearing house for all sorts of informational material concerning the South. Although the majority of the requests relate to factual information about the Negro and race relations, many of them deal with other matters.

Publications. Much of the educational influence of the Southern Regional Council is exerted through its publications. There is the monthly magazine New South, already mentioned, which contains news of interest to Southerners, and once a quarter appears in enlarged form, dealing with some special subject. The June, 1946, issue was on the health problems of the South; the September issue, mentioned above, will be on the mechanization of agriculture, while the December issue will deal with the educational problems of the region. The Council publishes various pamphlets on the Negro, such as America's Tenth Man, Understanding our Neighbors, etc. It also distributes literature published by other agencies, if such material is of interest and concern to the South. The publications of the Council are sent to all members and individual subscribers. Many of them are used as the basis of study courses on race relations, the South, etc.

Investigations. The Council sends investigators to scenes of lynchings, riots, and other incidents of race conflict. From the investigations, sane and balanced reports of the incidents are written. The Council investigated the Columbia, Tennessee, riot and published its findings in New South, May, 1946. It has investigated the lynchings in Walton County, Georgia, and has offered a reward of $1000 for arrest and conviction of lynchers.

The Southern Regional Council holds an annual meeting of its members. The meeting this year will be November 13, in Atlanta. At the annual meeting officers are elected, reports are made, and plans for the next year's program are drawn up. The Council maintains an office at 63 Auburn Avenue, N.E., in Atlanta, Georgia.

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

September 12, 1946

Form letter to selected Rotary Club officers

GBJ

There has been a lot of talk about "outside interference" in the South--of Federal laws and coercion, etc.--and yet you, as a civic leader and a fair-minded Southerner, know, as we do, that this is not the answer to what ails the South. You and I and the members of the Southern Regional Council, an organization of Southerners for Southern regional development, know that the answer lies here, with us, and with our ability and desire to get down to brass tacks and ferret out what's wrong with our economy, our educational systems, our political systems, our health, our police systems. The answer lies with us and our ability and desire to see root causes, but more than that, with our desire to correct the abuses in these systems.

There was a race riot in Columbia, Tennessee, and another in Athens, Alabama; a lynching in Lexington, Mississippi, and four in Walton County, Georgia; a posse manhunt in Magee, Mississippi; a gun battle at the polls in Athens, Tennessee. Eighteen per cent of the adult population of the South have had only one to four years of schooling. We need doctors, hospitals, nurses. The average per capita income in the South in 1940 was only $341, slightly more than half that of the Nation. We need to balance agriculture and industry. We could go on and on, but the point is that these are our problems and we as Southerners can solve them if we unite and plan and act--Southerners of all races, business men, professional people, housewives, students.

Perhaps you already belong to organizations for this very purpose. Civic clubs in many communities are attacking community problems, as are churches, chambers of commerce, and citizens committees. State planning boards are planning for state and community development. We should like to have you join with us in our program, for it envisages the total picture of the South--economic, social, racial. The Southern Regional Council is not just another organization which does a lot of talking and attacks symptoms rather than causes. It is an organization for action through state and local committees, through surveys leading to planned community action, through conferences, and through publications which bring to Southerners news of what is going on and why, and suggestions for action. The enclosed leaflet, THE SOUTH IS YOURS, and copies of some of our publications, which we are sending under separate cover, will help to acquaint you with the background and program of the organization.

We are not asking that you join us as a member right now, unless you feel that you are quite ready to do so. We hope, however, that you will read our material and think about our approach. We shall be glad to write to you further about our work and plans. If you feel that you would like to become a member now, however, you may do so by filling in the membership form in the leaflet, THE SOUTH IS YOURS, and returning it to us.

We are writing to you because you have been suggested to us as a civic leader who is vitally interested in the welfare of all people and active in the promotion of community affairs. We feel that you have a real contribution to make to the development of the program of the Southern Regional Council and thus to the best development of the South, and we sincerely hope that you will join with us in the constructive work we are trying to do.

ATTENTION: Mr. Guy B. Johnson

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of September 12th outlining some of the purposes of the Southern Regional Council, Inc.

I admire and respect the purposes of your organization, but after a twenty-five year observation and experience, I have come to the conclusion that I belong to too many things with the same purposes and objectives, and there is more material that comes to my desk than I can absorb. I have also concluded that the effort that I have tried to put into these things has been largely wasted, and I am convinced in my own mind, at least, that things all of us like to see avoided in this country are taking place, largely with government tax money from you and I to finance many false doctrines.

Personally, I can't do anything about it. I blame our leaders in Government and I assume no responsibility for having placed these leaders in power, as the problem is many people do vote in a solid Democratic set-up against the party in power and then face the discouragement of not having our vote counted by Democrats who do the counting.

More power to you, but it is mockery to me to have pointed out the purity of our Democracy, to be credited with unseating the various isms about which the recent war was supposed to have been fought and then to see what has developed in this country.

I do not care to join the organization, but I do appreciate the invitation.

Cordially yours,

Arthur Mackey

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

Sent to all Supts. of Public Welfare in N. C. counties - received June, Aug. New South, and "activities of SRC" - also received invitation.

September 24, 1946

Dear Friend:

Your position as County Superintendent of Public Welfare suggests to us that you are interested, as we are, in building a state, region, and Nation in which there is opportunity for the best development of all people.

With this thought in mind, we are writing to tell you something of the program and aims of the Southern Regional Council. It is a non-profit, non-denominational, non-political organization set up in February, 1944, to study the many problems of the South and to mobilize the people of the region to solve these problems.

We should like to have you join with us in our program, for it envisages the total picture of the South--economic, social, racial. The Southern Regional Council is an organization for action through state and local committees, through surveys leading to planned community action, through conferences, and through publications which bring to Southerners news of what is going on and why, and suggestions for action. The enclosed leaflet invitation and copies of some of our publications which we are sending under separate cover will help to acquaint you with the background and program of the organization.

We should very much like to have you join us in the constructive work we are trying to do. Won't you fill in the enclosed membership card and return it to us right away?

We shall look forward to hearing from you in regard to membership in the Southern Regional Council.

President, O.C.W.
Chickasha, Oklahoma

Dear Dr. Procter:

Mr. Edward D. Hoehert, of the Albemarle, N.C., YMCA, ~~Adjutant Lewis E. Pertain of the Chickasha Salvation Army Headquarters~~, suggested to us that you might be interested in knowing something of the program of the Southern Regional Council, a non-profit, non-denominational, non-political organization set up in February, 1944, to study the many problems of the South and to mobilize the people of the region to solve these problems.

We are very glad to write you about the organization, for we feel that it offers a sound program for over-all planning and action on a local, state, and regional level. It is founded on the belief that the South faces many problems peculiar to the region and that these problems can best be solved by Southerners themselves, planning and acting together.

We should like to have you join with us in our program, for it envisages the total picture of the South--economic, social, racial. The Southern Regional Council is an organization for action through state and local committees, through surveys leading to planned community action, through conferences, and through publications which bring to Southerners news of what is going on and why, and suggestions for action. The enclosed leaflet The South Is Yours, and copies of some of our publications which we are sending under separate cover will help to acquaint you with the background and program of the organization.

We should very much like to have you join us in the constructive work we are trying to do. Won't you fill in the membership form in the leaflet The South Is Yours, and return it to us right away?

It is a non-profit, non-denominational, non-political organization set up in February, 1944, to study the many problems of the South and to mobilize the people of the region to solve these problems. Both races are represented in the membership of the Council, on its Board of Directors, and on its staff.

We should like to have you join with us in our program, for it envisages the total picture of the South--economic, social, racial. The Southern Regional Council is an organization for action through state and local committees, through surveys leading to planned community action, through conferences, and through publications which bring to Southerners news of what is going on and why, and suggestions for action. The enclosed leaflet, The South Is Yours, and copies of some of our publications which we are sending under separate cover will help to acquaint you with the background and program of the organization.

We should very much like to have you join us in the constructive work we are trying to do. Won't you fill in the membership form in the leaflet, The South Is Yours, and return it to us right away?

We shall look forward to hearing from you, and we sincerely hope that you will become a member of the Council.

Dear Mr. Schlehuber:

About six weeks ago we mailed a letter to you about the Southern Regional Council and under separate cover we sent you sample copies of some of our publications. Since they were sent as fourth class matter they could not be forwarded to you at your new address, so they were returned to us today.

We are re-mailing these publications to you under separate cover. We think you will be particularly interested in the September issue of our monthly magazine New South, since it deals with the mechanization of agriculture and the problems and opportunities created thereby.

We hope that you will read our material and give the program of the Southern Regional Council your critical attention to see whether or not it merits your support. We shall be very happy to have you join with us in the constructive work we are trying to do.

Subject: "Machines in the Cotton Fields"

The booklet, "Machines in the Cotton Fields", is appreciated. It deserves wide distribution and I am attaching a list of persons and organizations who would be interested in the material presented. You may want to send a copy to each address indicated and I feel reasonably certain that many persons representing national organizations will want additional copies for further distribution.

You will note that I have prepared a selected list of persons and organizations from a cross-section of well known and influential Negro groups. As you know the Land Grant College Presidents met here in the Department, last week, and I am sure each one would be glad to see this booklet. Attached is a program of their activities with the name and address of each member included therein. I have also included names of professional, fraternal, labor, business, welfare, social service, and newspaper leaders. You may have duplicated some of these names yourself.

I trust the attached information will be helpful.

SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL, INC.
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

We are pleased to send you these two publications of the Southern Regional Council. They should help to acquaint you further with the work of the organization.

NEW SOUTH is published monthly. Once a quarter it appears in enlarged form, dealing with some special subject of current interest. The pamphlet, Brothers in Black, is a sample of the pamphlets which the Council publishes on race relations.

We hope that you will read the enclosed publications and give the program of the Council your critical attention to see whether or not it merits your support. You will recall that we wrote you a letter concerning the Council and sent you samples of our publications about a month ago, saying that we would communicate with you again about the organization. We sincerely hope that you will decide to join us in our program.

Dear ~~Father~~ O'Brien:

Your work in behalf of better human relations leads us to believe that you will be interested in the work of the Southern Regional Council.

We are a non-profit, non-political, non-denominational organization chartered in February, 1944, as the outgrowth of ~~xxxxxxxxx~~ a series of conferences of white and Negro leaders--the Durham-Atlanta-Richmond conferences.. ~~So that you may know more about what we are the Council is and what it does, we are sending you under separate cover, copies of some of our publications~~ The Council is founded on the belief that the South faces many problems peculiar to the region and that these problems can best be solved by Southerners themselves, white and Negro, planning and acting together. It is the function of the Council to study the problems of the South and to mobilize the people of the region to solve them. Our program envisages the total picture of the South--economic, social, racial. Copies of some of our publications which we are sending under separate cover will help to acquaint you with the work of the organization.

~~The~~
The Council is active in South Carolina through the South Carolina Division of the ~~Council~~ Southern Regional Council, of which Mr. Marion Wright of Conway, S.C., is Chairman, and Miss Adele Minchan, 1930 College, Columbia is treasurer. When you join the Council you automatically become a member of the South Carolina Division.

We very much hope that you will accept this invitation to membership in the Council. We need men of your ability and vision to help us fulfill the great potentialities of the organization for improving human relations inthe South. You may become a member of the Southern Regional Council by filling in the enclosed membership card and returning it to this office. A self-addressed envelope is enclosed for your convenience. In your information, at dollar ~~Your name, and~~ ~~$1.00~~ of your dues, and a part of any contribution in money which you may make to the Council will be turned over to ~~Miss Adele Reid of Sumter Rm Adele Minchan, 1930 College Street, Columbia, who is treasurer of the South Carolina Division~~

We shall look forward to hearing from you that you are joining us in the constructive work we are trying to do.

Sincerely yours,

GBJ

THE LIVING SOUTH

By HAROLD PREECE

(Copyright, 1946, by New South Fea.)

Terrell Sledge Prophet From Texas

I don't know whether or not you know of my friend, Terrell Sledge, who publishes a little paper called the Peoples' Business at Kyle, Texas. The town of Kyle—awide place in the road that leads from Austin to San Antonio—maybe isn't the kind of place that you would expect to sprout up one of the prophets and statesmen of the coming New South.

But I've said before and earnest, sincere Terrell Sledge proves it, that those who carry the new South in their souls will come up from the general stores and the crossroads villages, will join with those coming up from the factories and the cities to build a commonwealth based upon brotherhood and cooperation rather than upon salt pork and water gravy. I haven't seen Terrell Sledge or corresponded with him in a number of years. But whenever I think about him or whenever I read his fighting little paper with its message of justice for all men, I know that there is hope for my home state of Texas and hope for that South of which Texas is a part.

David Vs. Goliath

Today Terrell Sledge, who hardly ever has more than a dime beyond the money it takes to pay his printer, has gone out like David with his pebbles to challenge the rip-ranting old Goliath of the whole Southern filibuster crowd in Congress. Terrell Sledge, who talks and writes against lynchings, has announced for the United States Senate against old Dripmouth Tom Connally who filibustered the anti-lynching bill to death. Terrell Sledge, who thinks that every man has a right to whatever job that his talents qualify him to hold, is out to unseat the man who ganged up with the rest of the still unburied Southern colonels in Congres sto kill the permanent FEPC bill.

I hope that Terrell Sledge makes it. I believe that Negroes in Texas, who took the lead in outlawing the Ku Klux Southern white primary, ought to follow up that victory with the practical job of unseating one of the most evil politicians who ever came up by the grace of the white primaries and the Texas oil companies. Negroes in Georgia showed the way out for the rest of the South when they joined with their white fellow citizens, a few months ago, to knock out of the ring House Speaker Roy Harris. Negroes in Miami, Fla., a couple of weeks later, showed their stuff when they helped defeat for reelection, Congressman Pat Cannon who was following in the dirty footsteps of John Rankin.

Turned Down Big Jobs

Now Terrell Sledge is a very modest man and, in the judgment of that aristocracy which lives only to die in Dixie, something of a fool. Here is a man, so gifted in mind, that he won one of the coveted Rhodes scholarships to study in Oxford University in England. He was offered big paying jobs in big cities when he finished his course in Oxford. He turned them all down and came back to Kyle, Texas (population 600) to live and work with the common people, to share their problems and their struggles.

When I last saw him in 1936, he was trying to build up a rural cooperative to serve the poor white, Negro, and Mexican farmers over Here is a man, so gifted in mind, that he won one of the coveted Rhodes scholarships to study in Oxford University in England. He was offered big paying jobs in big cities when he finished his course in Oxford. He turned them all down and came back to Kyle, Texas (population 600) to live and work with the common people, to share their problems and their struggles.

When I last saw him in 1936, he was trying to build up a rural cooperative to serve the poor white, Negro, and Mexican farmers over there in Hays County. He and his brother, Dan, who taught agricultural science, in Kyle High School had succeeded in getting a prize bull from the Wisconsin dairy country in an effort to improve the grade of dairy stock in Hays County. Later, Terrell became a news commentator for a radio station in San Antonio but I understand that he was taken off the air because he gave the people the news as it was instead of the news according to what the Texas oil and ranching interests wanted it to be.

"That boy, Terrell Sledge, has got plenty of brains but no sense," a Kyle citizen who had known him always told me. "He got one of the finest educations that it's possible for a man to get in this world, then came back here to roost on a dirt hill."

Well, democracy probably began on some farmer's dirt hill, with half a dozen men whittling over sticks and deciding that they had to do something about what was being ill carry democracy from the dirt one to them. If the people of Texas ill to the ballot box in the Democratic primaries next month, one of the most pesky enemies of democracy in Texas and the world, Tom Connally, will be out of Congress. And once Tom Connally is out of Congress, there will be far less danger of us being thrown into a Third World war whopped up against our neighbor republic of Russia. For Tom Connally uses his powerful position as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and delegate to the United Nations Organization to drum up that war for the big Texas interests which thinks that oil is more precious than blood. Terrell Sledge hates war as all of us do. And it's time that the South sent up to Washington men who won't study war no more.

That means men who won't study war against their brothers who live across the seas or their brothers who live n Texas and Georgia and Florida with them. "Blessed are the peacemakers," so says the Word. And blessed are those citizens who choose peacemakers and not warmakers to speak for them.

A Council for . . .

Origin

The Southern Regional Council is the outgrowth of two movements: (1) the Durham-Atlanta-Richmond Conferences of 1942-43, in which Southern leaders, white and Negro, covenanted together to work for a better South for all; (2) the Commission on Interracial Cooperation. The Council was chartered by the State of Georgia on January 6, 1944, and it held its charter meeting on February 16, 1944. At that time the Commission merged with the new Council.

Purpose

The Council represents the forward-looking conscience and efforts of liberal Southerners to give democracy a chance in the South. Although it is bi-racial in its membership and staff, it is not exclusively a "race relations" organization. It believes in the improvement of economic, civic, political, and educational conditions for the good of all the people.

Functions

The Council believes that sound information, honest discussion, and cooperation, rather than agitation, are the best methods for promoting social progress. Its functions are: (1) research and survey to find the facts and to determine the possibilities of constructive action; (2) educational work through its own publications and through the press, radio, exhibits, conferences, and personal contacts; (3) cooperation with other agencies which have liberal and humanitarian aims; (4) consultative services to private or public agencies; and (5) formulation of constructive plans and proposals for "the South that could be."

Membership

The council welcomes to membership all liberal minded persons who believe in its purposes and methods. Voting members must be residents of the Council area: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Virginia. Persons living elsewhere may become associate members. Dues are two dollars a year, but members are urged to contribute additional amounts according to their financial ability. Members receive New South and all Council pamphlets.

Southern Regional Development

Structure

The Council belongs to its members. At the annual meeting, which is held in Atlanta on the second Wednesday in November, the members make decisions on policy and program. Between meetings the Council is governed by its Board of Directors and by the Executive Committee of the Board. The Council cooperates with the state committees on interracial cooperation in the South. In Florida, Mississippi, and South Carolina, these agencies have become state divisions of the Council, and other state divisions are now in process of organization.

Publications

The Council publishes New South, a monthly paper, successor to The Southern Frontier, which was initiated by the Commission on Interracial Cooperation in 1940. It is keeping in print such popular Commission pamphlets as "America's Tenth Man" and "Understanding Our Neighbors" and it has published a number of additional pamphlets and leaflets bearing on Southern problems.

Dr. and Mrs. Walker Percy

Dear Dr. and Mrs. Percy:

We are very happy to extend to you this invitation to membership in the Southern Regional Council.

Mrs. Clifton Cowan has written us that you are interested in the work of the Council and have expressed a desire to join. We hope that you will fill in the enclosed card and return it to us soon so that we may enroll you as a member. Joint membership for husband and wife is $3.00 a year; membership for individuals is $2.00 a year.

At present we have no state organization in Tennessee, although we hope to establish a State Division of SRC there some time this year. We have a number of members scattered over the state, with a concentration in Nashville. Perhaps the Nashville group will serve as a nucleus for a state organization.

Under separate cover we are sending you sample copies of some of our publications. The December issue of New South, our monthly publication, contains a review of the past year's work and plans for 1947.

We shall look forward to hearing from you and we sincerely hope that you will join with us in the constructive work we are trying to do.

Cordially yours,,

Dear Mr. Joy:

Thank you for sending us the names of prospective members of SRC. I handle the "cultivation" of new members and will write to these men and women right away and invite them to membership in the Council.

We appreciate the interest you show in the Council. If more of our members would show even half the diligence you do in suggesting prospective members, SRC would soon be a large organization!

Dear Dr. Johnson

I have been watching the letters to the editors (to the extent that my presence in town has allowed me to do so), looking for signs of persons who take an enlightened attitude towards the racial problem; thinking that they may be brought into the Council.

With this in mind, I submit the following names and suggest that appropriate literature be sent to them if they are not already members of the SRC:

J W Moore

John Gibson
Atlanta, Ga.

Rev. Harrison McMains
Atlanta, Ga.
200 Pryor St. S.W.

Robert Guest

Marietta, Ga.

Because I have a great deal of work to handle before leaving town again tomorrow, I have not taken the time to try to locate street addresses for Messrs Butler, Shartar, Gibson, Mrs. Lewis and the Rev. McMains. I assume that they can easily be located from a city directory.

The Rev. Raybun is the pastor of the church of which Eugene Talmadge was a member. As you probably have noted, he made a vigorous statement against the white primary bill. The Rev. McMains, I noted, invited a Negro to preach in his church today. I suspect that a man like him is probably already a member.

Messrs Hay and Guest are fellow workers of mine. I am certain that they are both interested in the problem.

Sincerely yours
A C Joy

Dear Kenneth:

I was pleased to see a recent clipping from the Garland News in which you were quoted on the subject of race relations. It sounded very good to me.

Perhaps you will be interested in the work of the Southern Regional Council. We are sending you some literature under separate cover. Membership is $2.00 a year, and this entitles you to the publications.

I came here in January 1944 when the SRC began, and I have had a little over three years of very interesting but strenuous experiences. I have decided to return to Chapel Hill, so will be back there next fall. My successor here will be Dr. George S. Mitchell.

Very best wishes to you and Mrs. Evans. We are hoping to get out to the old home country before leaving Atlanta.

Miss Antoinette Del Gaizo

Upper Montclair, New Jersey

Dear Miss Gaizo:

We understand that you are interested in knowing something of the program of the Southern Regional Council. We are glad to write to you for we feel that SRC offers a sound approach to the solution of the problems which confront the South, and we are anxious for people outside the region to become acquainted with the organization.

It seems to us that health, economic, educational conditions, and the like, in the South help to cause and to aggravate tension between the races. We think that if there were less talk about the "race problems" and more work on the conditions which aggravate unhappy human relations, tension would lessen and the South would make faster progress. For this reason we put considerable emphasis on problems of human relations, but we also try to carry on a broad program of popular education on the variety of problems which confront the region.

So that you may become better acquainted with the program of the Council, we are putting your name on our mailing list for a three month period. Under separate cover we are sending you sample copies of several of our publications.

Dear Sir:

At the request of Mr. James Montgomery, of the Atlanta Office of the FPHA, I am pleased to send you under separate cover a copy of our publication, The South - America's Opportunity Number One. We are glad to make this available to you free of charge.

With the thought that you may be interested in the Council's southwide program, I am taking the liberty of sending you also a copy of our pamphlet, The Southern Regional Council - its Origin and Purpose, which tells briefly how the Council came into being; and a copy of our December issue of NEW SOUTH, which will bring you uptodate on the Council's present program. There is quite an active Florida Division of the Council, of which Mr. Edgar Ray, Editor of the Tampa Times, is chairman. Possibly you are already familiar with the work of this group.

It is a pleasure to be of any possible service to you.

Cordially yours,

Guy B. Johnson

Director of Counselors
Bethune-Cookman College
Daytona, Florida

Dear Mr. Rodrigues:

We have been pleased to send you complimentary copies of New South our monthly publication, in order to acquaint you with the program of the Southern Regional Council. I hope that you will accept this invitation to membership in the Council.

There is in Florida a strong State Division of SRC so that if you join the Council you will have a state group in which to work. The Florida Division has been especially concerned since the first of the year with keeping the primary under state control and with educating county officials to demand and get their share of the funds and facilities which will be provided if the Legislature adopts the report of the Governor's Committee on Education.

The enclosed copy of the December New South contains a report of Council activities during 1946 and plans for 1947. I think you will also be interested intthe "Survey of Veterans Services for Negroes in Florida.

I hope that you will join the Council. We need you and we also feel that we can be of real service to you.

Cordially yours,

George S. Mitchell

SRC - Circular

Mr. Harold F. Kaufman
363 Aylesford Place
Lexington 22, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Kaufman:

We appreciate your writing us for information about the Southern Regional Council.

Under separate cover we are mailing you material which will tell you about the origin, function and membership of the Council. Briefly stated, however, the purpose of SRC is to provide leadership for the efforts of conscientious and liberal Southerners to give democracy a chance in the South. We put considerable emphasis on problems of human relations, but we try to carry on a broad program of popular education on the variety of social and economic problems which confront the region.

There is in Kentucky a State Division of the Southern Regional Council. Officers of the Division are as follows: Chairman, J. Mansir Tydings, Lincoln Institute, Lincoln Ridge; First Vice-Chairman, Dr. Rufus B. Atwood, State College, Frankfort; Second Vice-Chairman, Dr. O. T. Binkley, 2825 Lexington Road, Louisville; Secretary, Mrs. Hortense Young, The Louisville Defender, Louisville; Treasurer, Lewis W. Cole, 564 Garden Drive, Louisville. Membership in the Council as a whole makes a Kentucky resident automatically a member of the Kentucky Division, and vice versa. Mr. Tydings will be glad to write you about the program of the Kentucky Division if you will get in contact with him.

We would very much like to have you join the Council. The enclosed leaflet contains a membership form. If you have further questions about our work, we shall be glad to answer them for you.

Cordially yours,

Margaret Price

Mims, Florida

Dear Mr. Moore:

Mr. Edwin L. Clarke has suggested you for membership in the Southern Regional Council. We will be most happy to have you join us. Under separate cover we are sending several publications which will tell you something of the work of SRC.

The Council's program this year centers around problems of law enforcement; changes in the agricultural setup of the South brought about by the increasing mechanization of farms; and the stimulation of local committees to carry out action programs withing their own communities on those problems which they consider most urgent. You will probably recall that SRC collaborated with the Jacksonville Council of Social Agencies in the fall of 1945 to make a survey of the Jacksonville Negro community which has led to many needed changes in the city.

There is in Florida a state Division of SRC which has been concerned since the first of the year with keeping the primaries under state control and with educating county officials to demand and get their share of the funds and facilities provided by the Report of the Governor's Committee on Education. Mr. EdgarmRay, Editor of the Tampa Times, is Chairman of the State Division; Dr. William H. Gray, President of Florida A & M, is First Vice-Chairman; Mrs. Israel Kaplan, Jacksonville, is Second Vice-Chairman and Mrs. Warren Zeuch, Vero Beach, is Secretary-Treasurer.

Membership in the Council as a whole makes a Florida resident a member of the State Division, and vice versa. We hope that you will join with us in the constructive work we are trying to do. Won't you fill in the membership blank in the enclosed leaflet and return it to us right away so that we may enroll you as a member?

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Smith
304 South Main Street
Columbia, Mississippi

Dear Mrs. Smith:

We certainly appreciate your letter of July 6 telling us of your interest in the Southern Regional Council. It is encouraging to us to receive letters like yours and to know that Southern people--some of them, anyway--are awake to community and state needs.

We hope that you and your husband will join the Council. We have a provision for joint membership for husband and wife whereby the couple pays $3.00 for membership instead of $2.00 apiece. This plan saves the family a dollar but gives membership to both husband and wife. In the case of a joint membership the Council sends the family only one set of literature instead of two.

There is so much work to be done here in the South to provide equal opportunities for all people that we are anxious to enlist as many people as possible. The Mississippi Division of the Council has planned a good program for work in your state, and we hope that you will work actively with them. Whenever we can be of service to you in supplying literature, speakers or suggestions for speakers, guidance for community programs and action, and the like, please let us know. We want to serve you in every way possible.

We shall look forward to counting you and your husband members of SRC.

Cordially yours,

Dear Mr. McMillan,

We are delighted to have your letter of July 19.

I have picked out a selection of pamphlets, and have started them over to you, separately.

We are a bit shy hereabouts on the "color" end - we go in for the economics and the betterment of race relations. Our thesis is that everbody must get further along, and with that race relations will begin to be less troublesome.

Maybe there is a good story in the blend, at cotton picking time, of the old andthe new in the South. While the plantation economy is being rapidly transformed (in several traceable direction, which is part of the story -mechanization, tenenacy instead of shareecropping, tenant purchase through the Farmers Home Administration, new crops, dairy-farming, etc), and while cotton labor increasingly feels its way into some sort of bargaining relationship (National Farm Labor Union, National Farmers' Union, and informal standard rates for picking), while housing changes, and population out-migrates; still thecld revivals, the old songs, the old banter in the fields and at the store.

There's another good story in showing on a map where cotton is still King. It's a shrinking belt, mostdy in the coastal plain. That isn't understood elsewhere; people think the South is cotton.

We are entering your name as a member. The dues cometo $2.00 a year, for which we'll bill you in due course. This starts our small magazine, "New South".

You will come to Atlanta sometime; please let us know when you do, or simply come down to the office. There's always someone here who will be glad to see you and talk with you.

The South Carolina Division of the Council has as its Executive Director Mrs. Alice Spearman, Algene Acres, near Newberry, S.C. You might try to reach her, for conversation about that State.

Let us know of any way in which we can be helpful.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

Sir:

The New York Times Sunday magazine has asked me to do an article on cotton picking time. Emphasis will be on "color" -- on all-day revivals, work songs, folk beliefs, etc. I wonder if you have any material that will be of assistance to me. Someone has sent me from Washington your, "Machines in the Cotton Fields."

I am also interested in membership in your organization. I was formerly assistant chief of the News Bureau, Office of War Information, left that post to enter the Marine Corps, and when I was discharged moved here to write. Although I've been busy on a book I have done some corresponding for the Times, for the Christian Science Monitor, and for The Nation, on southern subjects. I would like to do more.

May I thank in advance for any information you can give me?

Sincerely,

George McMillan

Dear Mr. Schaeffer:

You perhaps are acquainted with Mrs. Henry Havens, who is part time field representative of the Council. She spent some time in South Carolina recently and brought back to Atlanta a copy of June edition, Ecclesia Plantanda, which had in it your article, "Be Fair With The Negro."

It is thoughtful and useful.

I look forward to some occasion in the future, when we at the Council's Atlanta office can get to know you personally.

We greatly appreciate the list of "cultivibles" in your letter of July 28. We are inviting all these to become members. Professor Coleman's membership was duly received.

I should think October the right time for your Mississippi meeting. You will need a meeting to confirm the program for the coming winter and the sooner the better.

Dear Sirs:

Last week I made a hurried trip to Columbia, Miss., in the interest of Council work. I visited members at Prentiss and also made a trip to Lampton. Every white person I called on was not at home - either absent from the city or not at home. I did meet with a group of interested Negroes, members and others. I give you a list to write in regard to membership and send literature. Those marked * have received the pamphlet on "Origin and Purpose". Just write these and send a copy of "The New South". Send the others the pamphlet on origin and purpose in addition.

Southern Regional Council, Inc.

ROOM 432, 63 AUBURN AVENUE, N. E. ATLANTA 3, GEORGIA

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South

Dear

We understand from Mr. Cyrus Johnson, Chairman of the North Carolina Commission for Interracial Cooperation, that you are a member of that organization. The North Carolina Commission, as you may know, is an affiliate of the Southern Regional Council, and we are writing you in the belief that you may wish to extend the effectiveness of your membership by becoming a member of the Council also.

The people in the South who are carrying the Region's progress are a pretty busy lot. They need to work with others to keep them encouraged and informed about what is happening in other communities. The Council tries to band together these very people.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deeply into our civilization is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards, and to harness our regional patriotism to public well-being.

As a member of the North Carolina Commission I am sure you share our concern for racial understanding and mutual progress. We want you to know more about what the Council is, and what it does in this and other fields. We are therefore sending you a few of our publications, including issues of New South, our monthly magazine, which all members of the Council receive regularly.

We hope very much that you will want to join us, and that we may hear from you soon. Meanwhile, and in any event, let us congratulate you most warmly on your membership in the North Carolina Commission.

Sincerely yours,

Margaret Price
Membership Secretary

Mrs. Eugene Spearman

Newberry, South Carolina

Dear Mrs. Spearman:

Enclosed is the suggested letter to go to Charleston people on our cultivation list (and to others in South Carolina, as their names come in).

What do you think of enclosing the letter with the formal invitation which we will mail out in October? We usually send a mimeographed note with the invitation, and your letter can be a substitute for that. In that way, the work of the Division can be tied in with that of the Council, and vice versa. I'm enclosing the invitation so that you will get the total picture. If you'd prefer, however, we can get the letter out to accompany the September issue of New South.

Of course you are to feel free to change the letter in any way you wish. I took the paragraph about the S. C. Division from your original letter. You may want to be a little more specific; I think what you've said is excellent, though.

You may be interested to know that Dr. Alber R. Stuart wrote us in reply to the letter that he ~~was~~ moved to New Orleans, La., and would like to receive New South there.

Sorry to be so late with this; if it goes out in October, though, we have plenty of time, and will also have time to get it out this month is you prefer.

All good wishes,

Sincerely,

Margaret Price

Dear _____:

As executive secretary of the South Carolina Division of the Southern Regional Council, let me add my invitation to that of the Council.

The South Carolina Division functions through an executive committee, board, and advisory committee. Committees are working actively in the fields of education, health, recreation, and law enforcement. On the community level, local groups are recognizing the importance of constructive community planning and action, and are beginning to institute action programs in the fields mentioned above.

Membership in the Southern Regional Council automatically confers membership in the South Carolina Division. Of the $2.00 membership fee, $1.00 is retained by South Carolina, and $1.00 remains with the regional group, providing a subscription to New South. Membership fees alone are not sufficient to carry the cost of these programs, so that contributions from those who wish to extend their participation in this work are most welcome.

We in South Carolina sincerely hope that you will join with us in the constructive work we are trying to do.

Cordially yours,

(Mrs.) Eugene Spearman

Dear Mr. Washington:

We were delighted to receive today your letter expressing your interest in interracial work and your desire to affiliate with the Southern Regional Council. I am enclosing a leaflet containing a membership blank, and under separate cover I am sending several of our publications.

There is not a branch of the Council in Fort Worth. There is, however, a Forth Worth Committee on Interracial Cooperation which is a chapter of the Texas Commission on Interracial Cooperation. The Texas Commission, in turn, is an affiliate of the Southern Regional Council. Individual membership in the Council and the Commission are separate, however. If you have not already affiliated yourself with the Forth Worth Committee, you may wish to do so. Dr. A. L. Porterfield of Texas Christian University was at one time chairman of the group and may perhaps still hold that office. The Rev. Mr. F. Rivers Barnwell, 1328 Louisiana Avenue, Forth Worth, is also active in the Committee. Mrs. James S. Crate, 2410 Inwood Drive, Houston 6, Texas, is Chairman of the Texas Commission.

I trust that this information will be helpful to you. We shall look forward to hearing from you again, and we hope that you will call on us whenever we can be of service to you.

The Southern Regional Council
Mr. Guy B. Johnson, Executive Director
Room 432
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta 3, Georgia

Dear Sir:

I have read with interest the statements on "purpose" and "activities" of your organization as stated in "DIRECTORY OF AGENCIES IN RACE RELATIONS" published by the Julius Rosenwald Fund in 1945.

There is not to my knowledge a branch of your organization in the City of Fort Worth. I am anxious to become affiliated with you both from the stand point of my work and of my personal life.

I am a recent addition to the populationof this City and I am anxious to make some contribution toward successful interracial understanding. For your ready reference, there is attached a copy of a letter I have addressed to the numerous organizations whose practices and activities make them kindred spirits.

Sincerely yours,

G. W. Washington

1600 Jones Street
Fort Worth, Texas

Greetings:

This letter is intended as a direct means of self-introduction by a new citizen of the community who is ready and anxious to do his humble best, to participate in the religious, cultural and community life of the City.

Officially, I have been assigned to Fort Worth as Racial Relations Officer for the Regional Office of the Public Housing Administration, and in this connection my office is located at Room 607, Texas and Pacific Passenger Building.

In my private life, I am an ardent advocate of planned community organization as an instrument for Negro achievement and advancement. If at any time I can be of any service to the program of your organization, please do not hesitate to let me know.

Sincerely,

Mrs. S. D. Suggs
1401 South Perry Street
Montgomery, Alabama

Dear Mrs. Suggs:

Your position of leadership in the Federation of Women's Clubs suggests to us that you are interested, as we are, in building a state, region, and Nation in which there is opportunity for the best development of all people.

With this thought in mind, we are writing to tell you something of the program and aims of the Southern Regional Council. It is a non-profit, non-denominational, non-political organization set up in February, 1944, to study the many problems of the South and to mobilize the people of the region to solve these problems. Both races are represented in the membership of the Council, on its Board of Directors, and on its staff.

We should like to have you join with us in our program, for it envisages the total picture of the South--economic, social, racial. The Southern Regional Council is an organization for action through state and local committees, through surveys leading to planned community action, through conferences, and through publications which bring to Southerners news of what is going on and why, and suggestions for action. The enclosed leaflet, The South Is Yours, and copies of some of our publications which we are sending under separate cover will help to acquaint you with the background and program of the organization.

We should very much like to have you join us in the constructive work we are trying to do. Won't you fill in the mmmbership form in the leaflet, The South Is Yours, and return it to us right away?

We shall look forward to hearing from you, and we sincerely hope that you will become a member of the Council.

Cordially yours,

GUY B. JOHNSON
Executive Director

Mrs. E. R. Lowe
921 Eaton Street
Key West, Florida

Dear Mrs. Lowe:

Thank you for your letter requesting materials for the promotion of unity and understanding among all people. We are glad to send you, under separate cover, copies of several of our pamphlets and leaflets, and our publications list in case you wish to order additional material.

I wonder if you would not be interested in becoming a member of the Council? The enclosed leaflet contains a membership blank and discusses our general program and approach. Copies of New South are included in the material being sent under separate cover.

There is an active Florida Division of SRC which is holding its annual meeting in Jacksonville on the 31st of this month. Ed Ray, managing editor of the Tampa Times, is chairman of the Florida Division; Dr. William H. Gray, president of Florida A. & M., is first vice-chairman; Mrs. Israel Kaplan, Jacksonville, is second vice-president; and Mrs. Warren Zeuch, Vero Beach, is secretary-treasurer. Membership in the Council as a whole automatically makes a Florida resident a member of the Florida Division, and vice-versa. One dollar of the $2.00 membership fee is returned to the state division.

We shall be most happy to have you join SRC. May we not hear from you soon?

Sincerely yours,

Margaret Price

Hon. Raymond Rosoff
Wilson Bldg.
Dallas, Texas

Dear Mr. Rosoff:

Our good friend, Rabbi Brav has written us about your inquiry as to the Council and what it does, and asked me to write you directly.

I enclose a just-printed leaflet which tells our story honestly. And I put in also a copy of a recent pamphlet on schools and still others on Southern economics and agriculture.

Doubtless you know of the Texas Interracial Commission of which Mrs. James S. Crate, 2410 Inwood Drive, Houston 6, Texas, is Chairman. They are affiliated with the Council. The Council has some 137 of its own members in Texas, but we would ordinarily rely for action in the State on the affiliated Interracial Committee.

I can not boast of much conspicuous action by the Council. We try with our little magazine to link our members together and to encourage them in going after local problems, and going after them without regard to race. The Council is really a society of people who have their conscience about the South and try to improve matters.

It is part of our program to try to make life in the rural South as rewarding as city life. Our members have worked for more appropriations for schools, for judicious consolidations, for equality of teachers' salaries, and for provision of transportation for Negroes as well as for white rural school children.

But we are small and weak and I suppose, generally unheard. Still, we are part of the South working in and for the South and we get a good deal done.

We would be delighted to have you as a member of the Council. I do not guarantee to keep you spurred to activity, but we would be glad to have you spur us in directions you think we and you should go.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

Dear Brav:

Thank you very much for sending over your letter of November 4.

I have written Mr. Rosoff as enclosed.

I do hope he can be interested.

We thought the Annual Meeting here went all right, with more vigor and perhaps more unity than we had felt in the last meetings or two.

Everyone here treasures the likk with you.

November 4, 1947.

Dr. George Mitchell,
Executive Director,
Southern Regional Council,
Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Dr. Mitchell:

Enjoyed seeing you again at our Mississippi Division meeting.

A dear friend, Hon.Raymond Rosoff, Wilson Bldg.,Dallas, Texas, whom I have recommended for membership, writes that perhaps he might re-read some of the material your office sent him, but since I'm a director I should be qualified to answer the following questions ("properly documented, of course") before he lends us his substantial support:

"What is this SRC,Inc. good for? in the economic field? educational field?....Does the SRC work on rural schools? How? What's their historical experience record in these fields? I'm not mentioning similar questions in the social field."

I'd rather have one more intelligently curious member of this sort than a lot more emotional fellow-travelers. And despite my certainty of how busy you are just now before the Annual Meeting, I feel he deserves the more adequate reply that you are able to provide. Won't you kindly let him hear from you directly!

Looking forward to our meeting next week!

Most cordially,

Stanley R. Brav.

Dear Dr. and Mrs. Daniel:

Mrs. J. P. McLeod reminded me the other day that we have not yet sent you material on the aims and program of the Southern Regional Council.

I am quite embarrassed about this, for I remember promising you such material. I am sending it today under separate cover.

I hope that you will join the Southern Regional Council, and thus the Alabama Division. The Division officers are planning a meeting of Alabama members for early in 1948 to launch an active program. They will need your help.

If you have further questions about the Council, I hope you will write this office or contact our members in Montgomery.

Best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Southern Regional Council, Inc.

ROOM 432, 63 AUBURN AVENUE, N. E. ATLANTA 3, GEORGIA

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

At the suggestion of one of our members who regards you as one of those "interested in the ideals for which the Southern Regional Council stands", we are extending you a cordial invitation to membership in the Council.

The people in the South who are carrying the Region's progress are a pretty busy lot. They need to work with others to keep them encouraged and informed about what is happening in other communities. The Council tries to band together these very people.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deep into our civilization is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards and to harness our regional patriotism to public well-being.

Among other problems I am sure you share our concern for racial understanding and mutual progress. The enclosed pamphlets will help to show you what the Council is, and what it does in this and other fields.

The enclosed leaflet "The South Is Yours" contains a membership blank, and a self-addressed envelope is included for your convenience. We hope very much you will want to join us. May we not hear from you soon?

Sincerely,

Margaret Price

INVITATION FORM LETTER--SOUTH CAROLINA

Southern Regional Council, Inc.

ROOM 432, 63 AUBURN AVENUE, N. E. ATLANTA 3, GEORGIA

SOUTH CAROLINA DIVISION

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

Dear Friend:

~~For the~~ May we, as the South Carolina Division of the Southern Regional Council, also ~~let us~~ add our invitation to that of the Council.?

~~The South Carolina~~ Our Division functions through an executive committee, board, and advisory committee. Committees are working actively in the fields of education, health, recreation, and law enforcement. Immediate interest and goals of these committees are the following:

1. Coordinated and well-rounded municipal and county recreation programs soundly financed, with a State Recreation Commission to assist them.

2. Improvement in conditions in penal institutions, and an Industrial School for Negro girls.

3. In expanding hospitalization, establishment of the practice of allowing all professionally qualified doctors to follow their patients into hospitals, and the provision of beds for Negro and white tuberculosis patients on the basis of need.

4. Support of adequate financial aid for the public schools from local, state, and federal funds.

Membership in the Southern Regional Council automatically confers membership in the South Carolina Division. Of the $2.00 membership fee, $1.00 is retained by South Carolina, and $1.00 remains with the regional office, providing a subscription to New South. Membership fees alone are not sufficient to carry on the cost of these programs, so that contributions from those who wish to extend their participation in this work are most welcome.

We in South Carolina sincerely hope that you will join with us in the constructive work we are trying to do.

SUGGESTED LETTER TO KENTUCKY MINISTERS

(Note: Names should be checked to see which ones are members already, before the letter is sent.)

We have been at some pains to be in touch with selected ministers in Kentucky who might be interested in becoming members of the Southern Regional Council.

Here is a leaflet that tells about the Council.

We have an active program in Kentucky and we would like you to take part in the work of the Kentucky Division and of the whole Council.

The Council does its work in ways which we think you will approve.

If you can join us or otherwise help in our effort, we would be most grateful.

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

As one who was present for the final session of the Institute for Teachers January 19 when the Council's Executive Director talked to the group, we thought that perhaps you would be interested in becoming a member of the Southern Regional Council.

We should like very much to have you as a member. You will be doing useful things in the South. The Council will keep you in touch with others, and the little magazine, New South, coming to you every month sometimes will have ideas that will be helpful.

So that you will know more about what the Southern Regional Council is and does, we are sending you, for the next three months, complimentary issues of New South and other publications. We hope that now, or after a month or two, you will want to join.

Careful, informed judgement is the need of the day. Can you help us get more of it in the South?

Sincerely,

Dear County Agent:

It seems to us that we Southerners need to get together and do some thinking and planning about the way the South is going--and because we think you will agree, ~~we are writing to you~~ and because of leadership you exert over the farm families in your county, we are writing to you,

Men are struggling for more democracy, better schools, better health, better incomes, better housing, and all the other "betters" that make for good living. Too often, though, our efforts are uncoordinated

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

At the suggestion of a Mississippi member who believes you would be interested in the values for which the Council stands, we are sending you a few of our publications.

The people in the South who are carrying the Region's progress are a pretty busy lot. They need to work with others to keep them encouraged and informed about what is happening in other communities. The Council tries to band together these very people.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deeply into our civilization is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards and to harness our patriotism to regional well-being.

Mississippi members of SRC are automatically members of the Mississippi Division, and vice versa. The Council as a whole, as well as the Mississippi Division, has outlined an ambitious and constructive program and we need your help in making it a success. Local and State Committees are needed to promote the best development of community and human resources and to improve race relations.

So that you may know more about the SRC, we are sending you for three months, complimentary issues of New South. All members receive this publication regularly.

We very much hope that now, or after a month or two, you will want to become a member of the Council. Meanwhile, we'd like to know what's happening where you are, and what you think we and you should do.

Sincerely,

Margaret Price

SOUTH CAROLINA DIVISION

Dear Friend:

For the South Carolina Division of the Southern Regional Council, let us add our invitation to that of the Council.

The South Carolina Division functions through an executive committee, board, and advisory committee. Committees are working actively in the fields of education, health, recreation, and law enforcement. Immediate interest and goals of these committees are the following:

1. Coordinated and well-rounded municipal and county recreation programs soundly financed, with a State Recreation Commission to assist them.

2. Improvement in conditions in penal institutions, and an Industrial School for Negro girls.

3. In expanding hospitalization, establishment of the practice of allowing all professionally qualified doctors to follow their patients into hospitals, and the provision of beds for Negro and white tuberculosis patients on the basis of need.

4. Support of adequate financial aid for the public schools from local, state, and federal funds.

Membership in the Southern Regional Council automatically confers membership in the South Carolina Division. Of the $2.00 membership fee, $1.00 is retained by South Carolina, and $1.00 remains with the regional office, providing a subscription to New South. Membership fees alone are not sufficient to carry on the cost of these programs, so that contributions from those who wish to extend their participation in this work are most welcome.

We in South Carolina sincerely hope that you will join with us in the constructive work we are trying to do.

Cordially yours,

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

We should like to have you know more about the work of the Southern Regional Council.

We are now some 3,000 people, in the thirteen southern states. Most of them are people who fill some quite responsible place in the life of their community and of the South. They are recruited from among white persons and Negro persons. The Council's work is governed by its membership, through its Board of Directors and its staff, whom you will find listed at the back of the enclosed leaflet.

We send all members a monthly magazine called New South and, from time to time, special pamphlets on matters of topical interest. We also work closely with our affiliated State Divisions and Committees.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deeply into our civilisation is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards and to harness our regional patriotism to public well-being. We have not in the past had rigid goals; the effort has been rather to do the best we could contrive here and now toward getting the South richer and fairer.

The Council's aims come out clearly in the publications we have enclosed. We shall be pleased to have your suggestions and comments.

We should like very much to have you as a member of the Southern Regional, Council, and we should be greatly strengthened by your participation in the job we are trying to do.

Sincerely,

We should like very much to have you as a member of the Southern Regional Council. You will be doing useful things in the South. The Council will keep you in touch with others, and the little magazine, New South, coming to you every month sometimes will have ideas that will be helpful.

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

We would like to interest you in becoming a member of the Southern Regional Council.

They are recruited from among white persons and Negro persons. The Council's work is governed by a Board of Directors and an Executive Committee, which you will find listed at the back of the enclosed leaflet.

We have not in the past had rigid goals, the effort has rather been to do the best we could contrive here and now toward getting the South richer and fairer.

The Council's aims come out clearly in the enclosed "Honest Answer in the Civil Rights Controversy," which was adopted November 10 at the annual membership meeting as policy.

In North Carolina we work closely with our affiliate, the North Carolina Commission on Interracial Cooperation, which has the following officers: Mr. Cyrus M. Johnson (Raleigh), Director; Rev. Leon Russell(Goldsboro), Chairman; Mr. C. C. Spaulding (Durham), Secretary-Treasurer; and Mr. Gurney P. Hood (Raleigh), Chairman Board of Finance. Rev. Russell is an ex-officio member of the Council's Board of Directors.

We send all members a monthly magazine called New South and, from time to time, special pamphlets on matters of topical interest. We are putting your name on our mailing list to receive New South for three months, and shall write you toward the end of that time and hope that after that trial period and such inquiry as you may make locally, you will wish to give us your help in doing this job.

Sincerely yours,

DRAFT

(To The Board Members)

The SRC wants more members. I would like to ask you, as a member of the Board of the Council, to try to get a minimum of ten new members.

Ten invitations are enclosed. Will you not decide on ten persons you think should join and send the invitations on to them, filling out the names on each one? It will, of course, be much the best if you would write on each one a personal word or two.

The Council has a greater usefulness today than ever before. It needs the added strength of more members and, of course, of more contributions from its members. Your help in this as a member of the Board will be sincerely appreciated.

Cordially,

Paul D. Williams
President

We are pleased to send you this copy of our monthly publication, New South, to help to acquaint you further with the program of the Soutern Regional Council. We think you will agree with us that the mechanization of agriculture will create grave problems in economics and in human relations, but that it will also create ~~potential opportunities for the improvement of Southern living~~ potentialities for the improvement of Southern living

We think you will agree with us that the mechanization of agriculture, while creating grave problems in economics and human relations for awhile,

We feel that Southerners should begin to face up squarely to the fact that mechanization of agriculture, particularly cotton, is imminent and that unless we begin to plan now for the transition from hand labor to machines in the cotton fields, the problems created by the mechanization will overshadow the gains that will be made.

DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC RELATIONS

Southern Regional Council, Inc.
ROOM 432, 63 AUBURN AVENUE, N. E. ATLANTA 3, GEORGIA

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

At the suggestion of an Alabama member who believes you would be interested in the values for which the Council stands, we are sending you a few of our publications.

The people in the South who are carrying the Region's progress are a pretty busy lot. They need to work with others to keep them encouraged and informed about what is happening in other communities. The Council tries to band together these very people.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deeply into our civilization is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards and to harness our patriotism to regional well-being.

Alabama members of SRC are automatically members of the Alabama Division, and vice versa. The Council as a whole, as well as the Alabama Division, has outlined an ambitious and constructive program and we need your help in making it a success. Local and State Committees are needed to promote the best development of community and human resources and to improve race relations.

So that you may know more about the SRC, we are sending you for three months, complimentary issues of New South. All members receive this publication regularly.

We very much hope that now, or after a month or two, you will want to become a member of the Council. Meanwhile, we'd like to know what's happening where you are, and what you think we and you should do.

Sincerely,

Margaret Price

This letter was sent to approximately 200 Rotary Club Presidents throughout the South, as well as to District Rotary Governors--March, 1948

Southern Regional Council, Inc.

ROOM 432, 63 AUBURN AVENUE, N. E. ATLANTA 3, GEORGIA

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

The March issue of THE ROTARIAN carried on pages 25 and 26 a fine short article by Mr. R. B. Eleazer, of Tennessee, about the work being done in the South to lessen misunderstanding between the races.

Our Directors will be grateful for the attention thus given to this problem, and for the mention of the Council.

It has occurred to us that Rotarians, particularly in the South, in these times of stress might wish to know more about our Council. It devotes itself to laying the foundation for better relations between white and colored people.

To this end we enclose a leaflet describing the Southern Regional Council.

We dare to hope you might find an appropriate way of making known to the membership of your Club the work of the Council. International understanding is closely linked with mutual responsibility here at home.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

Rough Draft

SUGGESTED LETTER TO BAPTIST MINISTERS

Dear Mr. _____:

We would like to interest you in becoming a member of the Southern Regional Council.

We are now some 3,000 people, in the thirteen southern states. Most of them are people who fill some quite responsible place in the life of their community and of the South. They are recruited from among white persons and Negro persons. The Council's work is governed by a Board of Directors and an Executive Committee, which you will find listed at the back of the enclosed leaflet.

The job is to further, each in his own community, and all of us for our states and for the whole South, understanding, tolerance, and mutual progress. We have not in the past had rigid goals; the effort has rather been to do the best we could contrive here and now toward getting the South richer and fairer.

The Council's aims come out clearly in the enclosed "Honest Answer in the Civil Rights Controversy," which was adopted November 10 at the annual membership meeting as policy.

In Tennessee our work is done through the Tennessee Division of the Southern Regional Council, which has the following officers: Mr. Alfred D. Mynders (Editor, The Chattanooga Times), chairman, Dr. Charles S. Johnson (president, Fisk University, Nashville), vice-chairman, and Mrs. C. B. Smith, (The Methodist Parsonage, Donelson), secretary-treasurer. People who join the Council are automatically members of the Tennessee Division, and half of their dues money goes back into the treasury of the Tennessee Division.

We send all members a monthly magazine called New South and, from time to time, special pamphlets on matters of topical interest. We are putting your name on our mailing list to receive New South for three months, and shall write you toward the end of that time and hope that after that trial period and such inquiry as you may make locally, you will wish to give us your help in doing this job.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

for immediate release

Decherd, Tenn., April 2....."Of the three major farm organizations, the National Farmers Union is most in harmony with the Christian program for rural life and has most to offer the family farmer" Rev. Eugene Smathers of Big Lick, Tenn., said in summarizing the discussion and study of farm organizations by a group of ministers meeting in the home of Dr. Fleming James at Sewanee, Tennessee. "If the family farm is to be safeguarded and extended, the working farmer and his family must be organized, and it is the special responsibility of the Christian farmer to give expression to his religious principles through some organization of family farmers" continued Rev. Smathers.

As a result of the study of the three main farm organizations the group prepared a letter which was submitted to a larger group. In the letter Smathers says, "We believe that the Farmers Union will bear investigation and that every rural minister should know something about it so that he may be in position to advise his people aright".

The following ministers signed the letter: Dr. Fleming James, Dean of St. Lukes Theological Seminary, Sewanee, Rev. E. Dargan Butt, Franklin County Field of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Winchester, Dr. William J. Campbell, Vanderbilt School of Religion, Nashville, Rev. Wyatt Jones, Methodist Minister, Nashville, Rev. Edwin E. White, Presbyterian Church, Kingsport, Rev. A.L. DeJarnette, Congregational minister, Soddy, Dr. Alva Taylor, Nashville, Rev. Dear Mr. Clary:

I had a phone call this morning from a couple, I judge, a retired couple, driving through from Winnetka, Illinois to Savannah Beach for a three months visit and they are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Karnopp, whose address for the present is General Delivery, Savannah Beach, Georgia.

They are interested in interracial matters and would like to become informed while in the Savannah area and would appreciate the opportunity to become useful. They have been in touch with the Rosenwald Fund which suggested that they strike up with the Council.

I told Mrs. Karnopp that I would write to one or two members in Savannah and ask them to get in touch with the Kornopps. I am therefore, writing to you and Monsignor McNamara.

I know you are both extremely busy but some kindness "to persons with a concern" seems to me a not unsuitable addition to other things you do.

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South

Dear SRC Member:

As the New Year begins, we here at the Council offices address ourselves to the tasks which you, our members, set for us in the program of work which was adopted at the annual meeting. Those of you who attended the meeting will recall the discussion and adoption of that program; you who were not will read (and, I feel sure, commend,) it in your December-January issue of New South.

If our program is to be effective, funds must be provided, and the need for these continues to be great. Prompt payment of dues will help; and any additional contribution to the general budget will, of course, be most gratefully received, since it will tend to ease the strain under which our budget is laboring.

Yet, despite all such difficulties, the New Year seems to hold much promise, and we here look forward to the opportunities which must surely be ours during the course of it, for bringing closer to reality the beliefs and ideals which Council members hold in common. Please let us hear from you whenever we can help with anything in your community.

With every good wish for you personally during the coming year, I am

We have always had the cordial interest of the whole labor movement in the South. We annually receive contributions toward our work from the Methodist Church, the Episcopal Church, the Committee on Women's Work of the (Southern) Presbyterian Church, and from the Catholic Committee of the South.

Our members in Alabama have lately organized an Alabama Division of the Southern Regional Council. Dr. A. D. Beittel, President of Talladega College, is the Chairman of the Alabama Division. Mrs. J. Fletcher McLeod is the Secretary and Mr. Robert Durr, Editor of the Birmingham Weekly Review, is the Treasurer.

The Council has always worked in the spirit of sober and democratic patriotism. I suppose that the Communists, if they ever cared to mention us, would be very far from praising us.

We should greatly like to strengthen the Council's work in Alabama by having you as a member.

Miss Margaret Price, Secretary

Dear Miss Price:

I have received your communication (with literature) of January 29, 1948 inviting me to join the Southern Regional Council. Frankly I do not know what to do. I am no doubt in sympathy with the majority of the published objectives and aims of your organization, but something tells me to be cautious. There are so many Communist Front Organizations in the United States today, many yet unexposed, that a leader in the American Federation of Labor must be cautious in his affiliations.

I have looked over the list of Officers, and Executive Staff and Board of Directors without recognizing anyone that I know. I therefore am unable to communicate with anyone in your organization in whom I repose trust and confidence by virtue of the fact that 'I know' them. It is not my purpose in this letter to offend either you personally, or the organization which you represent, however I must be very careful of my affiliations and my associations for once I get identified with any group it is hard to break that identification.

I was a soldier in the last war. I know for what we fought. I also am a Southerner and know that some objectives of some certain groups, though couched in careful language, are objectionable to me. I can subscribe to anything that Christ taught, and attempt to practice his teachings, yet there are some groups which accept part of what He taught while at the same time they repudiate Him, and God. I do not know that I am opposed to your organization, in fact I may be for it, but at this time with my limited knowledge of your organization I would not dare become affiliated. If you think it worthwhile you might send me additional information.

Very truly yours,

Dear Miss Price:

I acknowledge receipt of your friendly letter of February 11th inviting me to become a member of the Southern Regional Council, or at least to receive and read your magazine The New South. I shall be glad to do the latter.

As I view it, the Southern Regional Council is attempting in a fine spirit to carry the South forward.

Among other things the Council feels that our race relations need working on.

I disagree at this point with the leading thought in the Council. Race relations are not improved by being worked on. The more you try to pull the farmers of Georgia into line with your thinking the more the farmers of Georgia are going to pull away from you, and you in the Southern Regional Council are in my opinion developing quite a tug of war.

I wish to thank you however for sending me the magazine which I shall certainly read with a great deal of interest. I have been watching the work of the Southern Regional Council since its incipiency.

Yours very sincerely,

Dear Miss Blair:

Thank you very much for your letter of February 17.

The Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching was absorbed some years ago in the organization of the Southern Regional Council. We try to carry on some part of the administrative work of the old Association.

I enclose a pamphlet which will tell you about the Council.

Unfortunately, the Council does not have at the present time a Division of itself in Tennessee, but we are trying this Spring to get one organized.

The Reverend Mr. Peyton Williams, Rector of Christ Church, Nashville, is informed as to the things planned in your city.

We have made a note of your interest and when a meeting can be called in Nashville, we shall be in touch with you.

Meantime, perhaps you would be interested in becoming a member of the Council.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

RECEIVED FEB 23 1948 Southern Regional Council

Dear Dr. Mitchell:

At your request I am enclosing a list of our Scout Executives, Assistant and Field Executives of Region Six. The office address of the Local Councils will be found in the left-hand column of each page.

If you are going to write these men it seems to me it would be well to ask them to encourage key volunteer Scout leaders in their areas who are particularly interested in this phase of our work to join. Each of our Councils has an Inter-racial Committee and it would be excellent if the members of this Committee could receive your publication.

You will of course not use this list for any purpose other than that which was agreed upon.

Best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

Speech

February 26, 1948

Dear Dr. and Mrs. Pfeutze:

It was grand to meet you at Marian Martin's last Saturday. Helen Bridgman and I both enjoyed the afternoon tremendously.

I'm sending you today several pamphlets published by the Southern Regional Council. They are of varied subject matter so that you'll get a better idea of what the Council is and does. The mimeographed material, "The Condition of our Rights", I prepared for use in our Civil Rights Conference to be held here tomorrow. It is a companion-piece to our digest of the President's Civil Rights Report.

We very much hope that you will join the Council. It will be a real pleasure to number you among our members. The leaflet "The Southern Regional Council" has a membership blank on the back.

I am looking forward to seeing you again next month, Mrs. Pfeutze, when you come to the Y.W.C.A. meetings, and to seeing both of you on my next visit to Athens.

Cordially yours,

Margaret Price

Dear The Harlans:

Alice and I greatly enjoyed the word from Mrs. Harlan.

I have made careful note of your address. I may get to St. Petersburg before April and if I do I shall certainly hunt you up.

We are all in fairly good shape--a case or two of the mumps, but nothing serious.

I am in Richmond occasionally and always miss the Harlans when I go down our road.

Here is a leaflet that tells you about our Southern Regional Council.

Sincerely,

/s/ George S. Mitchell

My dear Mr. Burton:

My longtime friend, Mrs. Joyce Kelly, who is a member of your Church, told me the other day that you might quite possibly become a member of our Council. I send you a leaflet which will tell you about it, as well as some recent copies of our little monthly magazine.

The leaflet tells pretty much the whole story.

We work at things soberly and, we think, usefully.

We should be delighted to have you as one to be steadily in touch with.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

SRC-Cultivation

April 6, 1948

Dr. H. D. Goode
642 West Wright Street
Pensacola, Florida

Dear Dr. Goode:

We were delighted to receive you telegram this morning saying that the Florida Division is beginning an intensive membership drive. We sincerely hope that you will call on this office for any help we can be to you. Mrs. McKoy has asked me to send you the materials you will need. We are mailing you these things today:

(1) Card file of members of the Florida Division;

(2) Card file of Floridians contacted by Mrs. W. C. White last spring in her work as field secretary of the Florida Division. These people have been invited to join the Council but to date have not done so. I feel that many of them are still good membership prospects, however.

(3) Card file of Floridians contacted by Mrs. White who have never received a formal invitation to membership in the Council. Many of these are also good membership prospects.

(4) A list of Floridians who have been "cultivated" for SRC membership, but who have not joined. By "cultivated", I mean they have received SRC publications and an invitation to join--there have been no personal contacts involved. I think some of these may still be good prospects if they are contacted personally.

(5) The following SRC publications which you may distribute as you see fit:

200 copies of "The Southern Regional Council"
100 copies of "The South is Yours"
100 membership cards
50 copies of March 1948 New South
25 copies of each of the following: "Unity Begins at Home"; "Wanted: The South's Future for the Nation"; "Wanted: An Educated South"; "Wanted: A Healthy South".

4/6/48

Our only caution to you in using the material is that you might be fairly discriminate in distributing the three last-named pamphlets, as they are rather expensive--20¢ each--and are free only for special cultivation purposes. I find them useful for some cultivation purposes and am sending them to you for that reason.

You may of course re-order whatever material you need. What we are sending you today may just be a starter.

You will find membership blanks on the backs of both "The South Is Yours" and "The Southern Regional Council". The blue membership cards serve the same purpose and are usually used where no special "cultivation" is necessary.

If you need further information or literature, please let us know. We shall also be very glad to assist with clerical work, etc.

Best of luck to you in the membership drive.

Cordially yours,

Margaret Price
Membership Secretary

Dear Dr. Sonquist:

Some time ago Dr. George Mitchell put on my desk a note to the effect he had seen you at Tuskegee Institute and that you had asked to be put on our mailing list. To my embarrassment, I found the note again today and realized that I had done nothing about it.

We have no mailing list as such. Subscription to our magazine, New South, is $1.00 a year. You might prefer membership in the Council, however; for the $2.00 a year dues you would receive New South and all other SRC publications. We should very much like to have you as a member.

Under separate cover we are sending you several Council publications.

Sincerely,

Margaret Price
Membership Secretary

I met this guy (Scandahoovian recently) at Tuskegee t'other day. He asked to "be put on our mailing list". In the clippedmomemnts of a post-somebody's-speech series of greetingsthere wasn't time to tell him we don't have such a thing. Couldn't you just cultivate him?

He's a friend, and sometime employer (for lectures) of my brother Morris. Is big coop guy.

Professor Waldo Beach
Divinity School of Duke University
Durham, North Carolina

Dear Mr. Beach,

We are sending you today, under separate cover, the copy I promised you of our Southern civil rights documentation pamphlet, Condition of Our Rights. I'm enclosing also a copy of our Civil Rights Report digest. We think it is a good job, and I felt you'd be interested in seeing it.

I have been thinking of what you said about the possibility of the Divinity School's working more closely with groups active in the field of Southern Progress and social ethics. You probably know the work of the Fellowship of Southern Churchmen, with headquarters in Chapel Hill, and Miss Nelle Morton as Executive Secretary. Charlie Jones is active in this group. There is an active North Carolina Commission on Interracial Cooperation, affiliated with the Southern Regional Council, of which Cyrus M. Johnson, 336 South Salisbury Street, Raleigh, is director. Of particular interest to students is the annual Conference on Applied Christianity, sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee and the North Carolina Council of Churches. It is interracial, and exerts a very special, Quaker-flavored, power on those who attend. Until this year, when I of course was absent, Duke had an extremely light representation there. The North Carolina Episcopal Students Conference is always interracial and one of the workshops is devoted to discussing a problem in social ethics. You and some of your students might be interested in visiting next year. Charles Vache of Chapel Hill is next year's president. Probably you know of all these groups already, but any with which you aren't aquainted would reward your investigation.

We think you should be a member of the Council, and would like very much to have you as one. The enclosed pamphlet tells something about our work. The cost is $2.00. The benefits include our small monthly magazine and all other publications, as they are released. I'm enclosing a copy of New South and an annotated list of our available past publications. Council membership, I have found, is the best way to keep in touch with what's going on in the South, and is a help in putting other people in touch.

I hope we will have a chance to talk again sometime. I can't imagine a more pleasant Interview than ours of last Thursday, although such things are apt to be a little tense for the interviewee, almost inevitably. It was good to see you and to talk with you.

Yours sincerely,

Gay Morenus

Southern Regional Council,
63 Auburn Avenue, N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Mr. Johnson:

This Bureau, which is the first of its kind to be organized in Texas, has been only recently activated by the Planning Board of San Antonio and Bexar County. As a citizen-supported research agency, this Bureau has the same objectives in its research program as other citizen-supported research agencies.

Inasmuch as one of the most important activities of a bureau of this kind is that of exchanging research information with other research agencies, we should appreciate very much being placed on your mailing list to receive such publications as might be available for general distribution. If you should have on hand copies of any publications or studies which you would consider to be pertinent material for our library, we should be very grateful to receive copies of them. In the event that a charge is made for your regular publications or for special studies, we should appreciate being advised accordingly.

In consideration for your cooperation in this respect, you may be assured that we will place you on our mailing list for the publications of this Bureau.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

In reply to your letter of March 24, 1948, let me thank you for the various free items which you sent. I am going to distribute them to the students in my class who are working on the program of the Southern Regional Council as a particular project. There may be others who may be interested in some of your publications; if so, we will arrange for an order through the entire class.

Mrs McKay

I do not recall that you had told me that your father's first teaching job was at our college. I would like to know more about this and I knew that the college certainly would appreciate the photograph you mentioned. Please let me hear from you from time to time. Our class in Race Relations this time has an enrollment of seventy-five and is proving to be one of the most informative and interesting classes I have had since I have been here.

Mr. Joseph E. Coleman
1214 Avenue D
Reading, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Coleman:

Mr. Fred C. Wolf, Jr., of Albright College, Reading, Pennsylvania has asked that we write you about the work of the Southern Regional Council, and we are very happy to do this.

The work of the Southern Regional Council is now more than twenty-five years old. In the racial troubles that followed World War I, it was found that interracial committees, hurriedly formed in cities, town, and for whole States, could serve with great usefulness to inform members of both races of slow grievances and of emergency situations. Such committees became an established part of the life of the South in the early 'twenties. They were federated and serviced by the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, here in Atlanta. Influential members of both races would come together, regularly, to enable discussion of problems, and to plan and see through corrective action. Quietly their impulse was felt by newspapers, civil authorities, the Churches, school officials, police administrators, health officers, and so on. The Commission helped organize, extend, and steer the work of the State and local Interracial Committees. It gave much time to factual analysis on the problem of lynching and other forms of interracial violence, and particularly through the Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, educated a good body of Southern opinion as to the causes and possible remedies for this traditional lawlessness. Large numbers of local peace officers signed an undertaking to resist mob violence, and many thousands of Southern women enlisted in the cause of getting crime handled by the law, and by the law alone.

From all this, and much related work, the Commission and the State groups built up a body of acquaintance and confidence which is a priceless asset. Links were formed across the barriers of race which have grown through the years, and have been invaluable in stimulating general progress and emergency action all over the South.

Toward the end of the 'thirties the view became increasingly prevalent that the problems of the South were being too much presented just in terms of race, and that the friction that showed up in race incidents could best be eradicated by bringing the entire population of the South abreast of modern standards in health, education, employment, farming, and culture. It was thought, too, that a richer religious life depended in no small part of a sounder base in well-being. Coupled with this view was the thought that the South could and should use heresense of regional unity as a means of organizing herself, that sounder base. Our regional patriotism could go into public effort to build well-being.

To discuss these views region-wide meetings were held, and from them grew the decision to set up a Southern Regional Council, which would have the job of thinking and organizing and helping local and state effort in these directions. The Council was organized at the end of 1943. It absorbed the work of the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation, and took on fresh direction and many new friends.

Since 1944, the Council has kept up the link with the State Committees, six of which have now become full divisions of the Council (Kentucky, Mississippi, Florida, South Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee); has published a stream of pamphlets pointing the way to improvement in health, housing, education, industry, agriculture, and racial understanding; has steadily increased its membership; has from time to time issued to the press statements giving the sober and informed view on this or that special difficulty; and has worked quietly to influence action by responsible bodies and agencies in all the directions of progress.

The Council has been a bi-racial organization from the start, and its staff has been drawn from both races. It is thus a constantly available resource of informed interracial understanding, with the whole South as its field of knowledge and effort.

We have plans for much more to do, particularly in easing the passage to fuller democratic participation by all the people of the South, in bettering police administration, and in getting the citizens of the South to understand the various welfare functions of their State and Federal governments, and to require of them the highest possible standards of performance.

As money resources are, we are limited by a heavy burden of clerical work in mailing out pamphlets by two and ten to study groups and schools and church bodies, of getting out our little magazine, and of keeping in touch with leadership in the various State Committees. We need funds with which to create. From foundations, from a few church bodies, and from our membership we get enough thus far to keep us going, with a little time and personnel for shaping public opinion, but pitifully little. We don't need to spend money on research; facts enough are tucked away on library shelves; but we do need twenty-odd thousand more a year than we have had - twenty-odd thousand with which to bring out in ways that will be used the facts that are known to research workers.

But, the Council's main purpose is not to bag money, but to do sound, cooperative thinking and printing in the South, and to build, on understanding and on Southern neighborliness, the things that characterize the best of modern civilization. And we always get friendly help for that!

We welcome to membership those who subscribe to our aims and purposes as outlined. We shall be most happy to have you join us if you would care to do so. Membership is two dollars per year and carries with it a subscription to our monthly magazine, New South, and any other pamphlet which may be issued during the calendar year. May we not hear from you further?

Cordially and sincerely yours,

(Mrs.) Agnes McKoy
Secretary-Treasurer

Birmingham, Alabama

Dear Mr. Berkowitz:

Mr. Henry Birnbrey has told us of your fight against the Klan in Alabama. He thought you would be interested in the program of the Southern Regional Council and asked that we send you several of our publications.

We are greatly interested in the things you are doing, and would very much like to have you become a member of the Council. Our feeling is that the people in the South who are carrying the Region's progress are a pretty busy lot. They need to work with others to keep them encouraged and informed about what is happening in other communities. The Council tries to band together these very people.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deeply into our civilization is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards and to harness our regional patriotism to public well-being.

We have a number of members in Birmingham, among whom are Mr. Robert Durr, editor of the Birmingham Weekly; Mr. D. R. Price, Title Guarantee Building; and the Rev. Mr. William H. Marmion, 1910 - 12th Avenue South; and Mrs. M. H. Sterne, 2504 - 15th Avenue South. If you wish futher information about the Council, I am sure any of these men and women will be glad to discuss it with you.

We shall hope to hear from you soon. Meanwhile, if we can be of help to you, please let us know.

Sincerely,

Rock Hill, South Carolina

Dear Mr. Phifer:

We are quite pleased and happy over the prospects of a Rock Hill chapter of the Southern Regional Council. Your closest tie-up will of course be with the South Carolina Division; actually the group would be the Rock Hill Chapter of the South Carolina Division. I am sure that you and Mrs. Spearman have been over that, though.

Thank you for sending the membership list of the interracial committee. Today we mailed each member the enclosed letter, along with several SRC publications. If the majority of this group should join the Council, you would have a real nucleus for a local unit in the fall. Dr. D. M. Duckette is already a member, and the following people are subscribers to New South: The Rev. Mr. A. B. Hawkes; H. R. Hawkins, J. A. Reeder; J. H. Lewis; Mrs. J. W. Milling; and Mrs. A. M. Cloud.

Please call on us whenever we can be of further assistance.

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

At the suggestion of a South Carolina member who believes you would be interested in the values for which the Council stands, we are sending you a few of our publications.

The people in the South who are carrying the Region's progress are a pretty busy lot. They need to work with others to keep them encouraged and informed about what is happening in other communities. The Council tries to band together these very people.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deeply into our civilization is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards and to harness our patriotism to regional well-being.

South Carolina members of SRC are automatically members of the South Carolina Division, and vice versa. The Council as a whole, as well as the South Carolina Division, has outlined an ambitious and constructive program and we need your help in making it a success. Local and State Committees are needed to promote the best development of community and human resources and to improve race relations.

So that you may know more about the SRC, we are sending you for three months, complimentary issues of New South. All members receive this publication regularly.

We very much hope that now, or after a month or two, you will want to become a member of the Council. Meanwhile, we'd like to know what's happening where you are, and what you think we and you should do.

Dear Miss Price:

There is some interest among the members of an inter-racial committee in Rock Hill in the formation of a unit of the Southern Regional Council. Mrs. Eugene Spearman of Newberry has met with us once in regard to this matter. I have been a member of the council for several years and I am interested in seeing the establishment of a local group. In all likelihood it will not be done before fall, but in the mean time, at Mrs. Spearman's suggestion, I am sending you a list of the present members of our committee with the hope that you will be able to mail them some literature telling of the work and the aims of your group.

Sincerely yours,

Mrs. Albert Raap
92 N. W. 93rd Street
Miami, Florida

Dear Mrs. Raap:

Last May you wrote us and most generously asked that your copy of New South be sent to Mrs. Robert R. Quinn for the coming year.

This was done and on May 25 of this year, I wrote Mrs. Quinn recalling that you had done this and asked whether she would now like to subscribe on her own account, or whether she would not like to become a member.

We have not heard from Mrs. Quinn, and so am writing to inquire whether you wish the arrangement to continue, or whether you would now like to receive your own copy of New South.

Our annual meeting will be held on November 10 of this year, and we hope so much that you can be present. We are already making plans for the meeting and hope it will be a very good one indeed.

With kindest good wishes, I am

Cordially and sincerely yours,

Dear Mrs. Quinn:

Jan May, 1947.

Mrs. Albert Raap of 92 N. W. 93rd Street, Miami, who is a member of the Southern Regional Council asked that we send a copy of our monthly magazine, New South to you.

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

this letter sent to people on attached list
Aug. 29; Sept 3, 1949

Dear

We understand from Mr. Cyrus Johnson, Chairman of the North Carolina Commission for Interracial Cooperation, that you are a member of that organization. The North Carolina Commission, as you may know, is an affiliate of the Southern Regional Council, and we are writing you in the belief that you may wish to extend the effectiveness of your membership by becoming a member of the Council also.

The people in the South who are carrying the Region's progress are a pretty busy lot. They need to work with others to keep them encouraged and informed about what is happening in other communities. The Council tries to band together these very people.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deeply into our civilization is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards, and to harness our regional patriotism to public well-being.

As a member of the North Carolina Commission I am sure you share our concern for racial understanding and mutual progress. We want you to know more about what the Council is, and what it does in this and other fields. We are therefore sending you a few of our publications, including issues of New South, our monthly magazine, which all members of the Council receive regularly.

We hope very much that you will want to join us, and that we may hear from you soon. Meanwhile, and in any event, let us congratulate you most warmly on your membership in the North Carolina Commission.

Sincerely yours,

Margaret Price
Membership Secretary

Dear Eleanor and Anne Faulkner:

JPS

Anne Faulkner told me t'other day she could be induced to join our Southern Regional Council and cautiously read our stuff.

I am confident that a year or two of this wonderful medicine will never be regretted.

I have entered a subscription to New South for you. One of you could join, which would cost two bucks, or you could take advantage of our family membership, under which two persons belong, for three dollars. Then we send only one bottle of medicine, so to speak, per month to 3323 Gloucester Road, but two persons have the advantage of membership.

I send also, separately, some old bottles.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

September 10, 19 48

Dear Mr. Inabinet:

At the suggestion of a South Carolina member who believes you would be interested in the values for which the Council stands, we are sending you a few of our publications.

The people in the South who are carrying the Region's progress are a pretty busy lot. They need to work with others to keep them encouraged and informed about what is happening in other communities. The Council tries to band together these very people.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deeply into our civilization is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards and to harness our patriotism to regional well-being.

South Carolina members of SRC are automatically members of the South Carolina Division, and vice versa. The Council as a whole, as well as the South Carolina Division, has outlined an ambitious and constructive program and we need your help in making it a success. Local and State Committees are needed to promote the best development of community and human resources and to improve race relations.

So that you may know more about the SRC, we are sending you for three months, complimentary issues of New South. All members receive this publication regularly.

We very much hope that now, or after a month or two, you will want to become a member of the Council. Meanwhile, we'd like to know what's happening where you are, and what you think we and you should do.

Sincerely,

Margaret Price

Mr. Paul D. Williams
3320 Gloucester Road
Richmond 22, Virginia

Dear Paul:

In talking yesterday with the members of the Advisory Committee, we got around to the problems of building membership.

We can do more in reaching the Negro teachers'associations in the various states, and in reaching Negro ministers and lay people in the churches. Also, we can reach teachers in general through their summer institutes. We are laying plans for doing these three things.

Meanwhile, it so happens that the Virginia State Teachers Association (Negro) meets in Richmond at Virginia Union University October 28-29. Their executive secretary is Mr. J. Rupert Picott (pronounced "Pie-kott"), whose address is 201 East Clay Street.

I am sure it would be rewarding if you would, in the next few days, go and see Mr. Picott and get his consent and help toward some device of Council membership recruitment at the time of his meeting. If he would himself present us and cause our general pamphlet to be distributed, or membership cards, or if—less valiantly—he would open a booth for us, such things would be helpful.

On these matters of recruitment, I never like to spend $70 in travel on the off chance of collecting $10 in new memberships. Wherefore I rest on you the job of persuading Picott to do what he will. Maybe you could appear before his group. Maybe there is somebody else who ought to state our cause. We will send you any booklets or things that would help from here although, again, I don't want to dump up there $10 worth of pamphlets unless arrangements are pretty sure for making a profit on the deal.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Secretary

Dear Mrs. Downing:

As you know, through your kindness we are now sending Council materials to the members of the Roanoke Commission on Interracial Cooperation, in the hope that many of them will wish to join the Council.

In using your list we discovered the names of three persons living in Roanoke who have been for some time members of the Southern Regional Council, but are not members of your Commission. They are:

The Rev. Mr. Maurice J. McDonald
P. O. Box 1233, Roanoke, Virginia

Mrs. W. S. Butler

Mrs. C. William Claytor

Re: Pamphlet Requests

At the meeting at Columbia two persons asked for pamphlets to be sent them.

The first was: Mrs. Annie Romer
P. O. Box 347
Columbia, South Carolina

She gave me the enclosed twenty-five cents, to cover one "Condition" and one "Digest."

Mrs. E. L. Williams, 2225 Terrace Way, Columbia, also wants one "Condition" and one "Digest." In the hurry she did not get the point that these things cost money so she gave me no money and I, in my hurry and bland kindness, said that she should have the two back by the next mail, so she gets them free.

Incidentally, if these two ladies are not members, they will stand cultivating.

Mr. Paul Williams sent on to us here your kind letter of September 20 to him about the Council.

Here is a printed copy of the recent statement on civil rights, which may have come to your attention. I send also a leaflet describing the Council in general. You will see that we put out each month a little bulletin called New South, and have now in print a notable series of pamphlets describing southern progress and problems in health, agriculture, housing, schooling, and so forth.

We would greatly like to have you as a member of the Council. You will see a blank on the back of the leaflet with the tan map.

If any of our earlier pamphlets would be of interest to you, I send along a list.

Dear Mr. Barnhart:

Here, from away back in August, is your kind letter to Guy Johnson expressing interest in the Council. I am ordinarily quick to answer such letters, and can only apologize that I am just now getting to yours.

The Council's membership is open to everyone who agrees more or less with us. I send along a leaflet which will give you a formal description and which has a membership blank on the back.

I send you also some samples of some recent publications, hoping that they will tempt you into wishing to get our things regularly.

Our members in Florida are organized into the Florida Division of the Southern Regional Council. Mrs. Warren Zeuch, 2102 Ponce de Leon Circle, Vero Beach, Florida, is the secretary-treasurer of it, and Mrs. Henry Havens, 2045 Corinthian Avenue, Jacksonville, Florida, is closely connected with the Florida Division.

The civil rights statement which I send you had the very widest coverage in the southern press, and has been generally praised as temperate and as pointing to constructive action.

We all miss Guy, and wish we had him back.

Your good man hereabouts, Ross Groshong, talked to me by 'phone about the needs of your TWUA circular book club. He said that some months ago our little housing pamphlet had come in handy, and that we should send you samples of some other things of ours which you might want to use.

I am sending you five or six. Ross said you would eagerly seize these and read them. My own experience is that readable material reaching a busy man's desk backs up in a high stack and gets looked at come Christmas, but Ross said that would not happen to thee.

I stick in a list of everything we have done.

Is TWUA rich enough for you to become an associate member of the Southern Regional Council for two bucks a year? That would give you all our publications in the future, including the little monthly job called New South.

Incidentally, the September 1948 New South, with the "Honest Answer" on Civil Rights, is now spreading around like a small forest fire.

Dear Dr. Routh:

The enclosed statement by the Executive Committee of the Southern Regional Council was widely noticed and generally praised in the southern press.

As a means of getting its points of view about, I am sending it to moderators in the Southern Presbyterian Church and to Methodist and Episcopal bishops. I would like also to send it to suitable persons in the Southern Baptist Convention. My own thought was that perhaps the secretaries of the various state conventions would be the right ones.

I went over this morning to see Dr. Merritt, Secretary-Treasurer of the Georgia Baptist Convention, to ask him for a list of such persons. He referred me to you, as the authorized source for information of that kind.

I enclose the statement and a leaflet describing our organization, which doubtless you already know of.

Mr. Garrison is an old friend of mine, an historian and in some part a librarian by profession. I visited him t'other night and he admitted that he did not belong to the Council, although he shared its opinions. I told him we would enroll him and bill him. Stupidly, I forgot to open up the complicated question of family membership. His family consists of a wife.

When you write him, you might open to him the blessings of family membership and see whether he will bite for three bucks instead of for two. In any case, I have his faithful word of honor that he will pay at least two bucks.

Dear Mr. Gholston:

Thank you for your letter of October 23.

Here is a carbon of the talk I made the other day in Washington. You are welcome to any parts of it that will help you. I intend to revise it somewhat and print it in our little monthly magazine, New South.

Surely you do know that the organization you are studying now resides in Washington, as the National Farm Labor Union. Address: 726 - 9th Street, N. W. H. L. Mitchell is, of course, your real source. Another source would be the National Sharecroppers Fund in New York, which knows a lot about those early days.

Interesting sidelights could be had by corresponding with people who were interns with the old Southern Tenant Farmers Union in eastern Arkansas back twelve or fifteen years ago. They lived out in sharecroppers' cabins. One such is a cousin of mine by marriage: Mrs. Cary Robertson, Anchorage, Kentucky (nee Priscilla Smith).

Do you know the nice story that illustrates the influence of that little union in the old days? As it was told to me, it ran thusly: H. L. Mitchell and Company one September stationed themselves on the Arkansas side of the river and into every truckload of laborers being hauled out from Memphis to pick cotton in Arkansas, threw leaflets saying in effect: "Do not pick for less than $3.00 a hundred. At first nobody will pay this but all hold out for it, and one planter will give in, and all go and pick him out clean. Then the other planters will come around. Remember—nobody picks cotton for less than $3.00 a hundred. Signed, Southern Tenant Farmers Union, 232½ whatever-street-it-was, Memphis."

Along a couple of days before Christmas a sharecropper came in from five counties deep in Arkansas and said, "Mr. Mitchell, we ain't picked no cotton in our county and we ain't heard nothing more from you. What you want us to do?" So you don't have to have a heavy dues-paying membership to have some influence!

All of that, however, relates to the Southern Tenant Farmers Union. This Southern Regional Council is the other way. We need members to have influence. How about becoming a member yourself? Recruitment pamphlet enclosed. See blank on back.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

I am a graduate student in The School of Social Sciences and Public Affairs of American University in this city and am writing to you in the hope that you will assist me in the collection of some information for a term paper in one of my courses.

The project is to write on some of the early history and difficulties of the Southern Tenant Farmers Union. I have been collecting information for this project wherever and whenever I could find it and am almost ready to assemble the final draft of the paper. I read in The Washington Post of October 22,1948 a brief account of some remarks made by you at the Conference of Negro land grant colleges on this subject and am writing to ask if I may have a copy of the entire speech or any other material you may have at hand on this subject.

I ahve an especial interest in this problem since I am the son of a former tenant farmer in Georgia and intimately acquainted with some of the problems they face. Since this paper is to be presented in both a written and oral form, I have taken great pains to insure its accuracy. The oral part of it will be presented to a group of some 40 students,faculty members and interested observers as part of a symposium on the History of Labor Unions in the United States.

I would greatly appreciate hearing from you regarding this problem as to its past sordid history and its present operations.

HAMPTON ACTING PRESIDENT HAS BROAD BACKGROUND

HAMPTON, Va. — Hampton Institute Acting President Alonzo G. Moron, who was appointed to his new position by the Board of Trustees in its recent October meeting in New York City, has a background that includes intensive preparation and experience not only in business administration but also in sociology, economics, social work, and law.

The new appointee, who will continue also to serve as business manager — a post he has held for two years — is former Commissioner of Public Welfare for the Virgin Islands, his home, and a former manager of two federal housing projects in Atlanta, Ga. A 1927 graduate of Hampton Institute's Division of Trades and Industries, he went on to receive an LL.B. degree from the Harvard School of Law last year.

He holds a Ph. B. degree (cum laude) from Brown University in sociology and economics, and an M. A. degree in social work, awarded by the University of Pittsburgh after a year's study made possible by a National Urban League fellowship. In his senior year at Brown, he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity.

Mr. Moron's election came simultaneously with the re-election of Saul Perdue as Alumni representative on the Board, and the nomination of Robert Devecchi, of the New York firm of Smith, Barney, and Company, for Board Membership. The Board is continuing its search for a new president through the committee set up for that purpose — including five Board members and two Faculty members.

As public welfare commissioner for the Virgin Islands, 1933-1936, Mr. Moron, a native Virgin Islander, was responsible for developing a public welfare program in a community 75 per cent of whose population had been described as "either unemployed or under-employed." The long-range housing survey made under his administration laid the basis for the present housing program in the Virgin Islands.

In 1936, Mr. Moron was appointed housing manager for University Homes, a federally operated low-rent housing project for 675 Negro families in Atlanta, Georgia. When the University Homes project was leased to the Housing Authority of Atlanta in 1940, Mr. Moron became consultant in the building of six more Atlanta housing projects and added the managership of a second housing project to his duties.

During his Atlanta residence Mr. Moron was a regular lecturer in housing at the Atlanta School of Social Work and an occasional lecturer in courses in public welfare administration, The Family, and Urban Sociology.

Mr. Moron is a former member of the National Association of Housing Officials and its committee for training housing management employees, and he has been a member of the interracial committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and the executive boards of the Georgia State Conference of Social Work, the Atlanta Social Planning Council, and the Atlanta Urban League.

In connection with his business manager's position, Mr. Moron is a member of the Eastern and the Central Associations of College and University Business Officers.

President Felton G. Clark
Southern University
Scotlandville, Louisiana

Dear Mr. Clark:

I recall with high hopes your promise to see if you can't get us some more members from the faculty and others at Scotlandville and Baton Rouge.

For the time being, the best recruitment pamphlet we have is the one of which I attach a dozen copies.

I do hope you can help us. We ought soon to get an active chapter of the Council going in the Baton Rouge area.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

Mr. R. P. Daniel
1100 Florida National Bank Building
Jacksonville, Florida

Dear Mr. Daniel:

Here is the 1948 list from the Southern Baptist Handbook of the Baptist ministers in Florida.

We have less strength in the Baptist denomination than in some others.

I thought maybe you could get the list into the hands of some Baptist person who would have a wide acquaintance in that church in Florida and would, perhaps, make a mark by the names of those ministers believed by him to be possibly interested in becoming members of the Council. If the list so marked were then returned to us through you, we would write the marked ministers and do the usual thing of sending them several issues of New South free and then asking them to join the Council. Could you arrange that for us?

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

SUBJECT

DATE 11/24/48

These are letters written by GSM and AMcK to various people. The subject of SRC membership was mentioned. I have been holding the letters to see if the people join. If they have joined, pull the letters out and send to files. If they have not joined and the letters seem to warrant it, sort of "cultivate" them again and see if you can get a membership from them.

SRC Cultivation special.

November 24, 1948

Miss Johnnye Cox
Department of Education
University of Georgia
Athens, Georgia

Dear Johnnye:

Did you ever read the story of the "proper gander" in Thurber's Fables for our Times? Well, I am sending you some "proper gander" with this letter, to further answer some of those questions you fired at me last Saturday night. With the competition of the shrimp and the voice of the Regional Council for Education, I didn't do too well, I'm afraid.

I particularly want you to read the "Honest Answer in the Civil Rights Controversy." This was issued September 15 by our Executive Committee and then, at the November annual meeting, it was adopted as a policy statement by the membership. I think it represents the thinking of the Council's leadership along the lines Bill and I discussed with you.

The leaflet with the map gives some of the background of the Council and tells about membership. Inflation struck at the annual meeting; dues were raised from $2 to $3! That includes receipt of New South and other SRC publications as they come out.

The "Home Town Self-Survey" is just out, in a preliminary edition. It will help to have your comments.

If you will send us the list of your sixty-three supervisors, we will be glad to preach the gospel to them.

Sincerely yours,

Elizabeth Taylor

RE: Cultivation of prospective members

Names of prospective members we get in various ways. Lists of people who attended certain conferences, lists of people sent in by State Divisions, individual names suggested by staff and SRC members, people who have asked for information and/or literature--all these and others are our sources of prospective members.

Cultivation procedure. Make a card for each name, including name and address and the source from which we got the name (see attached card).

Send each person a form letter. We have several (see attached). One is our "general" form letter, and goes to people living in states where we have no State Division or states in which State Divisions do not yet have a form letter. Others are letters for Mississippi, South Carolina, and Alabama. If you want to make special letters for other states, it's perfectly all right to do so.

Along with the letter goes a copy of "Southern Regional Council" and a copy of the latest New South. Sometimes we include another leaflet, also. The letter is attached to the package containing the pamphlets.

Note that the letter says "So that you may know more about the SRC, we are sending you for three months, complimentary issues of New South. All members receive this publication regularly. We very much hope that now, or after a month or two, you will want to become a member of the Council....."

We make the three months complimentary subscription include the first issue of N.S. which we send. Thus for two months after the letter, the prospective members get N.S. In those two issues we enclose a slip of paper to the effect that ~~is~~ this is another in the series of complimentary issues which we are sending, etc., etc. (see attached). I strongly recommend that that slip of paper be revised to include an opportunity for the prospective member to join or subscribe immediately. This he would have four chances to join, instead of our current two.

We make ~~two~~ 3-4 sets of labels for each person cultivated--one original and one carbon. We use these for mailing the two copies of New South.

At the end of three months, shortly after our cultivatee has received his third copy of N.S., we send him a formal invitation to membership. These are out of date, but we have millions of them, so we still use them. Included with the invitation is a form letter (see attached), a blue membership card, and a self-addressed envelope. Note that there is a special letter for South Carolina. This should be revised and signed by Miss Wil Lou Gray, membership secretary, and Mr. Dabbs. It should include the program for next year and should be written on S. C. Division stationery. You can get the stationery from Miss Rebecca Reid, their secretary, I think. Get Mrs. Spearman or Miss Gray to write the letter; then you can revise it if it needs it.

As our procedure stands now, our contact with the cultivatee stops with the formal invitation. If he doesn't join after the invitation, he is lost to us. That should not be. I suggest that after two or three weeks, if he hasn't joined, you send him a memo. As I understand it, the success of direct mail advertising is greatly dependent on the number of times you give the guy a chance to bite.

Cultivation records. Cards are filed in the long wooden file box. They are filed in alphabetical order. Labels are filed by months in the small wooden file with the top unhinged. Thus when the December N.S. comes, the labels filed back of "December" are taken out and given to Connie's successor, who sticks them on the envelopes and sends out the December issue with the proper slip of paper.

Work out your own procedure for filing cards. I usually hold them unfiled until invitations have been sent, then I stamp them with the month and year the invitation was sent, file them, and sit back to wait for results. When the guy joins, I pull his card out. When they are unfiled, I keep them in stacks, banded together--for instance, those people who are to get a letter in December, and after that the Jan. and Feb. New South's, I keep in one stack with a notation "Dec., Jan., Feb. N.S.; invite Feb.;labels made (or if not made yet, a notation to make labels)". In another stack would be those who are getting the Nov., Dec., and Jan. N.S., with a notation to "invite in January". This system has both advantages and disadvantages. If you are going to re-invite them to join each month, I suggest that you go ahead and file the cards to begin with; then when he joins, you have only one file to look through. In this case, though, you should probably date the cards when you file them and perhaps note on them what has been sent each guy. You can work that out yourself, though.

There are in the file right now cards for five or six hundred people. They have been checked through the membership file, so that we know that all the cards in my file are for non-members. Til time got so short, I meant to send a follow-up letter to a selected group of the cardees, saying something to the effect that we note they have not yet joined SRC; we'd still like to have them, etc., and here is our latest issue of N.S. Maybe the Honest Answer would be good to send them. If you get a chance, it would be a good idea to send out the letter. The cards are dated as to month and year. Those cultivated in 1946 or the early part of 1947 are probably too much out-of-date to send the letter to; those cultivated late in 1947 and in 1948 would be o.k., I think--or maybe just those cultivated in 1948. Do as you think best in the matter.

About labels. It might be a good idea to make three or four sets of labels, instead of the usual two, if you want to follow-up even after the invitation is sent. Then the labels will be ready for the follow-ups.

A good many letters and packets will be returned to you because of wrong address, moved and left no address, etc. When this happens, pull the labels already typed and the card. Either correct the address, if you can, or destroy the card and labels. You will also want to pull the labels of the few people who will join during the three-month cultivation period. For these reasons it is a good idea to keep the labels in approximately alphabetical order.

Special cultivation. Some people will warrant individually typed letters. You can of course vary the form letter to suit the occasion, or just write one yourself. I am turning over to you a folder of letters to people written by GSM and AMcK. In the main, these are answers to information and literature requests. Usually there is an invitation to join SRC. I hold these letters for a week or so (usually longer!), then if the people have not joined SRC, I either put them on the routine cultivation list or write another letter asking them to join.

I guess that about covers cultivation. Typing letters, envelopes, labels, cards, and invitations takes a lot of time, so try to get some help on it. Unless the matter is pressing, let the names accumulate for a month, then do the routine stuff. Otherwise,you'll spend a lot of everyday on clerical details. And do write lots of notes to yourself! And label all your stuff very carefully! Otherwise, you will forget what you have done, who gets what when, and the whole thing will make you neurotic, as Lib's friend says! Good-luck! You will consider the whole thing worth while when the memberships roll in!

SUBJECT: No. N.S. required for cultivation

DATE: 11-29-48

On the average, it takes about 150 or 200 copies of New South each month for cultivation purposes. If you cultivate all the back-log of names, it will take more than that number for the next several times. Be sure to give Mrs. McKoy a memo to the effect that you will need more of N.S. I think they are counting the numbers very closely.

Southern Regional Council, Inc.

ROOM 432, 63 AUBURN AVENUE, N. E. ATLANTA 3, GEORGIA

A Council to attain, through research and action, the ideals and practices of equal opportunity for all peoples in the South.

General

At the suggestion of one of our members who believes you are one of those "interested in the ideals for which the Southern Regional Council stands," we are sending you a few of our publications.

The people in the South who are carrying the Region's progress are a pretty busy lot. They need to work with others to keep them encouraged and informed about what is happening in other communities. The Council tries to band together these very people.

We believe that one of the soundest ways to get human respect and understanding deeply into our civilization is to bring ourselves up to modern standards in health, education, law, citizenship, jobs, farming, and culture. We inquire, and plan, and publish, and act, to get the South up to these standards and to harness our regional patriotism to public well-being.

I am sure you share our concern for racial understanding and mutual progress. We want you to know more about what the Council is, and what it does in this and other fields. We are therefore sending you, for the next three months, complimentary issues of New South and other publications.

We hope that now, or after a month or two, you will want to join the Council. Meanwhile, we'd like to know what's happening where you are, and what you think we and you should do.

Sincerely,

Greetings received by wire for the Farmers Union School:

"Greetings to the fine Farmers Union members during this 3rd Farmers Union Term at Highlander Folk School. What grieves me most is my not being able to participate with you people in what I know a truly great experience. As previous sessions have been, one thing I want to say and only one: there are enough people in your classroom, no matter how small the group, to set the whole South on fire -- a fire of new and renewed spirit for the exploited farming class or family farmers, because you have within you a new idea and ideal of Christian cooperation of basic brotherhood of all people working together, not separately, for your common spiritual and material betterment. My heart is with you all. My best wishes for our movement and our causes."

Dec. 6

Jane;;

In the files or in one of the cultivation folders there is a letter from Mr. Kenneth Phifer, chmn. of the Rock Hill Interracial Comm. sending us the list of members of the R.H. Comm. (see my letter attached). These people were cultivated for 3 mo.s. and the regular D. C. letter sent. After Christmas you might follow through on those who didn't join. I don't think the matter of the Interracial Commission was ever mentioned to them. You might write Mr. Phifer to do some personal work on them, too.

Miss Eleanor McKay
Girl Scouts of the United States of America
7829 Euclid Avenue
Cleveland 3, Ohio

Dear Miss McKay:

Some weeks ago we here in the Council had the great pleasure of a visit from Mrs. E. Richard Carhart, adviser in your national headquarters for the community relations division.

Mrs. Carhart was interested in whatever might be helpful in spreading the work of the Girl Scouts in the southern states.

We told her about the activity of our Council on behalf of economic and cultural improvement for all of the people of the South, and she was good enough to give me your name as the person in charge in Kentucky.

I send you a leaflet about the Council and a list of our various publications.

We would be delighted to have you or any of your people as members of the Council, and should be happy to supply any local troup officers whatever literature might be useful to them.

Sincerely,

Memo

12/14/48

To: Jane Simpson
From: GSM

As to the attached list from South Carolina, we have the following information:

"I am returning with this the list of Baptist ministers in South Carolina which you sent me some time ago. It has been checked by two young Baptist preachers, both members of the SRC and both at headquarters in Columbia and pretty well acquainted with the preachers of the State. One of them, in returning the list to me, said it would hardly be worth the money to send SRC pamphlets to those on the list not checked! Best wishes with the rest of them."

Mr. William R. Walker, Jr.
2315 Jefferson Avenue
Newport News, Virginia

Dear Mr. Walker:

I fell into conversation the other day with Mr. Al Thompson, here in Atlanta. We took pleasure in recalling our mutual friendship with you.

It struck me that you ought to belong to this good Southern Regional Council. Here is a leaflet that tells about it. Aren't you prosperous enough by now to afford us three bucks a year?

Assuming that you are, we are delighted. If you aren't, I send you my good wishes.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

Mrs. Mary Porter Evarts
Bear Creek Pike
Columbia, Tennessee

Dear Mrs. Evarts:

Your letter of October 26, so kindly telling me of the interest of Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Stephenson, both of Columbia, arrived just as I began my long illness which kept me away from the office for such a considerable while. As you may imagine, my desk is now piled high, and it is taking me much longer than I like to catch up.

We so appreciate your telling us about these two friends and are writing them today.

With kindest good wishes for the new year.

Sincerely yours,

(Mrs.) Agnes McKoy
Secretary-Treasurer

Dear Mrs. McRoy -

The following prominent persons in this community have entirely liberal views about race relations, and I expect they would like to join the Council if they knew more about it from you:

Mr. & Mrs. John Tilman Mitchell, 609 N. High St Columbia
Mr. & Mrs. E. W. Stephenson,
Hampshire Pike, Columbia, Tenn.

I have spoken with these friends about the objectives of the Council, and the achievements, - and you may mention my name if you care to write to them.

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Mary Porter Evans

Dear Mr. Smith:

Thanks a lot for the list of the Baptist ministers. We were not so much going to ask them for money (an unlikely source!) but we hoped some of them would join the Council. We will write to those that were marked.

63 Auburn Ave.
Atlanta 3, Ga.

Dear Dr. Mitchell:

I am returning the list of Virginia Baptist ministers from the Southern Baptist Handbook which you sent me sometime ago. The Rev. Mr. J. H. Cosby who is a Baptist Minister andknows the ministers in his denominations throughout the State consented to check ~~these~~ names of those whom he thought might be willing to contribute to the Council. I sincerely hope you will be successful in getting some funds from them.

Thanks for the word of commendation on my article. I hope it will suit the purpose all right.

Sincerely,

Emerson

Dear Mr. Johnson:

I enjoyed our brief conversation at Fort Worth the other day.

We would like to get you to become a member of the Southern Regional Council. Here is some literature about it. The leaflet with the tan map has on the back a membership blank.

We have 147 members now in Texas, out of our total of 3,050 in the whole South.

We are doing an honest job, and we would like your help.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Carter:

I greatly enjoyed making your acquaintance at the meeting in Fort Worth the other day.

Would you consider becoming a member of the Southern Regional Council? It costs the whole of three dollars, and most of what you get is monthly issues of our little magazine New South. The magazine, we think, is tolerably good. It would link you with our other 147 members in Texas, and there are 3,000-odd of us over the rest of the South.

I send you some of our printed things.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

Dear Mr. Price:

Thank you very much for your letter of February 5.

I remember meeting you at the February gathering last year.

It costs three dollars a year to be a member of the Council. That carries with it the little magazine New South.

The Council has no organization of its own membership in North Carolina, but works in that state through its formal affiliation with the North Carolina Committee on Interracial Cooperation. The director of the North Carolina Committee is Mr. Cyrus Johnson, 336½ Salisbury Street, Raleigh. I hope you will care to join also the North Carolina Committee, which has an active program in that state.

I enclose a copy of a leaflet describing the Council. Membership blank on the back. Easy thing to do is to fill it out and send in the three dollars.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

Dear Dr. Mitchell

I attended the meeting in Atlanta, Civil and Human rights last February and was very much impressed with the work of the Southern Regional Council. At that time I was Chairman of the American Veterans Committee at the Vets Admn. Hospital Swannanoa, N. C.

I would like to become a member of the Southern Regional Council and receive any publications of the Council. I would also like to take as active a part in the Southern Regional Council as possible.

Would you let me hear from you at the earliest possible date.

Dear Mr. Hill:

At the request of Mr. O. J. Coogler, Junior, we are attaching hereto, a copy of our leaflet, The Southern Regional Council, which describes the origin, aims and purposes of our organization.

The work of the Southern Regional Council is now more than twenty-five years old. In the racial troubles that followed World War I, it was found that interracial committees, hurriedly formed in cities, towns, and for whole States, could serve with great usefulness to inform members of both races of slow grievances and of emergency situations. Such committees became an established part of the life of the South in the early 'twenties. They were federated and serviced by the Commissionson Interracial Cooperation, here in Atlanta. Influential members of both races would come together, regularly, to enable discussion of problems, and to plan and see through corrective action. Quietly their impulse was felt by newspapers, civil authorities, the Churches, school officials, police administrators, health officers, and so on. The Commission helped organize, extend, and steer the work of the State and local Interracial Committees. It gave much time to factual analysis on the problem of lynching and other forms of interracial violence, and particularly through the Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, educated a good body of Southern opinion as to the causes and possible remedies for this traditional lawlessness. Large numbers of local peace officers signed an undertaking to resist mob violence, and many thousands of Southern women enlisted in the cause of getting crime handled by the law, and by the law alone.

From all this, and much related work, the Commission and the State groups built up a body of acquaintance and confidence which is a priceless asset. Links were formed across the barriers of race which have grown through the years, and have been invaluable in stimulating general progress and emergency action all over the South.

Toward the end of the 'thirties the view became increasingly prevalent that the problems of the South were being too much presented just in terms of race, and that the friction that showed up in race incidents could best be eradicated by bringing the entire population of the South abreast of modern standards in health, education, employment, farming, and culture. It was thought, too, that a richer religious life depended in no small part on a sounder base in well being. Coupled with this view was the thought that the South could and should use her sense of regional unity as a means of organizing herself, that sounder base. Our regional patriotism could go into public effort to build well-being.

To discuss these views region-wide meeting were held, and from them grew the decision to set up a Southern Regional Council, which would have the job of thinking and organizing and helping local and state effort in these directions. The Council was organized at the end of 1943. It absorbed the work of the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation, and took on fresh direction and many new friends.

Since 1944, the Council has kept up the link with the State Committees, six of which have now become full divisions of the Council (Kentucky, Mississipppi, Florida, South Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee); has published a stream of pamphlets pointing the way to improvement in health, housing, education, industry, agriculture, and racial understanding; has steadily increased its membership; has from time to time issued to the press statements giving the sober and informed view on this or that special difficulty; and has worked quietly to influence action by responsible bodies and agencies in all the directions of progress.

The Council has been a bi-racial organization from the start, and its staff has been drawn from both races. It is thus a constantly available resource of informed interracial understanding, with the whole South as its field of knowledge and effort.

We have plans for much more to do, particularly in easing the passage to fuller democratic participation by all the people of the South, in bettering police administration, and in getting the citizens of the South to understand the various welfare functions of their State and Federal governments, and to require of them the highest possible standards of performance.

We welcome to membership those who subscribe to our aims and purposes as outlined. We shall be most happy to have you join us if you would care to do so. Membership is three dollars per year and carries with it a subscription to our monthly magazine, New South, and any other pamphlet which may be issued during the calendar year. May we not hear from you further?

Cordially and sincerely yours,

(Mrs.) Agnes McKoy
Secretary-Treasurer

Mr. D. C. Whittle
163 North Franklin Street
Delaware, Ohio

Dear Mr. Whittle:

We are delighted to have your letter of February 6.

I send you a little leaflet describing the Council, and a list of all our publications. We are what I now hear called a "low-budget" organization, and would rather send you from the price list the pamphlets that you may particularly want. Howsomever, if you are a low-budget organization too, and want them all for free, we will share our poverty and send them to you. I am the more moved to this generosity as I see we share Virginianism!

In any case, we are making you a subscriber for the next several months to our little journal New South. I send you herewith the last issue. This has been a particularly useful one. We sent a copy to each of the thousand county superintendents of schools in the South.

If you will write us about the particular fields of your interest, we would be most happy to give you any information or leads that we can.

Meanwhile, please become a member of the Council, and advise us on what to do.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

Dear Sir:

I am interested in the bettering of race relations and furthering the development of the South towards better human understandings. I have made an extended study of the problems concerned and have been given your name to write to as an organization concerned with this fight.

Will you please send me all available printed material related to this subject that you have available? If you maintain a mailing list I would appreciate having my name placed upon it for the next five months. I am a native of Virginia and am especially interested in doing all that I can within the next few years to better the existing problems which now face our section of the country. I note that Dr. Howard W. Odum was chairman of the council in 1945. I have read his book The Way of the South, and have found it extremely helpful in gaining useful information about the South.

Sincerely yours,

D. C. Whittle

To: Jane Simpson

One of our North Carolina Fellows, Mrs. Annie Laurie McDonald (presumably of Scottish extraction) said we could do some good recruiting in outfits to me hitherto unknown called Altrusa Clubs. She bracketed with them also business and professional women's clubs.

Would you alert the Simpson radar system and flash back what pictures of our possibilities the Altrusa and B & PW turn up?

The idea seemed to be that wé could sell them some of our literature.

Dear Mr. Almon:

One of our members in Sheffield, Rabbi Charles Mantinband, very kindly sent us a press clipping about your talk in mid-February to the Tuscumbia Kiwanis Club.

We were cheered by the wisdom of what you had to say.

The Southern Regional Council works very much along the line that I judge was yours.

We would like you to know about us. We have an active Alabama Division of the Council which had its annual meeting just the other day in Montgomery. Mr. A. D. Beittel at Talladega is chairman of the Division, and Dr. Ruth Brett of Tuskegee is secretary.

Here are various things about the Council.

Dear Mrs. Wright:

Mrs. Henry W. Havens, our Field Secretary, has asked me to send you some information about the Southern Regional Council. I am enclosing a leaflet which will tell you about the origins, organization, and activities of the Council, an annotated publications list, and a short circular on the community self-survey which the Council is interested in promoting. The self-survey stems from the one in Jacksonville two years ago, which Mrs. Havens probably has told you about.

Writing this letter makes me feel a bit nostalgic, as I am an ex-St. Paulite myself!

I hope that this is the information you wanted about the Council. If there is anything else, please let us know.

Professor Lewis E. Smith

Dear Mr. Smith:

We have been asked by Mr. Fred C. Wolf, Jr., to send you information about the Southern Regional Council, and this we are most happy to do.

The work of the Southern Regional Council is now more than twenty-five years old. In the racial troubles that followed World War I, it was found that interracial committees hurriedly formed in cities, towns, and for whole States, could serve with great usefulness to informamembers of both races of slow grievances and of emergency situations. Such committees became an established part of the life of the South in the early twenties. They were federated and serviced by the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, here in Atlanta. Influential members of both races would come together, regularly, to enable discussion of problems, and to plan and see through corrective action. Quietly their impulse was felt by newspapers, civil authorities, the Churches, school officials, police administrators, health officers, and so on. The Commission helped organize, extend and steer the work of the State and local Interracial Committees. It gave much time to factual analysis on the problem of lynching and other forms of interracial violence, and particularly through the Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, educated a good body of Southern opinion as to the causes and possible remedies for this traditional lawlessness. Large numbers of local peace officers signed an undertaking to resist mob violence, and many thousands of Southern women enlisted in the cause of getting crime handled by the law, and by the law alone.

From all this, and much related work, the Commission and the State groups built up a body of acquaintance and confidence which is a priceless asset. Links were formed across the barriers of race which have grown through the years, and have been invaluable in stimulating general progress and emergency actionall over the South.

Toward the end of the 'thirties the view became increasingly prevalent that the problems of the South were being too much presented just in terms of race, and that the friction that showed up in race incidents could best be eradicated by bringing the entire population of the South abreast of modern standards in health, education, employment, farming, and culture. It was thought, too, that a richer religious life depended in no small part on a sounder base in wellbeing. Coupled with this view was the thought that the South could and should use her sense of regional unity as a means of organizing herself on that sounder base. Our regional patriotism could go into public effort to build well-being.

To discuss these views region-wide meetings were held, and from them grew the decision to set up a Southern Regional Council, which would have the job of thinking and organizing and helping local and state effort in these directions. The Council was organized at the end of 1943. It absorbed the work of the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation, and took on fresh direction and many new friends.

Since 1944, the Council has kept up the link with the State Committees, six of which have now become full divisions of the Council (Kentucky, Mississippi, Florida, South Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee); has published a stream of pamphlets pointing the way to improvement in health, housing, education industry, agriculture, and racial understanding; has steadily increased its membership; has from time to time issued to the press statements giving the sober and informed view on this or that special difficulty; and has worked quietly to influence action by responsible bodies and agencies in all the directions of progress.

The Council has been a bi-racil organization from the start, and its staff has been drawn from both races. It is thus a constantly available resource of informed interracial understanding, with the whole South as its field of knowledge and effort.

We have plans for much more to do, particularly in easing the passage to fuller democratic participation by all the people of the South, in bettering police administration, and in getting the citizens of the South to understand the various welfare functions of their State and Federal governments, and to require of them the highest possible standards of performance.

We welcome to membership those who subscribe to our aims and purposes as outlined. We shall be most happy to have you join us if you would care to do so. Membership is $3.00 per year and carries with it a subscription to our monthly magazine, New South, and any other pamphlet which may be issued during the calendar year. May we not hear from you further?

Miss Ellen Morris

My dear Miss Morris:

I am wondering if the Southern Regional Council is an organization that you would be willing to take an interest in.

We are an interracial body of some 3,000 dues-paying southern persons, working through research, public education, and local non-political action to broaden democracy and improve the lives of all the people of the South.

Our work goes back to 1920, through the work of the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation, which the Council absorbed in 1944. Ours has been straight along a spirit of reasonableness which has brought rich, if little advertised, gains to the South in the reduction of lynching, in better schools, in fairer enforcement of the law, in the widespread use of Negro police officers, and in the negotiation in communities all over the South of greater fairness in public services and in private attitudes. We have long had cordial links with the leading southern newspaper editors, and we have always managed to be useful in getting in to see governors and mayors and others in a position to do something practical and immediate to help.

Clarence Pickett knows us and our work quite well.

Dr. Howard Odum, Kenan Professor of Sociology at the University of North Carolina, who was for several years the Council's president, has just offered to be one of a hundred people who would give $250 toward the meeting of the Council's exiguous budget.

I send, attached, some of our printed things. If you have time, would you please read particularly the one called "An Honest Answer in the Civil Rights Controversy."

Would you possibly wish to be one of Dr. Odum's hundred contributors?

In any case, we will greatly like to have you as a member of the Council so that your interest in southern matters might continue to grow.

Sincerely,

Dear Cy:

As Mrs. Tilly is going to be at the Salisbury meeting, I think I will stay in this part of the world, though I appreciate the opportunity to come.

Do give them a shove about home town self-surveys.

Grand news about Trigg!

I ship you today at Raleigh some fresh literature. It should reach you Monday. We have sent what will probably be an abundance of literature to Salisbury, in Mrs. Tilly's care. So you have a safeguard in that supply, if what I ship to you does not reach you in time to get hauled by you over to Salisbury. In any case, you can use it in Raleigh.

Sincerely,

BRC - Cultivation

MEMO ON CULTIVATION

May 6, 1949

Since November 1, 1948 we have cultivated 438 persons. These include names and addresses returned to us on Flemings or punches, lists of prospects such as Baptist ministers, Fisk Race Relations Institute persons, and other lists.

Those who joined since November, 1948 from among cultivated persons total as follows:

16 members
2 members, no dues enclosed
2 subscribers

This represents a 4.1% return.

Mrs. Simpson figures that we have spent one half hour of time per person cultivated. That's roughly 30 work days, or five days a month. Estimating a work day as costing us $8.00, we have spent $40 a month on cultivation and have cultivated 70 persons a month.

Each cultivated person has therefore cost us 55¢ in time and at least 20¢ extra in postage, stationery, and pamphlets—or a minimum of 75¢.

We have received in dues from these persons a total of $50 or thereabouts (it is possible that additional contributions were had from these persons but have had no record) and a total of about 11¢ per cultivable.

Thus each name cultivated costs us 65¢.

What to do?

Mrs. Simpson says that she does not think that the names returned on Flemings are a particular fruitful source of joiners. Maybe punch pamphlets will do better.

Neither are general lists much good.

Best results come from people who work their friends in a local community. Examples: Rock Hill, Roanoke.

I see no alternative but to continue to cultivate persons whose names are sent to us on Flemings or punch pamphlets.

List cultivation will be discontinued, except upon express written instructions of GSM or AMcK.

Filing and record-keeping on cultivables and cultivatees will be dispensed with.

All cultivation will become one-time cultivation.

As the only kind of cultivation that will be routine is that of names returned to us on Flemings or punches, a form letter is to be devised by Mrs. Simpson and initialed by GSM and AMcK, which will be the letter to be used for the one-time cultivation of such persons.

Where lists of persons are directed to be cultivated, the person so directing will devise his or her own letter for special cultivation.

Cultivation of lists then becomes the function of whatever person the cultivation of that particular list may be assigned to.

Mrs. McKoy's recommendation is sought as to the individual upon whom should be placed the task of routine one-time form letter cultivation of names reaching us from Flemings and punch pamphlets.

Note that in the term "names reaching us from Flemings or punch pamphlets" is taken to be included the names returned to us in other correspondence, being names not specifically listed upon Fleming or punch pamphlet forms.

Since I am only in my second year as dean of Washington and Lee, and since we are still involved in a great many curricular changes which absorb most of my time, I have had to resolve that I should not accept membership in any organization for a while yet. I wish you great success in your work. You must know from what Mr. Luther Jackson said that I cordially agree with your principles.

Mrs. Leila Holt
College Settlement House
433 Christian Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Dear Mrs. Holt:

At the request of a member of our staff, Miss Elizabeth Taylor, we are sending you a few things which we hope will be of interest to you about the Council.

The work of the Southern Regional Council is now more than twenty five years old. In the racial troubles that followed World War I, it was found that interracial committees, hurriedly formed in cities, towns, and for whole States, could serve with great usefulness to inform members of both races of slow grievances and of emergency situations. Such committees became an established part of the life of the South in the early ' twenties. They were federated and serviced by the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, here in Atlanta. Influential members of both races would come together, regularly, to enable discussion of problems, and to plan and see through corrective action. Quietly their impulse was felt by newspapers, civil authorities, the Churches, school officials, police administrators, health officers, and so on. The Commission helped organize, extend, and steer the work of the State and local Interracial Committees. It gave much time to factual analysis on the problem of lynching and other forms of interracial violence, and particularly through the Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, educated a good boy of Southern opinion as to the causes and possible remedies for this traditional lawlessness. Large numbers of local peace officers signed an undertaking to resist mob violence, and many thousands of Southern women enlisted in the cause of getting crime handled by the law, and by the law alone.

From all this, and much related work, the Commission and the State groups built up a body of acquaintance and confidence which is a priceless asset. Links were formed across the barriers of race which have grown through the years, and have been invaluable in stimulating general progress and emergency action all over the South.

Toward the end of the 'thirties the view became increasingly prevalent that the problems of the South were being too much presented just in terms of race, and that the friction that showed up in race incidents could best be eradicated by bringing the entire population of the South abreast of modern standards in health, education, employment, farming and culture. It was thought, too, that a richer religious life depended in no small part of a sounder base in well-being. Coupled with this view was the thought that the South could and should use her sense of regional unity as a means of organizing public effort to build well-being.

To discuss these views region-wide meetings were held, and from them grew the decision to set up a Southern Regional Council, which would have the job of thinking and organizing and helping local and State effort in these directions. The Council was organized at the end of 1943. It absorbed the work of the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation, and took on fresh direction and many new friends.

Since 1944, the Council has kept up the link with the State Committees, six of which have now become full divisions of the Council (Kentucky, Mississippi, Florida, South Carolina, Alabama, and Tennessee); has published a stream of pamphlets pointing the way to improvement in health, housing, education, industry, agriculture, and racial understanding; has steadily increased its membership; has from time to time issued to the press statements giving the sober and informed view on this or that special difficulty; and has worked quietly to influence action by responsible bodies and agencies in all the directions of progress.

The Council has been a bi-racial organization from the start, and its staff has been drawn from both races. It is thus a constantly available resource of informed interracial understanding, with the whole South as its field of knowledge and effort.

We have plans for much more to do, particularly in easing the passage to fuller democratic participation by all the people of the South, in bettering police administration, and in getting the citizens of the South to understand the various welfare functions of their State and Federal governments, and to require of them the highest possible standards of performance.

We welcome to membership those who subscribe to our aims and purposes as outlined. We shall be most happy to have you join us if you would care to do so. Membership is three dollars per year and carries with it a subscription to our monthly magazine, New South, and any other pamphlet which may be issued during the calendar year.

May we not hear from you?

Dear Characters,

These fifty characters are zipping over Nova Scotia. We have a well-organized Georgia bloc, spearheaded by Marvis Mitchell, a self-styled "hostess." Besides our co-op group of fifteen, there is a Religion and Labor study group headed for England. Witherspoon Dodge is among them and is, needless to say, making himself heard. Also a "Seminar in European gov't."

— Don Rammosses, honorable Fellow of the Council (from Talladega) just came by to borrow some paper and we got into a session on student membership for SRC. He has been interested in the Alabama student conference on civil rights — or whatever it is called. He and his wife have arranged for students from white colleges to spend several days at Talladega, living with students there, going to class and so on; other students from Talladega have visited Birmingham Southern and other college.

Incidentally, Morris is working on his thesis, on Southern White Liberals.

Our group has had great fun kidding about Morris' phrase about our travel: "simple to the point of austerity". Austerity began for Rosalie Oakes and me when we reached Macedonia and had to take off our shoes to walk the pine tree bridge to get to the Mitchells' house.

We had a good time during visits. In Raleigh we were served and dined by Mr Cheek of Shaw University, and his family. (Mr. Cheek is in our group) At some sort of reception there I talked at length with another Fellow of the Council, Mr. S. E. Duncan. He has been studying at Cornell but (NOTE PLEASE CAROLE) he has returned to his work as Superviser of Negro high schools in North Carolina. His address should be changed back to: Dept. of Public Instruction, Raleigh, N.C.

And a bouquet for thee, Harold: Mr. Duncan said in his opinion SRC publications had improved greatly in the last year or so: more alive, more timely. He thinks we are getting a bit more bold and likes it.

→ Harold, or someone, please send SRC material to:

Mrs. Leila Holt ← Written on 6/9/49 E. McG.
College Settlement House
433 Christian St.
Philadelphia, Pa.

She is head librarian for some Negro outfit in Philly, is interested in human relations. Might possibly be a sustaining associate member. Do send her punch and some other things. Say at my request.

Harold, please, one more thing. I promised Beth Herzog a copy of New South. She edits a company publication of some sort. You can take it Tuesday lunch or mail it: 1027 St. Charles Ave. NE, Atlanta? — Sent 8/9/49 by W.D. Atlanta

According to the grapevine we are twenty-five minutes outside of Gander, Newfoundland, where we will have a meal. That's the last stop before Shannon, Ireland.

The plane was nearly 24 hours late in departing: they had to replace two of the motors, then found a leak in a gas tank. We had lots of time to get acquainted with this odd assemblage. Last night we hosteled (but simply, since our baggage was checked) at Bradley Field, in the Youth Organizing headquarters. That was quite a comedown after our visit with Alice Mitchell Clifford at Southport, Conn. the night before. She is quite delightful. (She told me that since George Mitchell's visit there she has been trying to convince the inhabitants that he really did go to college. I think it was his homegrown stories.)

If the Council isn't too broke could it send me five (5) small punch pamphlets to the Loughborough, England address — which you have? I had one and gave it away. I'm going to try to save a few souls.

I hope Carole is having a wonderful vacation and that the rest of you will follow suit soon. You will recognize me, come Sept., by the lean, hungry look.

Blessings on you all

Dear Rabbi Mark:

This will acknowledge your postal card of August 13 in which you give us your new address at Gastonia.

You have been receiving New South as a member of the New Orleans Interracial Committee which voted some time ago to become a local chapter of the Southern Regional Council. The arrangement that the Council has with such local chapters is that one half of all dues collected from its members shall be returned to the local chapter for its use. Since some of the members of the Committee had paid their dues at the time the agreement was made and some had not so that to avoid confusion the Council agreed that no members of the Committee would be billed for dues until January 1950.

Membership in the Council is $3.00 for single members, $4.00 for joint husband-wife memberships. All members receive New South as a part of their membership as well as any other publications which may be issued during the year. Due to our slender budget free subscriptions are not available to anyone. We shall be very happy to have you as a member of the Council at $3.00, or to take your subscription at $1.50 if you do not wish to belong.

May I not hear from you?

December 9, 1949

Miss Mary W. Wright
Clintwood, Virginia

Dear Miss Wright:

We are delighted to have your letter of November 29. We are interested to learn of the job you have.

I send you a packet of things about the Council.

While several hundred people in Virginia are members of the Southern Regional Council directly, we do not have a state organization of our own in Virginia. The field is pretty well occupied by the Department of Race Relations of the Virginia Council of Churches. The Reverend Mr. Emerson Smith, 109 West Grace Street, Richmond, Va. is the Director of this.

We keep up the closest link with them, but for reasons connected with their entirely Protestant and non-Jewish constituency, we have not found it advisable to set up a Virginia Division of Southern Regional Council.

I am sure you would be assisted by getting in touch with Mr. Smith who is a good guy and is doing a most useful job in the state.

Meanwhile, if you wish to join the Council, we would be delighted to have you as a member. I must say we could not show you any more benefit directly than receipt of our small magazine New South, but you could let us know of anything needful in your territory.

I have driven through Pound Gap, which couldn't be too far from you and there picked up some interesting information about the No-Hell Baptists, who abound in that area. Keep your ears open, and you will hear a good story.

I might say that the Council is truly concerned for the well-being of every one in the South and we have an especially tender spot for the mountains.

Probably twenty years ago, Dickenson County had some some years as a case worker, a woman long since moved up to Greene County and for a short while married, and now living, I believe, in Stanardsville. She is an old friend of mine, deeply informed about the mountain people and the whole Blue Ridge life. For the life of me, I can't remember my old friend's name, but long-time residents of Dickenson will recall her. She is originally from Bermingham, Alabama.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

November 29, 1949

Dear Dr. Mitchell,

You are undoubtedly beseiged by letters from just such as I and don't know what to do with them. But I deem there is no harm in making inquiry, however you may be able to respond or not respond.

I read the article in the latest Sunday New York Times about the Southern Regional Council, of which it named you as executive director, and I was roused to great interest. I am a graduate of Oberlin College in Ohio and at present am a case worker of two months standing with the Dickenson County Department of Public Welfare in the southwest corner of Virginia. I am in a community where no Negroes are permitted to live and in a county in which there are very few. I am too new and not sufficiently clever at "nosing around" to understand completely the race relations and racial attitudes in this particular area, or to know what exactly is to be done and how.

I am very eager to learn if there are any branches of your organization anywhere about these parts, and if there would be any chance of my finding them and tying my small piece of string to the tail of the kite. And even if the "networks" does not reach here into the hills, I would be interested in knowing more of the nature and work of the Council. I assure you, anything you might find time to tell me would be most enthusiastically received, as this is a matter of special concern and sympathy to me.

Very sincerely,

Dear Mr. Byrd:

Many thanks for your letter of December 26th. Things may be slow but I think they have been quite active on your part. It finally rained in New York State we see, so maybe it will rain for SRC.

I told you some time ago that a Mrs. L. R. Eastman, 121 Momoroneck Rd., Scarsdale, New York, has been a steady annual contributor of fifty dollars to the Council. She wrote us December 20, sending us twenty dollars and asking that we take out memberships for six various persons whom she listed who spent all or part of the year in the South. They were as follows:

Mrs. Alexander C. Eastman, 269 Bahia Vista Avenue, Sarasota, Fla.
Miss Frances E. Jones, 843 Indian River Road, Cocoa, Fla.
Rev. & Mrs. Howard D. French, Palmer Avenue, Winter Park, Fla.
Mr. Rufus P. Eastman, 1714 Lincoln Street, Brownsville, Texas
Mr. Lucius R. Eastman, Jr., 826 Wiltshire Avenue, San Antonio 9, Texas
Mr. James M. Hills, 876 Carroll St., Brooklyn, New York

We have written each of them a nice note and have written her and thanked her.

I thought you might be able to throw out a line that would get you some more information about her. So far, as I know, no one has ever asked her for more than the fifty which she annually gives. Your modest expense check herewith, in some triumph!

Gentlemen;

I am very much interested in securing the best information possible for building race relation sermons. I, being a northern man am at a disadvantage in knowing where to go for this information. Some time ago I wrote to Dr. Davage and he referred me to your organization. I have the feeling that we, both white and Negro must face this problem togather as Christians. I am limited an finances so can not go in too deep for books on the subject. I have been getting "The Southern Patriot" . I like this paper quite well but I have the feeling that it is a little radical at times. Then there is a strain of bitterness that I feel should not be there. This is said in a kindly spirit, but nevertheless I feel it is true.

Any information that you can give me will be welcomed.

Respectfully yours.

Miss Elizabeth Stoney
Box 242
Chapel Hill, N. C.

Dear Miss Stoney:

Ben Segal, in Lynchburg, wrote us that you were a good egg and might care to join our Southern Regional Council.

Here is a leaflet, and three or four recent issues of our magazine. One has a membership blank on the back of it.

Chapel Hill is a kind of Old Home Place for the Council, so you'd be among many friends.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Robert D. Church
28 Collier Road, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Mrs. Church:

This morning we had a pleasant telephone call from Mrs. Doom. She suggested that in your travels and current talks about Hodding Carter's book, you might care to look through some of the Southern Regional Council's recent literature.

She also thought that, perhaps, you might be willing to become a member of the Council. I send you a sheaf of pamphlets. We commend particularly "An Honest Answer in the Civil Rights Controversy."

It costs only three dollars to be a member of the Council, and we would greatly like to have you.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell
Executive Director

P.S. The current issue of The Reporter is given over to southern matters. The Council had opportunity to advise staff members of the magazine as to several articles and authors in the preparation of the issue.

Dear Bishop Walker:

I am most grateful for your kindness in writing to Bishop Mitchell.

He has written in reply to my letter in a considerably softened vein, and I am hopeful that he will like what the Council can do in his state.

The Rt. Rev. R. Bland Mitchell
1604 Center Street
Little Rock, Ark.

Dear Bland:

A letter from Mr. Mitchell of the Southern Regional Council with an enclosed carbon to you has just come to hand. My judgement with regard to the Southern Regional Council is that it is in step with what honest thinking on inter-racial comity appears to involve. I have my own ideas with regard to this question and am convinced that we must live through (after the analogy of thinking through) to an ever truer estimate of values. Swift and easy methods of whatever form they take and whether associated with extremes either of radicalism or conservatism, will lead us astray. I am convinced therefore that some such institution as the Southern Regional Council should be a factor as we come more and more to understanding of our racial relationships and a sound practice predicated thereupon. Please do not take me, Bland, as engaging in an academic dissertation on the subject. You know me too well for this. But I have entered upon the foregoing as ground for suggesting that you accord serious consideration to the functions and possibilities of the Southern Regional Council as it relates to Arkansas.

You will find my friend, Mrs. Tilly, a cordial and discerning person. My information is that she is to visit Little Rock sometime within the near future.

Always affectionately,

Thomas Warren

What They Say About The Southern Regional Council—

"The SRC is unique in a number of heartening directions. It is bi-racial, non-denominational and non-political. It does not indulge in tom-tom beating, parades or lengthy pronunciamentos slanted for non-Southern consumption and approval. But it is not an isolationist effort to separate the South's problems from the nation's — or from the nation's concern."

— Hodding Carter

"The sort of organization which makes . . . progress possible, and which therefore deserves the support of all Southerners."

— Richmond TIMES-DISPATCH

"The most widely respected interracial group in the South."

— Asheville TIMES

"Progress can surely be made if liberals, North and South, will sit down and reason together along the lines this group suggests."

— NEW YORK TIMES

"The Southern Regional Council is an able and worthwhile organization working in the field of racial relations. It has no radical tinge, but is, nevertheless, an aggressively energetic coordinating agency."

— Ralph McGill

"A voice from the informed and moderate South."

— CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

"Southerners directly interested in the welfare of their own section."

— CHATTANOOGA TIMES

"The Council has put out a notable series of studies in Southern life and needs."

— THE CHRISTIAN CENTURY

"One of the best sources for materials on the South today is the publications of the Southern Regional Council. . . . Its inexpensive publications provide information on every aspect of life in Southern United States."

Dear Mr. Gibbs:

We had a mimeographed letter from Irwin Block and Thomas R. Norwalk, co-chairmen of the Campus Council on Intergroup Relations at the University of Miami. Address: P. O. Box 516, University Branch, Miami 46, Florida.

They said their new organization was an official agency of the Students Association. It is really the outgrowth of the good work of the Department of Human Relations at the University.

They wanted us to send them our publications and generally tell them who we were.

I wrote them and said their own Department of Human Relations people knew us intimately and for them to get in touch with them. I also told them we had a goodish membership in Miami and that our members would doubtless wish to work with the Campus Council in the development of program.

I send you this for your information.

Gentlemen:

In the spring of 1950, a group of student leaders from the University representing various fraternities, clubs, and social groups assembled and decided that an action program should be undertaken on campus for bettering human relations. The result of this meeting was the formation of the Campus Council on Intergroup Relations. The program of CCIR was enthusiasticly received by the student body and soon was made an official agency of the Student Association, which represents over 10,000 students at the University of Miami. To our knowledge, CCIR is the first agency of this type in existence.

Our group also is working very closely with the Department of Human Relations, which set anothor "first" as being the first department of its type to offer human relations courses for a major on an undergraduate level and also courses in human relations on a graduate level.

We feel that your organization can be of great help to us in planning future programs in the field of human relations and effective democratic action. "The Directory of Agencies in Intergroup Relations", published by the American Council on Race Relations, lists your organization and the type of program you have undertaken. We would like to know about it, so that the Human Relations Department, campus groups, and interested students may call upon us to make recommendations and suggestions of suitable action programs.

Specifically, we would like to request the following material from you which, 1. discribes your organization; 2. tells us which fields you work in; 3. discribes the type of materials and audio-visual aids that are available; 4. provides us with duplicate copies of printed matter which your agency has produced, especially with reference to materials listed in the "Directory of Agencies in Intergroup Relations" and 5. inclusion on your mailing list for future information and materials.

Please address all mail to:

Chairman
Campus Council on Intergroup Relations

Very truly yours,

Dear George:

The termination of the ACRR has made me keenly aware of how difficult it is to raise funds. Knowing how hard you also work at it I had to write you about a prospect for your Council.

On Oct 2 one Mr S.M. Esler Post Office Box 2036 of San Antonio Texas "dropped in" my office to discuss race relations. He is an uneducated diamond in the rough sort of person with peculiar ideas but probably has money.

He told me he was an electrical contractor from San Antonio and that he spends the summer in Chicago and in the North because of an allergy. He has been "trying to do something about the basic causes of race prejudice" in San Antonio, through a Methodist church discussion group. He said he would be willing to finance an inquiry "into basic causes"

I told him the best thing he could do would be to support your efforts and I gave him your name & address suggesting that he return to Texas via atlante. I don't know whether he will come to see you but he might write to you. In any case I thought you should have his name as a lead for your Texas people.

While I suspect that he is somewhat neurotic and perhaps "hepped on the subject", as we say in Kentucky, he might possibly be the source of a contribution.

I do hope you can come to our 4th Annual Conference of NAIRO at Hotel New Yorker Nov 15-17.

See you then

Louis

I WILL bless the Lord at all times:
His praise shall continually be in my mouth.
My soul shall make her boast in the Lord:
The humble shall hear thereof, and be glad.
O magnify the Lord with me,
And let us exalt his name together.

I sought the Lord, and he heard me,
And delivered me from all my fears.
O taste and see that the Lord is good:
Blessed is the man that trusteth in him.
O fear the Lord, ye his saints:
For there is no want to them that fear him.

What man is he that desireth life,
And loveth many days, that he may see good?
Keep thy tongue from evil,
And thy lips from speaking guile.
Depart from evil, and do good;
Seek peace, and pursue it.
The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous,
And his ears are open unto their cry.
The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants:
And none of them that trust in him shall be desolate.

Rev. Leon Smith
The Methodist Church
Crosswicks, N. J.

Dear Mr. Smith:

We are happy to have your letter of December 1.

The Southern Regional Council itself is the major membership organization working actively in the field of race relations. In virtually all the Southern states there are state- wide interracial committees affiliated with the Council, or full Divisions of the Council. In some communities there are local interracial committees, many of them also affiliated with the Council. I regret to say that we do not have a complete list of such local groups.

I am sending separately material on the aims and activities of the Council. We have found two approaches particularly rewarding: (1) The self-survey method described in the pamphlet "Greenville's Big Idea"; as you will see, the key to its effectiveness is full participation by citizens of both races. (2) Promoting better newspaper practices as described in "Race in the News".

I might also point out the opportunities for professional people in their respective professional associations. (See July, 1950, New South). Southern white teachers can bring about great improvement by closer cooperation with their Negro colleagues.

I need hardly say that we would be glad to have you and other members of your group as members of the Southern Regional Council.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Bicknell Eubanks
The Christian Science Monitor
Boston 15, Massachusetts

Dear Mr. Eubanks:

We have followed with appreciation the frequent reports in the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR of the thought and activities of the Southern Regional Council. I write you in the belief that many of your readers would be interested in having some detail about this body of Southern citizens, of both races, working for the whole Region's advance.

We go back to the old Commission on Interracial Cooperation, launched in the aftermath of the first World War to quell the riots and lessen the injustices of that period. Its method was the local interracial committee, meeting to find in common action the basis of growing friendship. Those experiences singled out all over the South the people of each race who were notable in fair-mindedness and courage; and these people and their juniors are still the backbone of what we do. They are a network of consciences, ready to act preventively and protectively and constructively.

Here are some of the things we have had a hand lately in doing:

(1) Appointment of Negro policemen. Seventy-seven Southern cities now employ four hundred and thirty-seven Negro police officers. We have kept and circulated each year a careful record of these appointments, and have encouraged the officials of many wavering cities to take this rewarding step.

(2) Race in the News. A year and a half ago we put out a green-covered booklet which gave the rules on how to run a newspaper with fairness and dignity in its treatment of race.

The newspapers' own organization sent it to every daily in the South, and we got it mailed to each of the two thousand county weeklies. Then follow-up committees called on editors, and asked them to go by the rules. It worked. In so short a time the Press of the South has greatly changed. In city after city Negroes have become Mr. and Miss for the first time, headlines are built considerately, and the papers have sought and not shunned everyday news about Negro happenings.

(3) Home-town self-surveys. Carefully you get local people to choose a committee from both races, and then hire nobody; the committee members comb the town for the facts on housing and health and services and schools and police and justice. Then they print the facts, and their recommendations. They meet again every six months, and tick off what has been done, and plan how and what to do next. Jacksonville, Florida, did it. Greenville, S.C., has done it. Rock Hill, S.C., is starting. At Greenville a leading citizen said when it was over: "We didn't know each other well enough. Now we do. Meeting and working together, not as people of two races, but as citizens with a common purpose, has been a release and a relief." Think back a few years and you will see why Greenville wanted release.

(4) Professional associations. In some States the lawyers admit Negroes; in some they don't. Doctors and dentists and librarians and social workers are the same way. The trend lately is open membership. The Council wrote out, got the facts, and printed a table that shows it state by state, in the South. Simply showing clearly how each association stands will do something toward rewarding talent with acceptance.

(5) Schools. We have pushed everywhere for full equality, and have had a hand in local consultations that speeded things up. But it is of course the lawsuits, in which the NAACP has led the way, that have done the most.

We work constructively, temperately, together. The aim is a united citizenship that will make our States not engines of white supremacy but agencies of impartial well-being. And in the stresses that are before the country today, the pursuit of that aim in the South is of the greatest importance to the Nation. It is critical, even, in the issues of peace and war.

We have a hard time getting money to keep going. A good many leading Church bodies help us. We get some foundation grants, small and scattered. The Southerners who have a conscience in these matters are seldom rich, but hundreds of them send us annually ten dollars or so. Would not the readers of the MONITOR like to help individually? Our address is the Wesley Memorial Building, 63 Auburn Avenue N.E., Atlanta 3, Georgia. Contributions to the Southern Regional Council are tax-exempt.

Please let us be helpful to you, in Boston or in Atlanta, in any way that we can.

What They Say About The Southern Regional Council—

"The SRC is unique in a number of heartening directions. It is bi-racial, non-denominational and non-political. It does not indulge in tom-tom beating, parades or lengthy pronunciamentos slanted for non-Southern consumption and approval. But it is not an isolationist effort to separate the South's problems from the nation's — or from the nation's concern."

— Hodding Carter

"The sort of organization which makes . . . progress possible, and which therefore deserves the support of all Southerners."

— Richmond TIMES-DISPATCH

"The most widely respected interracial group in the South."

— Asheville TIMES

"Progress can surely be made if liberals, North and South, will sit down and reason together along the lines this group suggests."

— NEW YORK TIMES

"The Southern Regional Council is an able and worthwhile organization working in the field of racial relations. It has no radical tinge, but is, nevertheless, an aggressively energetic coordinating agency."

— Ralph McGill

"A voice from the informed and moderate South."

— CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

"Southerners directly interested in the welfare of their own section."

— CHATTANOOGA TIMES

"The Council has put out a notable series of studies in Southern life and needs."

— THE CHRISTIAN CENTURY

"One of the best sources for materials on the South today is the publications of the Southern Regional Council. . . . Its inexpensive publications provide information on every aspect of life in Southern United States."

Dear Mrs. Weaver:

Miss Margaret Meeks wrote us that she thought you would perhaps be interested in the Southern Regional Council. She did not say how she herself came to know about us, but I would suppose that she had perhaps seen the article in Collier's for December 30 that described the work Mrs. M. E. I send you a leaflet called What Kind of South Do You Want, which has in it a membership blank, and I do hope you will care to join the Council and take an interest in it. We get out a small magazine, some copies of which I send along. We have many influential people in Mississippi, and the Mississippi Division, now under the leadership of Mr. John Long at Edwards, has been particularly useful. The Council is an honest and responsible effort by Southern people themselves to deal in an American and democratic way with the problems of the South. We do our work quietly, and we are entirely non-political.

I do greatly hope that you will take part in this effort.

Dear Mrs. Da Ponte:

You were very kind to telephone me at the hotel. I am only sorry that I had just gone out (to explore on Davis Street) when you first called. Otherwise, I could certainly have learned a lot more from you directly.

Here are several copies of a leaflet about our Council. You will see what we do and what kind of an organization it is. We would be deeply grateful if a good many of the people working in the Mobile Interracial Committee would become members of the Council. There is not a lot we can promise to do for them except send them our monthly magazine and advise by mail on particular problems. Somewhere in my recollection is the idea that your friends in Mobile did all or part of a home town self-survey a couple of years ago. I would be interested in any news you may have of how it went and what it did. Greenville, S. C., pushed one all the way through and is proud of itself for doing it.

I talked a bit with Mr. W. H. Madison at the Christian Benevolent Funeral Home on Hamilton Street. Conversation came around to Race in the News. Mr. Madison shared with other Negro funeral homes distress that the Mobile paper consistently scratches courtesy titles from death notices involving Negroes. Many Southern papers carry these notices with courtesy titles, and I should think it would not be too difficult for an informed committee to persuade the Register to come around to what other papers do.

Do join the Council yourself and be in touch with us straight along.

Dear George:

I have looked over the draft of the SRC request to the Ford Foundation. I think it is in very good shape, and I have no major comments.

One minor thing: it takes three pages to lead up to the SRC, and then the first time SRC is mentioned (p.4, par. 1) it is referred to as "The Council." I think the full title out to be used here.

Here's hoping this appeal makes a hit with the Ford Foundation. If they are not interested in this sort of work, darn 'em, I don't know what good they expect to do.

Note from Norma Huff says we are in arrears in dues. To save me from writing a separate letter, please tell her that in making contributions I have been assuming that dues were marked off as the first obligation and that the rest was extra. Wish I could send a check covering dues separately and officially, but right now I'm running a deficit and am operating on a loan. Just like SRC!

Dear Miss Stein:

Many thanks for your letter, which turned us up a puzzle.

My secretary and I both saw the incoming letter from Mrs. Batty, and made mental note that 'twas your same Mrs. Batty (as to whom I had dictated myself a note to pay her a visit when next I'm in Richmond). And thereafter Mrs. B's letter sinks into disappearance. We are scant on file clerks, but have done all we can to find it -- to no avail. Happily your letter lets us revive her request, and we've written her as enclosed.

Here are the last two or three issues of New South. The next will be a Manual for the home town self-survey, for an April issue.

Nice to have word from you. I look forward to whenever I can next get Chicagowards and pay you a proper visit.

Mrs. Wayne Batty

Dear Mrs. Batty:

We are so glad you wrote Miss Stein that your kind inquiry after you saw the Collier's article had not been answered. My secretary and I both saw your incoming letter back there and made mental note of it because Miss Stein had told me that I ought to look you up next time I could be in Richmond. I am sorry to say that from there on we can't find any trace of your letter. Entirely our fault, and we apologize.

The Council has a substantial membership in Virginia and of course quite a number of members in Richmond. Chief of these is our President, Paul Williams, 3320 Gloucester Road, telephone 43241. He is a distinguished Catholic layman, vice-president of a publishing house, and active in many good causes in Richmond and over the South. Mr. Gordon Hancock, Professor of Economics at Virginia Union University, is one of the founders of the Southern Regional Council and continues to be a devoted member of our Executive Committee. Either of them would put you in touch with a wide circle of friends of this cause. I have written to a cousin of mine, Mrs. Emory Hill, and asked her to get in touch with you. She has a long acquaintance with good purposes in Richmond.

The Virginia Council of Churches supports a Department of Interracial Cooperation. It has an extensive membership over the state among Protestant church people. The Executive Secretary is the Rev. Mr. Emerson Smith, at Room 202, 109 West Grace Street. SRC regards this group as the proper action agency for Virginia and ordinarily we defer action in the state to them. It is not a perfectly happy arrangement, because some religious groups cannot formally affiliate with the Department of Interracial Cooperation. My own experience has been that Virginia takes up most movements with some odd twist of difference, and I have been complacent, therefore, about this one.

You might find it helpful to become known to the Richmond chapter of the NAACP. My friend Dr. Tinsley, a dentist, is an important official of it in Richmond. Another good and active person to know is Miss Brownie Lee Jones, whose address I don't have. She is at present, I believe, working mainly in the eastern part of the state at increasing the registration of Negro citizens.

Do join the Council. There is a blank for that on one of the later pages of the brown leaflet I enclose. And I send along various items about us. But the main thing would be for you to make yourself known to Emerson Smith or some of the others and do what you and they think is helpful in Richmond.

I get up there fairly often and will call on you next time I am in the city.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

Dear Julia,

There dwelleth now in Richmond, at an address given below, a Mrs. Wayne Batty. She is a friend of a lady in Bloomington, Illinois, who has been helpful to our council in friendship and in substance.

She happened to see an article in Collier's, praising our Mrs. Tilly and the Council, and wrote here for info. I knew about her from Miss Stein, so noticed her letter. But then the letter got lost! So she wrote Miss Stein and said she, Mrs. W.B., had written us, and nobody answered. Sad, but true.

Everyone has since been written to, cordially.

I promised Mrs. Batty that you would look her up. Very kind of you to do that, if you will.

She was given various people in Richmond to see - Brownie Lee Jones, the NAACP, etc., but it would be a courtesy for someone well-rooted to go to see her, and give her welcome to the confraternity of those who both for good causes.

We are all well, though deeper and deeper into teenaginess.

Best to you both.

Dear George:

This morning I was up to see Judge Richard T. Rives, U. S. Court of Appeals, here in Montgomery. A couple of months ago Mr. Rives was appointed to this high appellate judgeship by Senators Sparkman and Hill. This circuit includes the six states of Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida.

Judge Rives is one of our finest citizens in Alabama and is a great liberal. He fought long and hard against the Boswell Amendment and the Dixiecrats. He should feel fortunate that he now holds this important position. Mr. Gomillion and I sent Judge Rives some literature about the Southern Regional Council in our current membership drive.

Judge Rives says that he has put considerable thought on whether to join the SRC. He says he would not hesitate if he were still a lawyer, but now that he is on the Federal bench, and sitting with five other conservative judges, he would not want a "tag" put on him which would mar his effectiveness. I told him that I would get you to write him if there were any Federal Judges in the SRC membership.

When you write, may I suggest that you also congratulate him upon his appointment and that you send him "The South Today" monthly.

Under separate cover, I am sending you the June Southern Farmer, with the front page story we published in Georgia-Alabama-Mississippi-Tennessee. This story is most significant because it is the first time that an organization which has been "Red-baited" was awarded damages in a libel suit in a Federal Court.

My dear Judge Rives:

My good friend Nat Welch wrote me that he had talked with you about becoming a member of the Southern Regional Council.

I must confess that in one or two other instances in the last couple of years Federal judges have thought it wisest to abstain from membership in an organization active in a field in which so many legal points are controversial. While we would cordially welcome you as a member, we would quite understand if you did not find it suitable to enroll as a member.

I should think, however, that there could be no least objection to your being a simple subscriber to our publication, New South. That costs $1.50 a year. I send you several sample issues.

Dear Nat:

Many thanks for writing me about Judge Rives. I have written him as enclosed.

As a matter of fact, the question of Federal judges has come up in two recent instances and in each case the judge has thought it wisest not to be a member -- simply because issues that we are interested in are bound to come before him.

On balance, I thought it best not to send Judge Rives New South just anyway, but to give him the opportunity to take it if he wants it. If he doesn't want it, I don't wish to appear to be in any way trying to influence his judgments by sending him something for free.

We all rejoiced in the decision on the Farmers Union. The Lord knows there are too few victories in that field.

Sincerely,

George S. Mitchell

Dear Da. Mussolini:

Mr. Frank Perry Goldman of the Escola de Sociologiae Politica in Sao Paulo, has asked that we send you information about the work of the Southern Regional Council.

The Council is a membership organization, governed by an Executive Board made up of white and Negro educators, ministers, business men and labor people from the thirteen Southern states. The Board members are elected by the general membership at the annual meeting.

Interested people who live outside the South and who wish to affiliate with the Council are called Associates, pay the same membership fee and have all the privileges except the vote. The Council publishes a bulletin NEW SOUTH which gives information about the work of the Council and the progress being made in the South with regard to race relations.

I am enclosing a pamphlet describing the Council, a copy of the latest NEW SOUTH and a publications list. If you would like any of the pamphlets listed, we will be glad to send them to you.

We do hope that you will want to become an Associate of the Council and shall look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely yours,

Katherine Stoney,

Rev. L. J. Twomey
Loyola University
New Orleans, La.

Dear Father Twomey:

I have a trusted Negro friend in Little Rock who, in correspondence the other day, asked whether the Louisiana Division had enlisted the aid of Dr. E. A. Johnson of Natchitoches. My friend, Ocie Lee Smith, in Little Rock, described Johnson (Negro) as "the dynamo" in Louisiana.

"At present he is President of the State NAACP. He is not a well man, has a heart condition, but still keeps things moving. A quiet unemotional type of leader, void of the rabble-rousing sorta thing that floors you from the word go. He has a large following of professional people, admired by all races, and aside from having a few "pecans" (money) himself, he has associates who have a lot of pictures of dead presidents. Ha. Wanta write him? Quote me, he is a personal friend of mine."

I told Ocie Lee Smith that I would tell you about Dr. Johnson and you would do what would be wise.

With warm regards.

Could you discreetly collect some information for me about Smith Richardson of the Vick Chemical Company? Friends here have told me that he is active in the Interracial Committee of the Boy Scouts of America.

Any information that may be current around Greensboro as to his inclinations or how I or someone on my behalf might reach him would be appreciated.

Dear Mr. Stickney:

I am told on good authority that Mrs. E. C. Brown can give you a mighty accurate picture of racial matters in St. Petersburg. She is a longtime resident of middle years and has been appointed by the city council on various committees, such as Negro housing or rezoning. Said to have an excellent mind and to be forceful without antagonizing. My informant gave me no news as to Mrs. Brown's own color.

Dear Mr. Mitchell;

Thank you very much for your invitation to become a part of the Southern Regional Council, but I must decline.

I think it is best that an editorial writer be free of any associations which might open him to the charge of echoing someone else's opinions.

Please do not regard this in any way a criticism of the Council, a group whose aims I highly respect.

I will be happy to hear of work your group is doing in this area and -- since I am new to St. Petersburg -- would appreciate your recommendation as to whom I could go locally for a true picture of this city's racial problems.

Sincerely yours,

Sam Stickney

Dear Mr. Byrne:

My good friend Lucy Mason told me that you would be glad to have copies of this last issue of New South. I send, separately, some of these and copies of a few earlier issues.

Maybe you would become a member of our Council. We would greatly like to have you. There is a blank on one of the later pages of the brown leaflet with the map.

The Florida Division will hold its annual meeting at Daytona Beach December 9. That is a long way from Panama City, but they would like to have you if circumstances make it possible for you to be there.

Judge J. Waties Waring
Charleston
South Carolina

Dear Judge Waring:

I appreciate your kind remarks about my recent talk in Columbia. You are welcome to make any use of this talk that you may see fit. My understanding is that the South Carolina division of the Southern Regional Council will have it printed and fairly generally distributed.

I can see that you may have some difficulty in understanding the position of the Council on the issue of segregation. I can see that one who had not participated in framing the Council's policy might very naturally feel that it was a policy of timidity. I do not think so; it is a policy of strategy.

I have never heard segregation defended or upheld in any Council meeting I attended. It has been universally admitted to be legally and morally indefensible. We have wanted to end it as soon as it was humanly possible to do so. Our whole effort has been to follow a course which world insure the end of segregation with the greatest despatch.

Our strategy has been, whether wise or not, to reduce the outlying forts of segregation one by one with the result that the citadel itself must inevitably fall. If years ago a direct frontal attack had been made upon segregation, I think that the opposition would have been solidified to the point that the cause would have been set back many decades. Personally, I feel that it has been the better course steadily to reduce the area in which segregation prevails, demonstrating by experience that no harmful results come from such reduction.

The Council has never held segregated meetings and its staff has contained members of both races working in the same office.

All of its pamphlets and other publicity have steadily developed the point that segregation is economically wasteful and promotes injustice; in fact, that there can be no such thing as justice in a segregated society. The steady pounding home of these truths seems to me to have been a wiser use of our energy and means than would have been a more dramatic and emotional avowal of our purpose to end segregation.

Included in the membership of the Council are some of the most intelligent people of my acquaintance, a number of Negro university and college presidents. They have fully subscribed to our policy, feeling that, as a matter of strategy it offered the better chance of success.

I hope that we may say that our policy has made it evident to a large number of white southerners that the South pays a terrific price for segregating the races. The spread of this conviction has, in my opinion, done a great deal to hasten the end of a system which takes its toll of all those who live under it.

I have writen at this length because I value your good opinion so highly. The views of our members on segregation will be found, I am sure, to be identical with yours. It has seemed to us that there should be in the South an organization which would use logic, reason, science and persuasion to erode the foundation upon which segregation rests. We have taken that as our mission.

With kind regards to you and Mrs. Waring, I am

Sincerely yours,

M. A. Wright

Somebody I saw last month at the meeting of the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials in Detroit told me that you were a particularly good guy, trained in part under Dan Dodson, and that you would quite likely be interested in becoming a member of the Southern Regional Council.

Here is a leaflet. Plenty of people in Tennessee could tell you who and what we are. Among others, Mr. Myndere.

We would like to have you.
